And if you're lazy and like "blackcanaking" in the shade go pick yourself a spot along the bay shore and watch the sleek twin craft of the Bay of Quinte Power Squadron go through their paces at the annual rendezvous starting Sunday at 10 a.m.

Ontario's Minor Softball Week starts tomorrow and city-wise will get a big kick-off Monday night at the Alemite Park when the Black Diamond Cheese team of the Commercial League hooks up with a gaggle of selects from the Departmental Circuit.

It should be a big night for the softball moppets with the big brothers tossing in their efforts gratis to help make the week a success.

City businessmen, press and radio, city officials etc. are all out behind the "wreck." Many handsome "draw prizes" have been donated and Garry Alexander, who originated the idea tells us tickets are going like the proverbial hot cakes. They are 25 cents or five for a dollar so even if you cannot attend the sports event, toss in two bits or a buck to give the youngsters a well-deserved boost in their big week.

The game gets under way at 8.45 Monday night and if you haven't bought a ticket you can get one at the gate and still be eligible for the draws.

Wynn First To Dome Three Homers!

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Wynn put one and one and one together and solved the problem of the Houston Astrodome's high dimensions. His solution surprised everyone, including Wynn.

JIM WYNN

"I'm going to quit moaning about how big this ballpark is after this exhibition," said veteran slugger Eddie Mathews after watching Wynn become the first player to hit three homers in one game in the Astrodome, with its 350-400-350 dimensions.

It also was the first time Wynn ever hit three homers in a major league game, and they helped Houston Astros to a 6-2 victory over San Francisco Giants Thursday night.

Meanwhile, manager Gene Mauch of Philadelphia Phillies had put two and two together and figured he would have to divide the first-game pitching chores in a twi-night doubleheader against Pittsburgh. But Dick Hall has come up with a surprising solution.

With scheduled starter Jim Bunning ill with bronchitis, Mauch decided to start Hall, a 36 - year - old relief specialist, and then finish with Dick Farrell. But Hall went the distance to beat the Pirates 4-1 in his first start in four years.

Dick Ellsworth failed to last one inning in the nightcap as Steve Blass of Pittsburgh capped a five-run first with a two-run single and then stopped the Phillies 5-3 on seven hits.

In the only other National League game scheduled, Jim Brewer and Don Sutton blanked Chicago on four hits as Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Cubs 5-0.

Wynn's consecutive solo homers in the fifth, sixth and eighth innings gave him 14 for the season and six in his last seven games.

The third started a two-run inning that wrapped up the contest for Mike Cuellar, who scattered eight hits for an 8-3 record.

Hall, whose longest previous string this season was six innings, was not told he was going to start until minutes before game time "and I was a little nervous about it," he said. "It was a long time ago that I had started a game."

Rich Allen drove in three Philly runs with a single and a homer and Gene Oliver homered for the runs Hall needed.

The Pirates unloaded five hits, including two-run singles by Donn Clendenon and Blass, in their big inning.

Brewer, another pitcher normally found in the bullpen, allowed three hits in five innings before an elbow injury sidelined him and Sutton finished the shutout against Chicago.

Brewer also doubled in a run in the fourth inning off loser Ferguson Jenkins, of Chatham, Ont., for his first hit in three years and the first extra base hit of his major league career. Wes Parker and Ron Hunt later homered.

No One Qualifies

Mosport Tough On Top Pilots

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP)—Top American drivers are having a hard time at the practice for Saturday's Indy 200 trophy race.

A field of more than 30 cars of the type that race in the Indianapolis 500-mile Memorial Day event are entered in the two-heat, 200-mile race — first time that Indy - type cars have entered an event on a North American road course.

By late Thursday no driver had qualified for the event which carries a total of $80,000 Telegram Trophy.

Spinouts on the 2.5-mile road circuit were common as drivers — familiar with oval circuits with constant left turns — tried to negotiate the twisting up-and-down, 20-foot-wide ribbon of asphalt that is Mosport.

Among top entries are A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., this year's Indianapolis winner and co - winner last weekend in the 24-hours at Le Mans sports-car race, and Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., United States Auto Club champion.

MARIO ANDRETTI

By Thursday night, the pits at the Mosport course, 45 miles northeast of Toronto, were busy as mechanics modified the Indy-type cars.

Cars built for oval tracks had to have their steering balanced, suspensions strengthened for the up-and-down-hill driving and gear boxes changed from the two-speeds of American racing to four, or five-speeds for the road circuit.

Soon after an early - morning rain had dried Thursday morning, Art Pollard of Medford, Ore., slid off the track in his Offenhauser - powered Auto-Air Special.

Later, Al stopped dead on the track in a practice run and brother Bobby spun out during an afternoon run.

On the three - quarter - mile back straight, where cars hit upwards of 150 m.p.h., Jim McIlvain's Trackburner Ford spun out missing a tree and a post.

Japanese Lightweight Champion

Elorde, 32, a wealthy businessman, said before the fight that if he was defeated it probably would be the end of his 16-year ring career.

But after he lost the 15-round decision before a capacity crowd of 10,000, he said: "I have to think it over. I must first talk to my wife after I return to Manila."

Elorde was making the 11th defence of the 130-pound division title he won seven years ago from Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I.

Cassius Gets Workout

DETROIT (AP) — Cassius Clay, the wheat weight he has had public appearances on a boxer for some time, breezed through a pair of three-round exhibition with two Midwest Heavyweights Thursday night before a sparse turnout of 2,624 fans.

The dethroned heavyweight champion, who goes on trial at Houston, Tex., Monday because of his refusal to be drafted into the U.S. Army, looked trim at 209½ pounds.

He boxed three rounds with Orville Qualls, 225, of Chicago, and three rounds with Detroit heavyweight Alvin (Blue) Lewis.

Palmer, Pals Two Behind

Amateur Jolts Open Elite With 67

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, who had said an amateur could not win the United States Open, set out in pursuit of one today with two strokes to make up and very, very little to say about the non - professionals.

"I had a lot of luck," said tour Marty Fleckman said Thursday after he had startled an elite field with a three-under-par 67 and a two-stroke lead in the Open golf championship.

Palmer, the golfing millionaire from Latrobe, Pa., and six more established stars of the game were tightly packed at 69.

One more stroke back after the rain - interrupted first round, and even with par at 70 for the 7,015 - yard Baltusrol course, were former British Open champion Kel Nagle of Australia, 1965 PGA champ Dave Marr, Dutch Harrison, Gardner Dickinson and George Archer.

GARY PLAYER

BILLY CASPER

Toronto's Al Balding, a last-minute substitution in the field of 150 of the world's top amateur and professional golfers, fired a 73. He is the only Canadian in this year's Open.

Jack Nicklaus, who had stormed over the last course in record 62 in his last practice round, had just posted his 71 when the torrential downpour accompanied by thunder and lightning sent the gallery of 15,787 and a handful of golfers scurrying for cover.

Among the latter was Ben four U.S. Open titles, who had just finished the 623 yard 17th—longest hole in Open history—and was one-over par.

After play was resumed 31 minutes later, he took a one-over par six on the final hole and finished with a 72.

Fleckman was practically unknown and certainly wasn't in Palmer's mind two days ago.

Palmer, the 6-4-1 favorite going into the tourney, said the field was so good and the course in such fine shape that "any number of players could win it—maybe as many as 50."

"No, I don't think so," Arnie answered. "That's taking it too far. No, not an amateur."

The odds are still against it.

An amateur has not won the Open since 1933, when Johnny Goodman took it.

Did this sort of history bother Fleckman?

"Gee, no," he said, a surprised look crossing his darky handsome face. "I hadn't even thought of it."

He was the first alternate to the U.S. Walker Cup squad and gained his spot on the team only when Beaman turned a pro a couple of months ago.

Frank Beard, one of the pretourney favorites, took a 73, while Julius Boros, a two-time Open champ and winner of three tourneys this year, finished with a 75.

Discusses Pension Plan

CFL Woos US Television

REGINA (CP)—The Canadian Football League said Thursday it is close to an agreement which could put a taped delayed broadcast of the 1967 Grey Cup game on U.S. television.

John Gaudaur of Hamilton, handling TV negotiations, said an option had been sold to "a New York production company" and the league hoped to announce that it was settled at a meeting Tuesday in Toronto.

Last year the CFL collected about $18,000 from Radio Artists of New York, which showed 13 games but cut the cost to most final. Gaudaur declined to say how much this year's agreement would be worth to the CFL.

During the opening sessions of the two - day semi - annual meeting, the CFL reiterated to representatives a pension plan that, if approved by players, would go into effect this year.

The meeting also instructed CFL president Al McEachern of Vancouver to press the city of Hamilton for concrete moves on its proposals to build a $250,000 CFL Hall of Fame.

McEachern said the league is "in a medical situation, right now" but is considering other sites, particularly the Canadian National Exhibition grounds in Toronto. Several delegates urged a growing feeling that the hall should be in Toronto.

At opening sessions, the league set ticket prices at the Grey Cup game in the new 37,472-seat stadium at Ottawa Dec. 3 at $8, $7.50, $10, $13 and $15.

MacEachern, also president of British Columbia Lions, told the closed meeting he could not yet put forward any candidates for a permanent commissioner. He has been acting commissioner since Keith Davey quit the job Feb. 23 after 34 days in office.

The pension plan is scheduled to be discussed Tuesday by players' representatives within 10 days. It calls for a contribution of $300 a year by each player and would be matched by his club.

If Deal Can Be Made

Faloney To The Lions?

MONTREAL (CP)—Key Dalton, new coach of Montreal Alouettes, said Thursday veteran quarterback Bernie Faloney has agreed to join British Columbia Lions if a trade can be arranged.

Speaking in an interview, Dalton said Faloney "has given his consent to a trade."

"If a trade develops, it would be a one-for-one deal. Vancouver has offered us one city of all except three or four players and we've picked out one that we want."

The Alouette coach did not elaborate on his selection but did say the player would be "a young Canadian who can play first string."

Vancouver Dave Shrien, Lion coach, may think that "we're trying to unload Faloney, but we aren't. If we can't get what we want, there won't be a trade."

After Joe Kapp, Lions' quarterback until this season, was suspended, Shrien had been asking about Faloney.

The major periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Slumping Orioles Winging Way To Southern Area

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Frank Robinson is needing to stir up a hornet's nest.

FRANK ROBINSON

But the slumping Baltimore Orioles are still winging their way in the direction of the American League's second division.

The pesky Kansas City Athletics bounced around the bases like bees in the eighth inning Thursday night, scoring five times to overcome a 5-0 deficit and then beat the Orioles 6-5 in the 11th on Reggie Jackson's single.

The setback dropped the American League champs two places to fifth. They are only one game ahead of Kansas City, Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees, who are deadlocked for the No. 6 spot.

In AL other games, Boston Red Sox edged the leading Chicago White Sox 3-1 in 11 innings, the Yanks blanked Washington Senators 3-0 and Minnesota Twins defeated Detroit Tigers 6-4. California Angels and Cleveland were not scheduled.

"This is too damned good a baseball club to be down where we are. If I stir up a hornet's nest maybe it's a good thing. Maybe they'll get stirred up enough that we'll get up there where we belong."

"Writers in the day the slugger had been quoted as saying there was some jealousy on the team. However, manager Hank Bauer explained: "I think Frank used a poor choice of words. I think the right word is envious. Last year we always had two men in the line-up who were hitting the ball real good. This year we haven't."

Orioles hit the ball real good early in the game. Thursday night. They jumped on the Athletics' Jim Nash for five runs in six innings, one on Boog Powell's sixth homer. Dave Johnson, Andy Etchebarren each doubled in runs.

Then KC went to work on Baltimore starter Tom Phoebus in the eighth, tying the score on five hits and an error.

Tony Conigliaro, Mickey Mantle and Norman Killebrew were the circuit's other batting stars.

Conigliaro's two - run homer with two out in the 11th enabled the Red Sox to down the White Sox.

Mantle broke a scoreless duel with a sixth - inning homer and set up another run with a double for the Yankees.

Killebrew's 17th home run with a man aboard ignited a four-run rally in the seventh inning for the Twins. The blast erased a 3-2 Detroit lead.

Minor Softball Week

Minor Softball Week in Ontario begins tomorrow and for the next week the Bellville Minor Softball Association will be doing its best to stay in the public eye.

BMSA president Hugh Sutherland completed arrangements last night for a series of exhibition games tomorrow to get the special week under way.

Cobourg teams will play Stratford in the Belch Construction peewees at 11.30 a.m., against the SAGO bantams at 1.30 and against the Travellers aquatic at approximately 3.15. All games are slated for Alemite Park.

No admission will be charged and all parents, as well as others, are urged to get out and show the city youngsters they are behind them.

These three Bellville clubs and a fourth, Ellis midgets, will represent the city later in OASA playdowns. All four will be in Hastings for exhibition games there Sunday, starting at 1.00 p.m. to help that county open the week.

On Monday night, the Alemite Park will be the site of the big exhibition battle between Bellville Minor Softball Association and the Departmental Softball Selects. Tickets for this game are $1.00 each or free for a buck. You can win some fine prizes, enjoy the fun and every cent the ticket will go to the Minor Softball Association. 300 tickets are in distribution right now and if you miss one, others will be on sale at the game.

The senior baseball Lumbers are doing their bit to help the league, offering two season tickets as one of the door prizes for Monday's game. Both will be admitting free of charge any minor coach and his team attending the exhibition Wednesday's EOBA game in team sweaters for coming Wednesday.

The regular BMSA games will be played as usual all next week and on Saturday, June 24, the annual peewee tournament, with about eight entries expected, will wind up the week at Alemite Park.

Get out with your boy this week!

Pointers Ground Flyers

Trenton Carm's hold down first place with a 7-1 record while the Cementmen are second with 5-3 marks.

The Cementmen were far from overpowering in last night's win, collecting only five safeties but they bunched four of their hits and all of their runs in the fourth frame.

RCAF led 1-0 when Horwood homered to tie it with one on in the fourth. An error and Rosenbush's double put the home club ahead. A win by G. Maher's single, another of the same by Cook and an outfield error made it 5-1.

A walk and Larock's triple gave the Flyers their short-lived 2-0 lead. They made it close in the fifth on a free pass, two bobbles and hits by Downey and Larock. They left the bases loaded stranded over the remainder.

Mike Cook went the route for the winners' pitching with Ron Richards taking over in the eighth. Cook struck out five and walked three, tagged for eight hits while Maracle fanned three in relief.

The Flyers' Langard hurled well except for the one inning, retiring the Cementmen in order from the fourth inning out. He did not strike out a man, while walking three.

Larock had a triple and single and Downey two hits in defeat. Umpires were Bob Brennan, Hollins, MacDonald and Langard also hitting safely.

Minor Baseball

Hall and Geegan struck out eight and walked only two. The only hit they allowed was a single by Farrell's Moe Thompson. Jim Wood scored a couple runs, surrendering just four hits, fanning eight and pasting three.

Mike Auger slammed a home run for the winners with Hall and Geegan hitting a triple and single. Richard Griffith also had a base hit.

In the tadpole game Glen Andrews pitched three-hit ball, fanned eight and walked two for CNR. Andy Lapoensis and Gary Staples had plenty of control trouble for Watkin's, walking 10. They gave up 13 hits and struck out eight.

Bernard Trampour and Andrews had three singles each, Randy Hudson a double and a single and Rick Keegan a double to lead the winners. Dean Newman, Scott Newman, Gary Coogan and Tony Simard also hit safely. Andy Lapoensis had a double and single and Billy Gow a base knock in defeat.

Ethier Tosses Four-Hitter

Bus Boys Bow To Seniors

By GARRY ALEXANDER
(Staff Sportswriter)

Bob Ethier's four-hit hurling and key hits by Don Gardiner and Carl Boosmower enabled Belleville Ellis Bus Boys to win their seventh straight intact here last night.

The Busmen jumped into a 2-0 lead in the second frame when Toby Sadds followed a walk with a circuit smash to right-centre. The visitors threatened to add to their lead in the third with a walk and double but both men died on base and Ethier knuckled down over the remainder.

Bellevilla exploded in the fourth after Ethier had opened with a base hit. A throwing error on Mavety's sacrifice and another sacrifice bunt by Moon put men on second and third. Place walked to load the sacks and Gardiner followed a single to left, driving in two for a 4-0 lead. Boosmower made it 4-2 with a two-base hit to right.

Kingston's infielders left bases uncovered and were caught out of position all night and the winners ran freely on the mental errors.

In the fifth, Muirhead struck out and Mavety bunted. Both first and third bases were left unguarded and that's where the runners ended up on the bunt. They were left by delayed steal then to make it 5-0 as Muirhead raced home on the throw to second.

Don Gardiner and Larry Mavety had two safeties each for Bellevilla with Carl Boosmbower, Ralph Place, Bob Moon, Stu Muirhead and Paul Warner splitting the others.

Toby Sadds' homer, a double and single by Tom Hodgsworth and an infield hit by Tom Cashman was all the losers collected off Ethier.

Ellis' have won five and tied one in six games to date. Kingston's record is 3-4.

Cheesemen Snatch Hill Duel

Black Diamond Cheese moved into sole possession of first place in the Commercial Softball League last night but the whole of Brandt's Monarch View squad made it a tough move.

The Cheesemen finally pulled out a 4-0 win by scoring one runs in each of the final two innings at Ameliasburg.

Jerry Fenwick of the city crew and Brant's Great Collet hooked up in a tight pitching battle over the route. Fenwick gave up just three hits, struck out nine and walked three. Collet allowed five safeties, fanned six and passed one. His get - excuses support as well.

J. Fenwick looked after one of the victors' runs with a homer while G. Francis clouted a triple. Ross Empey, Pug Keller and Sonny Holoway each had singles.

Leafs Bomb Richmond, Wings Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two surges reduced the margin between International-League-leading Rochester Red Wings and second-place Toronto Maple Leafs to 5½ games Thursday night.

In one the Red Wings were the victims as last-placed Columbus Jets broke a seven-game losing string against Rochester with a 3-1 victory.

In the other the Leafs erupted for 15 hits to better Richmond Braves 10-5 behind the eight-hit pitching of Dave Vineyard. The Leafs also broke a streak—26 scoreless innings—that Richmond until they unloaded four runs in the first Thursday.

In the only other game, Syracuse Chiefs and Jacksonville Suns battled to a 6-6 tie in 10 innings.

Petes Star Signed By Canadiens

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens announced Thursday the signing of centre Gerry Meehan, 20, who played last season with Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey association Junior A series.

Monahan is rated a top prospect. He led the Petes in scoring with 30 goals and 34 assists.

Born in Barrie, he lives in Toronto. He attended St. Michael's College there and later Trent University in Peterborough.

Manitoba Leads Paddlers

Their selected route through a maze of islands on the Saskatchewan River gave them a three - minute, 22 - second edge over British Columbia on the 12-hour competition and gave them a 20-minute lead on Ontario that started at Rocky Mountain House, Alta.

Standings in the race after 1,000 miles of competition remained unchanged but times posted by eight of the teams were the most paddlers were reaching Lake Winnipeg. Only 25 minutes separated the Manitoba team from the eighth-place finishers on the lake.

Today, after spending the night in a wilderness camp in the muskeg country 250 miles north of Winnipeg, the pageant moves over Lake Cedar where the canoeists face a 4½ mile portage to Lake Winnipegosis.

Minor Softball

A pair of close games were played in the Belleville Minor Softball Association's bantam division last night.

The Travellers shaded the Aces in a low-scoring 4-3 tilt while Belch Construction topped the Aces 14-11 in the other game.

Dodd Admits Telling LBJ Testimonials for Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Thomas J. Dodd officiallyacknowledged Thursday that he once advised Lyndon Johnson that a series of Connecticut testimonials were part of his campaign for re-election to the Senate.

"Sure," the Connecticut Democrat told the Senate. "I wrote the letter."

Fighting to escape the financial-misconduct censure recommended by the Senate ethics committee, Dodd insisted that a series of testimonial affairs held during a five-year period were to raise money for his personal, not political campaign, use.

The ethics committee charged that Dodd raised the money through political testimonials and converted it to personal use.

"Testimonial affairs where I live are not considered campaign affairs," Dodd said. "As far as I can learn, funds given to a person at a testimonial dinner or anything else are his."

Dodd stands accused of converting $116,083 in political contributions to his personal use, and of double-billing the government and private organizations for seven trips on Senate business.

Senator Charles H. Percy (Rep. Ill.) read Dodd's letter as the Senate debated the censure recommendation. He said it was crucial in determining whether donors to the testimonials had been misled about the use of the money.

"Allow me to thank you again for your generous offer to come to Connecticut to assist me in my forthcoming campaign," Dodd wrote Johnson.

The letter also said: "I wish I could convey to you how enthusiastic everyone is about your visit and how much it will assist me in getting my campaign drive under way."

Do-it-Yourself Census To Be Tested in London

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics plans its first trial of a mailed do-it-yourself census form this September in London, Ont.

If the experiment is successful, the mailed census should speed information gathering, reduce error and be considerably less expensive than the old method.

Dominion Statistician Walter Duffett told the Commons finance committee Thursday the new method should also eliminate the bias caused by the way human census-takers ask their questions.

Increasing operating costs require cheaper methods, he said.

The 1961 census cost $18,000,000; the 1971 census could cost as much as $30,000,000.

In the London test, three-quarters of the households will receive a short form asking ages, marital status and family size. The other households will receive a longer form asking income, labor status and housing situation.

75 Pupils Enjoy Trip to Expo

NAPANEE — Dale Clarke, principal of the H. H. Langford school, says that his visit to Expo last Thursday and Friday with 75 grade seven boys and girls was an unforgettable experience.

"It was thrilling in two respects," he said. "The greater of the two was in the behavior of the boys and girls, who lived up to all that we expected of them.

The second thrill was in Expo itself, and in knowing how much it meant for the children to be able to see it. This meant much more in education to them than the two days of school that they missed.

Five adults had no difficulty supervising the 75 pupils. "Their conduct was exemplary" the principal stated. When asked to explain this in view of recent trouble with other school groups, he said that it was partly because they were living up to what was expected of them. "Trust children, give them pride in good conduct, and you will get good behavior."

A second reason was because this trip was not a gift. They had earned most of the money for it themselves close to $1800. Outright gifts are wrong, the principal believes. "Let a child work for something and he really values it," is his philosophy.

Mr. Clarke declares that reports of high food prices at Expo have been exaggerated.

There were a few problems, but all of them had been faced ahead of time. One boy was taken ill the first day and had to be sent home. There were minor disabilities, principally sore feet. But nothing happened that had not been foreseen and planned for accordingly.

Sunday School Lesson

Scene of Partnership

BY CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

Across the Taurus mountains from Ankara, Turkey, lies the little sea-port town of Eskenderun. In ancient times, it was known as Seleucia. Thirty-five miles north-west of this town is the modern village of Antakya. This is the village we are about to visit.

Today Antakya is only a village. Once it was the third largest city in the Roman empire, only Rome and Alexandria being larger. Today it is in Turkey. Once it was in Syria. Today its name is Antakya. Once it was Antioch.

It was in this city the Apostle Paul began his Christian work. This became the base of his missionary activities. Paul probably spent more time here than in any other city, including Ephesus. Here he worked with Barnabas. (Acts 11:25) From here the two men were sent out on their first missionary journey. (Acts 13:2) From here Paul set out on his second and third journeys. It was here the followers of Jesus were first called Christians (Acts 11:26) Antioch in Syria looms large in the missionary life of the great Apostle.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for June 18: "The Church at Antioch." Acts 11:19-30.

It all began with the persecution of Christians for which Paul was partly responsible. To escape persecution, some followers of Jesus fled as far as Antioch, "preaching the word." Here for the first time they began to tell about their faith to Gentiles. The response to their preaching was so encouraging, news of it was carried back to Jerusalem.

In the meantime, Paul had been converted to the Christian faith. He went to Jerusalem to report his conversion to the disciples. They feared it was a trick by which Paul could spy on them, and mark them for future persecution. But one man, a native of Cyprus who had joined the followers of Jesus, was the first to believe that Paul's conversion was genuine (Acts 9:28) He recognized at once Paul's potential for leadership. This man's name was Barnabas, a man of outstanding religious qualities. (Acts 11:24)

It was Barnabas who was sent to lead the Christian fellowship in Antioch. Remembering Paul, who had returned to his native city of Tarsus, Barnabas sought him out, and persuaded him to come and share the work in Antioch.

This took great faith and humility on Barnabas' part. Paul was no ordinary person. Whatever he did, he did with all his being. He might not always be easy to work with. In time, Paul, not Barnabas, might be the greater leader. If he sensed this, it seems to have made no difference to Barnabas. He wanted the work to go forward. He acted on faith. The future could take care of itself.

The Christian world owes much to Barnabas. Without his faith, Paul might not have been drawn into Christian work, and given a chance to start on his great missionary career. Some of Barnabas' own humility undoubtedly rubbed off on Paul. The two men did not always agree, but Paul became a greater man because he knew the consecration and gentle love of Barnabas.

Everything about the Christian work in Antioch was new. It was a new centre for witnessing. A new leader had been sent to direct the work. A new evangelist was called into active service. A new name was given to the followers of Jesus. There were no traditions to hamper their outreach. There were no church buildings, so converts could not be tempted to think of the church as a building. It was a living fellowship based on faith in the meaning of Christ.

The Christian church now is old. It has behind it two thousand years of history and tradition. It has accumulated buildings and organization. Much of this is good but sometimes these get in the way of the real purpose of the church. The church does not exist just to maintain buildings, or to support established structures. It exists to give people a new purpose for living, a new faith, a new fellowship, a new joy.

This is what happened in Jesus' day. Religion had woven about itself a chrysalis of confining regulations. Jesus went to the heart of man's problem. He offered forgiveness for sin. He presented God as a divine Partner whom men can find joy in serving. He gave His followers a new basis for fellowship, and left them with the mission to share their faith with the world. People said, "We never saw anything like this." (Mark 2:12 RSV) They said it again in Antioch. Christians need to give them a reason to say it again today.

Government to Take Over Ailing Nova Scotia Coal Mines

OTTAWA (CP) — Depressed Cape Breton has been promised industry - government intervention to promote a coal-less economic revival. But some critics claimed the plan falls short of needs.

The plan, unveiled in the Commons Thursday by the Liberal government, orders the phasing out of the Nova Scotia island's struggling coal industry. Production of new industry would make up the slack.

A bill incorporating the far-reaching proposal was given first reading, after vigorous sniping by opposition MPs. It will be debated again later in the session.

Core of the plan is a government - owned corporation that will buy out or expropriate money - losing Cape Breton mines. With a $22,000,000 federal grant, the operations will be re-organized and modernized to provide continued employment until the phase-out, probably over the next 15 years.

Meanwhile the agency, with more public money, would promote the development of new industry to replace the disappearing mines.

The idea is to provide different employment for the bulk of the 6,500 mining industry workers. Others would be retired early on pension in the shakeup.

Pensions to retired coal employees would continue.

There were no opposition objections to the plan's basic principle. But important details were criticized.

New Democrats claimed the plan did not go far enough. Leader T. C. Douglas said the Cape Breton steel industry also should be placed under the corporation's jurisdiction. Robert Muir (PC—Cape Breton North and Victoria) made a similar plea.

Mr. Douglas said that if the government did not act now, in years ahead legislation would be needed to deal with the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp.'s Cape Breton steel operations or they would fold.

For its new-industry work, the Cape Breton Coal Development Corp., as it is called, will get an initial $20,000,000 federal grant. The Nova Scotia government will add another $10,000,000.

Historic subsidies to the coal industry will be withdrawn and handed over to the corporation. The first-year total will be about $25,000,000. The government hopes for subsidy savings as the industry is rationalized and later phased out.

Six Dosco subsidiaries will eventually pass into the hands of the corporation. They are Dominion Coal Co., Nova Scotia Steel and Coal, Dominion Rolling Stock, Sydney and Louisbourg Railway Co., Scotia Rolling Stock Co., and the Cumberland Railway.

The Nova Scotia government will assume responsibility for independent coal mines all over the province. Corporation headquarters will be in Sydney, N.S.

Health Minister MacEachen, Nova Scotia's cabinet representative, said without federal intervention, the Cape Breton economy would eventually die when the mines did.

The intervention, worked out with the Conservative Nova Scotia government, was a bi-partisan approach to a longstanding problem, he said.

Resources Minister Pepin, piloting the bill through Parliament, estimated coal subsidies would total $400,000,000 in the next 15 years at present rates.

Mr. Pepin said the legislation was based on the report of Montreal consultant Dr. J. R. Donald, who last year completed a special study of the island's problems.

Some MPs thought the coal business had a lot of life still in it.

Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton South) said there is increasing demand for coal in produce steam.

Others questioned the propriety of paying good money to Dosco for mine assets of questionable value. It would have to close out anyway without government financial props.

H. A. Olson (SC — Medicine Hat) said the market value of the mines would be nil except perhaps for salvage, He party questioned the use of federal money to "bail out" Dosco shareholders.

Dosco said it wanted to pull out of coal altogether in 1967 and offered to sell to the government. Sale negotiations are under way. Dosco is said to want $5,000,000 for what is left. The firm owns the federal government that much on a declassified loan.

The federal government, after consultation with Nova Scotia, will name a board, chairman and a president of the corporation for seven - year terms. Three of the five directors will be named by the federal government, and the other two by Nova Scotia. Directors are in for five years.

House Shelves Bell Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—A controversial private bill to widen the powers of Bell Telephone Co. of Canada has been shelved until the fall by the Commons committee on transport and communications.

Lengthy public hearings are scheduled for after the Commons summer recess and the Conservative leadership convention in Toronto Sept. 6-8.

Committee chairman Jon Macaluso (L—Hamilton West) has said he would like to call officials of the combines investigation branch, to testify about the implications of Bell's corporate growth.

The board of transport commissioners, which regulates some telephone rates, may also be consulted by the MPs.

A committee official said Thursday that several large organizations plan to submit briefs opposing various features of the Bell legislation. They include the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves, the city of Montreal and a group of wire manufacturers led by Industrial Wire and Cable Co.

Bell seeks permission to boost its capital stock to $1,750,000,000 from $1,000,000,000, to issue new shares in the future without hearings before the transport board, and to broaden the company's scope of activities beyond terms of the present incorporation Act.

The firm has come under increasing criticism recently from federal, provincial and municipal politicians, who see Bell as a giant monopoly gobbling up small competitors and branching out into several non-telephone industries.

Something Old, Something New

Only One Piece Of Equipment Can Be Towed

Camping plans for some Ontario holidaymakers may be altered by new legislation.

Amendments to the Highway Traffic Act effective July 1 include regulations against now commonplace vehicles towing more than one piece of equipment along provincial highways, OPP officials at Belleville district headquarters warned today.

This specifically will affect those holidaymakers who hitch a tent trailer and boat to their automobiles turning the family vacation into a mobile holiday kit on wheels.

The amendments also are aimed at curtailing the "noise factor" caused by drained-up mufflers.

The regulations bar the use of any muffler, other than the regulation, factory-made item and spells out in detail the types of equipment banned after July 1.

A third amendment, effective immediately, requires that doctors report all patients suffering any condition which could create a hazard to safe driving.

Budget and Spending Plan Run Counter to Each Other

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal $7 budget has already jarred the multiversal five-year projections of government spending quoted widely by the provinces in defence of their demands for more tax revenues.

The projections, of the federal - provincial tax structure committee made public last fall, indicated that the provinces and municipalities would be increasing their combined spending by about 8% per cent a year until 1971-72.

Ottawa would be spending an extra 6½ per cent a year on its programs.

Finance Minister Sharp's June 1 budget quickly made the federal projection unrealistic, at least for 1967-68. Budget expenditures were forecast at $9,- four years, he said.

Comparable world - wide figures are available only to 1964, when collections totalled 37.1 per cent in the United States, 31.5 per cent in the United Kingdom, 27.1 per cent in Germany, 36.4 per cent in France, 41 per cent in Sweden, 26.2 per cent in Australia and 22.2 per cent in Japan.

By Mr. Sharp's prediction, Canadian governments would be taking about 25 per cent of the GNP by 1970.

If this percentage remains unchanged in 1971, and is related to projections of the tax structure committee, Mr. Sharp is looking for a GNP in that year of about $72,100,000,000, compared with the 1966 GNP of $57,800,000,000.

The recent budget, however, illustrates the danger of making a long series of predictions about actions of governments and performance of the economy.

Fire Fighters Plan Tournament

And then they took up golf!

If things get hot at the Rol-Hog Hills Golf and Country Club on June 22nd, officials should not have any trouble getting the situation cooled off.

And for the first time the Belleville Fire Department will send along its Paimers, Nicklaus', Caspers and Hogans.

Any of the fourscore aspiring a hole-in-one will be presented with the Rubber Hose Award.

Man Jumps Into Lake at La Ronde

Fireworks Fly Amok As Explosion Rips Expo

MONTREAL (CP) — An unscheduled fireworks display shattered the stillness of Dolphin Lake at Expo's amusement area Thursday just as a group of water skiers completed a program for foot-weary spectators lining the shores.

The sudden burst of explosions sent panic-stricken visitors scurrying. One man, near the blast sight, was treated in hospital for shock and another man dove into the lake to escape the erupting balls of fire that shot off in all directions.

The explosions ripped up the fireworks installations and sent Jean — Baptiste Gerard to the Expo hospital for treatment for shock. He was released later.

Alexander Sabourin, an electrician working at the scene, had to be pulled out of the water after jumping to safety.

Expo officials first blamed a short circuit for the blast that wrecked the display but said later they believed a couple of rockets set off the chain reaction other having failed to go off the previous night.

The explosions came on a hot and humid afternoon when the temperature soared into the high 80s.

Dr. Doo-Sun Choi, a former premier of South Korea and now president of the Korean Red Cross, represented General Park, the chief of state, at the Expo flag-raising ceremonies. He seemed a little bewildered by the ceremonial.

Dr. Choi, who was welcomed with a 19-gun salute fired from the tip of Cite du Havre and by a guard of honor, said the people of Korea hold Canadians in high regard.

Meanwhile, the staff of the Kuwait pavilion, which had closed its doors May 28 in protest against Canada's alleged pro-Israel stand in the Middle East dispute, emptied the pavilion of all its exhibits early Thursday.

A spokesman for the pavilion said the exhibits were being placed in storage.

Walt Disney Films Doggedly Aimed at the Family Audience

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Disney studio has always occupied a unique position in the film industry, and so it remains six months after Walt Disney's death.

All other movie companies now take in stars, producers and directors as partners, giving them autonomy and a share of the profits. The Disney studio remains authoritarian, and no outsider participates in the profits.

Highbrow critics rail at the Disney product as juvenile and old-fashioned. The Disney people merely point to happy audiences—and stockholders. For the half-year ending April 1, net income from Walt Disney Productions and its subsidiaries was $4,888,000, up from $4,362,000 for the like period last year.

President Roy Disney says the Disney organization would not lack for projects, thanks to the foresight of Walt.

He outlined major areas of planning:

1. Disney World. The Florida Legislature passed and the governor signed enabling legislation for creation of a 43-square-mile project near Orlando to house an entertainment park, city of tomorrow, industrial park and airport of the future. It is to open in 1971.

2. Disneyland will open a new $22,000,000 wonderland in late June. Total improvements for the last three years: $90,000,000.

3. Feature movies: Three films have been completed this year, all bearing the family label "Walt Disney Presents," since he prepared them. Future movies, the work of other film makers, will carry such an imprint as "A Walt Disney Production."

4. Television. The company has almost completed its 26 hour - long programs for the coming season, to feature a new sponsor (Gulf). The Sunday night show on NBC will continue to be called Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color.

5. Mineral King: The state of California has approved building of a highway to the proposed resort in the High Sierra, with completion expected in January, 1972. The company hopes to have resort ready for operation at that time.

Detroit Policemen 'Sick' Over Shakeup

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Police Commissioner Ray Girardin vowed Thursday "the people will be protected even if we have to call out the national guard," as many policemen claimed sick leave.

Girardin said the 215 officers had called in sick Thursday. Of them, he said 113 had been examined by city doctors, and 48 agreed to return to work after they were found to be fit.

The sick calls started to pour in after Girardin put 43 traffic officers on foot patrol, taking them from motorcycle and staff scout - car assignments, for allegedly cutting down on the number of traffic citations they were issuing.

Police Mayor Jerome Cavanagh rejected police demands for a tentative 10 per cent in the pay hoist, saying the city's budget couldn't stand it.

Fit for A Queen

Sharp's Budget Praised

TORONTO (CP) — Mitchell Sharp has transformed budget-making on finance minister and it will never be the same again, economist O. J. Firestone writes the current edition of the Canadian Tax Journal.

He says Mr. Sharp's June budget shows the budget-making process in Canada "has reached a new high level of professional competence, public consultation and flexible treatment."

He says it is a useless mistake to describe the recent budget as a stand - pat document. If Mr. Sharp succeeds in his intent, he will "make economic history."

Mr. Firestone finds professional competence both in the product which the paper calls its "analytical and forward-looking content" and in the budget-speech itself.

Every Art Must Be A Bore Before It Becomes A Delight

Reading about the death of Mischa Elman, the noted violinist, I recalled the two summers that we were neighbors in Hollywood, more than a dozen years ago.

He and his family rented the villa next to mine at that fine old garden of Allah, (which also, alas, is now among the departed). The first morning he rented it, I was awakened at 8 by someone playing the scales on the violin.

Some child, I thought, being bullied by his mother to practice the fiddle at this ridiculously early hour on his vacation. The scale-practising continued for some — and at noon, when we went out to the pool for lunch, I learned that it had been Mischa Elman.

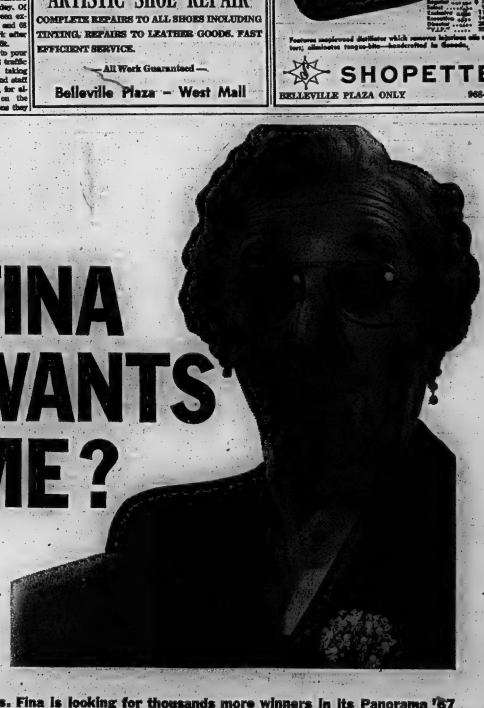
He practised every morning that summer, just as he had for more than 50 years, since his debut in Berlin at the age of 13. Nor was he rehearsing some difficult passage in Bach or Mozart; he was playing the scales, over and over again, as a beginner might.

That same summer, incidentally, Maxie Rosenbloom, the pug, was paying court to Gladys Parker, the cartoonist, who had the villa on the other side of mine. I mentioned to Maxie one day that Elman practised his scales every morning for four hours.

"That's 'cause he's a champ," Maxie said. "All the champs do that. Same thing in boxing. That Joe Louis would work for hours on a punching-bag or skipping rope just like an unknown kid in some neighborhood gym. If you don't keep it up, pal, you fade fast."

And you will hear the same from actors, skiers, racing drivers, concert pianists — once they begin to slight the fundamentals, to think they are too "advanced" to practise the basics of their craft, they lose that intuitive co-ordination of mind and body that makes all the difference between greatness and mere proficiency.

"I didn't have the patience," Maxie confessed. "All those drills bored me. I wanted to live it up. Believe me, that attitude's ruined more fighters than anything else. They might have the physical equipment to be champs — but they just don't have the will power."



Cedric Hardwicke once told me that he practiced diction for an hour or two every morning after his coffee — Lear's limericks and the "Jabberwocky" poem being his favorites. "Modern actors," he said austerely, "can't be heard clearly because they don't practise."

Every art must be a bore before it becomes a delight — and it must keep on being a bore in privets in order to remain a delight in public. This is a lesson no few learn before it is too late.

UN Force in Cyprus Claims Respect Gone, Danger Rising

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP)—There is growing disenchantment and frustration among members of the 4,000 - man United Nations force in Cyprus about the lack of any progress toward a political solution of the island's problem.

These feelings have naturally been heightened by the ignominious and tragic withdrawal of the United Nations Emergency Force from Egypt. One informant said there now is less respect for the UN by both the Greek- and Turkish - Cypriots than there was in 1964 when communal rioting and butchery brought the force here.

Another said neither side hardly pretends to co-operate with the UN. There is resentment in the force for getting little or no backing from UN headquarters in New York.

Last fall the Greek - Cypriots began building concrete fortifications around the Turkish enclave northwest of Nicosia. The UN force asked UN Secretary-General U Thant to remonstrate with President Archbishop Makarios, but nothing was done. From the beginning the UN force has had no authority to disarm Cypriots, almost all of whom are armed to the teeth, to stop gun-running into the island or to prevent entry of guerrilla fighters from Greece and Turkey.

The number of areas into which Greeks and Turks will not permit UN patrols is increasing steadily. Such Greek areas at least have Russian tanks and 25 pounder artillery pieces.

A F officer said the Cyprus tion is getting potentially more dangerous all the time.

The force's dreadful dilemma is that though it has little authority except to try to negotiate individual incidents, the withdrawal would again open the way to mass murder. UN soldiers are supposed to have the authority to shoot back if attacked but one Canadian officer was sent home more than a year ago because he fired over the head of a Turk who had tried to kill him with a rifle.

One senior UN officer said he felt the UN Security Council should have renewed the force's mandate for only three months instead of six, and attached a rider that if no moves toward mediation were made during that time withdrawal of the force would have to be considered.

There are a few threads of evidence that the island might get back to normal some day, for the first time since 1963.

A Turkish-Cypriot has taken a civil lawsuit into a Greek court and a Greek travel agency has booked some tourists into a Turkish hotel.

Meanwhile, the Canadian high commissioner's office is getting ready for July 1 celebrations. A reception will be held for Sik Greeks here and another will be held for the Turks on the old jousting ground of ancient St. Hilarion's Castle in the Kyrenian Mountains.

Sikhs Ambushed Despite Flags

NICOSIA; Cyprus (CP) — Only now are some of the bloody details becoming available about the Israeli Army attack on members of the 1st Sikh Light Infantry, the Indian contingent in the United Nations Emergency Force in Egypt.

There is mounting fury among members of the United Nations force in Cyprus about what happened to the Sikhs to the point that some officers say Israel should be expelled from the UN.

The Indian contingent suffered 14 killed and 24 wounded from Israeli fire before it could be evacuated from Egypt to Cyprus. Some of the wounded are still in the UN field hospital here.

There is also resentment here that UN headquarters in New York has not published the details of the fate which befell the Indians in and near the Gaza Strip.

Indian officers say the Sikh battalion suffered more casualties as non-combatants in Egypt than it did in its bloodiest engagement in the 1965 India-Pakistan war.

They relate these details: An Indian convoy was on route from Camp Rafah to Gaza flying the UN flag from each jeep and truck. The Sikhs could not be mistaken for anybody else because they were wearing their distinctive turbans.

As usual the convoy met an Israeli tank column on the road. It pulled over to the side of the road and stopped to let Israelis pass. Three Israeli tanks went by.

The fourth tank stopped, swivelled its turret on the convoy and opened fire from a range of only a few feet.

"If we don't hurry up and do something, the crisis will be over!"

Opposed To Force UK Stand

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — Foreign Secretary George Brown said today Britain is opposed to any Mideast settlement imposed by force or any territorial gains by force.

The foreign secretary, flying to New York today for the United Nations debate on the Middle East crisis, outlined in a speech here the policy he will press.

Brown told a Labor party rally any Middle East solution imposed by force was unacceptable and added: "Accordingly, one contribution to a settlement must be the recognition that the war should not lead to territorial aggrandizement."

This was seen as a veiled warning to Israel to expect no British backing if any move to hold onto Arab lands conquered in last week's war.

PM Undecided If Attending

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin today will spearhead a Soviet drive at an emergency session of the United Nations General Assembly to force Israel's withdrawal from the Arab lands it captured.

The opening meeting at 9:30 a.m. EDT was called to deal only with procedural matters, such as adoption of the agenda and appointment of a credentials committee.

The session will get down to business Monday, when the United States, the Soviet Union and Israel are listed to speak, in that order.

The possibility of President Johnson's speaking for the United States still was under consideration.

It also was undecided if Prime Minister Pearson would attend.

Kosygin, who arrived in New York early today from London, today, will speak for the Soviet Union, and Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban is expected to state his government's case.

There had been speculation Kosygin's appearance might lead to a Big Four Summit meeting on the Middle East.

But after he stopped in Paris Friday to confer with French President Charles de Gaulle, an informed French source said: "A Big Four conference is not in sight. The Russians are not eager for one now."

There was no immediate indication that de Gaulle or British Prime Minister Wilson would come to New York.

The Soviet Union requested the emergency session after its resolution demanding Israeli withdrawal did not receive the necessary nine votes in the Security Council.

Secretary - General U Thant called the session after a majority of the 122 UN members agreed to the Soviet request. By Friday night, 58 members had agreed. The United States, Israel and Botswana voted against it, and Colombia and Ireland abstained.

Egyptian Deputy Prime Minister Mahmoud Fawzi and Hassan Sabry el Kholy, personal representative of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, arrived this weekend to represent their government.

Arab foreign ministers arranged a meeting today in Kuwait to work out strategy on rebuilding problems and the Israeli conquest of lands in Egypt, Jordan and Syria. It was not known whether any of them would go to the UN session.

The New York Daily News said it has learned Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is coming to the session. There was no confirmation from Havana.

De Gaulle's decision to keep France neutral in last week's Middle East war brought a violent objections from some French political and military leaders, a high French source said Friday.

Some said opponents argued that any friendships gained with Arab states would be fragile and the control of arms supplies to Israel would jeopardize the basis of France's policy of selling weapons to all comers.

In an interview published in the Tel Aviv newspaper Yediot Aharonot, Dayan said de Gaulle lifted the 1956 ban on block Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba to the Palestinian refugee problem in order to present a balanced picture" but "to the point, it's not right, and it's not politics."

In Syria, the government newspaper Al Thawra urged Arabs in Israel - held land on the western bank of the Jordan River to wage secret armed resistance.

Egypt Calls Troops Back

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt has agreed to the evacuation of crew members from 12 ships stranded in the Suez Canal by the Middle East war, it was reported today.

A spokesman for the Canadian embassy said it was hoped 200 Britons could be evacuated from the Red Sea ships within the next few days. Canada has been looking after British sailors in Egypt since Britain and Egypt broke off diplomatic relations.

Attack Deliberate Say U.S. Sailors

VALETTA, Malta (AP)—Senior new members of the damaged U.S. Navy Ship Liberty are convinced that Israeli jets and torpedo boat attack that cost 34 lives was deliberate, a responsible source said today.

They have testified to that effect before the navy inquiry court now in secret session aboard the ship as she undergoes emergency repair in a Malta dry dock, the source said.

Their conviction was based on the belief that the Israelis had ample time to identify the ship early and on the intensity of the attack.

Liberty was struck June 8 on the latter's 15 miles off the Israeli coast. She is in a freighter convoyed three years ago to a naval communications and research ship.

She sailed into the Mediterranean from her base at Norfolk, Va., in the first week of June and had been in position off the Israeli coast only 36 hours when attacked.

Official, her task was to maintain communications with U.S. embassies in the war-torn Mideast, as they planned evacuations of U.S. citizens.

But all military men in Malta, long versed in the ways of war, take it for granted that Liberty who was ordered to intercept radio communications of the warring Israeli and Arab forces.

For four hours before the attack the ship had been under surveillance from Israeli planes circling overhead.

"We were flying the Stars and Stripes and it's absolutely impossible that they shouldn't know who we were," a survivor said. "This was a deliberate and planned attack and the remarkable thing about it was the accuracy of their air fire."

Liberty already was blazing from the jet attack when torpedo boats fired at least three torpedoes. One struck the ship's board side, tearing a 30 foot wide by 25 high in 1/4 plating, most of it below waterline.

Negroes Starving MD Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Negroes literally are starving in southern states, with the crisis worst in Mississippi, says a group of six doctors in a study for the Ford Foundation.

"I was told before I went there that there was a conspiracy to eliminate the Negro," Dr. Raymond Wheeler told a news conference Friday. "I didn't believe it before but I do now."

Wheeler, a Charlotte, N.C., internist, said: "It is still difficult for me to believe that this could exist in this nation of ours."

The news conference came after the physicians visited with department of agriculture officials and members of a Senate poverty subcommittee.

The order followed a gun battle between two rival deputies in a corridor near the debating chamber last week. Deputy Estacio Souza Kaier is still recovering from wounds.

De Gaulle Fails to Convince Kosygin; Chances of Big Four Summit Recede

PARIS (Reuters) — Chances of a United Nations Big Four summit conference on the Middle East receded somewhat today as President de Gaulle ruled out any immediate visit to New York.

Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, after talks Friday with de Gaulle at the Elysee Palace, would not say whether there would be a four - power summit, but said: "The only thing that interests me at the moment is the United Nations General Assembly."

The Soviet leader flew to New York Friday night after stopping here for more than two hours of talks with the French president. Officials said the Middle East was the only subject discussed.

There was no indication whether de Gaulle made any progress in persuading the Soviet leader to accept France's proposal for four-power consultations on a Middle East settlement.

French sources said there was no likelihood of an immediate visit to New York by de Gaulle, a sign that a summit meeting is not an immediate possibility.

Before Kosygin's arrival in Paris, it was realized in French governmental circles that the Russians might be unwilling to agree to a formal four-power meeting with Western leaders for fear of exposing themselves to further hostile propaganda by China.

The Chinese have accused Russia of collaborating with the United States "to stifle the Arab liberation movement."

Picton's Annexation Bid Said "Assessment Grab"

PICTON (Staff) — Heated argument between representatives of the Town of Picton and Hallowell Township were the order of the day at Picton Court House yesterday.

Representatives of the two groups are fighting over a proposed annexation of 770 acres of land by the Town of Picton from the township.

Feelings were running high during the hearing held before two members of the Ontario Municipal Board. Town representatives claim the land is needed for future expansion while those acting for the township call the annexation an "assessment grab."

Yesterday afternoon Eric Hardy, a municipal consultant acting for the township, told board members the annexation would almost double the size of Picton. "Considering the slow growth in the past and uncertain future, I think the proposed annexation is not in the best interest of either the township or of the community."

Mr. Hardy claimed the town would have to absorb heavy costs through its taxpayers before any expansion can be put on a paying basis.

"Annexation would not only have a negative affect on the town internally but also with neighboring towns and villages."

The consultant said the town is not in a position to handle the huge expenditures entailed in servicing of the new property. "You can't double the size of a town and expect the ratepayers to absorb the cost of servicing the annexed area," he said.

Mr. Hardy said he feels the town should not look for major industries but try to interest smaller units to locate in the area. "You don't have enough housing and the labor supply is at a minimum at the present time."

Under cross examination by Picton's solicitor, R. E. Nourse, the consultant held to the argument that downward trend in population was one of the key factors in the case. He claimed the town should be selective in the type of industry it acquires.

Following repeated questioning by the solicitor on what type of industry he deemed suitable, Hardy claimed a food processing plant or cheese factory would be desirable.

"Do you know anything at all about this county?" Nourse asked.

"Certainly I know something about the county — I've been working as a consultant here for several months," Hardy replied.

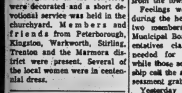
"Then you should know by this time that the area couldn't stand another cheese factory . . . we've had so many go under in the past few years", Nourse said.

The two debated the industry question at length until OMB chairman, H. A. Roberts closed off debate on the subject.

Other witnesses during the afternoon session were John Tait of the Canadian National Railway, John Mallory, treasurer of the township of Hallowell, and Mrs. Mallory.

Mr. Tait testified on the reduction of CNR services in the area and showed the downward trend in freight pick-ups in Picton. "We have no scheduled rail service to the town at the present time."

Mr. Mallory was asked by township solicitor Ronald Cass of Belleville to give the hearing a report on other transportation services in the area. He testified that in almost every area of activity, services in Prince Edward County and especially Picton have been slowed to a standstill.



"It's far dio arrange transport by rail, truck, boat and we have no air service. He also testified on police, fire and water services offered both by the town and the township. On cross examination Mr. Nourse asked Mallory if he had ever seen any boats in Picton Harbor?

"Well, I've lived here for 40 years and have yet to see a major steamship dock here", Mallory replied.

Mrs. Mallory testified on the number of residents in the township who would be effected by the annexation. About 112 adults would come under the town", she said.

The hearing into the proposed annexation got under way last September but was adjourned when Picton charged the township with filibustering. It was then adjourned to June and re-opened in Picton on Wednesday.

The hearing has again been adjourned. It will open in Toronto on a date not yet set. Mr. Nourse says the town will bring another eight witnesses before the hearing.

Bata Issues Writ After Fire Loss

TRENTON — Existence of a writ against the town, its fire and public utilities departments, issued by the Bata Shoe Company for suffered heavy loss in a warehouse fire earlier this year, has been confirmed by Mayor James MacDonald.

The mayor revealed the writ had been issued "several weeks ago" and turned over to the town's insurance company for consideration.

The writ also names the Canadian Pacific Railways and the Griffith Lumber Company.

It arises from the Jan. 14 blaze in a Sidney St. warehouse rented by Bata for storage of a large consignment of shoes.

Loss in the fire was estimated up to $800,000.

The writ cites the town and the railroad for negligence and the lumber company for "breach of quiet enjoyment" of the lease.

Heavy Damage to Power Stations In Wake of PE County Storm

The Quinte area breathed easier today in the wake of a cooling but costly thunderstorm that swept the district last night.

Telephone links throughout the county and north in the Bancroft area were cut as the storm cut a swath through the district.

Today, the weatherman at Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, said the storm brought the first break in a days-long spell of hot humid weather in a cold front finally moved in from Northern Ontario.

Temperatures highs for the weekend were placed in the low 70s with a comfortable low tonight of 52.

The storm moved into the southern townships of the district some time after 8 p.m.

Rain belted the area, accompanied by heavy, rolling thunder and vivid lightning.

There were two simultaneous hits on power installations in the county.

About 9 p.m. a bolt struck the Picton substation, blacking out the vicinity.

At Consecon, a main feeder line was hit, severing power in the surrounding rural area.

However, this was only a preliminary estimate.

This morning they were examining a main transformer at the station. If it also was damaged, loss might run as high as $50,000 they said.

Meantime, Robert Carleton, Bell Telephone manager for Trenton and Picton areas, reported "widespread lightning contacts" with telephone lines during the storm.

"Many phones were out of order and all our crews have been at work since early this morning," he reported.

There was similar dislocation in the Bancroft area.

"We've had far heavier trouble as a result of this storm than from many in past years," said Mr. Carleton.

In Wellington, local residents reported telephone services in the village this morning was still sporadic.

Near Carrying Place, fire destroyed a small barn on the farm of Harry Kuipers, but Trenton fire chief Cecil Ellis said it was not certain if the blaze had been caused by lightning.

Mr. and Mrs. Kuipers were awakened about 11 p.m. when passing motorists spotted the fire in their farmyard, west of Highway 33, about a half-mile south of Trenton.

No Immunity!

Single Man Handles Quinte Sheep Shearing

They're being methodically fleeced down on the farm by a one-man operation these days — and the result is a new look in sheepishness.

However, the operation is something of a chore since Art Colton is the one man specializing in sheep-shearing in the Quinte district.

With the wool on every sheep's back now accumulated to a mature fleece this is Art's busiest time of the year.

Each year at this time, he temporarily suspends farming on his own homestead at R. R. 1 Consecon, oils his electric shears, and sets off for sheep-shearing farms throughout the area.

The Quinte area is not notable for its interest in sheep-rearing. Still there are about 50 farms to be covered and — before the season is over — about 2,000 sheep uncovered.

While a fleece is not exactly golden these days—the natural product now has price competition from synthetics — it still can mean a financial fillip for the farmer, with little upkeep cost.

For Art, it is only a matter of minutes to shear off the bulky wool coat that has taken months to grow.

It's all in the way the sheep is held during the operation. Easiest position is to flip them upright, then sit them on their haunches while holding them firmly around the neck.

However, it wasn't always so easy, Art admits.

He started shearing as a novice about six years ago when a need developed among district farmers for a professional clipper.

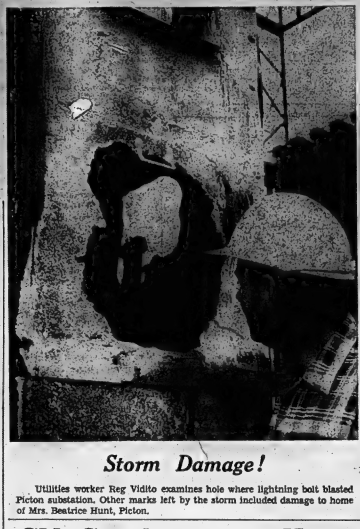
"The first year was the worst — I felt like throwing it over them," he recalls.

The farmers themselves often came to his aid, helping to hold down the sheep — but often the presence of too many hands was more hindrance than help.

Perseverance paid off, however, and the following year he found he had acquired the knack of shearing single-handed.

Now, his services are in wide demand, with requests often coming in from farms scattered through Eastern Ontario.

The fleece must be trimmed in one piece, then tied with paper twine.



Use of hemp runs the danger of having strangers becoming entangled in the wool, thus reducing its value.

As for the sheep, it takes about three months to replace the wool on their backs. Then they are all set for another winter — after which they can look forward to being fleeced once more.

A Sheer Shear!

It's that time of year again for Art Colton. As only sheep-shearer in the Quinte area he's kept busy fleecing stock raised on local farms, like that of Clint Brown, Point Anne.

CN Car Inspector Killed

A Canadian National Railways car inspector was instantly killed this morning when he stepped into the path of an oncoming train at the Belleville terminal yards.

Police said Albert George Gaskey, 49, of 96 North Front Street, had just finished inspecting a train when the fatal mishap occurred.

He stepped backwards — into the path of a westbound passenger train from Montreal, and was thrown down an embankment.

Mr. Gaskey, born in Belleville, had worked for the CNR for the past 25 years.

Besides his wife, the former Ruth Cooper, Mr. Gaskey is immediately survived by a son, Gordon, of Cyperville, Man., and a daughter, Virginia, at home.

Also surviving are two brothers — Frederick, of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Edward, of Hamilton — and four sisters: Mrs. J. H. Riesno, Niagara Falls; Mrs. H. (Maud) Luther, Mrs. G. H. (Ellen) Gulliver, and Mrs. R. (Marguerite) Duvall, all of Belleville.

Resting at the John B. Bush Funeral Home. The funeral service will take place Tuesday.

CN Adds Extra Run To Expo

MONTREAL,(Special) — An additional evening train, "Expo Extra", will be placed in operation between Montreal and Toronto effective Friday, June 23, Canadian National announced today.

The new train will operate on the Rapido schedule of four hours, fifty - nine minutes, leaving both Montreal and Toronto at 5.45 p.m. each day except Saturday.

The Toronto-bound train will stop at Guildwood, and the Montreal-bound train will stop at Dorval.

The train will provide reserved coach accommodation for approximately 400 passengers with full dining and lounge facilities.

Travel on the Montreal-Toronto run is up 22 per cent since January 1967, and on some days since the opening of Expo demands on passenger services have run 82 per cent higher than on similar days in 1966.

Boy Escapes Serious Injury In Mishap

A six-year-old boy escaped serious injury yesterday when his arm was snared in a moving conveyor belt at a suburban shopping centre.

Robert Meeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meeks, R. R. 1, Plainfield, was freed after an attendant at the Bitewise store switched off the belt when he heard the boy screaming.

An ambulance and an emergency fire department unit responded to the call and the boy was freed when, police said, the belt was cut.

Police said the boy was taken to Belleville General Hospital for x-rays but did not appear seriously injured.

Drowning Accidents Increase

With more than 11,000 drownings occurring annually, Canada has one of the highest drowning rates in the world. Even more disturbing is the fact that more than 35 per cent of those who lose their lives are children under the age of 13 years.

It is against this tragic statistic that St. John Ambulance has pitted its "Save a Life" Program — free two-hour classes in mouth-to-mouth and other methods of artificial respiration.

The "Save a Life" Program is aimed at training as many people as possible in methods of life-saving so that if water accidents do occur, there will be someone on hand who knows how to revive the victim. Since the program began, more than one million Canadians have taken this valuable training.

Traffic Movement

Reflecting further on the plan to put new life into downtown Belleville, presented the other day by a Chamber of Commerce committee, the movement of traffic naturally is one aspect for which provision has been made.

The plan envisages a one-way circular artery around the city's core. Buses and autos would feed into the route from outlying areas. Provision would be made for parking, but no cars would be allowed on Front Street where construction of a mall is anticipated.

This is all to the good. However, as far as public transportation is concerned one wonders if the city could introduce the European monorail system. This is one of the most efficient and speedy methods of public transportation in the world and would be in keeping with a forward-looking plan such as the one outlined for Belleville.

The Kitchener-Waterloo area has just completed a transportation study and it has inspired similar thinking in that area. For instance The Kitchener-Waterloo Record suggests that "the metropolis of the future will need something much different than the public transport of today. It will employ, perhaps, in addition to buses something in the nature of the monorail, or some other more efficient means of moving people."

The newspaper notes also that "effective public transit will help reduce the need for more and wider and more costly streets and highways."

Litter Problem

Picton's new by-law aimed at eliminating litter should do just that if the penalty for contravening it is taken to heart by citizens.

"Any person contravening any provision of this by-law shall be guilty of an offence and on summary conviction shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $300 inclusive of costs, and in default of payment to imprisonment for a term of not more than 21 days."

The by-law covers "rubbish, scrap, salvage or other unsightly material or noxious or offensive substance."

Litter abounds in Belleville, even in park areas. There was glass lying beside the drinking fountain in the Jaycee Waterfront park near this office the other day. Paper lies on streets and sidewalks and even in the patios of some homes.

Young people hooked on popcorn and candy just dump cartons and other leftovers on the street the way they do with such careless abandon at the movies. Must we tolerate such slovenly habits in Belleville? Among such cardinal virtues as respect for other people's property are those people should be taught not to be litterbugs.

Meanwhile, it should be said that Belleville does have a bylaw covering "litter and other public nuisances." City Clerk Adam Stalker says it is an old one and is in the process of being brought up to date. Let's hope it will have as much teeth in it as Picton's, that is a stiff penalty for anyone contravening its provisions.

Book on Canada

A Toronto publishing firm has announced it has started a new division to produce and distribute illustrated books about Canadian life.

This is an interesting development because Canadian publishing houses have not been noticeably active in this particular sphere.

One recent Government publication was People of Light and Dark, a book on the Indian and Eskimo peoples of Canada. It has a foreword by the Duke of Edinburgh and is available at the Belleville Public Library.

By and large, however, illustrated works on Canada are conspicuous by their absence. True, a provincial series is for sale at book stores, but there is scope for publication of books on the Canadian scene which employ the most modern methods for reproducing color photography for instance.

New Zealand is a country which excels in this field. Writers, photographers and publishers in that land 'down under' have taken advantage of its superbly varied landscapes and excellent climate to produce a number of illustrated books. In size, content and quality these books are collectors' items and at the same time are relatively inexpensive.

In Canada there is a tremendous range of subject matter that could be covered by books of a similar nature. Roloff Beny has already shown the way with his Centennial work, To Every Thing There is a Season.

Dief Pays Homage at Memorial to Sir John A. Macdonald

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — It was just a flash in time — a 10-second item in the television news — and it faded from the screen before you knew, really, what had been happening.

That old political stager — the greatest actor in the Commons cast in nearly 30 years — was putting on one of his you've-got-to-see-it-to-believe-it performances.

John G. Diefenbaker, Canada's 13th Prime Minister, in what he called "a quiet time," was communing with the man for most reverend Canada's first Prime Minister, Sir John A. Macdonald, dead these 76 years.

Only Dief could have pulled it off, and gloriously.

Watching it admiringly, one of his few remaining but still most devoted followers mourned that it was too bad — too bad Dief's truly astounding talent for Parliamentary fantasy as Opposition Leader had not been matched by an equally astonishing gift for Parliamentary reality as Prime Minister.

If it had, how different, muscled the Conservative Frontbencher who sat in the Cabinet with Dief, these last five wilderness years might have been.

There, hovering 30 feet overhead on the East Lawn, just outside the Senate Entrance to the Centre Block, on a pedestal of granite, stood Sir John A., the "Old Chieftain," in stone, staring with unseeing eyes out across Parliament Hill as it still peering into the mists of the future.

And there at his feet, grizzled grey head bowed as if in prayer, John G.

It would be, Dief had announced in advance, a "short commemorative visit" he would be paying to Sir John on the 76th anniversary of the first Prime Minister's death.

There was a brief wreath-placing, of course, with Sir John's name spelled incorrectly on the card, but this was little more than routine.

What was far from routine came when John G., emerging from what obviously had been a deep reverie, began wondering out loud what on earth John A. would have done and said, if a century younger, he had lived to see this day and this Parliament.

"Ah," mused John G. speculating on the question, John A. amazed by today's Commons, would have exclaimed "How unkeen it is," for the "Old Chieftain" had been a rough one, and the House a century ago a tough one.

And of today's Official Opposition, murmured John G. with some pride, John A. definitely would have uttered an astonished "How big it is" — for it was, in simple truth, added the leader, the biggest-by-far-ever, infinitely bigger than anything the "Old Chieftain" had led in his 19th century Parliamentary day.

And what would John A. have said about the 18th successor to his first prime ministership, the Liberals Lester B. Pearson, John G. wondered — but not for long.

"Ah," snorted John G. with a shudder of distaste, "he would not be using such soft, sweet and low talkery words as appear in his encyclopedia of the times days."

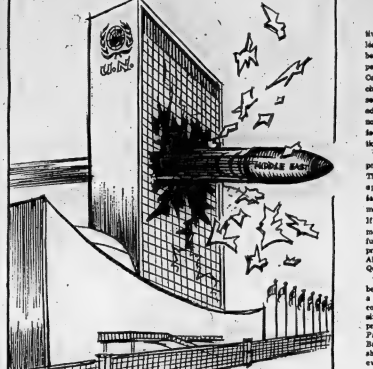
But that was two years ago, and this, he insisted, was different. The Chief was dead there, and weren't we all celebrating the birth of the nation that the first Prime Minister had fathered?



John G., an established scholar on the life and times of John A., has gone so deeply into his semi-pro hobby of collecting Macdonald memorabilia he now even sleeps in the "Old Chieftain's" bed, a magnificent four-poster.

It was seat him by an admirer of "both Johns," as it was put, dismantled and in sections, and he has put it all together, again so that he, too, may use it and perhaps dream of making a return to power just as its first occupant once did.

These moments of "communing" between the two Johns, the two former Conservative Prime Ministers, were strange ones, and as they proved there, one in the flesh and the other in stone, it would not have been all that surprising had they struck up a conversation.

Can you imagine Prime Minister Pearson having such a "commemorative visit" to the statue of Sir Wilfrid Laurier?

Only Dief with his genius for political showmanship could cut such a caper and make it convincing.

Some Banks Revise Their Working Day

London Free Press

What do you know, we're all going to be on "bankers' hours." Not that we are all going to close up shop at three o'clock. Instead the bankers are beginning to have the same open-for-business hours as the rest of us.

Seriously, bankers' hours, like teachers' hours, were never what they seemed. That 10 to 3 bit is by no means the extent of the bank staffs' working day. It is the service part of the lowbrow, if the banks will pardon a reference to their operation in such cold terms.

Those banks that have adopted business-hours schedules in line with the rest of the community are to be commended for a decision that will involve a revision of their internal organization. Benefit to business and individuals will be considerable. Banking provides the arteries for the lifeblood of business and business could be hampered when the arteries closed. Perhaps the anachronistic and specious "bankers holidays" will be the next to go.

Conservative Party Leadership

Montreal Gazette

The Progressive Conservative party chooses a leader in less than three months. It will be a crucial decision for the party and for the coming push for Canadian politics. If the party chooses wisely, it will assure itself of a future as a major Canadian political party. If it does not, it could easily become a faction and die of disintegration.

There is urgent need for a progressive Conservative party. The Conservative philosophy appeals to many Canadians who claim no permanent political allegiance. If any evidence is needed, the most convincing is the successful Conservative regimes in the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec and Nova Scotia.

The delegates to the September convention should be given a wide choice. There are encouraging signs already, with six candidates in the field with proven records of service in Parliament and Government. But more names has one and should enter the race so that every point of view is brought out and every part of the country is represented.

The need for a variety of points of view is evident. The party must re-build from within and this requires a thorough debate on policy as well as during the convention. It must also get a response from outside the party ranks and for this purpose at the moment is to get men who can stir that response.

There are men available who have the qualities to lead the Progressive Conservative Party. One of the party's strengths is the untapped potential in the provincial field, for example. Here the figures of John Robarts, Robert Stanfield and Duff Roblin stand out conspicuously. The first two maintain they will remain in their own provinces, although it is reasonably certain they would not refuse a draft at the convention. The third, Mr. Roblin, may still be persuaded to enter the race.

The convention probably would prefer not to choose a leader by draft, at the last minute. It is the worst of all the options. The new leader should come from among the declared candidates, and he should have campaigned for the post, spelling his views forward on public platforms across the country, testing them in the proper forum.

It is to be hoped, then, that Mr. Roblin, for one, can be persuaded to stand for the leadership. His record and personality he has many qualities which the Conservative Party needs in a leader. His grasp of French and understands Quebec, as few other men do in public life in Canada. He is already a successful party leader and he commands support in Western Canada, where the party is strong at the moment and must retain its strength, if it is to win office in the future.

And, along with Mr. Roblin, other men of ability, including Mr. Dalton Camp, should enter the race. Mr. Camp, after all, began the process of renewal in the party when everyone knew it had to be done but no one was willing to do it. He stirred between the two Johns in the party but outside as well.

Above all, what is needed is not the campaign of the past few weeks is vigorous debate among the candidates about the future orientation of the party and where a Conservative Government would take the country. It may be that one of the men now in the race will emerge the winner. But whoever comes /bet the winner, he should have been forced to show his hand and articulate his policies.

The leadership of the Conservative Party should be focused on someone who has shown by declaring himself, that he has something to say, and, most of all, that by hard work and vigorous debate, he deserves it.

Community Recreation Issue

Windsor Star

The idea of using school buildings for community recreation programs is widely accepted now. However, it still is not always easy to apply the idea.

School trustees are concerned and rightly so, that community use should not interfere with the basic purpose of the schools. A less valid if natural concern which can arise on the part of the trustees is their fearing of having a proprietary interest in these properties.

Alberta Hopes to Cover 90 Per Cent of Population

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Last of a Series

* * *

Alberta gets into the field with a plan July 1 which relies heavily on private carriers acting as agents of the provincial government. It is voluntary, comprehensive and portable. The province hopes that 90 per cent of the population will be covered.

The main problem centres on the federal requirement of a non-profit public agency to administer the Alberta plan and that province to qualify for federal funds.

Dr. Donovan Ross, Alberta health minister, says this "could do away with Medical Services (Alberta) Inc.," the non-profit doctor - sponsored plan in the province.

"As far as the federal government is concerned, private carriers would by washed out except as agencies—post office," he says.

"We still feel federal intrusion in the (medical care insurance) field is wrong."

Nevertheless the prospect of some $27,000,000 in federal funds is regarded as too powerful lure to the province to set up the necessary public agency to step tab on how public money is spent.

Final settlement of this question is not expected before the fall, partly because of the Quebec election by the late-May provincial election.

However, after a private conference with Mr. Ross at the end of the federal-provincial conference in April, Mr. MacEachen said he remains confident the province will qualify along with the others.

In British Columbia, medical care insurance is a mixture of the medically-operated plan with low - income premium subsidization covering about 30 per cent of the population and private carriers such as doctor-operated plans covering an additional 70 to 75 per cent.

The province has passed an act declaring its eligibility for federal payments and setting up machinery to apply to both the government - sponsored and non-government plans.

Churches Face Slump Here

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa. (AP) — The marquee over the Roxy Theatre offers The Nun and Penny Ante, a double feature Woman of Pleasure. But the line of young people who gather on Sunday aren't going to see a movies.

Rev. Richard Regni, a Roman Catholic priest, sits behind a folding screen in the cramped little booth. Afterwards, all adjourn to the pedestals of the music theatre's, a portable altar is pulled from beneath the glittering screen and mass is celebrated.

When there's no place else, the church must make do, says Father Regni, 33, a former U.S. Air Force intelligence agent.

"The church is really very flexible in the presentation of the sacramental life. The priest can say mass anywhere when it comes down to it. We don't need a big facility like a marble cathedral to function well."

Using the ticket booth and the theatre may be a bit unorthodox, but the students say they haven't any qualms about it."

For Father Regni and the 3,100 Roman Catholics among the students of Slippery Rock State College, use of the theatre is a necessity. There are no facilities on campus for religious services. St. Peter's, the only Roman Catholic church in this college town 50 miles north of Pittsburgh, is too small. Mass is celebrated twice each Sunday at the Roxy. No movies are shown there on Sundays.

"I found the ticket booth as a confessional is ideal, and so is the theatre for mass," Father Regni says. "The students feel it is their own."

The students agree.

"The fact that it is for the students and separate from the rest of the community is the best thing about it," says Dennis Moskalski, 21, a junior from New Kensington, Pa.

As for offering confession in a ticket booth, Moskalski says, "It's the same as any confessional, only the outside is changed."

The students also take a bigger part in the mass. Prayers are sung to pop tunes.

"The music we sing and listen to is our type of music," says Janet Infante, 20, a sophomore from Pittsburgh. "We change the words of contemporary songs to prayers and sing to the accompaniment of two guitars strummed in the rear of the theatre by fellow students."

Priest Holds Mass In Town's Theatre

TORONTO (CP) — A United church minister says Canada's booming churches of the '50s have gone into a slump.

"In many ways the religious picture in Canada has become like that in Britain," says Rev. A. Leonard Griffith, who, in 1953, touched off an outcry in Britain when he said here "there is more religion in Central Africa than in England."

Canada, Mr. Griffith says, seems to be undergoing the same religious metamorphosis that hit Britain after the First World War.

"The church seems to be losing contact with young people and there is a decline in response to preaching.

"Financial support has slumped. In the 1950s church budgets were mushrooming but now, for the first time since my ordination in 1945, I've heard of serious decreases in giving.

"There is a dramatic shrinkage in the ministry with an increasing number of dropouts. In the United Church, the enrolment of theological students is half of what we need."

Mr. Griffith isn't dismayed by the trend towards secularization of Canadian society—"I don't say the church is getting weaker, I'd rather say that what is happening is a stripping down of the institutional structures."

"In the process, the church actually may become stronger —every renewal of the church in history has been accompanied by renewal and disturbing changes."

The most hopeful change in Canada was the ecumenical mood. "The first visitor in our home to welcome us here was a Roman Catholic priest —that wouldn't have happened in the days before I went to Britain."

Mr. Griffith, who last July returned from six years of service in the City Temple of London, has mellowed his judgment about religion in Britain, which, in 1953, stirred a fiery rejoinder from the Archbishop of Canterbury.

"It's true that institutional Christianity in Britain is weak, but on the whole the people still follow Christian ideals and those ideals are remarkably integrated into British society.

In Greater London, on any given Sunday, only two per cent of the population were in church.

Minister Makes Wine In Cellar

TORONTO (CP)—An Anglican minister says he makes 75 gallons of wine a year in his church rectory and has never had a complaint from his parishioners.

Rev. Graham Cotter, minister of St. Mark's Anglican Church, told about it at a fund-raising lecture to parishioners on "Drink-it-yourself home wine-making."

Mr. Cotter says he first began making wine when he was working on doctorate at the University of Toronto. Both he and his wife liked a glass of wine with dinner but couldn't afford to buy it. So he decided to make it himself.

Today he makes wine not only from grapes and all kinds of fruits but also from carrots, potatoes, parsley, cereals, dandelions, clover and thistles.

Many parishioners think it's a great lark, Mr. Cotter says. "I expect there are some who don't like it but I haven't heard from them—yet."

"Moderation should be learned in the home. I believe children should be introduced to the civilized use of every product. In my home I was given a glass of beer every Sunday and was allowed to taste cigarette and pip tobacco."

A STORY OF A CEREMONY

(Conclusion)

Miss Phoebe Wheeler taught in her home . . . and one of her pupils was David Henry Thoreau . . . his playmates called him "Dave." — from "Tales of Old Concord," by Mary R. Fenn.

* * *

"As we started down Main Street we were all gay and talkative, for it was exciting to see the people all along the way waiting with their flowers and falling into line; and the batteries of news photographers were everywhere," continues Mary Fenn in her "Tales of Old Concord," regarding the centennial of Thoreau's death, May 1962, as celebrated by the townspeople of his birth-place and life-long home town, Concord, Massachusetts.

"But as we turned the corner and swung into the circular drive in front of the Meetinghouse, the bell in the steeple began to toll, 45 times . . . once for each year of Thoreau's life. Those of us who live in Concord had been to three funerals in the church this spring; the funeral of our former minister who had been here for so many years, that of one of the town's most beloved citizens and benefactors, and one of our own Concord boys who had died so suddenly and much too young. Here we were again, and it came to us that this was a real man we were honoring."

"We were all quiet now, even the children, and no one talked; I think the lumps in our throats got in the way.

"As we entered Sleepy Hollow we placed flowers on the Dunbar plot where Thoreau had first been buried, then turned and walked along the dirt path in silence except for the lovely strains of flute, the singing of birds, and the soft swish of many feet.

"As we topped a little rise, we looked back, and a hundred people were following behind us.

"There was the minister, and the librarian, and there was the doctor, and many of the townspeople walking past the graves of their own ancestors.

"When we reached Authors' Ridge, another hundred people were waiting there; Ralph Waldo Emerson's grandson, Raymond Emerson, and his family, the descendants of the Alcott (Louisa, May, Little Women), and other old Concord families.

"We placed flowers on the graves of Thoreau's friends; Sandborn, Channing, Alcott; Rhodora for Mr. Emerson, remembering his famous poem of that name, and cedar for Mr. cypress, hedge which once enHawthorne, remembering the circled his stone.

"We gathered around Henry Thoreau's grave, and Mr. R. F. Needham spoke simply of why we were there. Then Ellen Emerson, a high school girl, read excerpts from her great-great-grandfather's speech which he had delivered at the funeral (of Thoreau's). Mr. W. F. Kussin, Jr. read short poems which his great-great-grandfather, Bronson Alcott, had written for Henry, and then there was a brief piece by the flutist. Each person then stepped forward and placed his flowers on Henry Thoreau's grave.

"Well, this is what we did. . . it was indeed what his friends and neighbors had done 100 years ago. It was a touching and beautiful ceremony in its appropriateness and its simplicity, and we felt content. We thought Mr. Thoreau would have been pleased, too."

Successful Living

Handicapped Adult Can Be Retrained

Perhaps with my leaflet as a guide you will feel heartened to try again with your friend. Let me stress the need for a specific, right diagnosis from an expert first.

Dear Doris: I went to a dance and hear the end I was dancing more with this other boy (my old boy friend). Well, a girl asked him to dance and he said no.

The next age he asked me and I said yes. Was a fun that dance was over I went to sit down and the other girl called me to sit beside her. I did and then she and her friend grabbed me and she dug her nails in the back of my neck and told me not to dance with him.

Doris, I thought what she did was kind of stupid because I never did like him, but I found out she did! What should I have done and what should I do now? I am 13. — Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: Stupid, yes! But also mean and vicious. Stay at more than arm's length away from her.

But an ex-boy friend, at 13? Aren't you asking for situations you can't handle? Better leave the solo dating alone, for a long time!

Dear Doris: What is needed to make a complete make-up kit? How do you apply make-up? — Powder Puff.

Dear Puff: To properly grid the lily, you'll need: night cream, foundation — with rouge, powder, lipstick, eyebrow liner and tweezers.) Add, if you like, mascara and eye shadow.

How you put it on is all-important. Unless you want to resemble a circus clown, you strive to become a make-up artist, and bend all your efforts to achieving a natural, glowing healthy look. You order-do.

My leaflet on Make-up. Up Magic has pointers for you about highlighting your good points and toning down any imperfections, simply by the way you use your cosmetics. This leaflet is available to anyone writing in and enclosing ten cents and a five-cent-stamped self-addressed envelope.

Doris knows Canadian resources and can guide you to the help you need. Write to her, enclosing a stamped, private reply.

Ann Landers

Ann Agrees with Advice Given to Teen-ager

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a teen-ager who is sick and tired of my parents. What I need is less criticism and more sympathy. My grades aren't so hot because I am a nervous wreck from getting yelled at all the time.

All I hear from morning till night is, "Take a bath. Stop sweating. Get rid of that beard. Get off the phone. Hang up your clothes. Stand up straight. Get a haircut. Don't be moody. Apply yourself."

Any advice? — WISH THEY'D GET OFF MY BACK.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR WISH: Yes, I have some advice. Take a bath. Stop smoking. Get rid of that beard. Get off the phone. Hang up your clothes. Stand up straight. Get a haircut. Don't be moody. Apply yourself.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son who is 19 has been going with a girl for two years. She is now 18. Last summer the girl had a baby which she put up for adoption. During all this trouble the girl stayed in the city, (the baby was born in a local hospital) and she and our son continued to see each other and date as if everything was normal.

Now our son and his girl are planning a white wedding with all the trimmings, followed by a lavish reception.

The talk has barely died down and my husband and I are sick to think it will start all over again. Don't you think it would be better to have a small, quiet wedding with only the immediate family present? Please give us your opinion. — OLD FASHIONED.

* * *

DEAR OLD: Of course it would be better if they had a small, quiet wedding, but the decision is up to the bride's family since they are putting on and paying for the affair.

By this time you are probably experts at holding your heads up and playing deaf, so resign yourself to another stint, folks, and remember that wise, old adage — "And this, too, shall pass."

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Mary and I have been married 11 months and we still quarrel like mad. Maybe you can help.

When Mary gets upset with me, why does she clam up and give me the silent treatment instead of coming right out and telling me what is bothering her? Sometimes her stone-faced silence goes on for two days. If I ask her what is wrong she says, "Nothing."

When I get angry I tell the person I'm angry with whatis wrong and then I'm over my mad, I feel a lot better after I get my gripe off my chest, and so does everyone else.

My mother treated my dad the same way Mary treats me and he never found a solution. Can you help me? — WANT A GOOD MARRIAGE.

* * *

DEAR WANT: You are not the one who needs help. It's Mary. The best way to dissipate hostile feelings is by talking out the problem. Boiling in silence and keeping anger bottled up does nothing but build an ulcer.

Teaching Oral Language Important For Child to Read and Write Well

EDMONTON (CP)—If your child can speak well and listen well, he will probably be a success in learning to read and write.

So says two University of Alberta specialists in language teaching, elementary education professor Ruth Armstrong and secondary education professor E. W. Buxton.

"Talk first, write, later," says Dr. Armstrong. "If you want a child to write well, then he must learn to speak well."

"We have research piled as high as this ceiling to indicate that teaching Latin - based grammar has no appreciable effect on a student's ability to write or speak the language," Dr. Buxton says.

"What's more, grammar won't help a student unless he lives with good language, hearing it and reading it."

So new high school programs also would:

—Relate the language to social studies and history.

—"Take a realistic look at English usage," by asking the student "to go out into the community and notice the difference between formal and colloquial speech."

—Urge students to detect fallacies in reasoning and illogical arguments.

—Offer a wide range of reading.

"If you want youngsters to write well, what you'd better do is have them read well and widely," Dr. Buxton says.

Dr. Armstrong agrees with him:

"The advice that has been going around for years is still good advice. Reading to a child will do tremendous things for him. And seeing Daddy enjoying a book makes a difference in the child's attitude toward learning to read."

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Method Is Given for Making Hamburg Patties

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: . . . a recipe for hamburgers like the . . . serve . . . Mrs. L. F. G.

ANSWER: I am not familiar with the hamburgers you refer to but my current enthusiasm for a hamburger recipe follows:

WYN'S HAMBURG PATTIES

1 egg
1 small onion grated on medium grater
1¼ tsps. prepared mustard
1½ tsps. horseradish
¼ cup catsup
¼ cup quick-cooking rolled oats
Shake of salt
Shake of accent

Assemble all ingredients in large mixing bowl and mix with heavy wooden spoon or by hand. Shape into 8 uniform patties.

You may broil or fry these. If you broil them place on lightly greased broiler rack on broiler pan and broil 4" from very hot burner, turning when top is golden brown and browning other side. Do not overcook. Inside should be pink.

If your fry them do so in very little butter until golden brown on bottom and turn over and brown other side, but do not overcook. Inside should be pink. If serving as your meat course, serve two apiece. Or serve one each between buttered hamburg buns.

QUESTION: Would you have a recipe for Yorkshire Teacakes? They are a yeast dough. . . Mrs. John L.

ANSWER: I know these Teacakes are served in Yorkshire for my father was born there but they are called:

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

ENGLISH TEA CAKES

1¼ lbs. (4½ cups sirred but not sifted all-purpose flour
1 pkg. granular yeast
2 eggs
½ tsp. salt
1½ oz. (¼ cup minus 1 tbsp.) sugar
5 oz. (⅔ cup) scalded milk
2½ oz. (⅓ cup) butter

In large saucepan scald milk with butter, until butter is melted, but milk is not boiling. Remove from heat, add sugar and salt and cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast on top and let stand 1 min. Add flour beat, then add eggs and beat for 5 min. Cover and let rise until double in size. Shape on buttered baking sheets into tea cakes of uniform size, at least 2" apart. Let rise 20 min. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. until golden — about 20 min. for medium size.

Points for Parents

By MARY-BRYSON

Mother: "I blew my top when Tommy and Betty raged all morning about going to the drive-in movie tonight. I told them 'no' a dozen times. I have to when I lose control and yell at the children."

Almost all mothers at some time become exhausted, irritable, even antagonistic, when children old enough to know better continue to heckle. If most of the time, you respond with warmth and enjoyment, no great harm is done by an occasional blow-up — just so it is only occasional.

If you explode because the children are annoying beyond endurance, don't let it worry you too much. Sometimes a quiet 'no' is not enough to restrain little youngsters down and mothers need to yell for peace.

Potato Digger Was One Tool Made to Fit Job

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

Our ancestors had the proper tool for every job. Many were made to fit the job. Farming implements were scarce and a wooden home-made tool was often forced into service. The home-made implements show the ingenuity, skill and craftsmanship of the average farmer over 100 years ago.

Pitchforks were often made of wood. The dull point was safer to use near the cattle. A single piece of wood was split and bent to form the prongs of the fork.

One very rare tool that solved the problem for some farmers was the potato digger. The wooden shovel-like tool had teeth far enough apart to let the dirt fall through but close enough to trap the potato.

Q. My Humpty Dumpty doll is a wooden Shoenhut doll that moves. I understand it was the first toy made by Mr. Shoenhut.

A. Albert Schoenhut made many types of toys and dolls. He started making toy pianos and other musical instruments. A man who had been in the office of the Schoenhut factory about 1903. He had carved a wooden figure that could move. It was joined together with elastic cords.

The story continues that Mr. Schoenhut offered the inventor a royalty for his idea. The man only wanted enough money to solve his problems. His great desire was to get as far away from his wife as possible. One hundred dollars was all he needed. The rights to the toy were sold immediately for cash and no one now really knows who invented that type of wooden toy.

Shoenhut improved the jointed doll. He marketed another type that did not depend on the elastic cord by 1911.

All Shoenhut toys are considered collector's items.

Q. Is it true that real carnival glass has an N impressed on the bottom?

A. Yes, an N. The N is the mark of a glass company that made thousands of pieces of carnival glass as well as other types of glassware. Many other companies made carnival glass, using their own company trade marks. Some companies used no marks. Some collectors specialize in carnival marked N: The Northwood factory which used the N was very famous.

Run for Cover Password As Rain Drenches Expo

MONTREAL (CP)T—A sudden thunderstorm forced visitors at Expo 67 to shed their shoes Friday night and race for cover through pools of water up to six inches deep.

More than one inch of rain, driven by winds gusting up to 30 miles an hour, pelted down in less than an hour.

A number of pavilions were reported partly flooded by the downpour. A hot and humid Friday had seen the temperature climb to 84.

Rain seeped through the roof of the Soviet pavilion, which shut down 40 minutes ahead of the normal 9:30 p.m. closing hour.

Lightning struck a transformer at La Spirale, a 300-foot-tall tower used to give visitors a panoramic view, and put it out of commission for a few hours.

It was the worst rainfall to hit the fair site since the official opening of Expo last April 27. It came when more than 96,000 visitors were on the 1,000-acre grounds, which straddle two islands in the St. Lawrence River and a section of Montreal Island.

Rain also was blamed for the closing of the Australian pavilion Friday. A failure occurred in a power transformer that supplies electricity to the pavilion.

An Expo spokesman said the underground transformer was damaged when earth, loosened by recent rains, collapsed on the transformer.

A number of persons collapsed from the heat which preceded the evening storm but Expo officials said they could not release the exact figure.

Brief strikes were reported Friday, involving 60 drivers of train - like vehicles used for sight - seeing at the Expo grounds.

An Expo spokesman said the drivers are employees of a tour company and seek a wage increase of 25 cents an hour to bring their pay to $2.50 an hour.

The Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 1967

Years ago the late Jimmy Price a gifted cartoonist who used to illustrate the yarns of Greg Clarke had a huge jack-rabbit as a favorite pencil focus. This jack was a cross between an African elephant and a Shmoo and during its curious career was known to have bashed down buildings, uprooted a forest and once bowed a gabling lake freighter to shore.

I don't know whether the fabled gianthis bunny ever came to life and left its offspring in the beautiful countryside that frames the lovely village of Wellington, but jacks as big as ponies used to inhabit that section of the garden county.

In fact one of the village Methuselahs once told me these long-eared leapers used to rain wheat fields, clear six-foot fences, wore four feet tall and weighed well over 100 pounds.

Another village legend has it that the founder of the village now "Smoker Reynolds, imported a kangaroo back in the 1790's and becoming lonely mated with some of Reynolds prize foghorn cattle.

The offspring were the best damn natural steeplechasers that ever cleared a fence. They could leape a mile in 90 seconds and if they wanted a change of diet could hop, skip and jump to Consecon in less than five minutes.

If they could have been tamed and trained they would have made those long-forgotten race in the Grand National every year look like they were standing still.

The trouble was, the old timer told me, that production was lopsided, even, and most of the offspring proved to be jacks and not jackrazor. So in time the long-lobed species died out — or so it was believed until a few weeks ago.

According to the gospel of "Beef" MacDonald, a young friend of mine whose IQ is high; eyesight excellent, integrity plus, and moderate when looking at the grape, he claims he saw a jack-rabbit equipped with two horns participating between its natural antenae.

It was live and in color, he says. And the way it loped off it will be available for several evenings.

A couple of years ago several go-go fawns were noted cavorting in the neighborhood with a couple of bucks and does hellraying in the off season in other parts of the country.

And it could be, oldtimers assert, that some of the famed giant jacks which migrated to greener pastures and jumping grounds, returned to observe Old Home Week.

And you know what Old Home Week means. It is an enviromental of shady dales and hoshy glens; everybody gets together and makes whoopee.

So it could be that Mac's horned jack was a result of the celebrations with the berns being a throwback to a male ancestor of one of the fawns.

Knowing young Mr. MacDonald as I do I am inclined to believe he is not a liar as people will say, if they do see it, what the Irishman said when he saw his first giraffe. "It's a damn lie, there was no such thing."

And if the freak survives the summer and is not transformed in venison-flavored rabbit pie, a lot of guys I know who fish regularly on Wood Lake can who happen to get a glimpse of the freak are going to cut down on the Bleland dew intake or consult the family eye specialist.

Some strange things have happened in Little Spain. I recall visiting Gull Island off Point Traverse several years ago while the terns were nesting.

As we neared the island the birds rose in a white cloud something like a snowstorm in reverse. They flew low over our heads ruiously protesting our invasion. And they protested in other ways too.

When I got home I was thankful that ours don't fly.

Blades Franchise Suspended

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Blades announced Thursday the Western League hockey franchise in Seattle have allowed them to suspend their franchises.

Jack Geyer, assistant to co-owner Daniel F. Reeves, said the Blades have two years remaining on their contract to play in the Los Angeles Sports Arena, but the lease can be waived.

This enables the newly organized Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League to apply for the Blades' dates in the arena.

The Blades' franchise is merely suspended, Geyer said, adding they still own the franchises and the players.

Grabs Lead With 68

'Charge', Blew Arnie's Army; He Did

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP)— Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper.

Like crosses, the three superstars of the game moved to the top in the most prestigious of all the world's golf tournaments, the United States Open championship, and ere reaped for the final two climactic rounds today and Sunday.

ARNOLD PALMER

Palmer, his fine jotting in determination and his game in harness, looked like the charger of old when he swept over the steaming Bellmrel Golf Club course in a one-under-par 69 Friday for 137 and a one-stroke lead over Nicklaus.

Big Jack, sweet streaming from his face, pounded out a 67 on the 7,015-yard layout for 138. He was one stroke up on Casper.

Behind him, at 140 came Bruce Devlin of Australia, who had a solid 68; rookie pro Deane Beman, who had a 71, and Marty Fleckman, the 23-year-old amateur from Fort Arthur, Tex., who led the first round with 67. Don Jaousay was alone at 141.

Today's pairings have Nicklaus and Palmer as the last two-some away. Casper plays against Devlin and Beman against Fleckman.

Toronto's Al Balding shot a two-over par 72 for 147 but failed to survive the cutoff.

In all, 65 of the original field of 150 survived the cut to be low 60 and ties. It took a 148 to make it. Among the major casualties are former Open champions Gene Littler, 151, Tommy Bolt, 149, and Jack Fleck, 148.

Palmer, the golfing millionaire from Latrobe, Pa., was again the charger, challenging the course, gambling, putting body English on every shot and jerking cheers and groans from his vast army.

Nicklaus plodded over the course, looking neither left nor right, except to note distances in his little black book, the book that goes with the swing that makes him perhaps the most feared golfer in the world

Casper was bland as ever, and as colorless as the oatmeal he can't eat.

"I liked my round,") Palmer said. "I hit every green but one and I missed few fairways. I had several chances for birdies" that failed to fall. But, in all, I liked it."

Asked if he was thinking of going for Ben Hogan's Open scoring record of 276, Arnie grinned broadly and revied: "Hey, yet. I just went to w.n this tournament."

Nicklaus said the 80 degree heat didn't bother him, and preferred to talk instead about a new, white-painted, middle-studded putter he was using for the first time.

"Why do you like it?" he was asked.

He had birdie puts of 7, 12, 18, 25 and 30 feet.

Gary Player, one of seven tied at 80 going into the second round, went to 73 for 142. Art Wall led the scene. Chi Chi Rodriguez went to 75 after going two over par on the first hole, and Don Jeasury struggled to a 72.

Ben Hogan took his second straight 72.

Senior 'A' Hockey

Eastern Loop Gets Early Start

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

The Eastern Ontario Senior "A" Hockey League will again operate as a ten-team circuit in the 1967-68 season.

This was decided at a special category meeting held in Toronto on Thursday night.

League play will open a week earlier this year to facilitate operations of playoffs.

The meeting agreed that eight teams will enter the playoffs, no change from last year.

The Belleville Mc-Hawks sent a strong representation to the meeting. This included general manager Robert Temple, playing coach Floyd Crawford, league president Gordon Bobbie and league treasurer Ken Sodon.

Mr. Temple said today that the meeting augured well for a bigger success than last year. "It was harmonious with little or no debate. All delegates acted in a fine spirit of co-operation".

It was agreed, Mr. Temple said, that Belleville and Kingston clubs will play two more games with each other than with other clubs.

The league in its inaugural ten-club year made mistakes but the majority of these have been ironed out.

"The early start in organization leaves the league in much better shape than last year when a lot of things were left to the last minute," the general manager said.

Another meeting of the loop is scheduled for July 17 and others will follow before undecided at the last meeting of the group held in conjunction with the OHA annual convention, had a change of mind and will round out the same roster of clubs that formed the league last year.

The league will again play a forty-game schedule with the opening date set for Friday, October 13th.

FLOYD CRAWFORD

This should bring the league to top organizational status by the time the first puck is dropped.

A recent wire story said that the Kingston Aces have been selected to represent Canada on a European tour and will be away some six weeks. This, I understand has the unanimous approval of the senior "A" clubs and the schedule will be revised to suit the circumstances.

Early organization of the league will give the individual teams plenty of time to get their houses in order. There should be ample time for acquisition of players and other important items that were left almost to the last minute last season.

Efforts will be made, Mr. Temple said, to have everything in order as far as the Mc-Hawks are concerned by opening date. A Booster Club will be organized early and other matters pertaining to the club will be in order.

Senior "A" hockey said by some to have gone in a permanent grave in the early stagnation leave the league in dormant and dead with the birth of the Mc-Hawks last year. The success of the club not only failed the skeptics but proved surprising to the die-hard faithful.

Coach Floyd Crawford gathered himself a fine gaggle of players which took the club to the playoffs. They played a fine brand of hockey which resulted in the Mc-Hawks being the best crowd-producers in the circuit.

It goes without saying that with the early organizational start, all clubs of the circuit will start the player-hunting safrio much earlier than last year. It was stated at the OHA convention meeting of the senior loop that all teams will be much stronger than last year and it wouldn't be a surprise to see Staff some scouts are on the move already.

All is quiet in the Mc-Hawk camp thus far, but one face will likely be missing and that is Steve Roxe the sensational young goalie who was picked up in the NHL expansion draft. Forecasting that was like calling tomorrow to be Sunday.

Cards Beat Giants

Rich Allen's Bludgeon Beats Bucs

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chico Ruiz beat out an infield single for Cincinnati's first hit and sparked the Reds to a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night.

In other National League action, Chicago Cubs defeated New York Mets 4-2 in 10 innings, Atlanta Braves nipped Houston Astros 8-8 in 10 innings, Philadelphia Phillies dropped Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 and St. Louis Cardinals took San Francisco Giants 5-3.

With two Reds out in the sixth inning, Leo Cardenas was hit by a pitched ball and Dodger pitcher Bill Singer balked him to second. Then Ruiz supped a ball to third and beat it out for a single.

He promptly stole second and then rode home with Cardenas on Vada Pinson's single. The Dodgers tied it in the bottom of the sixth, but Leo May's seventh-inning homer put the Reds on top to stay.

HURLS 4-HITTER

Adolpho Phillips, who hit four home runs and batted .444 in a doubleheader Sunday, was Chicago's hero again.

This time he cracked a three-run homer in the fifth inning and then ignited the Cubs' winning rally in the 10th when he walked, advanced and went to third on a bad throw. He scored on John Boccabella's sacrifice fly.

Sonny Jackson's two-base error on Hank Aaron's leadoff grounder in the 10th led to Atlanta's winning run against Houston. The Astros had wiped out an early 8-3 Braves lead mostly on the hitting of Jim Wynn, who drove in three runs with a single and his 15th homer.

The homer was Wynn's fourth in two nights and seventh in the last eight games. He took over the National League runs-batted-in lead with 46.

Rich Allen, with 13 hits in his last 27 swings, led the Phillies past the Pirates. He cracked a triple and a home run, driving in two runs and scoring twice. Larry Jackson went the distance, allowing eight hits for his fourth victory.

Two - run singles by Mike Shannon and Julian Javier helped a four-run Cardinal first inning against Gaylord Perry, who dropped their third straight. St.

PLUSHIES DISMISSED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco Seals of the National Hockey League dismissed general manager Rudy Pilous Friday and handed his job to Coach Bert Olmstead. Owner-president Barry Van Gerbig said there was a basic disagreement with Pilous over operational policy. He indicated there will be a coach settlement for the remaining three years of Pilous' four-year contract.

Canadian Symposium

Minister Pats Backs

MONTREAL (CP)—The five-day Canadian Symposium of Recreation closed its doors Friday after hearing Allan J. MacEachen, federal health and welfare minister, congratulate members of the 180 agencies and organizations represented on their foresight.

"The new look in recreation can not be achieved by piecemeal efforts, by 180 organizations and agencies working in their own little worlds," he said. It will require the concerted, co - operative efforts of all groups involved in recreation.

This board will study the recommendations — made in the form of resolutions — at a later date and will carry out the work of the symposium until the next projected event will be held in 1969.

The provisional board, which will have wide discretionary powers, includes Rene Bellair, head of Montreal's parks and playground department; the Association of Recreation Centres represented by Yvon Cantin; Montreaaler Charles Hower of the Boys' Clubs of Canada; and Lionel Foursnier, of Winnipeg, Canadian Association for Health, Physical Ercection and Recreation.

In all, close to 100 recommendations or resolutions were submitted.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAIND

By now the muskie fishermen will have put in several hours of serious fishing.

Muskie season officially opened on Saturday, Friday, June 17, in the Quinte area of Bass, Pickerel as Moira River near Plainfield; Moira Lake, Crowe and Stoco lakes will be heavily fished this weekend by a few of the ardent lunge fishermen in our city and neighboring towns, but the biggest crowds will still be the walleye and lake trout fishing fraternity.

Next weekend marks the opening of bass season for most of Ontario.

With this, the last of the early fishing seasons to open, our friends from south of the border will be starting their annual fishing trips in Canada.

Now that school is almost over for the summer season many local people will be starting their cottaging or camping.

Boating has been in full swing for quite a while now and you could not ask for nicer weather.

Yesterday on a minnow-catching expedition we tried our luck in a couple of deep holes in a very small, cool creek in a farmer that seven miles from Belleville. We caught a few minnows but much to my surprise instead of the large suckers that I thought were in this creek we hauled out some nice speckled trout, all good keepers, but one in particular would go almost two pounds.

Returning those fish to the water, I remarked to the boys that people will travel hundreds of miles from Belleville trout fishing and do not catch anything much better than those fish.

I have no idea where these trout came from unless they come over a beaver dam and downstream a few miles.

Pickerel and pike fishing is excellent in Wellers Bay, fair in East Lake, good to excellent at West Lake, but most fish are of the small size. In Moira Lake plenty of fish are being caught but again they are small.

Tips for muskie fishing: Early mornings and evenings use a surface lure such as a jitterbug or crazy crawler. If you get a strike and do not hook your fish change to an underwater lure such as a spoon, vamp spook, pibbs or devil bait and cast to the same location you had the strike.

For daytime fishing best results come from trolling or drift fishing with a large live sucker minnow.

Bass fishing opens this weekend in the St. Lawrence River from Kingston east and the American visitors have filled all local accommodatio no capacity.

At Gananoque, pike in the 12 to 15 pound class are common. These fish are taken in the river and most good catches are being caught on Quinte area golden silver minnows.

These good eating but ugly fish really put up a terrific battle on spinning tackle and when you never know what you are going to hit in this section of the Moira. Pike, pickerel, bass and muskie have met in this section which stretches from Latta to Plainfield.

Take an old pair of shoes and a pair of old pants or a bathing suit and wade the river. If you do not catch any fish you can always go for a swim.

Shaun Fitzmaurice contributed in all the Jackrowville runs with a double and triple while John Ryan, a native of Oshawa, Ont., hit a home run for Toronto.

Shoemaker, who brought Dewascue back after losing the Kentucky Derby, received a five day suspension Thursday at Hollywood Park for cutting across the field three Wednesday.

Turcotte rode the Whitesteradand Tom Rolfe to victory in the 1965 Preakness and the Chesapeake the same year. in 1966, he won the Delaware Park riding championship with 87 victories during a 55-day meeting.

Halo's Two Homers

Angels Win; With Held To Pay!

gels Thursday, smacked a game-winning home run in the first game and a two-run homer in the second Friday night, powering the Angels to a 2-1, 5-3, doubleheader sweep over the Orioles.

"I didn't want to leave the guys in Baltimore—they're a great bunch," said the 30-year-old Held, sent to the Angels for pitcher Marcelino Lopez before Friday morning's trading deadline. "But I should get to play more with California.

The sweep extended the Angels' winning streak to five games and gave them 10 victories in their last 11. The double setback stretched Baltimore's losing string to five and dropped the defending American League champions into a tie for sixth place.

Last - place Washington Senators edged Boston, Red Sox' twelve, 3-2, while Chicago-Cleveland Indians nipped Minnesota Twins 3-1 in 10 innings in their only other AL games played. A scheduled doubleheader between Kansas City and Detroit and a single game between New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox were rained out.

Held, a utility infielder-outfielder who had gone hitless in his last 22 at-bats for the Orioles, got into Friday night's opener as a second - inning replacement for shortstop Jim Fregosi, who complained of muscle spasms in his back.

After striking out and singling in his first two trips to the plate, Held led off the ninth with a shot into the left field bleachers off left-hander Pete Richert, snapping a 1-1 deadlock.

In the second game, Held's second homer of the night—and third of the year—staked right-hander Jack McGlothlin to his 2-0 lead. Jose Cardenal also hit a two-run homer as the Angels moved ahead 5-0, but a two-run Baltimore burst in the fifth chased McGlothlin.

Rookie Ken Tatum then blanked the Orioles until the ninth, when Frank Robinson unloaded his 16th homer.

COMBINE FOR SHUTOUT

The Senators started their sweep of Boston behind right-hander Bob Priddy, who blanked the Red Sox for seven innings in his first AL start and squeeze - bunted a run across in the third inning. Dave Baldwin replaced Priddy in the eighth and completed the shutout.

Trailing 3-0 in the ninth inning of the nightcap, Washington closed the gap on two scoring singles by Frank Howard and Ken McMullen. The Senators tied the score on a bases-loaded throwing error by third base-man Joe Foy, then won it when McMullen beat third baseman George Scott's throw to the plate on a grounder by pinch hitter Paul Casanova.

The Indians broke a 1-1 tie in the 10th when Larry Brown singled, took second on Max Alvis' infield hit and scored on Chuck Hinton's single.

Right - hander Luis Tiant went all the way for the Indians, scattering eight hits—including a sixth-inning homer by rookie Rod Carew, who has hit safely in 13 straight games.

Trenton Observes Minor Softball

Keeping in line with Minor Softball Week in Ontario, a special "Minor Softball Day" is being held in Trenton tomorrow.

Bill Dickson passed along the schedule for four games on tap at Sayabone Park Sunday.

The first three will be of the exhibition nature, pitting Scarborough team against Trenton's best. The peewees open play at two o'clock, followed by a juvenile game at four and the bantam fixture at 6 p.m.

A regular-scheduled Lakeshore Midget League game will be played under the lights at 8.30, between Picton and Trenton.

As in Belleville and other district centres, spectator support is requested to help make "Minor Softball Week" a big success.

Lions Club Win 10-6 Over Carmel

Belleville Lion's Club cut short Carmel's winning streak in the Eastern Ontario Baseball Association peewee division last night by downing the South Hastings kids 10-6.

The winners jumped ahead 4-0 in the top of the first and were never headed, making it 8-3 after three innings.

Blaine Mullins, Bobby Menard and Ron McTaggart led the attack at Lion's pitching. They allowed four hits, struck out eight but walked nine. Ron Masterson gave up eight hits in pitching the setback, whiffing three and passing six.

Andy Ricketts paced Belleville's attack with a double and two singles while Grant George also hit a double. Mike Bell, Mark Coates, Terry Ivey and Doc McTaggart split the others' safeties.

Oshawa Tops Ellis Midgets On One Hit

Oshawa's undefeated midget softball squad chalked up another impressive win here last night by blanking Belleville's Ellis team 8-0 in a Lakeshore Midget League game.

Brian White stopped the locals on one hit in a superb pitching chore. He blew third base in the fifth inning and lost his no-hitter when opposing pitcher Tod Wallis banged a double in the seventh inning. White walked two and hit three batters.

John Hostie starred at bat for Oshawa with two home run blows, the first a three-run Mcintyhok clouted solo homers.

Ellis' play at 8:30 game in Picton tonight.

Leafs Split With Suns, Wings Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs learned Friday night that it takes more than a split doubleheader to gain any ground on the fast-moving Rochester Red Wings.

The Leafs defeated Jacksonville Suns 7-4 in the nightcap after the Suns won the opener 5-1 in their International League twinbill. But first-place Rochester pulled six games ahead of second-place Toronto by downing Toledo Mud Hens 8-6.

In other games, Richmond Braves took a pair from Buffalo Bisons, 8-3 and 8-1, and Syracuse Chiefs won the second game of a doubleheader from the Columbus Jets 4-3 after the Jets took the opener 4-3.

Jim Russin's first - inning, bases-loaded home run and a third-inning solo shot for Bob Montgomery provided Toronto with their second - game punch and enabled starter Dave Morehead to win his sixth game in eight decisions this season.

Billy Wynne stuck out eight in going the distance to win his second game of the season in the opener for Jacksonville. Toronto's Garry Roggenburk took the loss, evening his record at 1-1.

Turcotte Rides Damascus

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Ron Turcotte, tough little rider from Drumheller, Alta., has been chosen aboard Damascus, the probable favorite in today's $35,000-added Leonard Richard Stakes.

Damascus, winner of the Preakness and Belmont, takes on five challengers in a bid for his fifth stakes victory of 1967. With 126 pounds, he's given away from seven to 12 pounds in the 1¼-mile run for three-year-olds.

Shoemaker, who brought Damascus back after losing the Kentucky Derby, received a five day suspension Thursday at Hollywood Park for cutting across the field three Wednesday.

Turcotte rode the Whitesteradand Tom Rolfe to victory in the 1965 Preakness and the Chesapeake the same year. in 1966, he won the Delaware Park riding championship with 87 victories during a 55-day meeting.

Buckpasser Seeks Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Buckpasser, at four years of age the youngest equine millionaire, tries today for his 16th straight victory—a feat that has not been accomplished since Citation completed such a string 17 years ago.

But much more than a 16th successive victory and first money of $30,010 hinges on the outcome of Buckpasser's performance in the 1¼-mile Bowling Green Handicap at Aqueduct.

Buckpasser's chief reason for being in the Bowling Green is that it is run on the grass. Although he has raced 27 times for a record of 16 victories, two seconds and earnings of $1,342,204, the Ogden Phipps's colt has yet to race on turf.

His next scheduled appearance is one of the world's prized events—the Grand Prix de St. Cloud in Paris July 2. It is a grass course race, and Buckpasser would like experience since running on a French track prepares you only a different type of track but also a change in shoes.

Canadian Makes Good In Majors

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Claude Raymond, a Canadian, was swapped to Atlanta Braves by Houston Astros for former bonus baby Wade Blasingame as the 20 major league teams completed their deals by the June 15 deadline.

All major league rosters now have frozen except for a few trades and shuffling of farm club players.

Raymond, 30, native of St. Jean Que., was named to the National League all-star team last year as a relief pitcher.

Braves' spokesman declared Raymond as "a tremendous relief pitcher," He has a 4-2 record this season and Blasingame 5-5.

Raymond's record last year was 12-6 and 16 saves.

During 82 innings in 1966, he struck out 73, and walked 25 and had a 3.18 earned run average.

In the American League, the league - leading Chicago White Sox, sacrificing power for additional home run power, traded fleet Ed Stroud, a 27-year-old outfielder who was hitting .296 but riding the bench, to Washington Senators for Jim King, a former outfielder with Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League.

HIT 33 HOMERS

King, 34, had a .210 average but he has hit 89 homers in the major in his career. Stroud led three leagues in stolen bases in four previous years of pro ball.

Baltimore Orioles traded for pitching, acquiring left-handed Marcelino Lopez, 23 - year - old Cuban, from California Angels for utility man Woody Held.

Lopez has been off and on the disabled list this year due to a sore shoulder and has an 0-2 record.

Held, 34, joining his sixth American League team since he broke in with New York Yankees in 1954, was hitting .146 for the Orioles.

Lopez was 5-0 for the Angels as a rookie in 1965. Held has hit 172 homers, including one this season.

The Angels picked up another outfielder in Roger Repoz, the powerful but inconsistent leftger, from Kansas City Athletics for 30-year-old Jack Sanford, a right-handed pitcher who had made the rounds.

Repoz, 26, came to the Athletics from the Yanks last June, in the Fred Talbot deal and saw action in the outfield and at first base. He was batting .341 and had two homers when he left for two weeks of army

How They Started

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP)—More than 30 American drivers came up to the green flag today for the start of the Indy 200—the first time that Indianapolis-type racing cars have competed in a North American road course.

By Friday night it had qualified for the 200-mile, three-hour race over the twisting, up-and-down hill Mosport road circuit, but three of the top drivers were at the back of the pack. The rest drew lots for positions on the starters grid.

A. J. Foyt, 1967 Indianapolis winner and co-winner at last weekend's Le Mans sports-car au bour, Mario Andretti, United States Auto Club Champion, and Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., had failed to qualify.

Pole position went to Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.MM., who races Ford - powered cars with his brother Al. Bobby posted a qualifying time around the 2.5-mile track of one minute, 26.22 seconds, about 102 miles an hour.

He fell short of the 1:23.1 posted last year by Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., in a Ford - powered Lola T70 sports car, who negotiated the 28-foot-wide asphalt ribbon at 106 miles an hour.

Brazil At Pan-Am

Best Hope Swimmer 17

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's best hope for the Pan American Games in Winnipeg this summer is a 17-year-old boy who spends half of his time in the water.

José Sirlio Fiolo, a tall and tough swimmer who holds two South American records, is looking forward to a victory in Winnipeg that will be a first step for a victory in the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico.

"I hope to participate in the Olympics' opening parade is a dream for me," he says.

Fiolo trains at the Botafogo Club. His time in the 100-meter backstroke — one minute, 18 1-10 seconds—is the American record and the fifth fastest time in the world.

Fiolo learned to swim when he was seven years old. He started to participate in official races at the age of 11.

"When one likes to do a thing, one accepts everything in order not to drop it," he says. "I hunted in school last year because I swam all the time.

"I went to Lima, for the South American Games, then to Portugal and Africa, for the Luso-Brasilian Games. All this stuff interferes with my studies, but I don't care for at the present moment is swimming."

His daily training schedule includes 2,000 meters before lunch at slow speed without stopping. In the afternoon, he swims 300 metres six times, 100 metres 16 times, 50 metres 12 times, and 25 metres four times.

Yet he still thinks tha is not enough for the Ocympics. But he does not fear the altitude in Mexico.

Famous NHL Production Lines Played As Units; No Substitutions

By W. E. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

When hockey old - timers gather, the talk often focuses on two developments in the modern game?—the rapidity of substitutions and the disappearance of the big forward lines.

Undoubtedly there has been a speed-up in the game as rule changes accenting the current ball-for-leather, fire-wagon hockey.

But the hard - hitting oldtimer, thriving on endurance, was not leather. He would have been flabbergasted if a relief man came scuttling on to the ice after a couple of minutes of play.

As for forward lines, coaches today rarely keep three players together long enough for them to become an identifiable unit. True there is Chicago Black Hawks' Scooter Line of Stan Mikita, Doug Mohns and Kenny Wharram, But how many others can you name?

One of the greatest of all time was the Detroit 'Red Wings' Production Line of Sid Abel, Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay in the 1940s and '50s. All were distinct scoring threats but they worked as a unit, not just three stars on the ice. Each knew to the split second where his mates were or would be.

In the same era was the Montreal Canadiens' Punch Line — Elmer Lach, Rocket Richard and Toe Blake. The Rocket was the siege gun but Lach and Blake were brilliant in supporting roles. It was a line the late Dick Irvin described as the greatest he ever coached.

It's perhaps significant that on the eight occasions on which New York Rangers won the Stanley Cup they had great lines that worked together like clockwork.

In 1928 and 1933 they had Frank Boucher centring Bill and Bun Cook and in 1940 Mac and Neil Colville with Alex Shibicky.

Toronto Maple Leafs had the famous Kid Line — Joe Primeau, Charlie Conacher and Harvey (Busher) Jackson —and fans talked about Conacher's powerful shot much as they discuss the booming drives of Bobby Hull today.

Boston Bruins had their illustrious Kraut Line — the Milnes and the trio of Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart—the last time they won the Cup in 1941.

And in the same era was the Pony Express Line of Bill Mosienko, Max and Doug Bentley, all three of whom won first- or second-team all-star berths in 1940.

Mosienko, incidentally, holds an NHL record that probably will never be broken —three goals in 21 seconds against New York on March 23, 1952. However, by then the line had been broken up and it was Gus Bodnar who set up the three goals.

Regardless of cold statistics it is difficult to rate one line against another. Perhaps it's enough to say all would have been great in whatever period they played.

There were also outstanding individualists not necessarily associated with a particular line. You can go back to Frank Nighbor, the brilliant poke-check artist of the Ottawa Senators. Or to the brilliant Howie Morenz of Canadiens or to Syl Apps of the Leafs.

Where do you stop? There were dozens of them. Cooney Weiland and Bill Cowley of Boston, for instance. Newsy Lalonde and Jean Beliveau of Canadiens and Chicago's incomparable Bobby Hull.

Defencemen? It's the same story.

Eddie Shore and Ott Cleaper of the Bruins, Ching Johnson of the Rangers, Red Horner of the Leafs, Red Kelly of Detroit, Doug Harvey who won the Norris Trophy as the league's top defenceman seven times at Montreal. From the current crop, Pierre Pilote of Chicago and the newest sensation, Bobby Orr of Boston, this year's rookie award winner.

Conn Smythe, Lester Patrick, Jack Adams, Dick Irvin, Toe Blake, Punch Imlach. Keep going.

We're for Uncle Art Ross of Boston, a rugged player of the old days before the establishment of the NHL. Perhaps we have been influenced by the way Ross once squelched a loud-mouthed fan in Boston.

It was during the Second World War and the war-weakened Bruins were taking a beating.

"Hey, Ross," the heckler yelled from behind the Boston bench, "where's your power play?"

"In England, France and Germany," Ross retorted.

What about goalies? In the NHL they are and always have been a breed unto themselves. They are a secretive little band who sort of keep the faith, something in the tradition of a sturdy little marching society.

You don't rub goalies the wrong way. If you do they seem to backfire. You just put up with them and hope for the best. And their best is usually brilliance. They're sharp-eyed acrobats who take justifiable pride in their work.

For a group who should be susceptible to nerves and jitters, they wear remarkably well.

Take Johnny Bower of Toronto Maple Leafs. Bower was wrenched away from Cleveland Barons of the AHL at an age when many goalies are ready to call it quits.

Now admitting to 42 years, Bower joined with 37-year-old Terry Sawchuk to give Toronto superb goaltending in their Stanley Cup victories over Chicago and Montreal this spring.

The great goalies are easy to name. There was the fabulous Georges Vezina of Canadiens, for whom the Vezina Trophy is named. Vezina calmly continued to play even while marked for death by tuberculosis.

They march along — Clint Benedict of Ottawa Senators, John Ross Roach of Toronto, New York and Detroit, Chuck Gardiner of Chicago, Frank Brimsek of Boston, Turk Broda, the Leafs' fat man, Bill Durnan and Jacques Plante of Canadiens, Glenn Hall of Chicago.

Youngster Started It

The Birth Of The Skis

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Ralph Samuelson was 18 and as frustrated as only a seasoned skier can become in summertime.

So he picked up his seven-foot skis and a friend with an motorboat and the length of rope and tried skiing on water.

It was a damp, dismal failure.

So he kicked off the skis and strapped on barrel staves and once again Samuelson sank almost to his waist.

After a rest of artificial respiration, Ralph sought out a lumber yard and purchased two seven-foot pine planks. He paid only $2, but then you could buy a lot of lumber in Lake City, Minn., for $2 in 1922.

The planks became the first successful water skis and Samuelson had invented a sport.

And when the 10th world water - skiing championships are held in Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 28 to Sept. 3, Samuelson —now a retired businessman —will be guest of honor.

His pioneering role has been disputed, but he has a document from the National Water Ski Association of the United States recognizing him as the first.

The sport which Samuelson pioneered has grown to an international pastime — 24 countries are expected to send up to six skiers each to the Sherbrooke meet.

They will compete in tricks, slalom and jumping.

In the slalom, each skier starts off on a 16-foot rope behind a boat travelling 22 miles an hour. After each successful sweep through the buoys, the speed is increased and the rope shortened. One fall and you're out.

The jumping is even more hair - raising. The skier reaches about 35 miles an hour as he or she sweeps out from behind the boat and heads for the ramp. The margin between a perfect take-off and a crunching impact against the side is two inches. RECORD 150 FEET

Since competition began in 1963 the men's record has gone from 67 feet to 150 feet; the women have stretched their distance from 49 feet to 102.

In the trick event, each skier has 20 seconds on the outward leg and 20 seconds coming back. He must and which as many tricks as possible—and he has hundreds from which to choose—into that 40 seconds.

There have been eight team championships held since 1949 and the U.S. has won them all.

This year, Canadian skiers have gone to Florida and California to train for the world championships for a month under top instructors.

At the recent international Olympic Committee meeings in Tehran, water skiing was recognized as an Olympic Federation. However, there has been no move to introduce the sport into the Olympic Games.

Disputes against Samuelson's claim to being the father of his sport came mainly from European countries. But these fell away when pictures were produced showing him doing ramp jumps behind an airplane—in 1925.

Canadian Open Course

10 Months To Ready; Year To Recover

VANCOUVER (CP)—It took 10 months to prepare the posh Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club for the 1966 Canadian Open and it's taking another 12 months to recover.

The inconvenience represents a considerable sacrifice for members who pay $2,000 non-refundable initiation and $400 in annual dues.

Not only did they have to pay to watch the play, they were between playing their course for the better part of a week preceding the tournament.

While the touring pros were using the course, members were prohibited from visiting any section of the lower clubhouse. This includes club storage rooms, locker and shower rooms and grill-cafeteria.

Shaughnessy was literally turned upside-down for the Open. The front nine became the back nine and vice-versa. Tee boxes were set back to championship distance and the fairways were narrowed to 50 yards from 100.

Tournament chairman Jack Randall began his work 10 months before the Open and Dick Mitchell, course superintendent, started preparing the layout about the same time.

"We narrowed the fairways, put in ridges, made some greens smaller, some larger, and cleared land and wood where we figured the spectators would march," Mitchell says.

There were some unexpected problems. A few days before the Open he saw a fleet of trucks invading the course.

"I thought it was the 15th Panzer division," he says, able to laugh about it now.

That was the start of the course damage.

"They came the spectators —Arnie's Army. They trampled the grass to mud around many of the trees and greens. Most of it has recovered eight months later but it will be a full year before it's completely restored to a trained eye."

The ticket sales committee headed by Oliver Anderson, knew there would be a good turnout. A month before opening day it had sold $75,000. The final sale was $118,000.

MADE MONEY

"We made some money on it," Anderson says, "but we didn't do it for the money. We did it as a duty and for the betterment of golf."

Anderson says some members complained when they learned the Open was to be played on their course but most "were on our side by the time the tournament rolled around."

It took 800 persons to handle the tournament — ticket sellers, parking attendants, marshals, caddies, one score recorder for each competitor, drivers for a fleet of cars to transport golfers and special social committee to entertain players' wives.

It was the first Open in Vancouver since 1954 and Randall says Shaughnessy was determined to show the doubters that it could handle it.

Mitchell still sees torn patches and damage when he makes his daily rounds and he knows well what will happen to Montreal's Municipal Course when the 1967 Open is held there the last week in June.

His Record An Ace A Year

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)— Gary Dornhoefer, full - time hockey player and part-time golfing professional, has scored his third hole-in-one in three years.

Dornhoefer, a 24-year-old native of Kitchener who spends his summers as assistant pro at Westmount Country Club here, got his latest hole-in-one on the 153-yard par 3 practice hole Thursday.

He did the same thing twice in 1964, at a course in Niagara Falls and another in Boston.

Moist Air Is More Comfortable

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has had asthma since he was 25. He is now 58. We have always lived in a house with oil steam heat, but now intend to move to a smaller one which has hot water heat.

We were told that hot water heat is bad for anyone with asthma, but that oil steam is moist so my husband can breathe better. We are not contacted to see our doctor because the price of living is so high. Can you tell me if this is true? — Mrs. M.

Dear Mrs. M.: Moist air is more comfortable for everyone, but it can, indeed, make an even greater difference to a patient with asthma or some other respiratory problems such as emphysema.

Whether hot water or steam will be drier depends on precisely what kind of system of piping is in use. If it is a "closed" system, with the hot water (or steam) being piped to the radiators and then flowing back to the furnace with none of the water escaping, either type of fuel will provide equally dry heat.

If the steam system is one with escape valves on the radiators, enough moisture sky be pushed into the air to make a difference in the humidity. However, my suggestion would be not to worry too much about the type of heating system. If the house is too dry, then you can get humidifiers. These are trays which can be fitted on top of radiators and kept filled with water. The evaporation keeps the air moist.

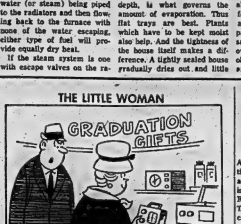
Some people use other kinds of containers around the house for the same purpose — decorative crocks, pitchers, large vases. But remember that the surface area of water, not the depth, is what governs the amount of evaporation. Thus flat trays are best. Plants which have to be kept moist also help. And the lightness of the house itself makes a difference. A tightly sealed house gradually dries out and little moisture can get in from outdoors.

Even running an inch of water in the bathtub will add a great deal of moisture to a dry house.

Electrically operated humidifiers are available.

Dear Dr. Molner: I had a hysterectomy some months ago. I am quite fed up with the would-be "authorities" who claim that a woman is "sexually inadequate" after such surgery. Could you print something about it? — J.Y.

Physically there is nothing about the surgery which affects sexual activity desire or adequacy. I have on occasion printed letters from women saying so on the basis of their own experience. However, the old false notions persist and are told again and again.



Since sexual activity is so markedly influenced by the emotions, these stories probably are the actual cause of some of the trouble.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me the cause of a tennis elbow, and is there a cure for it? — J. M.

It's a term used for bursitis of the elbow, caused by excessive pressure or strain on the joint. It usually can be treated successfully. Resting the joint is usually part of the treatment.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his columns whenever possible.

Farm Leaders Meet Greene But No New Pledges Obtained

OTTAWA (CP)—A three-hour session between government and farm leaders Friday left them still far apart on policy, but at least on better speaking terms.

A Tuesday deadline to follow up the May 24 mass farmers' demonstration on Parliament Hill turned into a detailed examination of federal programs.

But the two dozen farm representatives did not draw one new pledge from Agriculture Minister Greene.

Mr. Greene pointed to an earlier quota system for producers of manufactured milk — announced nine days after the farmers' march—and conceded that agricultural policy is not yet good enough.

He told out much promise in the form of the task force charged with shaping a new federal policy.

Lionel Sorel, president of the 45,000-member Catholic Farmers Union, said his report would fit on the back of a cigarette package, with room to spare.

John Dolmer, president of the Ontario Farmers Union, said the government left him with devising whether it wants to maintain any agriculture industry at all for Canada

"I came out of this meeting today feeling a great deal better."

He hoped the session had launched farmers and the government toward a better liaison on policy. He "great concern" remains among Ontario farmers.

The May 24 march by 10,000 farmers sought better price supports and quotas in the federal program for manufacturing milk, and urged appointment of an independent group to formulate overall agricultural policy.

When the same leaders presented their brief the day of the march, they complained that federal ministers occupied most of the meeting with speeches.

They won a promise of a second hearing after the government had digested the brief.

They also asked that the second meeting be closed to the press, but when it was convened Friday reporters were allowed in at Mr. Greene's insistence.

He said the May 24 demonstration had done much for policy a public issue, and it could not be put back behind closed doors.

The agriculture minister took a somewhat harder stand than he had when he faced more than 10,000 defiant farmers three weeks earlier.

He said he will make his decisions on what is "best for agriculture," even if 100,000 people decide to march on Ottawa.

At one point he tangled with Walter Miller, second vice-president of the Ontario Farmers Union, who complained that the farmers' questions weren't being answered.

"I am not here to listen to political speeches," reaped Mr. Miller.

"Neither am I, Miller," Mr. Greene shot back.

"Don't ever think you're going to hall-roar me by shouting. If you have questions to pose, pose them. You have made the first political speech I have heard today."

Psychiatrist Defends Masochism

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—An internationally known psychiatrist defended sado-masochistic sexual relations Friday and said: "Everyone should be happy."

Dr. Frank S. Caprio of Washington said of those who like to be roughed up in the bedroom: "Thousands and thousands get satisfaction and it helps their problems." He defended magazines that cater to such sexual whims.

Caprio was testifying for the defence in the Monique Van Cleef "house of torture" trial. Giving a survey of the extent of sado-masochism in the world at large, he noted:

—Visiting the "iron maidens in the museums" and thinking "of all those spikes going into me."

—The pilgrimage to the Wailing Wall in Jerusalem. He conceded that modern religious have eliminated much of the original beat still provide the necessary stonement for sins.

Miss Van Cleef, 42, a striking blonde, and co-defendant James A. Beard, 38, are charged with maintaining a house for lewdness and assignation, possession of pornography with intent to show it, and conspiracy.

Caprio said he did not consider the magazine to be "hard - core pornography,"

Turner Indicates Professional Sport May Be Placed Under Combines Act

OTTAWA (CP) — Plans for federal action in the field of consumer and corporate affairs were sketched briefly in the Commons Friday by Registrar-General Turner, stated to be some consumer affairs minister when his department is reshaped.

One of the major steps may be to bring services, industries, including professional sport, under the jurisdiction of the Combines Investigation Act for the first time.

Mr. Turner, at 38 the youngest member of the cabinet with a full-time portfolio, said the government believes in a free market economy but wants to make sure the consumer obtains as much as possible purchasing power for his dollar.

Eldon Woolliams (PC — Bow River) said the present government had placed more controls on business than any since Confederation. He also warned against too strict an enforcement of anti - combines laws. Some monopolies were necessary to meet foreign competition.

Mr. Turner presented his review in opening debate on the 1967-68 spending estimates of the registrar-general's department, totalling $7,015,000. They are $1,468,050 higher than last year.

Most of the increases was for additional staff in the bankruptcy and combines investigation branches, he said.

The bankruptcy section had grown to 72 members from 27 as part of a drive to crack down on fraudulent bankruptcies. Regional offices were opened earlier this year at Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver to keep a closer watch on bankruptcy cases and Mr. Turner says that appeared successful.

Mr. Turner said the licences of 60 bankruptcy trustees have either been lifted or placed under restrictions. A new policy on the licensing of such trustees would be revealed shortly.

The combines investigation staff had been stepped up to 102 from 81 and its work would be expanded when service industries are included. This section is chiefly concerned with price-fixing practices.

He said many of the government's other branches — consumer affairs and corporations are awaiting completion of studies assigned to the Economic Council of Canada.

Then he announced appointment of a task force for yet another study, this one on a revision of the Canada Corporations Act. The report of the task force will be passed on to a panel of lawyers for study, then placed again by government officials before being presented to Parliament, where final study will take place.

Grace MacInnis (NDP—Vancouver - Kingsway) complained that Mr. Turner's portfolio is so loaded down with other things he will not be able to pay enough attention to consumer interests.

Mr. Turner renewed the government's promise of legislative action this year designed to bring down drug prices. It will involve changes in the laws governing patents, trade marks and copyrights.

H. A. Olson (SC—Medicine Hat) said a better idea would be to increase competition in drugs, perhaps freeing hospitals to sell drug prescriptions to the public.

Prime Minister Pearson said he had not yet decided whether Canada will personally ask emergency session of the United Nations General Assembly called to debate terms of settlement in the Israeli-Arab dispute.

MD's Oath Questioned by Lawyer

QUEBEC (CP)—A re-examination may be needed of the doctor's duty of secrecy to his patient and his duty to society when that secrecy endangers life and limb, a lawyer told the Canadian Medical Association annual convention Friday.

The possibility of such a re-examination was suggested by A. Gordon Cooper of Halifax, vice-president of the Canadian Bar Association, and was taken up by Dr. Normand Bellemare, CMA president, who agreed that perhaps the two professions should co-operate on such a step.

Mr. Cooper said he is aware of no legal obligation on a doctor compelling him to disclose information given him in confidence by a patient which has public safety implications.

"The purely moral question of whether such a report should be made is, I am afraid, one for the individual doctor, having regard to his duty, and perhaps a higher duty, to the public on the other."

In the courtroom, however, a doctor must reply to questions about such confidential information, except in Quebec where he may claim professional privilege.

Mr. Cooper said that where the reply might retard a patient's recovery the doctor should ask that he give it in writing or in the privacy of the judge's chambers.

The doctor also had no general duty to disclose confidential information in the case of suspected crime. But where a crime had been committed of which he had knowledge, the doctor must be aware of the possibility this would make him an accessary after the fact if he kept secret.

If in doubt, he should consult a lawyer immediately but, in the case was clear, his duty of secrecy "is at an end and ... disclosure should be made."

World Unites in Humanitarian Gesture To Aid Victims of Arab-Israeli War

By Reuters

A great humanitarian operation to help victims of last week's Arab-Israeli war is under way in countries as remote from the fighting as Japan.

The Red Cross, the aid agencies of the United Nations, the British-based voluntary organization Oxfam, student bodies, governments and religious groups are all playing a part in the effort.

A U.S. Jewish Appeal fund was believed to have raised $120,000,000 in the last two weeks, while Jews in Britain raised £11,000,000 ($33,000,000) in two weeks.

Canada has started shipping $2,500,000 worth of food aid to Arab nations. Prime Minister Pearson told the House of Commons Friday. This included a $1,000,000 worth of wheat flour for Arab refugees in Palestine. The rest was being sent to Syria, Jordan, Lebanon and Yemen, all facing food shortages after the brief, fierce war with Israel.

Pearson also said Canada had given the International Red Cross $20,000 for medical supplies. And the Canadian Red Cross said it will donate baby clothing worth $46,000 to Middle East war victims.

The Canadian branch of Oxfam—the Oxford Famine Relief Organization—announced it had sent a $20,000 donation to the UN Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Arabs.

In Geneva, the International Red Cross was co-ordinating a huge campaign in which medical supplies from Swedish, Dutch, Finnish and Tunisian Red Cross societies were going to the Middle East. Several hundred tons of other supplies were expected to follow soon.

The Red Cross also reported Friday that food and water would reach within hours all Egyptian soldiers still stranded in the Sinai Desert.

The Swiss government gave 250,000 Swiss francs ($62,000) for immediate relief in the Sinai Desert. The City of Zurich donated 100,000 francs to rebuild damaged areas in Jerusalem and Swiss Protestant churches collected a similar sum for Israeli children.

In Britain, Oxfam made an emergency grant of £10,000 ($30,000) for medical supplies to Arab countries and £1,000 for lost children in Israel. The British government planned financial and other aid for hard-hit Jordan.

Meanwhile Jordan was receiving food, clothing and blankets from Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Lebanon and Morocco. Arab countries also voted Jordan more than £10,000,000 in financial aid.

The Soviet Union announced 2,000,000 rubles had been allotted to aid Arabs. The was also reported about $2,400,000. The money, collected from workers, would be used to pay for material and medical assistance and ease the plight of the refugees, the very young and the injured.

The French Red Cross was sending 1½ tons of medical supplies, milk and bedding to the Middle East.

Various contributions were announced from Italy, Sweden, Belgium and other countries.

In Tokyo, the Japanese private organizations launched a campaign for medical supplies for the Middle East.

Youth Patrols Aid Cities To Head Off Race Violence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A crowd of 50 to 100 Negroes in St. Petersburg, Fla., threw rocks at police today as they arrested four persons in a Negro slum rea of the city, but five miles west of riot-wrecked Tampa.

Meanwhile, Dayton, Ohio, followed the lead of Tampa Friday night in using a youth patrol to head off racial violence. In St. Petersburg, police said policemen were hit with stones or bricks after the crowd began objecting to,the arrests.

A fire was reported at a furniture store in the area and police said they received reports it was started by a gasoline bomb.

Nobody was injured in the 30 minutes of violence and the fire was quickly extinguished, police said. The four persons arrested, two men and two women, were charged with strong-arm robbery in connection with the beating and robbing of a gas station attendant.

Nobody was arrested except the robbery suspects.

Tampa's youth patrol, a precarious racial ceasefire was maintained in Cincinnati after last night's arson, looting and vandalism.

Dayton's, west side was relatively calm although police reported isolated incidents. There was some rock throwing, a small lumber fire and a mass reported beaten, they said.

A small corps of Negro youths were sworn in as the city's first youth patrol.

A similar group received high praise in Tampa this week for helping principal troublemakers to keep cool.

Five leaders of Tampa's 30 youth patrol went on the city payroll Friday to keep Mayor Nick Nuccio and city fathers informed of Negro needs before tempers explode in the streets.

Cincinnati's ceasefire was under the threat by the banning of an Ohio national guard. Maximum sentences were imposed by the courts.

Police said Friday night there had been no incidents of rock throwing and only 17 arrests. At least 344 persons had been arrested since the massive violence broke out late Monday.

In Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Operation Breadbasket campaign to get more jobs for Negroes in the Negro business failed to get started.

King left for Chicago without coming negotiations with the industry as he previously said he would.

Council Debates Sewer Ban

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford Council met in special session Wednesday evening.

The ban on building of sewers invoked by the Ontario Water Resources two years ago has caused delay in building new houses and confusion in providing services. Problems relating to this situation come up at almost every meeting. The situation occurred again Wednesday. Rollins Construction of Bellevilla began excavation for five new houses with the understanding that the houses were serviced for sewer and water. It found that while water pipes and sewers were there, the services were inadequate in size.

Commissioners Steele and Vandewater of Campbellford PUC said the project had not been included in their budget. However, Council and PUC members reached an agreement by which Rollins Construction could proceed with construction and Municipal Council would reimburse the PUC to the extent of $500.

The Centennial Carvave will visit Campbellford July 18 and Council gave consent for a flypast of the RCAF. The new Community Arena will be officially opened at that time and a committee composed of Mayor Tanner and Councillors Hunk and Pace will arrange a luncheon for important guests.

Lots on Wallace St., which Council wished to acquire for a sub-station, were appraised and Council placed a sale valued of $750 each.

Wayne Nicholas, who previously had asked for water and sewer service for a new home he wishes to build, was told as immediate sewer could not be given as there will be a future engineering survey in the area.

Garbage collector James Parcels was granted an increase of $10 a week to cover increased truck expenses.

No decision was made of the bridge question. The Minister of Transport has said Counties Council and the Town of Campbellford must agree on the type of construction were the Millennium is not prepared to referee between the parties concerned. Some members of Council were adamant that a low level bridge would serve the best interests of all.

Permission was granted for operation of a taxi service in Campbellford.

Monday, July 3 was designated as Dominion Day and will be observed as a public holiday.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Retired Couple Tours U.S. On A Budget---By Camping

By THOMAS COLLINS

You are out on the superhighway and a car comes barreling past you at 70 miles an hour with a neatly packed camping trailer bouncing along behind it. This may be a couple of duck hunters or some other misguided people. But on an increasing scale it may be a gray-haired man and his wife who are out to see the country on a retirement cheque.

Camping, whether it's your particular type of civilization or not, has become big business. If you doubt it, have a look at the retired people clustered around the camping displays in some of the bigger stores.

Or you might talk to the W.H. Johnstons, a retired United States couple who has tried it.

"We had given thought to the idea of moving away to a 'beautiful climate' when we retired," Mrs. Johnston says. "We had a modest home, and were very eager to see some of this beautiful country of ours.

"But instead of moving we decided to build our home and do some travelling. The problem was that long trips, meals in restaurants, and nights in motels were too much for our retirement income. We could have made only a month's trip each year ..."

BOUGHT A TENT

So the Johnstons bought a tent and what they call "get-by" camping equipment. They were going to test the camping idea for a week . . . and in a state park near home. They figured that if they just might discover something. If at least would be a change of pace from home.

They had never camped out before. As soon as they pitched their tent it started raining. It rained for seven days. And Mrs. Johnston, of the process, ran into poison ivy.

"But in that week, despite the problems, we found a whole new life," she says. "We had fun. We made many new friends." And they started something which now, six year later, they still haven't finished.

"We stayed out three months that first summer," Mrs. Johnston continues . . . "After we bought a big tarpaulin with adjustable poles which gave us shelter from rain and sun and gave us a protected place for cooking, eating and sitting.

"For six years now we have been spending our summers on camping trips. We have seen and enjoyed almost all of the National Parks, have stayed in many of our National Forests, and have been into at least one state park in most of the states of the Union. We have made one trip into Canada.

"Everywhere we have met wonderful people, and it has been an inspiration to us to see so many young families camping, with the children fishing, swimming, and enjoying a vacation together.

"We are glad now that we did not sell our home and move to a 'beautiful climate.'

"Our Johnstons, after a summer of camping, have found it "no good" to come back home in the early fall, to be with old friends again and to maintain contact with new friends made on their travels. Over the six years they have not had to use any of their savings, and have not upset their retirement budget.

Skiers Keep Cool At Water Show

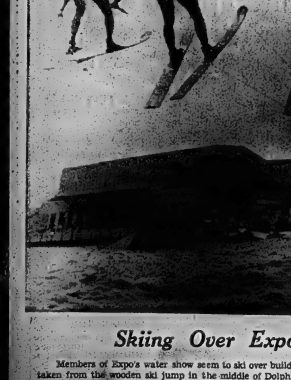
The shows give foot-weary visitors a chance to relax and enjoy, free of charge, a scintillating display of water skiing and precision boat manoeuvres in the cooling breeze that sweep the lake at the eastern end of St. Helen's island.

Marc Cloutier, 32-year-old director of the Expo water show, said Friday night the show is the fair's top attraction, drawing about 35,000 persons daily and up to 60,000 at weekends.

"That is at least the number visiting the top pavilions and much more than other entertainments such as the Garden of Tears or the Automated Caravaning," said the former Canadian water ski champion.

The 21 members of the show's performance team, including a nurse on the scene at all times, come from across Canada. Rebearsals are carried out between shows.



Each male performer is expert in driving boats at speeds of between 18 and 40 miles an hour on the small and tricky lake as well as in performing the kite-flying act which takes them 100 or more feet skyward.

The girls perform a ballet on water skis and combine with the male partners in the pyramid. Sometimes, a clown constantly keeps whipping about in a frenzied fast high-powered motor boat, sending young and old alike into stitches.

Putting Their Heads Together

Kosygin Wants Pay for Arabs

Soviet Premier Hits U.S. Policy

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin presented a resolution in the General Assembly today demanding withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab countries and restitution of damage they had inflicted.

The premier presented the resolution at the end of a sweeping denunciation of the "aggressive actions of Israel" at a special General Assembly session called at the Soviet Union's request.

The resolution repeated past Soviet demands for the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab lands they captured in the six-day Middle East war.

But the resolution, which may not come to a vote for several days, added the demand for restitution.

The resolution demanded that "Israel should restitute in full and within the shortest possible period all the damage inflicted by its aggression on the United Arab Republic, Syria and Jordan and their nationals, and should return to them all seized property and other material assets."

In a speech leading up to the resolution, Kosygin blamed the United States for the war and crisis in the Middle East and raked U.S. policy.

Kosygin demanded that Israel withdraw from "all occupied areas in the Arab nations so that a climate might be created for peace in the Middle East.

The Soviet leader accused the U.S. of encouraging Israel to make war on the Arabs. He warned that renewed conflict in the Middle East could lead to nuclear war.

Kosygin spoke only an hour after President Johnson, in a major policy statement in Washington, called on the United Nations to shun rigid attitudes in the search for Middle East stability.

Kosygin attacked U.S. foreign policy in virtually all areas of tension in the world, from Vietnam to Cuba but reserved his ickiest blasts for U.S. and British roles in the drama of Israel's swift victory over the Arabs early this month.

"Only the withdrawal of Israeli forces from the seized territories may change the situation in favor of detente and the creation of conditions for peace in the Middle East."

He said the Soviet Union "will undertake all measures within its power both in the United Nations and outside this organization in order to achieve the elimination of the consequences of aggression and promote the establishment of a lasting peace in the region."

He said the world was watching to see whether the United Nations "would be able to give

Thousands Of Jews In Hiding

TURIN, Italy (Reuters) — A Turin newspaper says thousands of Jews were hiding in fear for their lives in the Libyan capital of Tripoli after riots which were really an attempted revolution swept the city.

A special correspondent of this paper La Stampa says it was not known how many Jews were killed.

He says that between 3,000 and 4,000 of the city's 6,000 Jews were still there, afraid to venture into the open.

LBJ Lists 5 Points

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today that "certainly troops must be withdrawn" from conquered territory in the Middle East but firmly linked the pullback to negotiations of a general Arab-Israel peace settlement.

In a major statement of U.S. policy, the president dealt with the withdrawal of Israeli forces from captured Arab territory as a matter for negotiation along with the problem of Arab refugees, freedom of passage through international waterways, Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist and a limitation on the Middle East arms race.

"Certainly troops must be withdrawn, but there must also be recognized rights of national life — progress in solving the refugee problem — freedom of innocent maritime passage — limitation of the arms race — and respect for political independence and territorial integrity," Johnson said.

The president added that a simple withdrawal of Israeli forces would "not be a prescription for peace but for renewed hostilities," unless accompanied by movement for a general peace settlement in the area.

"There must", he said "also be recognized rights of national life — progress in solving the refugee problem — freedom of innocent maritime passage — limitation of the arms race — and respect for political independence and territorial integrity."

Johnson spoke to a foreign policy conference of educationists at the U.S. state department. But his policy statement was set in the center of global debate with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin scheduled to give his own Middle East policy views at a special General Assembly session in New York an hour or so later.

"The world is watching," he said, "for the peace of the world is at stake."

The president's statement generally appeared to support what is understood here to be an Israeli position that troop withdrawal: That is, any agreement to withdraw Israeli troops from Egypt, Jordan or Syria should be linked to issues of vital interest to Israel, namely Arab recognition.

Johnson, saying Israel and the Arab states must be the peacemakers, promised U.S. support for peace measures both through the United Nations and through other methods.

"I offer assurance to all, the president said, "that the government of the United States will do its part for peace in every form, and at every level and at every hour."

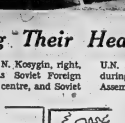
Embassy Gets Food

PEKING (Reuters)—The Indian embassy staff and their families, under siege by Red Guards in the embassy here for three days, were allowed to have some food supplies taken in to them today for the first time.

Chinese employed in the embassy who walked out Saturday returned to work today and the Indians were allowed to send them out to buy food.

But the party of 63 Indians who have been barricaded inside the compound since Saturday were still not allowed to move out or receive any visitors.

Wilson Talks To de Gaulle



PARIS (Reuters) — Prime Minister Wilson and President de Gaulle met today for day-long talks on Britain's prospects of joining the Common Market, the Middle East crisis, Vietnam and other world issues.

Wilson attempted to convince the French leader that British entry into the market is essential for the future of Britain, France and Europe.

Informed British sources said Wilson will try to remove some of the major apprehensions of the French leader about Britain not being a "good European" and therefore not yet ready for membership of the six-nation European Economic Community.

Their talks at Versailles may determine the immediate cause of Britain's new moves to join the community.

They come before a key meeting of the foreign ministers of the six at Brussels June 26 which will consider Britain's recent formal application for entry negotiations.

Famine Relief Delayed

CALCUTTA, India (Reuters) Food Minister Jagjivan Ram said Sunday West Bengal's severe food shortages are partially caused by the closing of the Suez Canal during the Arab-Israeli war.

Several foreign ships carrying food for the hard-hit state and other areas were delayed by the canal's closing, he told a press conference.

So far this month, the important industrial state has received only 43,000 tons of a promised 175,000 tons of wheat and none of its allotment of 15,000 tons of rice.

Egyptians Leaving Yemen

SAN'A (AP)—Royalist sources in this Yemeni republican capital say the bulk of the Egyptian garrison has been withdrawn from San'a under cover of darkness and is returning by ship to Egypt from Hodeida.

Royalists said the Egyptians were demoralized by the Egyptian defeat in Sinai by the Israelis.

The sources said four Egyptian officers in San'a committed suicide; the Egyptian commander - in - chief, Gen Talaat Hassan, resigned, and the fortress of Hajjah west of San'a was evacuated.

They also said 300 Egyptian troops trying to escape westward from Hajjah were killed by royalists.

Child Hunt Was Hoax

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (CP)— Police were led on a three-hour wild-goose chase Friday after a Woodbridge couple reported the disappearance of their three-year-old daughter.

Police in this town 10 miles northeast of Brampton said a woman called Friday and reported her daughter had disappeared while playing in the Boyd conservation area.

Three hours later, the father called and told police he had made up the story of the lost child.

Off-duty policemen and firemen from Vaughan Township, Woodbridge and Metropolitan Toronto, picnickers and a walkie-talkie club from nearby Bolton were called in to help in the search. Police drained a swimming area after dragging operations proved fruitless.

King Hussein Wants to Know What Happened

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—King Hussein said today he has no conclusive evidence that British and U.S. planes working from aircraft carriers helped Israel fight the Arabs.

"We would like to know whether it was Israel alone, or assisted form any quarter.

"We would like to know that."

Ben Gurion Suggests Forming Refugee State

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—David Ben Gurion suggested today an autonomous Arab state should be formed on the west bank of the Jordan River on territory now occupied by Israel.

Ben Gurion, 80 - year - old founder and former premier of Israel, said the proposed new state could be linked in an economic treaty with Israel, have guaranteed access to the Mediterranean, and be protected by Israeli troops.

The population of the area, in which about 100,000 Arabs fled their homes during the recent fighting, would elect representatives to negotiate creation of the state.

Ben Gurion's proposals, which he stressed represented his private views, were in a letter published in several Israeli newspapers today.

"If Egypt agrees to make peace — and would undertake to safeguard our freedom of shipping at least in the Gulf of Aqaba but also in the Suez Canal — we would be prepared to evacuate the Sinai Peninsula."

On the future of the Old City of Jerusalem and its environs, the former premier said: "We will never discuss this with any party. Jerusalem will be the capital of Israel as the days of King David and so it shall remain for ever and ever."

Ben Gurion also called for settlement of Arab refugees now crowded in the Gaza Strip either in his proposed new autonomous Arab state or in other Arab territories.

He recommended withdrawal of Israeli forces from the Syrian plateau — on condition that Syria concluded a peace treaty with Israel and undertakes to prevent any attack in future on Israeli settlements.

He said the only way to achieve a settlement is by direct negotiations between Israelis and Arabs.

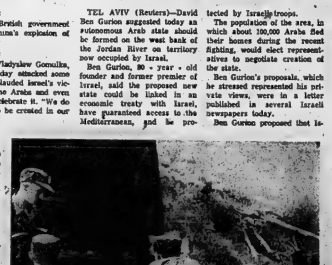
Chinese Hydrogen Bomb Month Ahead of Plan

TOKYO (AP)—China's avowed success newspaper says China's first hydrogen bomb test exploded one month early as a gift to Chairman Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution.



"Some of the officials concerned were crippled by anxiety and unable to tackle difficulties involved in the test" and warned against "undue haste," the Liberation Army Daily says.

reacjusting quotations of Chairman Mao Tse-tung, decided to test the bomb early and make it a gift to the cultural revolution," it says.

"Thus they worked day and night and finally succeeded in drawing up the blueprint a month earlier than scheduled. They put the blueprint into shape fragmentarily without waiting for the completion of the whole parts."

The announcement of the China comment from the Soviet Union and was given only one paragraph in Moscow Sunday papers. U.S. Defence department officials in Washington said the test has not changed the department's belief that China will not be able to launch a nuclear attack on the United States for about eight years.

The blast was interpreted by some Japanese commentators as an implied threat to Japan, which has no diplomatic relations with Peking.

LSD Made Him Better Says Beatle McCartney

LONDON (AP)—Beatle Paul McCartney says LSD made him "a better, more honest, more tolerant member of society."

"But I would like to make it perfectly clear," he stressed, "that I do not advocate LSD."

"I don't want kids running to take it when they hear I have."

Confronted by reporters Saturday, McCartney said he has taken the drug four times in the last year but is not taking it any in the popular British singing group, declined to say where he got the LSD or where he took it. Each "trip," he said, lasted about six hours.

LSD stands for lysergic acid diethylamide. It is a hallucinatory drug used in psychiatry but illegal if used outside medical control.

"I just decided to experience it like a man decides to experience sex—just like that," the Beatle said. "I don't be-

Unveiling A Tribute

Tribute Paid to Worker

PLAINFIELD— A restrained little ceremony here yesterday proved how often good works are cloaked in anonymity.

Scene of the event was the centre operated by the Ontario Homes for Mentally Retarded Infants.

The hospital now is an establishment notable across Canada for enterprise and achievement in its own environment of social endeavor.

Ralph Sullivan was a labor man a co-ordinator between the Electrical Workers Union and Canadian General Electric at B. Mg. Peterborough plant.

His link with the project for the retarded was first cast in 1951 when Leonard and Leonora Velleman set up to plug a social gap by caring for retarded infants.

They started that year in a tiny way with a little convalescent home at Halloway.

Restoration was a big job. Sullivan, a friend of the Velleman's who knew of the need at the Halloway pilot project, came to the rescue.

He rounded up his colleagues in the union at Peterborough and presented a plan. They worked every weekend for four months until the project was completed in December 1952.

In 1956 the home entered its present phase — as an incorporated, non-profit hospital. Ralph Sullivan stayed in the background as chairman of its building committee.

He died just 12 months ago.

The hospital meantime, has not only been a success but something of a unique project, a model of its kind.

Its influence has gone as far away as Newfoundland have come to view it and take notes.

Its staff, directed by the Vellemans, tend 73 youngsters. They stay, not as a city or institutional surroundings.

Moreover, the directors and founders remained conscious of the debt owed the Peterborough union official.

To mark it in perpetuity, yesterday they set aside a small area in the hospital and named it the Sullivan Ward, unveiling a plaque and paying quiet, verbal tribute.

The Children's Hour

Hospital for retarded infants has now come into its own as a model centre, under direction of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Velleman. Above, Mr. Velleman pays play time visit to one of the young patients.

Dr. D. McMullen, 82, Dies in Frankford

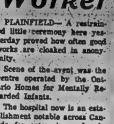
FRANKFORD — The gradual passing of an era in community progress was marked yesterday here yesterday with the death of Dr. David McMullen.

Dr. McMullen, who started his 82nd birthday last March, had practised medicine for 52 years in Frankford, and was a physician to the people of this village and their neighbors in the surrounding rural area.

He was among the last of a generation of doctors who entered service while modern communications were in their infancy, ready around the clock to cover a territory scattered about the countryside.

Available as physicians and personal representatives to become known as the "country doctors."

Born in Enniskillen township near Petrolia, Dr. McMullen graduated from the University of Toronto in 1914 and first practised with International Nickel at Port Sidney.



He transferred from there to Frankford where he first opened an office 52 years ago. For many years he served as local coroner and medical officer of health for Sidney township.

He only retired from practice in October, 1966.

His wife, Jean Carol Lennan, died more than 30 years ago, and he is immediately survived by two daughters — Mrs. William (Jean) Rose, of Belleville, and Dr. Monica Murdoch, of Vancouver — and five grandchildren.

Funeral service, under the direction of the Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton, will be held on Wednesday from Frankford.

Teachers Take Courses To Raise Qualifications

Teachers this year have spent the year trying to intkill knowledge in their students, will themselves become students this summer in a concentrated effort to raise their educational qualifications.

Along with many professional educators at the administrative and supervisory level, they will participate in courses leading to University of Toronto graduate degrees in education which will given at The Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, 102 Bloor Street West. The summer session will begin July 4.

Some 950 teachers-turned students from across Canada and from overseas have enrolled in the specialized degree programs, reported Dr. C. C. Pitt, Assistant Co-ordinator of Graduate Studies at the Institute. Registration has jumped 33.5 per cent since 1965.

Many of the summer students already hold leadership posts, such as school administrators, principals, inspectors, superintendents of education, Masters in teachers' college, specialist teachers, consultants and psychologists.

Dr. Pitt attributed the enrolment rise to the outstanding faculty which the Institute has attracted, to the increased number of courses, and to the development of entirely new programs of specialization this year. Another drawing card for the summer school is the fact that educators, who hold year-round positions, can take courses during their vacation period.

While the professional educators at supervisory levels are taking courses at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Toronto, an estimated 14,000 or more elementary school teachers will be enrolled in five week courses at about 60 different locations throughout the province.

One of these classes will be located in Belleville where the response has been so enthusiastic that the department has found it necessary to close enrolments.

This year a course in audio-visual aids is scheduled to open July 4 at Centennial Secondary School in Belleville. The course principal will be H. L. McNaught, inspector of radio programming. Principal B. L. Wright, of Queen May School, will be a member of the summer school staff.

In addition to the Ontario Institute for Studies at Toronto, and the special five-week summer courses for elementary school teachers, Ontario universities will be providing courses leading to degrees and the number of teachers enrolled will exceed the enrollment in the winter courses.

Lightning Bolt Strikes Church

Lightning on Friday night struck the high chimney at the front of the United Church in Wellington. The chimney was split down the middle and bricks were strewn all over the church yard. The lightning also ripped shingles off the section of the roof close to the chimney. Workers removed the dangerous remnants of the chimney on Saturday to avoid the possibility of any of the bricks falling and hurting passers-by.

Two Featured Attractions For New Park Not Yet Placed

The official opening of Belleville's Zwick's Island Park scheduled for July 5 is just a little more than two weeks away, but two of its feature attractions — a vintage steam locomotive and a Golden Hawks Sabre Jet — are still conspicuous by their absence.

Mayor J. R. Ellis is still confident that both attractions will be in place on the Island for the official opening.

But he admits that time is growing a bit short.

The Belleville Lions Club has the concrete base and pedestal all ready for mounting of the Golden Jet and Mayor Ellis says the plane will be in place by June 30.

But moving of the big 135-ton vintage locomotive to its spot on the island is somewhat of a bigger chore and admittedly the time is getting short. The old locomotive currently is at the local railway yards where it has been all polished up and given a new coat of paint.

The gravel base for the short section of track on which the locomotive will rest is being put down today.

Plans are to tow the locomotive over the CPR tracks to the No. 14 highway crossing (Bay Bridge Road) where it will be lifted from the tracks by two giant cranes and then moved to its final position at the south end of the island.

Dairy Princess for Two Counties Will Be Chosen

Wednesday, June 21, will be the big dairy day for Hastings County with two separate events dealing with dairying scheduled for the same evening.

On the market square in Belleville, the 1967 H a s tings County dairy princess will be chosen, while at the same time at Eldorado, there will be the official opening of the new addition to the Eldorado Cheese and Butter Company plant.

The dairy princess competition at Belleville is offered with the a double barrelled affair with princesses for both Hastings and Prince Edward counties to be chosen.

Competing for the Hastings county crown will be G a i l Thompson of Moira, and Cathy Labey of Madoc, both 17-year-old high school girls.

The Prince Edward contestants are Kathy Alexander of R. R. 2, Hillier, and Barbara Dozzee, R.R. 8, Picton.

The county winners from Hastings and Prince Edward will go on to the Ontario finals to be staged at the CNE in Toronto.

Immediately prior to the dairy princess competition the contestants will be entertained to luncheon, while following the contest the girls will be presented with prizes during the Dairy Jambores to be held in the Belleville Arena.

Back at Eldorado, the new cheese factory addition will be officially opened by Hon. William A. Stewart, Ontario Minister of Agriculture.

Mother of Two Drowns

A Sunday afternoon cruise ended in sudden tragedy when a mother of two children died a fall from a boat near Canadian Forces Base Trenton.

The two young daughters of Elizabeth Ellis, 28, of 343 Dufferin Street, Trenton, were with her at the time of the fatal accident on the Bay of Quinte.

Police said the woman and her children were with Mike Wasylyshyn, 30, of R.R. 2, Hillier and his brother, Robert, of Toronto, when overturning slipped overboard, about 200 yards ashore from the base yacht club.

Mike Wasylyshyn went to the assistance of the victim but simultaneously struggled unsuccessfully to start the boat's motor.

Police said Wasylyshyn himself was in danger of drowning when the motor finally did respond and the boat started to drift.

He was rescued by the quick action of Stanley Harry Sears, 39, 20 Princess Street, Trenton, who, leaping into the water, had raced his cabin-cruiser to the spot.

He threw the drowning man a line and hauled him aboard. On arriving, say police, in the nick of time.

Parade Of Homes On Again

In fact, so many turned out for the Parade of Homes, sponsored by the Quinte Homebuilders Association, that the builders have decided for a repeat performance.

In all, six houses representing a wide cross-section of design and price range, were on display Saturday and Sunday.

Now, an association spokesman says, it has been decided to throw open the display again next weekend, starting Friday.

a due result to the aggressor."

The session brought an indirect confrontation of Arab World leader and U.S. President Johnson shortly before Kosygin spoke, Johnson appealed to all countries to shun rigid stands in the search for Middle East stability.

Looking solemn, Kosygin walked slowly to the podium of the assembly to start a critical phase of a special emergency session. He began by accusing American policy with regard to Vietnam, Cuba, The Congo and other trouble areas. He said the situation in the Middle East could lead to thermonuclear war.

"No nation wants war," Kosygin said, "nobody doubts that if a new world war starts it would inevitably by a nuclear one. . . .

"It should be taken into account that the continuing war in this area (Vietnam) is fraught with the terrible danger of escalating into a major military clash between the powers. . . .This is precisely what the present foreign policy of the United States of America is fraught with."

Kosygin praised the UN Security Council for achieving a ceasefire in the Middle East, but added it did not discharge its whole responsibility since Israeli troops still occupy Arab territory.

"As long as Israeli troops continue to occupy territories seized by them and urgent measures are not taken to eliminate the consequences of aggression, a military conflict can flare up at any moment," Kosygin said. "That is why the Soviet Union took the initiative to convene an urgent meeting of the members of the United Nations General Assembly."

A Dry Run!

The rains came during Saturday's official opening of Sidney township's municipal offices. However, Linda Wilson had the answer for Sharon Richardson as she helped sister Trenton bagpiper tune up while keeping dry.

Sidney Township Hall, Offices Officially Open

The skies finally opened as they finished the formalities officially opening Sidney township's municipal hall and offices Saturday.

However, the damp weather couldn't bog down the expectancy of the occasion.

After all, the event had been due the township for more than two decades — a fact indicated by the provincial Cabinet officer who did the honors.

The old township hall was destroyed by fire in 1943 and township business had since been carried on in rented premises, with the duties of municipal clerk and treasurer centred in the home of the office holder.

However, today it was important that elected representatives and officials have proper working conditions, W. H. Palmer, Department of Municipal Affairs Deputy Minister reminded spectators at the ceremony.

"It's especially fitting that in our Centennial year you should have new municipal offices to carry on township business. The government of the province continues to stress the importance that our municipalities have in democratic government."

The township, he noted, was one of the oldest in Ontario — laid out in 1787 — and today still was being operated with financial soundness.

"I wish all municipalities were in as fine shape," he added.

With Reeve Ernest Kelly, Mr. Palmer then went to cut the ribbon across the building's entrance, admitting the spectators to the interior — just as the rain finally began falling.

Wounded Police Sergeant Native of Picton Area

HAMILTON — A native of the Picton area, police sergeant Milton Zimmerman today was in the Hamilton city council hospital here, after being shot in the neck and hand while attempting an arrest Saturday night.

The 33-year-old officer Sunday had a bullet removed from his throat and today was reported in fair condition.

Born at Waupoos, son of Mrs. William Ostrander, a Picton post office worker, Sgt. Zimmerman was known locally for his keen sports interest and was highly rated as a baseball pitcher.

Mrs. Ostrander today told the Intelligencer she had been "talking with her son and supported him off the serious list."

Lasslow Eyer, 28, of no fixed address, has been charged with attempted murder.

Sgt. Zimmerman and Sgt. Bruce McFarrary were on duty near a downtown hotel late Saturday night when they spotted a wanted car. The driver of the vehicle was described on a province-wide police bulletin as being wanted for breach of parole and for possession of an offensive weapon.

As they approached the car, a man got out and fired two shots.

As the man jumped in his car and drove off, Sgt. McMurray ran to the front of the hotel and told two other officers to give chase.

The chase by Constable Kenneth Lightheart and Constable Richard Bonekamp ended when the fleeing driver was hit in the head by a police bullet. His condition was described later at hospital as "not serious."

The police marksmen had already punctured the car's gas tank and a rear tire before hitting the driver.

Police said they found "an arsenal of firearms" in the car.

New Riding Organized At Cloyne Meeting

Alvin Hamilton, a contender for the Conservative leadership, revealed his thoughts at a party organizational meeting here Saturday, when he called for his party to shed "the business man's image it now projects".

"Conservatives", he said, "should return to their original concern for the needs of the rests of farmers, workers and businessmen".

Mr. Hamilton, Member of Parliament for Qu'Appelle, also came up with this formula for electoral success:

In the next two years, Conservatives should have three main political objectives.

They must (1) "build the rural base we have today"; (2) "pick up 30 to 40 seats in rural Quebec" and (3), "build a party with a policy that can move into the urban areas".

His speech was heard by about 100 members of the Frontenac - Lennox - Addington riding association, representing the Conservatives in a new constituency created by redistribution.

The riding includes all Lennox and Addington County and the area of Frontenac, Alfred spans from Napanee north to the Killaloe area, and includes big sections of Kingston now represented by Conservatives: Prince-Edward-Lennox (Douglas Rhodes-ed) and Hastings-Frontenac (Rod Webb).

Anti-rabies Serum Given Marmora Boy

MARMORA — Provincial police here last night rushed anti-rabies serum here for a two-year old boy, after he was feared bitten by a rabid dog.

Jimmy Burridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burridge of Marmora is under observation while a report is awaited of tests being made on the dog's carcass.

The dog wandered onto Cole's property and bit the Burridge child. It was shot by Cole who had become suspicious of the dog's erratic behavior.

Dr. H G. Parkin was called to attend the boy and ordered the anti-rabies vaccine. Police rushed the serum by cruiser from Peterborough.

Playing Politics

Looking at the Middle East and the world situation in general there is ample confirmation of the fundamental perverseness of human nature, even on the part of the leaders of great nations.

How can perplexed (if largely indifferent) public have any confidence in a world order when they read that the Soviet Union is concentrating its propaganda on blasting Israeli aggression and apparently is lending an ear to the German request for the re-equipping of the defeated Arab armies.

Israeli aggression, as the communists call it, actually stemmed from the closing by Egypt of the Gulf of Aqaba and the blocking of Israel's vital southern sea route.

Politics have also been at work in the deliberations of the last few days in the United Nations. With the Russian request for an emergency special session of the UN General Assembly and the attendance of a top delegation led by Premier Alexei Kosygin, Washington moved to minimize the propaganda effect of the Soviet initiative. It did so by the simple device of getting the United States listed first on the speaker's rostrum in today's opening debate.

While the Soviet Union tries to salvage some prestige both for itself and for the Arabs states, the latter are busily engaged in blaming the British and the Americans for their recent troubles. The fact that the Israeli air force, such a potent weapon in the week-long war, is made up largely of French jets, seems to have escaped the Arabs.

France meanwhile has announced it will not support the territorial claims made by Israel on the basis of its military victory. And that is a classic example of double-dealing if ever there was one.

France has not been idle on the political scene. More and more President de Gaulle is acquiring the stature of a leader to whom others are giving attention. He has achieved this largely by playing off one country against another, and other leaders against each other.

Thus last week's meeting between Kosygin and De Gaulle was arranged at Soviet request. Significantly, the message came at short notice over the "green telephone," as the direct teleprinter line between Paris and Moscow is called. United France and Russia also have their "hot line" link.

Politics . . . prestige . . . face-saving . . . and power. All these elements are at work in the world today, as they have been since time began. Will there be peace? Well, neither the United States nor Russia seems disposed toward initiating any major conflict. At least not yet. As on previous visits outside Russia Mr. Kosygin is being accompanied by his daughter. The Soviet leader shows himself more as a family man than one who is bent on furthering the communist line of ultimate world domination.

Drug Prices

The Ontario Pharmacists' Association meeting in St. Catharines charges that some Ontario pharmaceutical manufacturers and distributors are increasing the price of their drugs in an effort to beat the removal of the 12 per cent sales tax.

September is the deadline for the removal of the sales tax on drugs. Such increases, according to S. G. Turners, executive director of the association, "could result in the public paying at times — or more — after tax removal as before."

If this is true the Government would be well advised to rescind its decision to permit a waiting period for the tax concession to come into effect. In other words the tax should be removed immediately before prices are increased further.

It is just not enough to call for public condemnation in the "strongest possible terms" of any company taking advantage of the three-month waiting period. This is one situation which neither the Government nor the public should tolerate — this taking advantage of people who must take drugs of one kind or another.

There is no reason at all why the tax should not be removed immediately.

Big Power Post-Mortem

Both U.S. and Russia Have Lost Face in Middle East

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The process of picking up the pieces after the Middle East war seems bravely to be at the beginning of the beginning.

The verbal jockeying for best bargaining positions continues between Arabs and Jews, the Soviets and the U.S.

That includes Washington where the state department has had to deny suggestions that the U.S., obsessed with the war in Vietnam, badly underestimated the war threat in the Middle East.

One of the complainants is American diplomat David Nes, the No. 2 man in Cairo, who is believed rotting because of his pro-Arab attitudes. There was no U.S. ambassador in Cairo for three months leading up to the crisis—by American accord. Nes as charge d'affaires and no American who spoke to President Nasser in all that time.

What the U.S. could have done with more effort is the object of speculation in some quarters. In any event, President Johnson has hastily summoned back to harness a top former aide, McGeorge Bundy, who will direct a special group taking a look at what the U.S. must do now in the Middle East and perhaps what it should have done.

The Soviet Union is doing the same thing, if only because it has blown more than $1,000,000,000 in military aid to Egypt alone and is faced with Arab demands that weapons captured or destroyed by Israel be replaced.

Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, away from Washington for more than two months, will be hopping back the new Soviet line on the U.S.—when he arrives here in a day or two. The blow to Soviet pride and prestige is reckoned high but both major powers have scars.

The Soviet Union once again has declined to put its muscles where its mouth is in aiding its allies, as happened in the 1962 Cuban missile showdown with President Kennedy.

But it still is a major Middle East presence backing 120,000-man Arab army against 2,500,000 Jews.

The U.S. image there has never been lower, despite the new self has voiced suspicions about how dependable the U.S. would be as an ally.

U.S. relations have been broken with Egypt, Syria, Algeria, Sudan, Southern Yemen and Jordan. They are strained with seven other Arab countries who are marking time on how cool to remain.

However, the oil situation has eased with Saudi Arabia's decision to start up its pipelines again for shipment, except to Britain and the U.S.

Finally, the Middle East has done much to improve the bad relations between France and the U.S. President de Gaulle is the only one of the Big Four powers retaining contact with both Arabs and Israelis and is believed to have given the latest non-support for the U.S. in the crisis, to be ready to use his connections to enhance French prestige.

Colonial Problems 1967-Style

Kingston Whig-Standard

In its long history of giving colonies their independence after nursing them along the road to political responsibility, Britain has experienced a few setbacks.

She has had a lot of trouble with Malta, for instance, which has never been able to make up its mind to cut the umbilical cord. Gibraltar, with the Spaniards eyeing it as the back door, is another case. With all the good will in the world Britain has 6,000 islanders with Britain as their overseas defence force member. Many of the islanders have been very happy with their new status. There have been some riots on Anguilla, but the men having attacked police headquarters and injured a constabulary force member. Many of the 6,000 islanders want Britain to take over again. Trade and local affairs seem to have deteriorated and the islanders lack the resources and special skills to make even an associated relationship work.

So Britain now has another problem. Vilification as a colonial power has been her lot ever since she almost-accidently acquired an empire. Now she is having trouble with colonies who don't "want out." Some of the British attempts to get rid of dependencies have been on the scene of confusion. But when it comes to the welfare of people who have been dependent for generations, how can mere money enter into the reckoning?

Maldives Play It Cool

Milwaukee Journal

The Maldives, smallest member of the United Nations with only 97,000 citizens, has its own broadcast service. And this cluster of little islands in the Indian Ocean must rank as one of the most permissive societies existing.

The Associated Press reported recently on a series of broadcasts in Male, capital of the country. First there was a period of American music. Then Radio Moscow gave a news program. The Voice of America followed, trailed by the British Broadcasting system and All-India Radio.

U. A. Khalid, deputy foreign minister, explains that "we like to be friends with everybody who likes to be friends with us." Small as it is, the Maldives would do the world a service if it could get that policy adopted in the UN.

Maritime Union Still Far Off

Montreal Gazette

Prince Edward Island Premier Alex Campbell said last weekend that political considerations may restrict the concept of union of the Maritime provinces for some time to come.

Pickford union may indeed be far off but this need not, and has not, discouraged co-operation between governments and research. There is an increasing feeling that the Maritime provinces should be joined closely on development projects and other economic enterprises.

The world trend, of course, is to larger economic units. The best example of this is the success of the European Common Market. And within Canada itself, the trend is to regional planning.

Mr. Campbell suggested that medical care insurance might be a project which would lend itself to a united approach by the Maritime provinces. The idea should get serious consideration by the other provinces.

Medicare is expensive and some of the biggest expenses involved is administration. If the administration could be centralized, it would be a considerable saving for the governments involved.

Political union may, as Mr. Campbell said, be far in the future. But economic union spread out gradually, the step could be a starting point.

Ferdinand Maximilian, Emperor of Mexico, was shot by republican troops 100 years ago today — in 1867. Maximilian was the brother of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, and the second son of Archduke Francis Charles. He became emperor of Mexico in 1864 after French intervention in that country, but his position was impossible politically, strategically and economically. In January 1866 the French troops that kept him in power were withdrawn on United States insistence and republican forces under Benito Juarez staged a comeback culminating in the capture, court-martial and execution of Maximilian.

The national aeronautics and space administration, one of the government's most prolific producers of publications, recently subsidized two hard cover books: An Administrative History of NASA, 1958-63' and This New Ocean: A History of Project Mercury. Unfortunately neither has exactly gone into orbit.

That revelation in a recent report from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics that there are indeed 11,628 more women than men in Ottawa will affect local males differently.

'A Second-class Chamber Subject to Public Insult'

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP)—Worried by growing agitation for the abolition or reform of the Senate, more and more senators are advocating a new look at their venerable institution.

Pressure is mounting for the creation of a special Senate committee to study ways of giving the upper house a larger, more influential role in the government.

"We must make changes or someone else will make one that we won't like very much," Senator Allister Grosart (PC—Ontario) warned his colleagues this week.

The question was urgent because of constitutional studies by the justice department and several provinces and forthcoming conferences.

Senator C. W. Carter (L—Newfoundland) shattered tradition with a blunt maiden speech criticizing the government for letting the Senate become a second-class chamber subject to public insult.

There is a great danger that the appointed chamber will disappear, and in my opinion nothing positive is done to counter charges that it is a club for "party hacks and broken-down politicians, the long-time MP said.

Many senators in both parties support the idea of a committee to review the chamber's powers, and a government resolution is expected to be introduced this session.

Senators trying to get this for a couple of years," Senator John Connolly, the government leader, said in an interview. "Now, we've got a groundswell."

He favored more inquiries into social problems, such as the recent ones on aging and divorce, and more discussion of international relations.

Senator Connolly, former national director of the Conservative party, said in an interview relating to external affairs and defence.

Of course it was also providential that the islands could at any time become completely independent if they wished.

It appears that the islanders have not been very happy with their new status. There have been some riots on Anguilla, but the men having attacked police headquarters and injured a constabulary force member. Many of the 6,000 islanders want Britain to take over again. Trade and local affairs seem to have deteriorated and the islanders lack

The motion was moved by Thomas Montgomery and seconded by R. G. Gray.

"Water for Peace" Parley

Montreal Star

If the 94-nation Washington "Water for Peace" conference did nothing else, it impressed on the Canadian delegation a fact which should have been acknowledged in this country a long time ago.

It is this: notwithstanding the chauvinistic sloghns of some politicians in Ottawa and the provincial capitals — those who cry "no truck or trade with the Yankees on water matters"— the United States has no immediate intentions to lay its hands on Canadian water.

The Canadian team at the conference — it included senior provincial and federal politicians and experts — is reported to have come away with a much "cooler" approach to the bilateral water issue. Any apprehensions they may have had about imminent American plans to gain access to Canadian water by hook or by crook were allayed by firm U.S. statements that Washington will solve the problems of irrigation, desalination and even weather control before it makes overtures to Canada.

It now remains for Canada and the United States to make inventories of their future supplies and needs. When this has been done (and it may take a long time considering all the technical and political problems), some American requirements for Canadian water may become apparent. If this happens, Canada may make a deal if the price and the circumstances are right. To make bold claims now about "never" selling Canadian water to the United States may make good headlines, but it makes little sense.

Hasty Pees Are Winners Ping Pong in the Rain

About 100 members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment of the Canadian Army Militia slogged through two days of rainy weather in a mock battle against the Royal Canadian Regiment, this weekend.

The operation, affectionately called Ping Pong and designed to prepared the regiment for multi-tactical actions, attack, defense and withdrawal, ended Sunday when the soldiers were flown from Oshawa back to Belleville in seven Otter aircraft.

The convoy left for Oshawa Saturday in a trip punctuated by small rain showers, it arrived in a small village named Taunton which was prearranged as the dispersal point.

On the way the number four platoon was ambushed

The platoon after pinpointing the enemy organized into sections to combat the enemy. The whole operation was coordinated by radio so the commanding officer was always in contact with his men.

As the ambush began a slight drizzle commenced but the men seemed to ignore it as they waited for instructions. Divided into sections they immediately tried to rid the area of the enemy. The ambushers were on a hill.

The Hasty Pees made the enemy retreat although the Royal Canadian Regiment succeeded in its purpose in slowing the regiment down.

After the skirmish the vehicles were reloaded and the platoon headed for headquarters.

The principle behind the hide is simple. As a place to hide, unseen by the enemy, the company must be able to fight from the position. The hide must be strategicaly located close to a number of defense positions.

At the hide the men dig in and guard it in case it is discovered and they are attacked.

As the Hasty Pees set up their headquarters the rain turned the area into a murky pool of mud. The soldiers were soaked to the skin but their spirits were dampened only slightly. The men were then moved to a defense position which had been surveyed by the regiment officers. Placement of the platoon, the anti-tank guns and other battle-equipment was determined.

The regiment dug in all that evening and sent out patrols. The trenches, washed by the rain became damp and muddy.

Commanding officer, Captain M. N. Evans held briefings for the platoon commanders, Lieut. D. M. Campbell, Lieut. T. Gray, and Lieut. G. Brown, Captain A. D. Irwin, S/M F. R. Hamilton and the co-ordinator of the exercise Major L. Caughill.

Saturday night one of the enemy patrols was captured when it walked into the Hasty Pee camp. The absolute darkness made it very hard for them to tell the differences between bases.

The rain caused a slight change of plan in the operation. Instead of sleeping outside the regiment including its new prisoners spent the night in the Oshawa Armoury.

On the way to their sleeping quarters many vehicles became trapped on the muddy roads. The troops arrived in Oshawa at about 1.30 a.m.

They were awakened at 5.00 a.m. for the next day's action. After returning to the battle position they set up defence and watched for the enemy.

After three hours in the damp trenches the enemy attacked. They were defeated and captured although the Hasty Pees suffered casualties.

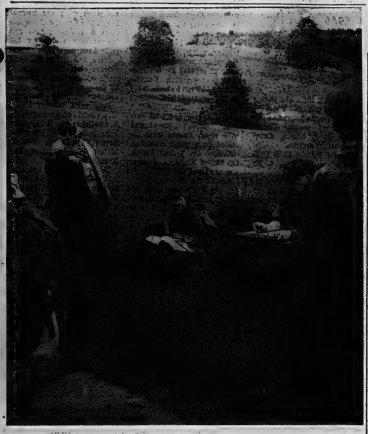
But the exercise was not over for the Hasty Pees.



They proceeded to an army base in Oshawa where they were instructed in the principles of tank warfare. The lesson was supplemented by tank rides around the base. Some of the troops were allowed to drive.

They finished the day by flying to Belleville in seven Otters.

A pair of soldiers rush through the mud towards a hill occupied by enemy troops. Their truck was ambushed as it travelled along a road toward home base.

Foxboro Features Centennial Fair

Quinte skies dropped a wet, blanket over the Centennial Fair at Foxboro Saturday afternoon. But festive spirits were undampened as the event, held in the garden of Jay and Ella Saunders' home, continued despite the rain.

Garnet May, caller, and a set of four couples led off the proceedings with a square dance demonstration. A show of nostalgic costumes of the 1867 era followed, highlighted with the appearance of Jane and Peggy McCutcheon, pairs skaters with Holiday on Ice, who modelled gowns worn by their grandmother. Mrs. Lee Grills wore a copy of an 1868 purple satin evening gown featured in Godey's Ladies' Book. Hastings County Museum presented models in street and evening clothes of the early 1900s, including children's fashions worn by Janet and Kathie Kerr. Miss Mary Moult was commentator.

A parade of bathing beauties spanning the years from 1907 to 1967 was climaxed by the appearance of the McCutcheon girls in bikinis.

In the near-by barn Donna and Allen Cameron exhibited their paintings and the Canmore Centennial Committee mounted a display of handicrafts. Mrs. G. J. McIlquham was in charge of the showing of leatherwork, tatting, copper tooling, knitting, samplers and quilts.

History in Miniature, a doll display prepared by the Ontario Centennial Planning Branch, was also exhibited in the barn.

Don Foster's troop of clowns provided comedy and entertainment during the afternoon. The master of ceremonies, A. G. Saunders of Orangeville, in Scout Brummell attire, delivered old-fashioned sales pitches during the event for the array of bazaar items and home baking.

Door prize winners were Mrs. E. McCaherd, Belleville, who won a Donna Cameron oil painting, Mrs. S. Woods of Roslin who won a wax candelabra and Mrs. Ruth Malone of Thomasburg who won a cake.

Proceeds will go to St. Andrew's Church, Foxboro.

Many Attend Official Opening of New Park

RYLSTONE — The Barnum Centennial Community Park was opened recently with a large crowd estimated to be about 400, in attendance.

Mrs. Lindsay Anderson, president of the Rylstone Women's Institute welcomed the guests, Mr. Van Camp, warden of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham declared the park open. Mrs. Sanford G. Mehlhohn the first president of Rylstone W.I. at its beginning in 1924 cut the ribbon for the official opening. For the program Mrs. Ernest Irwin, chairman of the park committee was master of ceremonies.

Distinguished guests at the event were Russell Rowe M.P.P. and Mrs. Rowe, Rod Webb, M.P. and Mrs. Webb; Reeve Fred Beckett of Rawdon Township and Kenneth Parr, Reeve of Seymour Township and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barnum. Mr. Barnum now 92 spoke on behalf of the Barnum family, as did Dr. Donald Barnum of the University of Guelph.

Mrs. Fred W. Barnum was first vice-president of Rylstone W.I. and farther witness of the Barnum homestead when the park site was part of the Barnum farm. Other members of Mrs. Barnum's immediate family present were Mr. Roy Barnum, Campbellford druggist; Mrs. (Dr.) Jim Loynes of Belleville and Mrs. Albert Case of Islington; also their families.

Mr. Alfred Barnum gave a brief history of the Barnum family dating back to Sir Walter Barnum, 1377. Caleb Barnum was a member of the seventh generation who purchased the crown land now known as the Barnum home from the University of Toronto. Dr. Donald Barnum expressed appreciation of the Barnum family to the Rylstone W.I. and to all who had contributed to make this park a lasting tribute to his family.

A brief history of Rylstone Women's Institute was given by Mrs. F. M. Rutherford of Campbellford, the first secretary-treasurer of the organization. Tribute was paid to the late Mrs. Herbert Spencer at whose home the Institute was organized in 1924. Mrs. Spencer had always been a willing worker for the Institute but never accepted an executive office.

Mrs. Rex Rollins brought greetings from the Federated Institutes of Ontario. Mrs. Ernest Irwin is the only remaining member of Rylstone W.I. since 1924 and has held several important offices at the Provincial level, one of which was the regional vice-president of the F.W.I. of Ontario.

Many arts and crafts were on display, one of which was the braiding of rya straw to make straw hats by Mrs. Thomas Kerr. Completed hats were on display. The Camp-

Quinte Handicraft Guild exhibited their paintings on display and a bellford Art Club had oil. Large showing of antiques all the way from oxen yokes to fine chairs, glass and other items were collected and shown by Mrs. Ellis Jones. Jim Kerr on display was the story of John Bunyon and was 110 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown of Seymour West had a fine private collection of antiques and a complete older mill. A two-horse "democrat" owned by the late Herbert Spencer was at the park and Mr. Harry Mumby spent the entire afternoon taking the children for rides.

Weaving was shown by Mrs. Harold Neyler of Monmore and a liquid embroidery demonstration by Mrs. Carl Ray of Springbrook. A display of hand made jewelry was exhibited by Mrs. Maurice Braaten of Petherick's Corners. Homemade quilts, crochet work and embroidery were displayed by Mrs. Alfred Akins. Mr. Maxwell Anderson, a former resident of Rylstone now living at Minto (a double of rugs. The local schools had exhibits and articles for sale and Mrs. Clarence Thomson and the CGIT group showed their projects. W. C. Stapley of Campbellford was on hand with two steam engines.

A beautifully decorated Centennial cake donated by Mrs. W. Donaldson of Peterborough (the former Jean Stewart of Rylstone) was on display and during the day over 250 tickets were sold on it. The winner of the cake was Mrs. Orvis Banks of Springbrook and of the quilt Mrs. Jack Watson.

Musical numbers were contributed by the Sentinel Orange Lodge pipe band, Claire Irwin's orchestra, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spencer and the Senior Citizens of Campbellford who led in community singing.

Much credit is due the Rylstone W.I. as it has worked hard the past two years to clean up and landscape the park and deserves it for community enjoyment; also to the Barnum family for their contribution to bring this project to such a successful conclusion.

The theme of the Federated Institutes of Ontario for this the Centennial year is "Make Ontario Beautiful" and this small organization has certainly done its part.

Horticulturists Hear Talks

W. E. Hartnoll, one of three men who designed the rose garden at Expo spoke to the Belleville Horticultural Society in Tabernacle Church Sunday School auditorium.

Mr. Hartnoll, a lecturer, teacher, writer, radio and TV garden commentator and director of research for the Horticultural Research Foundation, said he felt he had shared in the greatest horticultural challenge possible.

Of the 114 acres of gardens at Expo, 74 are planted with roses. Rushes were received from many countries, including the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Germany and the USSR.

Around the Austrian building are 70,000 perennials and 100,000 annuals. Every kind of plant grown in Holland is at the Netherlands pavilion. The Canadian pavilion has all the trees from every province. The trees and planting at the Ontario building are outstanding and the granite blocks there are from Madoc.

Five gardens ornament the roof of the French pavilion and each deck has balcony boxes. The Israeli building features a sunken garden and the rockery plants on the river bank near the Czechoslovakian and Italian pavilions deserve close examination.

The speaker was introduced by the president, R. Patterson and thanked by Rev. A. Penny.

Door prize winners were Mrs. Craighead, Stirling; Mrs. A. Gardiner; Mr. Ashby, Stirling; Mrs. Heidt; Mrs. Williams; Mrs. Balyn; Mrs. G. Miller; Mrs. Belshaw and Mrs. J. Buchanan.

The bottle gardens prepared by the members of the Junior Society were judged by Phil Dodds of Picton. Winners in the 12 to 16-year-old group were Valerie Watson, Debbie Hayes, Georgina Brickman and Valerie Watson. Winners in the 8 to 11-year-old group were Paul Watson, Janet Foster and Bruce Patterson.

Reader Wants to Teach Hobby Crafts to Elderly

Dear Dorie: I have been weeding to avail myself of a hobby course or something in this line that would enable me to provide a form of occupational therapy for the elderly.

You know if it is possible to take such a course by correspondence or could you put me in touch with the closest facilities? Perhaps you could suggest a book that offers a fresh approach. — Interested in the Old Folks.

Dear Interested: People like you are scarce; people who want to use imagination and skill to teach hobby crafts.

To quote one educationalist: "Our older people need to be exposed to a smorgesbord of activities . . . the less necessary, perhaps because of their previous lack of exposure to such free time activities, due to the earlier Protestant ethic that work was the end all and leisure was in some way sinful and to be shunned."

We know now that mental health calls for a reasonable balance of work and play. Provincial departments of education provide assorted community programs; your local board can tell you about these. Certain occupational therapy assistant's courses may be taken through mental health division; ask your health department what is available where you are.

There we hooks, too; and a few correspondence courses. I am writing you separately about these.

Dear Dorie: A boy who is almost 15 years old is shy and has a hard time carrying on a conversation or taking a girl out. He usually runs in the beer parlor first; then he is OK if he does not overlook himself. But he usually does, and the same girl will not date him again. And instead of getting better he gets worse.

I just wonder if there are any pills (tranquilizers) that could be bought in a drug store that are safer for him to take without doctor's prescription as he will never go to see a doctor about it. He will get mad and say there's nothing wrong with him. Also, if there are certain pills to take, is it safe to have alcohol at the same time? — Shy Boy's Uncle

Dear Uncle: Pales courage out of a bottle makes his less shy but more obnoxious. And no pill out of a bottle is going to make up for the self-confidence he lacks to build a life, even if there were any to be had without a doctor's prescription. (And a doctor is the one to say what combinations of pills and liquor are safe.)

Retreating into himself, denying any problem, drinking too much: these are the ways to fail. He could heaps of reassurance that he is worth while; a friendly ear to encourage him to talk about his woes; and some belief in his own future.

His terrible fears didn't just happen overnight; and the road up will take a while, even if he starts right away. Could you get him to read my leaflet, "Don't Be Shy!" It is on its way.

Confidential to Too Nasty: Who wouldn't feel uncomfortable about declaring love, on just your third date? Yet, your escort started all this by asking you what you thought of him!

I don't think he was laughing at you. He has made plans to see you again, hasn't he? You say he is a quiet person, and I suggest he is suffering inferiority feelings because of his race. Not reasonable, of course, but society is not kind.

Make your next letter friendly, but with no mention of love. A girl can make a helpful move or two, but going overboard is not indicated.

Any Fruit May Be Used with Puff Pudding

By MARY MOORE

All of our cooks should be familiar with the batter for the pudding I am giving you today. It is puffy and may be likened to a sponge batter. Almost any fruit may be used under it. More than five years ago I gave you an Orange Puff Pudding and a Peach Puff Pudding using it. Save this recipe and use it with blueberries and red plums when they are available later on in the summer.

PUFF PUDDING
STRAWBERRY or RHUBARB

Ingredients for Strawberry Base:
4 cups sliced strawberries
½ cup water
2½ tbsps. quick-cooking tapioca
¾ cup sugar

Ingredients for Rhubarb Base:
4 cups sliced rhubarb
¼ cup water,
2½ tbsps. quick - cooking tapioca
cup sugar

Ingredients for Sponge Batter:
½ cup sifted cake flour
6 tbsps. sugar
2 eggs — yolks and whites separated
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cream of tartar.

Prepare either strawberries or rhubarb base by measuring the fruit of your choice into a saucepan and adding the water, tapioca and sugar. (As you see more sugar is needed for rhubarb than for strawberry.) Bring to boil stirring and cook 1 min. Remove from heat, pour into buttered baking dish 8 x 8 x 1" and keep hot.

Make Batter: Beat egg yolks until light, gradually adding sugar until pale and fluffy. Add salt and cream of tartar to egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry. Fold egg-sugar mixture into whites. Sift sifted flour over and fold in. Give your fruit - tapioca mixture a stir then pour batter over it. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. 50 min. or until batter looks done at centre. Serve warm to six people.

Ann Landers

Psychodelic Shop Within the Law

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been reading you for years and I thought I had heard everything, but I ran across a news item in the paper today that is more fantastic than anything I have read in your column.

Here in Santa Barbara a new place of business has opened. It is called The Psychodelic Shop. They sell accessories for smoking marijuana, pot pipes, "roach" (cigarette papers) and toys to amuse people while on LSD trips. They also offer paintings, jewelry and drawings by young artists and far-out phallic sculpture.

ANN LANDERS

The police chief insists he cannot close the shop because he is no law against it. He also said, "We can't shut down a place of business just because some people don't like it."

As a courageous crusader who has always upheld high moral standards, will you please say something about authorities who hide behind the law to permit such an establishment to operate? — SANTA BARBARA CITIZEN.

DEAR SANTA: I can't see that anybody is hiding behind anything. The police chief stated that he is unable to make an arrest because no law has been broken. If the shop sold marijuana or LSD the chief could and would padlock it at once, but selling accessories is not against the law.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Here is a belated thank you. Three years ago my wife sent for your booklet on alcoholism. She was no drinker but I was. That booklet lay on the dresser for three months and finally one night I decided to read it even though I was not ready to admit I had a drinking problem.

Reading your booklet was the first step toward ending a living hell. I recognized myself in those pages and finally had to admit I was an alcoholic. Here are a few things I don't have to worry about anymore:

(1) My wife leaving me.
(2) Excuses for being away from work.
(3) Excuses for being too "sick" to go places.
(4) What to say to bill collectors when they come to the house and I can't pay because I am broke.
(5) Where did I leave the car last night?
(6) How did I get home?
(7) Did I say anything in front of the kids that I ought to be ashamed of?

I could go on for pages, but I think you have the idea. Your booklet made me go to Alcoholics Anonymous, and there I found the help I needed. I know now the only difference between a drunk in a penthouse and a drunk in the gutter is the height that separates them. — THANKFUL.

DEAR THANKFUL: So am I. I appreciate your letter more than I can say.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you told a wife whose husband was interested in wife swapping — "sure, people get curious, and sometimes it doesn't take them 20 years, but curiosity, is no excuse for behaving like animals."

On behalf of such animals as lions, Canadian geese, otters, cardinals and almost any type except cowbird, I object. They wouldn't dream of such behavior!

I was sure you know better. — TORONTO EDITOR.

DEAR EDITOR: My apologies to the lions, Canadian geese, otters, cardinals and all others whom I offended by lumping them with humans. You are right. I should have known better.

Dump Party Raised $90 For Charity

It was Dali-type surrealism none had when about 1,000 citizens of this suburban Vancouver municipality attended a dump party and garbage auction at the municipal garbage dump.

And it was all in the aid of cleanliness and charity.

"We raised about $90 for charity, but I think the most important part was that a lot of people realized we do have a municipal dump," said Mrs. Alan Emmott, wife of the mayor of Burnaby, who conceived the project to promote a centennial cleanup campaign.

"Too many people have been spoiling the appearance of Burnaby by dumping garbage and litter on vacant lots and almost any convenient roadside point, but I think a lot of them did it simply because they didn't know about the dump," she said.

Tea was poured by six prominent Burnaby women from a silver service on a table decorated with egg shells, coffee grounds, banana peels and empty cigarette packages.

An auction of gift-wrapped items was conducted by former municipal counsellor Emmett Cafferky, wearing a spotless white surgeon's outfit.

Let Johnny play at the water's edge until he is ready to venture in of his own accord. As he gets used to the huge expanses of water and sees the other children enjoying it, he will lose his fear.

Forcing a small child to go into the lake or pool may only terrify him — and make him fear the water for years.

Only Half of MPPs Say People Angry at Taxes

TORONTO (CP)—A survey of members of the Ontario legislature shows an alarm gap split between those reporting discontent over municipal taxes and those who found little dissatisfaction.

Questionnaires were sent to 83 members. Eleven reported dissatisfaction over tax levels and 10 replied there was little.

Gaston Demers, Conservative government supporter for Nickel Belt, said that in his riding the mill rates of most municipalities have remained at about the same level as last year's and there is little discontent.

However, Liberal Elmer Sopha of Sudbury said discontent over property taxes is a prime topic of conversation.

"There are persistent complaints," he said.

Lorne Henderson, Conservative member for Lambton East, said:

"The people within my riding realize that prices are rising, salaries are on the increase, and that, if the municipality is to keep its place in society, there must be tax increases.

"I would suggest that it is about time that municipal representatives in Ontario's largest centres, from which most of the uneasiness stems, realize the position they are holding and start taking some action to curb their ... rather than take the ... e of running to senior governments for more grants."

Liberal Harry Worton, member for Wellington South, said the basic residential tax rate increase of 14 per cent in Guelph is typical of property tax increases and points up inequalities in the provincial-municipal tax structure.

"Municipal councils have responded by cutting back spending, causing inequitable education facilities across the province, a severe shortage of serviced land for housing and inadequacies in other municipal services."

Israel Displays Captured Weapons

TEL AVIV (AP)—The Israeli Army Sunday took the wraps off a surface-to-air missile—along with other Soviet equipment captured intact from Egyptian and Syrian forces in the Middle East war.

The equipment was displayed at an army camp near Tel Aviv.

The Israelis believe most of the Soviet hardware is being shown intact to the West for the first time and Western military attaches have requested to see the exhibits, and will probably do so shortly, an officer said.

The SAM missiles, nine of which were reported to have been captured by Israel near the Suez Canal, are two-stage, radar-guided weapons with a 25-mile range. A fuse explodes the warhead near its target.

The missile, mounted on a Soviet truck, weighs two tons and is 35 feet long. It has three sets of stabilization fins. The first stage is powered by solid fuel and the second by liquid fuel.

"It would suggest that the Egyptians were planning to use poison gas," the officer said. "We also captured many gas masks."

Other booty, virtually new, included:

—Anti - tank missiles with a range between 500 to 2,500 yards mounted on light trucks. Each vehicle carried four hollow-charge missiles. They were supplied by the Soviet bloc to Egypt and Syria about 18 months ago, the Israeli officer said.

—A long-range 122-millimetre howitzer with a range of 10 miles and capable of firing seven rounds per minute. It has a longer range and superior firepower than anything in the West, the Israeli officer claimed.

—Artillery radar mounted on halftracks. It has a spotting range of 25 miles.

—A B-11 recoilless anti-tank gun, a 14.5-millimetre anti-aircraft guns and a communications staff car.

More than 100 American-made Sherman tanks have been found by Israeli troops around Gaza, Israeli reporters on a tour of Gaza reported Sunday.

Mackenzie's Rebels March on Toronto From Nearby Aurora

AURORA, Ont., (CP)—Residents of Aurora lined the main street this weekend to watch 22 members of the Chamber of Commerce re-stage the rebellious 1837 march on Toronto by William Lyon Mackenzie and Jesse Lloyd.

The members, in authentic costumes, re-enacted the skirmish between the rebels and the Queen's York Rangers, who crouched behind a picket fence.

Within 30 seconds two rebels fell to the street—one supposedly dead, one wounded—according to the history books.

Sunday morning the rebels moved against Metropolitan Toronto, where they were told by police that their permit to march down Yonge Street had not arrived.

When a phone call settled the mix-up, the 1967 rebels moved down Yonge Street and then took a subway to a quiet reception to end their 25-mile hike.

At a pedestrian crosswalk at Queen and York Streets, motorists pulled to a halt as a marcher was thrust forward to halt traffic.

The marchers carried their Mackenzie flag and fireworks the last few hundred yards to Centennial House.

Tourist Influx Is Problem

TORONTO (CP) — J a m e s ... said, Ontario tourism and information minister, has warned that the influx of tourists from the U.S. and other countries may require the use of private homes for accommodation.

Most of the tourists intend to travel through the province to and from Expo.

A shortage of commercial tourist accommodation during the summer has been forecast by the travel research branch of the department. Toronto and Niagara Falls are expected to be hardest hit.

Sam Hill, director of the ... wall office of the department, said the centre had recorded a 25-per-cent increase in visitors over last year.

Toronto Woman Slain

TORONTO (CP)—A 29-year-old car washer was charged Sunday with the capital murder of a young mother whose mutilated body was found Saturday in a downtown rooming house.

Police said Ann Fraser, 22, alias Fisher, was attacked shortly after she came home about 3 a.m. Saturday. Her naked body was found on a bed with an electrical cord looped around her neck. She had been mutilated with a sharp instrument.

Her open purse was found lying on the floor near the bed and her ripped clothing was scattered around the room.

Her body was discovered by Betty Williamson, a friend who was looking after Miss Fraser's nine-month-old baby during the weekend.

Seven-year-old Drowns at Picnic

DESERONTO — A seven-year-old boy drowned near Deseronto Saturday afternoon while attending a Sunday School picnic. Georgs Andrew Wannamaker was last seen sitting on the dock at Mohawk Beach, sometimes called Mohawk Park, a trailer camp on the outskirts of Deseronto. He was not missed until everyone was sitting down to lunch, when it was learned that he had last been seen near the water.

The Deseronto Police and Fire Departments, the RCMP from Belleville, men from the Napanee office of the Department of Lands and Forests, and OPP officers from both Napanee and Belleville detachments joined in the rescue operations. Several boats assisted in dragging. The body was finally found not far from the dock by two swimmers. Provincial Constable Gordon Crake, who investigated for the Napanee detachment, estimated that the child had been in the water about two hours and a half.

George was the second oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Wannamaker of 13 Pearl St. Their oldest son Delmer, Jr., is nine, David is four, and Michael is two months old.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, JUNE 19, 1967

World and national sports celebrities added a touch of color to the Parsons Cleaners Soccer banquet here Saturday night where representatives and officials of four teams marked the first tournament held in the city.

Guests of the host club at the Sun Valley Motor Inn included Nigel Sims, world-renowned English soccer star; Howie Meeker, former Toronto Maple Leaf hockey club star and members of the Kingston, Camp Borden and Toronto East York clubs.

Herb Moeller, "Mr. Versatility" who can ruffle a truffle, broil a steak, tenor a ditty, lead a musical combo and Geno Krupa a set of traps proved by able toastmaster-accompanist and was the recipient of the Dew Award for his efforts with the Parsons team.

Sponsor Bruce Parsons, manager Peter Cruvele and other Parsons officials put on a fine show and other forms of hospitality that drew well-merited comment from guests and their ladies.

Mr. Sims, tall, dark and ruggedly handsome, with his lovely Welsh wife, proved the centre of attraction for the soccer people. Younger players later lustered around him and heard some highly instructional and entertaining advice.

Howie Meeker, retired from professional hockey play is now a television sports celebrity in St. John, Newfoundland. A soccer enthusiast himself, Howie was here visiting a brother, Bob.

Mr. Sims, now a member of the Toronto Falcons Soccer Club is a capped English player and starred with Wolverhampton, Aston Villa and other topflight English clubs.

In a brief banquet address he said he would like to see Canada, represented by all-Canadian players, reach the top ranks of soccer and eventually place a team in the annual World Tournament.

"Sports on this side of the Atlantic" he said "were mainly of the 'arms variety' such as baseball, basketball, football, etc. In Europe sports are leg games."

"It would be great to see all-Canadian teams play in the top leagues. At present the game is not off to a good start here and I would like to see more Canadians take up the sport. I'm sure we could, in time, place a team in world competition."

He invited young players to visit the Falcons. "We would give you a fine welcome and help you in every way we can".

Hockey, down Newfoundland way, is on the upsurge, Howie Meeker told me. "Our senior clubs are as good as any in the Maritimes and at present we are concentrating on developing junior players. You'll be hearing from Newtie, hockeywise, some of these days," he said.

Asked what he thought about the new NHL expansion program, he said he thought it was good for the players but not for the calibre of the game. The draft, he said, was what a lot of hockey men expected, the eastern big six retaining the cream of their crops and juggling draws to suit themselves.

"I have heard it said by some hockey men that it will take five years to develop the play to the standard of past years. In my opinion it will take ten years before there is a proper equalization of play in both divisions."

The hands-off juniors agreement between the NHL and the CAHA, Howie said, "is all right in its way but in my opinion the CAHA can better the situation a lot by cutting down on branch-to-branch transfers. There are too many allowed."

"If Canadian hockey centres were allowed to train and keep their top juniors it would be a greater thing for hockey. As it is, scouts from the various branches are on the prowl and if they see a youngster they like, in goes a branch-to-branch transfer."

"We are going to do our best down Newfoundland way to hold our up-and-coming juniors. It would be better for us and for the game as a whole," he said.

The visiting players and their ladies were entertained in the Armouries sergeants' mess following the banquet. The tournament story appears elsewhere.

Nicklaus' 275 Shatters Open Record

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP)— "I felt like an idiot, standing there with a one-iron in my hand," Jack Nicklaus said. "But I knew what I had to do to win this golf tournament."

The bulky, 27-year-old belter

JACK NICKLAUS
...was explaining the final moments of the record - shattering triumph in the United States Open golf tournament Sunday.

"I wasn't thinking about records," Nicklaus said over and over.

"Records come. They're made to be broken. I just wanted to win this tournament."

It gave him a final round 65, five under par for the stately old Baltusrol course, and a 72 hole total of 275; adding the Open scoring record to his Masters mark of 271. It also gave him the $30,000 first prize.

But, although he won only $2,000 in a 12th-place tie at 286, Al Balding of Toronto may have been one of the most satisfied finishers in the event.

He got into the tournament by the back door as first alternate from the Detroit qualifying totals when Hollow - pro Pete Brown was called home to California.

Well back in the pack with a 75 the first day, Balding got progressively better as he went along, playing rounds of 72 to 71 before coming home second low man to Nicklaus over the final 18 holes with a 68.

The 12th place the golfer has automatic invitations to next year's Open and Masters tournaments, in which he was a regular competitor during the late 1950s and early 1960 but which he's missed in recent years.

Arriving late and unable to get in any practice rounds before seeing Baltusrol for the first time when he teed off for the first round, Balding found difficulty in gauging his shots.

But as the courses became familiar, his game got stronger until he closed with five birdies —two three-footers but three in the 15-20 foot range.

Only one over par for the first 54 holes, he commented after the tournament:

"I'd like to take that 75 as a practice round. Then I'd be one over and able to go out there and overtake the leaders tomorrow."

Arnold Palmer, tied with Nicklaus and Billy Casper for second going into the final round, finished with a 69 for second place at 279 and $15,000. Playing in the same twosome with Nicklaus, he didn't get a birdie until the 17th, but added another at the 18th.

Casper, the defending champion, was bothered by driving problems and settled for fourth with a 72 for 282 and $7,500, one stroke back of Don January, who had a final round 70, good for a 281 total and $10,000.

For all intents and purposes, however, he had it won much earlier, when he reeled off a string of three straight birdies on the third through fifth holes. That gave him a lead he never relinquished.

He slapped in a one-over five on six when he pushed his second shot to the right into the gallery, but came back with birdies on seven and eight, dropping an 18-foot putt for one and pitching to within four feet of the flag for another.

Tigers Defeated

Chisox Sweep Pair From Yankees

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

When he saw manager Alvin Dark come out to the mound, Kansas City pitcher Jim Hunter was disappointed.

The managerial shell game occurred in the ninth inning of the Athletics' 5-4 triumph over Detroit Tigers Sunday. Dark found his bullpen depleted after 13 innings of doubleheader baseball Saturday and figured he'd better not be hasty in removing Hunter from the game altogether.

In other American League action Sunday, Chicago White Sox swept two from New York Yankees, 7-3 and 4-0, Washington Senators downed Boston Red Sox 3-2 in 10 innings, Cleveland Indians 4-2, Minnesota Twins took Cleveland Indians 4-2.

Kansas City went 19 innings before edging Detroit 6-5 in the second game of a doubleheader Saturday. The Tigers had taken the opener 7-6. Other Saturday games saw Chicago blank New York 1-0, Cleveland down Minnesota 7-3, Boston drop Washington 5-1 and Baltimore beat California 7-3.

Hunter was protecting a five-run lead in the ninth, but when, with two out, the Tigers loaded the bases, Dark brought in rookie left - hander Tom Pierce.

"I wanted Pierce to pitch to (Gates) Brown," Dark said, "and have Hunter come back to pitch to Al Kaline. I didn't have another right-hander in the

He didn't know what was coming off," said Hunter, who hasn't played first base since high school. "I wanted to finish the game."

As it turned out he did, but at first base, because Pierce bullpen because of that 19-in no further used for Hunter's pitching arm.

The Tigers' defeat, plus the White Sox double victory, put Chicago in front in the American League by 3½ games. The Sox got great pitching from Gary Peters, who won his ninth game in the opener, limiting the Yanks to five hits, and there Tommy John, who shut out the Yanks on six hits in the finale.

Officials Attacked

Riot Stops Soccer Game!

TORONTO (CP) — A United Soccer Association game between Toronto City and Chicago Mustangs was halted Sunday with eight minutes of play remaining, but not for a television commercial.

The rival North American Professional Soccer League was thrown into a fury yesterday when a referee admitted he called stoppages in play for commercials. The United Association, however, seems to be relying on riots for its headaches.

With the game tied 1-1, referee Art King awarded a penalty shot to the Hibernian of Scotland team, representing Toronto, and Colin Grant booted in 16-foot goal.

Players of the Cagliara of Italy team, representing Chicago, protested vehemently that King had only blown his whistle once. They insisted he should have tooted twice, once for the infringement and again for the penalty kick.

An Italian player picked up the ball and waved his teammates off the field. That was the signal for about 3,000 of the 15,178 fans in attendance to swarm onto the field.

King, a six-foot, four-inch, 240-pounder, was pummelled in the body and kicked in the legs. Linesmen Paul Avis and Bill Smyth also were attacked by

The demonstration failed to change King's mind and Toronto City was awarded a 2-1 verdict. King was escorted from Varsity Stadium by police after the crowd dispersed.

It was the second uprising the Italian team has seen in three days. Last Friday in New York, their game with the Cerro of Uruguay team representing New York was called with three minutes left when spectators stormed on to the field.

Hens Take Three From Top Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toledo Mud Hens turned into tigers during the weekend, clobbered league-leading Rochester Red Wings three times and pulled the International League standings a notch tighter.

The Mud Hens, now tied in third place with Buffalo Bisons, hit the Wings 7-2 Saturday then 4-0 and 9-7 Sunday.

The Bisons ended a six-game losing streak Saturday by beating Richmond Braves 6-1 then split with the Braves Sunday, winning 4-3 after losing 6-1.

Toronto Maple Leafs, solidly entrenched in second place 4½ games back of Rochester, watched through a veil of rain Saturday then used the rest to good advantage as they split with Jacksonville Suns Sunday, losing 3-2 in 10 innings and winning 2-1 in 12.

In the fourth three-game series of the eight-team loop, Columbus Jets pulled three games out of the basement by beating Syracuse Chiefs three times, 3-2 Saturday and 4-2 and 5-3 Sunday. The results left Syracuse alone in the cellar after having had Columbus for company all last week.

"I think everybody realized I came down here to get in shape," said the 40 - year - old right - hander. "I'm in good shape now and we'll see what happens . . . I've satisfied myself that my arm is sound again."

Indy 200 Washed Out

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP)— Rain Saturday washed out the Indy 200 and the 200-mile race for Indianapolis - type championship cars was rescheduled for Saturday, July 1.

It was the first time in the seven-year history of this road track 45 miles northeast of Toronto that a feature race has had to be postponed because of weather.

While sports cars toured the 2.5-mile asphalt circuit in heavy rain, officials of the United States Auto Club said the wet track was too dangerous for the powerful championship - type cars.

Officials had counted 30,500 fans through the gates by 2 p.m., the scheduled starting time for the two-heat race. But by that time, a light rain was falling and drivers sat huddled under tarpaulins in their cars on the starting grid.

Shortly afterwards a driver's meeting was held and it was decided the race would go on if the rain let up by 5 p.m., but by 4:45 p.m. the race was called off and fans were told they would have to hold on to their tickets for the July 1 contest.

Recipe For No-Hitter; No Breakfast!

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Wilson won't mind passing up another breakfast . . . if it means more champagne before dinner.

Wilson, a 22-year-old Houston rookie, pitched an overpowering 2-0 no-hitter—first in the National League since 1965—against the usually potent Atlanta Braves Sunday.

The 6-foot-3 right - hander walked three Braves, but struck out 15 in hurling the first no-hitter in the Astrodome. And he did it all on an empty stomach.

"I didn't change one thing today," he said between sips of the bubbly in the Astros' clubhouse. "Oh, yes, there was one thing. My wife didn't cook breakfast for me. She wasn't feeling good."

"I'll try it one more time and see what happens."

Elsewhere in the NL, St. Louis Cardinals trimmed San Francisco Giants 4-1 to move past Cincinnati Reds into first place while Los Angeles Dodgers cuffed the Reds 5-3. Pittsburgh Pirates beat Philadelphia Phillies 5-3 and Chicago Cubs split a doubleheader with New York Mets, winning 4-3 after losing by the same score in 16 innings.

Claude Raymond of St. Jean, Que., traded by the Astros to Atlanta last week, found the change to his liking Saturday when he won his first game of the year as the Braves downed Houston 3-1. He had an 0-4 record with Houston before the trade. The Astros took the second game of the doubleheader 4-3.

In other Saturday action, San Francisco edged St. Louis 3-2, Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 6-5, Chicago walloped New York 8-1 and Los Angeles romped 6-1 over Cincinnati.

Wilson, who got 1 saving assist from third baseman Bob Aspromonte in the sixth inning, walked Denis Menke leading off the eighth, then struck out pinch hitters Rico Carty, Charles Lau and Clete Boyer.

In the ninth, Felipe Alou fouled out to Aspromonte, Tito Francona fanned—and slugging Hank Aaron ran the count to 3-2 before he went down swinging.

The Astros clipped Phil Niekro for their two runs in the fourth on Rusty Staub's single, Jim Wynn's double, a single by Rusty Staub and an infield out.

Wilson, who came into the game with a 3-3 record, retired the first 14 batters before walking Menke in the fifth.

The no - hitter was the first in the NL since Sandy Koufax beat the Cubs with a perfect game Sept. 9, 1965.

Bo Belinsky, now with the Astros, was the last rookie to hurl a no-hitter, accomplishing that feat for Los Angeles Angels against Baltimore Orioles in 1962.

Dick Hughes stopped San Francisco on four hits and Orlando Cepeda cracked a two-run homer against his former mates as the Cardinals climbed into first place by six percentage points.

Left - hander Claude Osteen weathered Cincinnati's 12 hits and stroked a two-run single, helping the Dodgers knock the Reds out of the top spot for the first time since April 27.

Matty Alou collected four hits for the second day in a row, leading the Pirates past Philadelphia. Manny Mota's pinch single Sisk drilled a two-run single in a four-run first inning burst that offset Dave Bennett's late surge.

Tom Reynolds' leadoff homer in the 10th inning lifted the Mets past Chicago in the opener but the Cubs snapped a 3-3 deadlock in the eighth inning of the night-cap on Lee Thomas' record-Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams.

Look for this label.

Then look for that great V.O. taste.

Heavy Rain Washes Out Harness Meet

The weathermen failed to be in a co-operative mood Saturday night sending down a deluging rain that cancelled the regular meet of the Quinte Driving and Riding Club.

The meet was called off shortly after six o'clock. All the programmed horses were there as were some early patrons.

Officials said that it was the first rain cancellation since 1964.

It was one of the best cards offered in some time, but officials said the card will be the same next week only with more top-flight entries added.

Some Games Washed Out

Minor Softball Week

Rain put a damper on the Belleville Minor Softball Association's exhibition games here Saturday but all in all it was a busy weekend for city teams as Minor Softball Week in Ontario got under way.

Three Cobourg teams were slated for Saturday games at the Alemite but in the only one played, Belch Construction pee-wees whipped Cobourg 18-6.

Bantam and squirt games were rained out.

On Sunday, in Hastings, Belleville Squirt A.C. Travellers topped Westwood Squirts 10-2, Belch peewees took their second win of the weekend, 6-3 over East Peterborough All-Stars and Belleville's Stephens Adamson bantams shocked a 13-3 whipping from East Peterborough All-Star bantams. Norwood whipped Ellis midgets in a 4-3 squeaker.

The midget tilt was a good one with Norwood's B. Fleming and J. Falaier combining for an eight-hit win, striking out 13 and not walking a man. Scotty Reid gave up just seven hits, whiffed nine and also walked none on the losers' hilltop.

Belleville hits went to John Swoffer with two triples, Neil Goyer a double and single, Wayne Storms, Hubert Hicks and Steve Cronkright a triple each and Steve Jones a double. The winners' hits were not available.

Brian Sutherland pitched a one-hitter for the squirts Sunday, striking out 11 Westwood batters and walking six. S. James had four Belleville hits with Orree each for D. Ridley, K. Thiele and Sutherland as the club pounded out 20 in all.

John Sprackett followed up Saturday's low-hit win by tossing a seven-hitter at Peterborough Sunday, fanning eight and walking two. Belleville peewees had eight hits, including scott's double and single. Vos and Stallkovitch with two singles each. LeBaron and Shortt the others. Grey had three of the Petes' safeties. .

Peterborough pitcher Blakely stopped the city bantams on seven hits, fanning 14, while losing pitchers Travis and Buchanan gave up 14 hits, whiffing five.

Kirkham tripled and singled, Gatcum tripled, Belcap doubled and singles went to Scarlett, Morton and Pointer for the losers. Medcalf led the Petes with a home run and single.

Minor Softball Week runs through this coming Saturday. Featured tonight is the Black-Diamond - Departmental game at the Alemite Park at 8.45, with all money going to the BMSA.

City Clubs Split EOBA Contests

In two EOBA baseball contests that escaped the purge of the rain on the weekend, Belleville came up with one victory and a dump job.

Two other games, Bowmanville vs. Belleville Bantams and Holy Rosary peewees vs. Colborne, were postponed because of rain.

In the tyke battle, Cobourg combed Belleville starter Tim Whelan for nine hits. Five errors by the losers also helped the visitors to victory.

P. Bevans batted a six - hit victory for Colborne. Martin, E. Sutherland and R. Dunn also hit safely.

Whelan fanned seven and handed out six free passes in his seven inning stint.

R. Wall slammed a double and single and H. Clarey stroked a pair of base hits to lead the winners' attack. P. Kreutzer, W. Beehan, M. Kernaghen, Bevans and R. Dunn also hit safely.

Tony Meagher had two singles for Belleville. Also hitting were Jack Cole, Rick Culkin, Pat McKenny and Tim Whelan.

Betty Ingram Wins Kingston Golf Tourney

Bay of Quinte Country club women's champion Betty Ingram won the Kingston City and District Golf Championship with an 88, over the weekend.

Mrs. Ingram defeated Cookie Cartwright, Kingston women's ace in the final. The Kingston player had won the title for the past four years.

Mrs. Ingram qualified for the International Tournament on Saturday winning the first-round but bowing out to the champion, Jacqueline Bourassa in the second.

The club's women's draw will be made at the tee again this week. Last week's winners were Lorna Hinchey, Phil Foster and Olive Innes.

Country Club Golfers Win Quinte Cup

Bay of Quinte golfers took 16 of a possible 18 points from the Picton contingent yesterday afternoon, at Picton, to wrap up the Quinte Cup for the third consecutive year.

Nine-men teams from Belleville, Picton, Napanee and Trenton competed for the Quinte Cup in match play. Quinte nipped the Napanee team by a slim one-point margin. Quinte compiled 24 points, Napanee 23, Picton 14 and Trenton nine.

The champions were beaten in the morning round, by Napanee, taking only eight points. But the defending cup-holders regrouped through the afternoon in fine form, winning seven and tying the other two matches. Two points are awarded for a win and one for a tie.

The Quinte Cup competition has been in existence since 1923 but the Quinte club suffered through many years of defeat before starting its current winning streak in 1965.

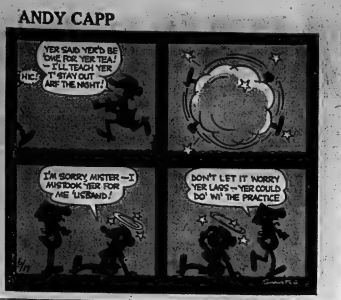
Dorothy Lamour Coming Back To Play Lead in Hello Dolly

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — South Seas music, please, maestro. Dorothy Lamour is back.

Not, of course, in her famous sarong.

But Miss Lamour—tall, willowy, still beautiful at 43—wants to prove something:



"I don't think people in the industry think I can act. I don't say I'm a great actress. But I do say I can act."

Accordingly, she and her husband of 24 years, William Ross Howard III, have sold the Bel-Aimore house where they've lived is for eight years.

They're moving back to Hollywood and next September Dorothy starts a 40-week road tour as star of Hello, Dolly A few days ago she guest-starred as an Arabian sheik's daughter on I Spy. She appeared on Joey Bishop's show and others.

"Last year I wasn't to be more active than I have been," says Miss Lamour.

Betty Ingram Wins Kingston Golf Tourney

Bay of Quinte Country club women's champion Betty Ingram won the Kingston City and District Golf Championship with an 86, over the weekend.

Mrs. Ingram defeated Cookie Cartwright, Kingston women's ace in the final. The Kingston player had won the title for the past four years.

Mrs. Ingram qualified for the International Tournament on Saturday winning the first round but bowing out to the champion, Jacqueline Bourassa in the second.

The club's women's draw will be made at the tee again this week. Last week's winners were Lorna Hinchey, Phil Foster and Olive Imes.

Shannonville Maintains Hot Pace

Shannonville continued to get great pitching and Doug Defoe supplied the key hit as Shannonville shredded its unbeaten streak to six games in the South Hastings Baseball League Sunday afternoon.

The loop leaders nipped Read at Shannonville

Defoe followed Larry Lewis' single and a walk with a triple to snap a 1-1 deadlock in the seventh inning. Read had scored in the first inning and Shannonville tied it in the sixth.

Dave Lewis added to the club's impressive pitching record by stopping the visitors on four hits over the nine - inning route. He blazed third strikes past 13 and walked a pair.

Frank Farrell gave up nine hits on the Read rubber, striking out five and passing five over the distance.

As well as Doug Defoe's two-run triple, Larry Lewis, Dave Lewis and Bill Barbercheck had two singles each. Jack Hughes and Mike Brant collected the others.

Heavy Rain Washes Out Harness Meet

The weatherman failed to be in a co-operative mood Saturday night sending down a deluging rain that cancelled the regular meet of the Quinte Driving and Riding Club.

The meet was called off shortly after six o'clock. All the programmed horses were there as were some early patrons.

Officials said that it was the first rain cancellation since 1964.

It was one of the best cards offered in some time, but officials said the card will be the same next week only with more top-flight entries added.

Some Games Washed Out

Minor Softball Week

Rain put a damper on the Belleville Minor Softball Association's exhibition games here Saturday but all in all it was a busy weekend for city teams as Minor Softball Week in Ontario got under way.

Three Cobourg teams were slated for Saturday games at the Alemite but in the only one played, Brick Construction pee-wees whipped Cobourg 18-6. Bantam and squirt games were rained out.

John Spracklett pitched a three-hitter to spark Belleville's victory.

On Sunday, in Hastings, Belleville Squirt A.C. Travellers topped Westwood Squirts 10-2, Beith peewees took their second win of the weekend, 6-3 over East Peterborough All-Stars and Belleville's Stephens Adanacs bantams shoebed a 13-3 whipping from East Peterborough All-Star bantams. Norwood slipped Ellis midgets in a 4-3 squeaker.

The midget tilt was a good one with Norwood's B. Fleming and J. Falaier combining for an eight-hit win, striking out 13 and not walking a man. Scotty Reid gave up just seven hits, whiffed nine and also walked none on the losers' hilltop.

Belleville hits went to Jon Swoffer with two triples, Neil Goyer a double and single, Wayne Storms, Hubert Hicks and Steve Cronkright a triple each and Steve Jones a double. The winners' hits were not available.

Bruce Sutherland pitched a one-hitter for the squirts Sunday, striking out 11 Westwood batters and walking six. S. James had four Belleville hits with three each for D. Ridley, M. Thiele and Sutherland as the club pounded out 20 in all.

John Spracklett followed up Saturday's low-hit win by tossing a seven-hitter at Peterborough Sunday, fanning eight and walking two. Belleville peewees had eight hits, including Scott's double and single. Vos and Stallwitch with two singles each, LeBaron and Shortt the others. Grey had three of the Petes' safeties.

Peterborough pitcher Bakely stopped the city bantams on seven hits, fanning 14, while losing pitchers Travis and Buchanan gave up 16 hits, whiffing five.

Kirkham tripled and singled, Gatcum tripled, Belnap doubled and singles went to Scarlett, Morton and Polster for the losers. Medcalf led the Petes with a home run and single.

Minor Softball Week runs through this coming Saturday. Featured tonight is the Black-Diamond - Intermedial game at the Alemite Park at 8.45, with all money going to the BMSA.

City Clubs Split EOBA Contests

In two EOBA baseball contests that escaped the purge of the rain on the weekend, Belleville came up with one victory and a dreary loss.

Two other games, Bowmanville vs. Belleville Bantams and Holy Rosary peewees vs. Oshawa, were postponed because of rain.

In the tyke battle, Cobourg combed Belleville pitcher Tim Whelan for nine hits. Five errors by the losers also helped the visitors to victory.

P. Bevans hurled a six - hit victory for Cobourg. He struck out six and walked two.

Whelan fanned seven and handed out six free passes in his seven inning stint.

B. Watt slammed a double and single and H. Clarey struck a pair of home runs to lead the winners' attack. P. Kruster, W. Reehan, M. Kernaghin, Bevans and R. Dunn also hit safely.

Tony Meagher had two singles for Belleville. Also hitting were Jack Cole, Rick Cutkin, Pat McKenny and Tim Whelan.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — All We Have, ridden by Eric Walsh, took an easy victory in the Consolation Oaks stakes at Woodbine raceway Saturday.

Owned by Bill Beasley of Toronto, the filly beat Jammed Victorian and Victorias Ivy to pay $21.80, $5.40 and $3.50.

It was a good day for Beasley as his He's a Smoothie, ridden by Herb Hinojosa, collected $21.-20 in the Canadian Maturity Stakes. For a Smoothie mused out Holarctic and Hinsmoa to pay $3.20, $3.10 and $2.80.

Time Factor and Thrifty Grand combined for the $36.60 daily double. A $87.40 exactor in the fourth was produced by Falperion and Mighty Me.

Country Club Golfers Win Quinte Cup

Bay of Quinte golfers took 16 of a possible 18 points from the Kingston contingent yesterday afternoon, at Picton, to wrap up the Quinte Cup for the third consecutive year.

Nine-man teams from Belleville, Picton, Napanee and Trenton competed for the Quinte Cup in match play.

Quinte nipped the Napanee team by a slim one-point margin. Quinte compiled 24 points, Napanee 23, Picton 14 and Trenton nine.

The champions were beaten in the morning round by Napanee, taking only eight points. But the defending cupholders roared through the afternoon in fine form, winning seven and tying the other two matches. Two points are awarded for a win and one for a tie.

The Belleville team consisted of Gord Pinder, Don White, team captain John Woodcroft, Roger Ling, George MacDonald, Al McCallum, Jack Lomas, Max Haggarty and Lloyd Gunderson.

The Quinte Cup competition has been in existence since 1923 but the Quinte club suffered through many years of defeat before starting its current winning streak in 1965.

But Miss Lamour—tall, willowy, still beautiful at 43—wants to prove something:

"I don't think people in the industry think I can act. I don't say I'm a great actress. But I do say I can act."

Accordingly, she and her husband of 21 years, William Ross Howard III, have sold the Baltimore house where they've lived in for eight years.

They're movin' back to Hollywood and next September Dorothy starts a 40-week road tour as star of Hello, Dolly A few years ago she guest-starred as an Arabian sheik's daughter on I Spy. She appeared on Joey Bishop's show and others.

"Let's just say I want to be more active than I have been," says Miss Lamour.

She has made more than 50 movies. In The Road to Singapore and other Hope - Crosby "road" pictures, the array of colored cloth she wore, plus a gardenia in her dark, waist-long hair, stamped her as The Sarong Girl.

"I was typed mostly as the highest paid straight woman in the business," she said without rancor. "I worked with Cantor, Berle, Skelton. I'd have a line like 'look'—and that would plant the joke for them."

Eight years ago there were no more movie offers. She wanted to devote more time to her two growing sons. So the family moved to Baltimore, her husband's home. They'll still have an apartment there.

New Movie to Help Finance Motion Picture Relief Fund

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jules Stein confessed to a press conference that he had not told his wife about the plan he was announcing.

"I promised her after I set up the Eye Institute at UCLA I would take it easy," said the 73 - year - old millionaire. But here he was embarking on a huge new project.

At a conference attended by leaders of the film industry last week, Stein disclosed a plan to help finance the Motion Picture Relief Fund. Universal Pictures will make a major movie with the co-operation of the guilds and unions, and all of the profits go to the fund, which has been conducting a $40,000,000 drive for building and endowment.

"I feel good about our chances to reach our $40,000,000 goal," said Gregory Peck, chairman of the fund drive committee.

"Our thanks will go to Mr. Stein, a creative philanthropist."

Stein is the eye doctor from South Bend, Ind., whose studies of booking dance bands led to his creation of the Music Corporation of America. He powered the company to top rank as an agency for film stars, then became a film industry power by taking over Universal Studio.

His new plan will be an all-star movie. The budget will be a minimum of $3,500,000 "but if we can," said Stein, "I'd like to make that amount if we felt the film warranted it."

The aim is at a roadshow movie of two-to-three hours in length, and Stein mentioned that the story line might be like Around the World in 80 Days or I Had a Million, both of them episodic with a myriad of stars.

Brutus Chews Wife's Leg In Unexpected Attack

MONTREAL (CP) — A pink-faced monkey named Brutus nearly chewed off the left leg of one of his four wives in the Happy Family cage at the World's fair.

Guy Loranger, manager of Man the Explorer pavilion, said Sunday he could not explain the unexpected and brutal attack on Mrs. Brutus, who suffered a 12-inch gash near the groin.

The 30-pound Brutus sent his teeth right up to the bone, said Mr. Loranger, adding that when attempts to stop the bleeding had failed a veterinary was called.

The veterinary decided that Expo Express had to be taken immediately to hospital because she was in danger of losing her leg.

She was taken to the Van Horne Veterinary hospital where the monkey was anaesthetized and had the gash stitched up before being returned to Expo and placed in a special cage for her recovery.

The incident occurred in the Man and Life section of the pavilion where 22 stub - tailed Macaque : monkeys from the Ottawy starts a 40-week road tour London Zoo are on exhibit in three cages.

The purpose of the exhibit is to show that animals, and man, react under different conditions. In one cage, the Happy Family exhibit shows Brutus' quick temper, is aimed at providing a lively and comfortable surroundings. The reaction of Brutus to these conditions is what is hoped will draw connected with the exhibit.

A second cage separates the monkeys from their mates and families and provides a study of the monkeys under a somewhat different environment while a third cage keeps the monkeys in the dark to show their reactions under these conditions.

Mr. Loranger said this was the first time since the opening of the fair that Brutus had displayed his temper although he occasionally took a bite at one of his wives—but nothing like the assault on Expo Express.

Experience Not Necessarily Of Any Value as A Teacher

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

When a famous German general, long ago, heard one of his staff officers venture the sententious remark that "Experience is the best teacher," the general snorted: "Nonsense — my mule has been through 10 campaigns with me, but he knows less now than he did before the first one!"

Experience can be a very bad teacher, indeed or no teacher at all. It is like the silly phrase, "Practice makes perfect." In most cases, practice merely confirms us in our errors, and the longer we do something the wrong way — that is, without enlightenment and instruction, — the more fixed we become in our folly.

To take a trivial example in my own case: I began playing tennis as a boy, and had many years of experience. It also perfected incorrectly, that because I did not understand the basic principles of the game, the more experience I had, and the more practice I took, the more deeply I fell into the grip of bad form and losing habits.

It finally became necessary for me to take lessons if my game was to improve at all — and much of the lessons were spent in unlearning everything that "experience" and "practice" had taught me!

This, of course, made it twice as hard for me to become a truly proficient player. With a beginner, the coach starts with good habits and proper form; but with me it was necessary first to break the deeply ingrained habits of years and reduce me to the rank of ignorance before I could learn to rebuild my game the right way.

Young people today are fond of believing that "experience" in and by itself is a good thing, and that we automatically learn the right after we have experienced the wrong or the dubious. But older people know — through painful examination of their own lives — that this is not usually the case.

Many people go from one bad experience to another, from one kind of mistake to a different kind, learning perhaps to avoid the kind they made in the past, but having no rational guideline to prevent them from making new and more disastrous, mistakes in the future. The millions of middle-aged people in America's society are tragic proof of this failure to profit from mere "experience."

Of course, we cannot learn without "living." But "living" means not only inviting new sensations and experiences; it means also studying, analyzing, generalizing, anticipating, and judging from many kinded's accumulated wisdom of the past. Otherwise, our experiences do us no more good than they did the general's mule.

Russians Uncover Remains Of Seventh Century Samarkand

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP) — Excavations have shed new light on one of the creative periods in the long history of Samarkand, a city founded at least 2,500 years ago in what today is the Soviet central Asian republic of Uzbekistan.

The diggings have been centred in the Afrasiab hills, where the original Samarkand was located, just north of the present city of 250,000, Finds relate to the seventh century AD.

During the 1954-64 period a large block of dwellings was unearthed. They contained many examples of the astecedents of contemporary Samarkand pottery, widely known in the Middle East.

In the spring of 1965 a section of a large residence, apparently the home of a rich feudal dignitary, was found. The colors on its wall paintings were still bright and fresh.

On the well of a hall is depicted a caravan led by a richly-adorned white elephant. Study of fragments indicates that the elephant probably carried a lord with a queen or princess in it.

Three women on horseback ride behind the elephant. Inscribed on the arm of one, still clearly decipherable by experts, are the words, "attendant to a princess." It's in Sogdian, the language of the people who occupied Samarkand at that time.

A pedding on another wall shows an envoy sent to the king of Samarkand bearing gifts. Again an inscription, this one on the envoy's garment, provided the vital clue.

"A study of the paintings suggests that the archeologists have found the ruins of a luxurious palace of the Ikhalids, rulers of seventh century Samarkand," writes V. Gulkevich, member of the Uzbekistan academy of sciences, describing the findings in the magazine Niva.

Gulisnov believes the palace was deserted for some time due to invasions of the Arabs, who struggled for 150 years to conquer Sogdiana.

"It is at least probable that it was the Arabs, to whom pictures of human beings were taboo, who covered the eyes of the figures and spoiled the paintings by stashing the pictures of men and animals.

"However, even the remains of the paintings are sufficient to cognince us that we have come upon examples of a highly developed art."

Samarkand is best known to history as the home of the warrior - conqueror Tamerlane, who made it the seat of a vast empire in the 14th and 15th centuries.

But it was only one era in the colorful life of Samarkand, which lies athwart some of the principal caravan routes between the Orient and the West and was a favorite target for invaders and marauders in early times. It was often subdued but always rose again.

Daughter of Actress Asks for Police Aid

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Actress Jane Mansfield's 16-year-old daughter turned herself over to police with welts and bruises on her body.

The girl, Jayne Marie Mansfield, waited into West Los Angeles police station Saturday, claiming a male friend of her mother beat her with a leather belt, welting her and bruising her.

"Your uncle called me to see what I could do to help her," Cohen told a reporter.

Cohen said he would seek to have the teen-ager placed in the custody of the uncle, brother of Paul Mansfield, whom the actress married May 6, 1950. Their daughter was born Nov. 8, 1950. The father now lives in New Jersey.

Young Jayne told her story to Police Sgt. Shirley Maxwell, who took her to McLaren Hall, a police juvenile protective facility.

Buckpasser Beaten

Damascus Wins Another

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Damascus, with Canadian jockey Ron Turcotte up, topped with five other three-year-old colts as expected Saturday before winning the $41,080 Leonard Richards Stakes at Delaware Park.

At the end of the 1¼-mile test, Damascus—who won the Belmont Stakes and the Preakness —had 3¼ lengths to spare over Misty Cloud.

Under Turcotte, a Grand Falls, N.B., native who was riding as a substitute for the suspended Bill Shoemaker, Damascus was timed in 1:49 2-5. He paid $2.20, $2.10 and $2.10 to become the shortest-priced winner in the track's history.

Damascus picked up $26,689 for his easy triumph and boosted his career earnings to $417,966, of which $262,009 has come this year.

At New York, Poker led from the start to upset mighty Buckpasser and Assagai Saturday in the 1⅛ - mile, $50,000 - added Bowling Green Handicap at Aqueduct.

Buckpasser not only had his debut on the grass ruined but also had his 15-race winning streak snapped. He was trying to equal the streak of 16 that Citation compiled 17 years ago.

DENY EMIGRATION

MOSCOW (AP) — Deporting Israeli diplomats reported Sunday that the Soviet Union has withdrawn—at least temporarily—permission for Soviet Jews to emigrate to Israel and join relatives there. The diplomats and their families were leaving for home because of the Soviet break in relations with Israel June 10.

Contenders Fight On Same Card

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Heavyweight George Chuvalo of Toronto, Light heavyweight Roger Rouse of Anaconda, Mont., and middleweight Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, all ranking contenders in their respective divisions, will appear on the same boxing card here Thursday.

Chuvalo, signed for a Madison Square Garden bout July 19 with unbeaten Joe Frazier of Philadelphia, will take on Archie Ray of Tucson, Ariz.

Speedboat Driver, 17 Killed

DUNNVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Lewis Pritchard, 17 - year - old power boat race driver from Whitby, Ont., was killed Sunday when he was flipped out of his hydro-plane and run over during the 12th international power boat races.

At least five boats had been overturned in the choppy water of the Grand River before the accident occurred.

The race is sponsored by the Dunnville Boat Club and sanctioned by the Canadian Boating Federation and the American Power Boat Association.

Witnesses said the victim's boat, going about 40 miles an hour, jumped a wave just after the No. 1 turn, throwing him into the path of a boat behind him.

The driver of a boat stopped, jumped into the water but was too late to save the victim.

The races were immediately halted.

Woman Champion Beaten

Miss Bourassa, of Shawinigan, Que., defeated Helena Gagnon, the 1956 Canadian open champion, 2 and 1 here Sunday to win the 1957 eastern provinces women's golf championship.

Last year Miss Bourassa lost on the 20th hole to Miss Gagnon, a native of Arvida, Que., in the final of the same tournament. She also lost to Miss Gagnon in the Canadian women's open.

Quebec also took the annual interprovincial title for the first time in 19 years, due mainly to the strong play of Miss Gagnon and Miss Bourassa.

The title is decided by the best four net scores of the Ontario and Quebec golfers competing in the tournament. Quebec had a 299 total while Ontario finished with 305.

Cassius To Stand Trial Today

HOUSTON (AP) — World heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay headed into an important court appearance Uncle Sam today; the fighter's trial for standing his ground when other men called by the draft took the one step forward into the army.

If the 25-year-old fighter is convicted for violating the Universal Military Training and Service Act, he could be punished by a fine of up to $10,000 and by as much as five years in prison.

U.S. Attorney Morion L. Susman said the government's case could be completed in two hours with four witnesses, all of them officials of the Selective Service System.

Covington, predicting that the trial would end by Tuesday afternoon at the latest, readied a double defence: that Clay is draft exempt as Black Muslim minister Muhammad Ali; and that Clay and other Negroes are systematically discriminated against by the nation's draft boards, which Covington will argue as unfairly loaded with whites.

American Cuppers Face Oust

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP) Tiny Ecuador needed only a split in today's final two singles matches to oust the United States in the Americas zone Davis Cup tennis playoffs.

But despite the double defeat suffered by his team Sunday and the 2-1 deficit it faces in the best-of-five series, George MacCall, non-playing captain of the American team, remained confident that the United States would win.

Ecuador's Miguel Olvera whipped Arthur Ashe 4-6, 6-4, 6-3 and then teamed with Francisco Guzman for an 6-4, 9-7, 6-3, 4-6, 8-6 victory over Clark Graebner and Marty Riessen in the doubles.

Cliff Richey beat Guzman 8-2, 2-6, 8-6, 6-4 in the opening singles Saturday.

It was Olvera, who spurred Ecuador's comeback.

His singles match against Ashe had been postponed Saturday after three sets. When play resumed Sunday, Olvera broke Ashe's service twice in the first two games and remained in control.

SPEEDS TO WIN

To Your Good Health

Measles Vaccination Recommended

Dear Dr. Molner: We have recently moved and have a new doctor. He recommends measles vaccine for our children, aged 1 to 5, while our former physician did not (although he would have administered it on request) due to the remote possibility of serious side effects. What is your opinion?

Also in controversy was the cost" vaccination. — Mrs. C. S. H.

Measles is a dangerous disease with a variety of known complications, of which mental retardation is one. In 1965, the last full year for which I have seen figures, there were more than 400 deaths in this country from measles the number of defects was vastly larger.

As against that, of 170,000 vaccine doses of which I have direct knowledge and 9,000 in my own personal experience, I have observed no ill effects of any consequence. Widespread surveys also bear this out.

Hence I can only conclude that the risk of measles vaccination is small, whereas the serious risk disease is indisputably great.

Of course, we observer certain precautions, such as not giving the vaccine (which is made of virus grown in egg embryo tissue) to children who are allergic to eggs. It is important to be sure that no serious skin condition exists, or other circumstances indicating not to give the injection. And we make it a point not to give the innoculation if the child has a cold or temperature is elevated. All this is part of avoiding even lesser side effects.

As to the 3-in-1 or 4-in-1 vaccines, this doesn't seem to be a very serious controversy. The 3-in-1 for diphtheria, whooping cough (pertussis) and lockjaw (tetanus), and hence called DPT, has been in use for quite a few years with success. When the polio vaccine came along, it was incorporated into the same multiple vaccine for those who wanted it.

The question largely comes down to whether a physician prefers to use the 4-in-1 or whether to use the older trip vaccine and give the polio vaccine separately. With the 4-in-1 he is using the Salk-type of killed - virus polio vaccine. If he prefers the oral-type polio vaccine, which must be given combined for a $31.90 daily double.

Cocoa Recommended

Cocoa and chocolate come from the cacao plant which contains a substance called theobromine. This is akin to caffeine chemically but it does not have the stimulating effect of caffeine.

Therefore it is not true that chocolate drinks "contain as much caffeine as coffee or tea," and I think it is high time this erroneous idea be put out of circulation. Chocolate drinks are wholesome, and I doubt that they have any part in causing the youngsters' wakefulness.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Nuclear Weapons Parley Puts Stress on Control of All Arms

TORONTO (CP) — A conference on nuclear weapons said Sunday there must be effective control of both conventional and nuclear arms.

The Canadian-American Assembly on Nuclear Weapons, which drew close to 100 international affairs specialists from the U.S. and Canada, issued its statement after deliberating since Thursday.

It said the recent conflict in the Middle East is a reminder of the dangers of conventional arms.

"Every war since 1945 has been fought with non-nuclear weapons. In addition to their destructiveness, these conventional conflicts have threatened international peace and they may cause one or more of the belligerents to turn to nuclear weapons to achieve their purposes.

"Therefore the task of maintaining local stability requires the effective control of both conventional and nuclear arms, as well as efforts to solve the underlying political and economic issues."

The statement said that although it represented general agreement, "nobody was asked to sign it and it should not be assumed that every participant necessarily subscribes to every recommendation."

Delegates included professors, industrialists, editors, authors, members of the Canadian Parliament and present and former U.S. defence officials.

Effective control of nuclear weapons technology requires that its adoption by non-nuclear states be stopped and that countries with nuclear weapons agree to control, reduce and eventually to abolish their own nuclear agreements, the statement said.

The concluding statement made these points:

—The spread of nuclear weapons "must be stopped over the next 10 years unless checked by new and effective international measures;

—In general, nuclear proliferation tends to exacerbate international tensions and may increase the likelihood of local military conflict;

—The process of developing nuclear arms is likely to have destabilizing effects on international affairs;

—Nuclear proliferation would pose an additional and perhaps excessive burden on the ability of the United States and the Soviet Union to co-operate in discouraging local conflicts and preventing their escalation to general war;

—Some of the obstacles to the achievement of a comprehensive non - proliferation treaty arise from the apparent unwillingness of France and China to agree to such a treaty.

The assembly said a non-proliferation treaty could and should be concluded without France and China, if necessary, but "their co-operation in fulfilling the purposes may prove to be a condition for its continuing effectiveness."

Governments controlling the supply of uranium and other fissionable materials should tighten controls to channel supplies exclusively to the promotion of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

The U.S. and the Soviet Union were urged to forego a new arms race in defensive and offensive missiles.

"The continued installation of an anti-ballistic missile system by the Soviet Union creates political and military problems for other countries, but for the time being the United States is urged to refrain from deploying anti-ballistic missiles."

Bill Aimed at Closing Down Cape Breton Mines Comes Up

OTTAWA (CP) — The Cape Breton coal legislation returns to the Commons today and members, after three days free to study the bill, are expected to open detailed criticism.

The legislation to take over the faltering industry and gradually close it down was unveiled in the House last Thursday. First reaction was favorable, although some opposition MPs thought it did not go far enough.

There were suggestions that the steel industry as well as the coal mines of the big Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. should be taken over.

The legislation, setting up a Crown corporation to preside over the end of the coal industry and reshape the island's economy with new industries, is the main item the government hopes to deal with before summer recess, expected at the end of the month.

Today's debate is on second reading, approval in principle, of the bill. For the remainder of the week the Commons is scheduled to return to departmental estimates, dealing with the energy department on Tuesday, health and welfare on Wednesday, defence on Thursday and labor on Friday.

The government hopes the proposed Cape Breton Development Corp. will be able to provide alternative employment for most of the island's 6,500 mine workers. Others would be retired early on pension.

The new firm will get an initial $20,000,000 federal grant. The Nova Scotia government will kick in another $10,000,000.

Ottawa will discontinue its historic subsidies to the coal industry and funnel them into the corporation. In the first year they will amount to about $25,000,000.

Six Donco subsidies eventually will be absorbed by the corporation. The Nova Scotia government will assume responsibility for independent coal mines all over the province

Refugees Should Get Shelter Here

PORT CARLING, Ont. (CP)— Arnold Edinborough, editor of Saturday Night magazine, said Sunday that Christians should flood Parliament with letters urging Canada to help refugees in the Middle East and Vietnam.

Mr. Edinborough told 324 delegates to the annual United Church men's conference that Christians must become letter writers to Parliament and the newspapers.

"Statesmen and government officials will be more impressed and guided by letters from the laity—like people of the country—than statements from the moderator and the primate."

Silent Hour Enjoyed

LANSING, Mich. (AP)— The 250 employees at the Michigan Millers Mutual Insurance Co. don't talk to each other from the start of work at 8 a.m. until 9 a.m.

For that hour, they ignore each other, no outgoing phone calls are made, no one walks around, no routine inter - departmental communications are made.

The company says the "quiet hour" has increased efficiency. The idea has attracted the interest of other companies and business journals.

"A few minutes talk about last night's TV show doesn't sound like much," treasurer Harold C. Roost said. "But when you take a couple hundred people at 10 or 15 minutes apiece—that's a lot of company time."

Millers Mutual gives its employees two coffee breaks and a 45-minute lunch daily. No coercion beyond a raised eyebrow is used during the quiet hour.

"I sort of enjoy it," said Helen Koot, an underwriter who's been with the firm for 30 years. "I thought it sounded like a kindergarten when it started 18 months ago."

Direct Payment of Doctors Claimed As Continuing Basis for Conflict

MONTREAL (CP)—A British medical economist said today direct payment of the doctor by government "is a continuing basis for discontent, unrest and conflict between doctors and political authority".

This warning came from Dr. Dennis S. Lees, head of the economics department at University College of Swansea, South Wales, at the Canadian Medical Association launched a week-long conference on medical care insurance and medical manpower.

Dr. Lees said that to further good relations between the medical profession and the government it would be a good idea to keep direct doctor-government relations to a minimum by requiring patients to pay at least part of the doctors' fees.

Where governments decide the amount doctors are paid, a serious consequence is that, if the pay level falls below what it would be in a free market, doctors will leave for countries where their pay is allowed to find its own level.

"This, of course, is what we see happening in the emigration of something like a quarter of the output of British medical schools, most of them youngish men going to the United States," Dr. Lees said in a paper submitted to the conference.

Dr. Lees was the first of a series of politicians, economists and medical practitioners scheduled to examine medical care insurance programs in many western countries as the CMA prepares its member for the start of the Canadian program July 1, 1968.

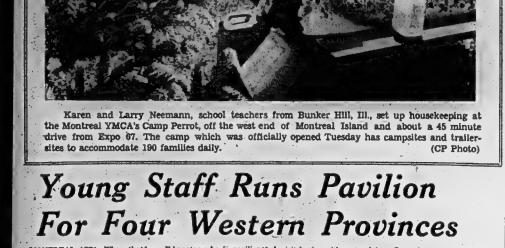
Prime Minister Pearson will speak at the final session next Friday. Manpower Minister Marchand speaks Wednesday, Senator M. W. Wallace McCutcheon of Toronto, a candidate for the Progressive Conservative leadership, speaks today.

Dr. Lees warned against relying solely on government to provide the funds for capital investment in medical facilities, such as hospitals. He said Britain's experience showed this risks inadequate hospital programs.

Without market forces at play, something must be done to ensure hospitals are built in the right places, that they respond to changing medical technology and consumer preferences and use expensive equipment efficiently.

That means government monopoly with undesirable and inefficient consequences, plus ignorance of local conditions and of changing circumstances in medicine.

"It is, therefore, more desirable to leave the planning of hospital services to the local level."



Dr. Lees said pressure for wider government medical care programs arises because voluntary medical institutions do not readily accord with the modern trend towards uniformity.

Text of his paper was released in advance of delivery.

Young Staff Runs Pavilion For Four Western Provinces

MONTREAL (CP)—When the elevated 'canning machine rumbled to a stop in the Western Canada pavilion at Expo Sunday, a hostess hoisted her pink skirt, climbed a fence and tackled the contrary gadget with a hammer.

It took a maintenance man to get the display going again but the hostess' initiative is typical of the self-reliant spirit animating the pavilion's young staff of 17 westerners.

"We've been running this place ourselves from the beginning and so far everything has gone well," explains 21-year-old Bill Thorsell, a history student from Edmonton who is pavilion manager.

"The top administrative staff visit every once in a while from out west but with 1,000 people an hour lining up to get in here we don't have any real worries."

Governor - General Mitchener dropped in last week and Nancy Williams, 26 - year - old hostess from Vancouver, showed him around with the unflustered clan of an old pro.

Topped with Douglas fir and shingled with cedar shakes, the pavilion of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia offers nine displays of Western resources heightened by smell and sound sensations.

"Actually you didn't go down one foot," a smiling Mr. Thorsell told bemused visitors Sunday. "But now you've been given the feel of any one of thousands of western mineral mines."

Next comes a model of a pipe line flowing with oil and large floating capsules filled with sulphur representing B.C. and Alberta's new hope for shipping oil and solid products at once through pipes.

Farther on, birds chirp and ventilators waft the scent of fresh hay past an illuminated prairie wheat field.

Muscle Tests and Discotheque La Ronde Features for Youth

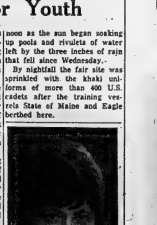
MONTREAL (CP) — After dark Sunday, as Expo 67 was undergoing its nightly transition into a swinging world for the young, the most with-it crowd was hanging out at the white-topped Youth Pavilion at La Ronde.

Long-haired boys and girls in black leather pants and jackets mingled with fresh-faced kids in cotton shirts at the free entertainment centre which draws regular crowds of 5,000 on warm weekend nights.

"We get all kinds here but we've yet to have a hint of trouble," Paul Beaugrand, one of the Youth Pavilion's managers mused as he gazed at wall signs reading "es swing," "lousy set up" and "drop dead."

In the smoky atmosphere of the Cafe Dansant, a pair of amateur Ottawa folk singers called Two's Company crooned while a hushed crowd sipped beer and munched onion rings and submarine sandwiches.

Next door, bewigged actors from the Teatro Stabile di Genova kept their audience rocking to the fast patter of an Italian play well laced with quips in English and French.



Sunday began with a muscle test as boys and girls pitted themselves against "energy cycle" machines on the floor of the Cafe Dansant and ended at 2 a.m. with the crashing music of a discotheque dance held on the same spot.

In the 14 hours between young artists had taken advantage of free materials and tools to build some wild sculptures. One boy had given a lecture on the hallucinogenic drug LSD and white-clad gymnasts competed for the pavilion cup.

Mr. Beaugrand's young crowd were among the most active of the camera-packing visitors who took advantage of the first dry weather in several days Sunday to crowd onto the big fair site.

They brought total attendance to more than 13,000,000 by afternoon as the sun began soaking up pools and rivulets of water left by the three inches of rain that fell since Wednesday.

By nightfall the fair site was sprinkled with the khaki uniforms of more than 400 U.S. cadets after the training vessels State of Maine and Eagle berthed here.

Miss Rose Marie Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hawkins of R.R. 2, Trenton received a Bachelor of Arts degree at convocation exercises held at the University of Toronto. She is a graduate of St. Michael's Academy and Nicholson College, Belleville.

Centennial Ice Barges Carry Birthday Party

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP)—The Northwest Territories' counterpart to the centennial train and caravans pushed into an ice-filled Great Slave Lake early Sunday from this centre 700 miles north of Edmonton.

A flotilla of two steel-hulled barges and a department of public works survey craft will sail around the ice jams in Great Slave Lake and down the Mackenzie River to Inuvik on the Arctic Coast, 1,800 miles away, carrying a giant ready-made birthday party.

From there, the floating exhibition will sail into the Arctic Ocean to Tuktoyaktuk, returning later in the summer to Yellowknife, capital of the Northwest Territories.

The exhibition barge, Radium 100, carries models of industries and other hallmarks of a modern industrial Canada. The models include downtown Edmonton, a Toronto subway station and the Indian pavilion at Expo 67 in Montreal.

The display is aimed at bringing southern industry and commerce to the North. A modern-istic theme is the exhibit's coziness in the decor throughout the 120-foot barge.

Allan Todd, 23, of Toronto who designed the interior for the Canadian government exhibition commission, says he hopes his avant garde blend will be remembered because it's startling.

Mounted on the second barge are two trailers providing living accommodation for crew and entertainers, and a 25-foot high ferris wheel.

Entertainers include Rick Smith, 20, of Fort Smith, an organist; the Tundra Folk, a folk-singing trio from Yellowknife, and the Contenstrel, a mixed Indian, Eskimo and white rock 'n' roll group. They will put on shows and concerts in communities where the flotilla stops.

Indian Princess Georgina Blondin, 19, smashed a bottle of champagne against the steel side of Radium 100 at the official launching ceremonies Saturday.

Among those at the launching was Northern Development Minister Laing, who, in a brief address, told the crowd they are not looking at history, but making it.

Motor Trend is one of the most authoritative auto magazines in North America. Their February edition included a comprehensive road test on an Ambassador DPL. Here are some of their comments:

That's what it was designed to be. The seats are cool sewing among, like fine furniture; there's plenty of head, leg and shoulder room for all passengers; and the ride and performance are just what you expect from a big car—very smooth. Motor Trend's test car was equipped with American Motors new 343 cu. in. V8—the newest and most efficient production engine available—and they clocked 0-60 mph in 9.9 seconds and 50 to 70 mph in 5.2 seconds.

"A number of built-ins make the Rebel and Ambassador safe and economical cars. The ceramic-coated exhaust system is still exclusive. Then there are the impact-absorbing steering column, the 3 year/50,000 mile warranty on major drive train items, unusually spacious and comfortable passenger compartments plus well planned overall design. It all adds up to cars that are easy to look at that are getting to be fun to drive, with rifle clincher being a well-earned reputation for quality construction."

With praise like that, it's no wonder that people think that Ambassador belongs up there in the Olds, Buick and Chrysler class. In terms of quality it does, but in terms of price, Ambassador is priced with Ford, Chev and Plymouth, model for model.

Bus Hit by Truck

Girl Killed, 5 Hurt

By HARRY MULKALL
(Staff Reporter)

A young truck driver today faced a charge of criminal negligence after the five-ton tanker he was driving slammed into the back of a rural school bus near Shannonville killing a young student.

Gerald Griffin, 26, of Toronto, was charged under the Criminal Code after a mishap that took the life of Nadine Greene, 9, of R. R. 1 Corbyville.

Griffin today was remanded in Hastings County Jail for court appearance Thursday.

The young girl was one of six students injured when the small school bus she was riding home was struck by the tanker at the intersection of the Shannonville gravel road and Tyendinaga's third concession.

At noon today he was reported in fair condition.

Also injured were: Mrs. Dorothy Melbourne of Melrose, driver of the bus; Juanita Vos, 12, R. R. 1 Corbyville — sister of Walter Vos; Franklin Elliott, nine, R.R.2 Corbyville; Bonnie Reynolds, eight, Tyendinaga third concession; Allan Gordon, 14, R.R.1 Corbyville.

The bus was taking the students home from Melrose school when the accident occured.

The impact belted the little bus through the intersection, jarring it into a ditch about 100 feet away.

Ironically, the first person on the scene was a school teacher.

Kosygin Rejects Offer To Visit White House

U.S. administration officials in Washington said Kosygin sent word to Johnson that he had come to the United States for the United Nations emergency session on the Middle East and not for the purpose of visiting American authorities.

Kosygin's message, sent through diplomatic channels, said the Soviet chief therefore was unable at this time to accept Johnson's offer to meet at the U.S. capital or a nearby place like Camp David, Md., White Sulphur Springs or Hot Springs, Va., the U.S. officials said.

This still left the way open for a summitmiss elsewhere and Johnson's invitation presumably still stands. But with Johnson preferring not to journey to the United Nations to eat on Kosygin, and Kosygin preferring not to leave it, the outlook for their meeting diminished as time grew short.

The Soviet leader arrived in New York Saturday morning and had been expected to stay through next weekend. Now there are reports he may return to Moscow in a couple of days.

Prior to Kosygin's reply, U.S. authorities generally had assumed arrangements for a Johnson-Kosygin get - together would be worked out though no definite time and place had been set.

They considered it most unlikely that the heads of the world's two greatest powers would miss this unusual opportunity to at least exchange views on items of common interest ranging from the Middle East crisis to Vietnam and disarmament. Johnson and Kosygin have never met face-to-face.

Kosygin from the start has conducted his trip as a visit to the United Nations as an international meeting place, not as a journey to the U.S. And he is leading the Soviet drive to woo the Arabs by pushing for UN condemnation of Israel.

U.S. officials believe Kosygin is against appearing too chummy with Johnson, whom the Arabs accuse of aiding with Israel in the war.

Aden Troops Mutiny

"How'd it go today, dear?"

ADEN (Reuters)—Eight British soldiers were mowed down and killed by an Arab machine-gunner here today as they drove past a barracks where Arab soldiers had mutinied, a British official said.

The official said the soldiers' bodies were so full of bullets that they could hardly be lifted.

A British civilian also was shot to death in the same area near the Champion Lines camp, a British Middle East command spokesman reported.

Meanwhile, loudspeakers in mosques throughout Aden broadcast appeals to the population to take up arms against the British.

The South Arabian Federation's army and police mutinied today at two camps on the outskirts of Aden, provoking a general strike throughout the city. The mutineers were reported protesting removal of a number of senior Arab officers.

One British soldier said there was "a lot of shooting" at Champion Lines though the trouble at the other camp, Lake Lines, was reported put down quickly.

The eight British soldiers were killed by an Arab soldier on top of a building inside Champion Lines as they drove to their camp, Normandy Lines.

Rusk Meets Gromyko

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko held an unannounced meeting today, their first since the start of the United Nations General Assembly session on the Middle East.

There were reports the two discussed possibilities for a meeting between President Johnson and Premier Kosygin.

Kosygin Speaks to Assembly

U.S. Introduces Resolution

Warring Parties Urged to Negotiate

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— The United States introduced a five - point resolution in the United Nations General Assembly today aimed, Ambassador Arthur Goldberg said, at encouraging "the warring parties to negotiate" in the Middle East.

The resolution countered a Soviet motion introduced Monday by Premier Kosygin to condemn Israel, demand the withdrawal of its victorious troops from occupied Arab territory and to demand that Israel pay war damages to Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

The U.S. motion would have the 122-country assembly declare that its objective must be "a stable and durable peace in the Middle East" and request the Security Council to keep the situation "under careful review."

The motion lists five points essential to a stable and durable peace

—Mutual recognition of the political independence and territorial integrity of all Middle East countries, encompassing "recognized boundaries and other arrangements, including disengagement and withdrawal of forces, that will give them security against terror, destruction and war."

—Freedom of innocent passage through international waterways.

—An equitable solution of the problem of Arab refugees displaced by the recent and earlier Arab-Israeli wars.

—Registration and limitation of arms shipments in Middle East countries.

—Recognition of the right of sovereign nations to exist in peace and security.

General Opposed to Mao Set Off Chinese H-Bomb

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Star says in an unconfirmed report that a general opposed to Mao Tse-tung took control of Sinkiang province and then had China's first hydrogen bomb triggered Saturday.

The English-language tabloid, quoting its "own sources inside China," says 15,000 Maoist elements were killed or wounded "in the storming of the highly-important Kaimusze arsenal" in Sinkiang.

Swamplands Strewn with 169 Viet Cong Dead

SAIGON (Reuters) — Viet Cong dead lay strewn across steaming swamplands on the Mekong Delta today after a savage seven-hour clash with U.S. infantrymen and sailors.

First reports said the Viet Cong left at least 169 dead along the banks of the Rach Hui River 19 miles south of Saigon when they finally retreated at midnight, a U.S. military spokesman said.

Twenty-eight American servicemen were reported killed and another 125 wounded in the bitter fighting near the town of Can Duoc.

U.S. sailors, moving deep into the delta marshlands in river assault boats, joined a battalion from the U.S. 9th Infantry Division in battling the Viet Cong force of unknown size.

Armed helicopters and converted Dakota aircraft pumped thousands of bullets into the guerrilla positions, which were also pounded by artillery strikes and jet fighter-bombers.

The cavalrymen killed 65 Viet Cong in driving off the attack and lost eight men killed and 21 wounded in the pre - dawn battle.

The tempo of the war stepped up again over North Vietnam when U.S. Air Force F-105 Thunderchiefs attacked and badly mauled the Bac Giang power station 28 miles northeast of Hanoi.

The spokesman said thick smoke and debris prevented a full assessment of the damage.

Antique Implements Shown at Campbellford

The Eastern Ontario Antique and Steam Engine Association held a three-day show at Campbellford Fair Grounds Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Between 15 and 20 antique steam engines were on exhibit, as well as over 40 antique gasoline engines. Exhibitors were W. C. Stapley and E. Little of Campbellford, who hope to establish a permanent exhibit in the town. Other exhibitors came from Port Hope, Campbellford and other centres.

One of the interesting exhibits was a saw mill manufactured by the Robert Bell Company of Seaforth over 90 years ago. The pulleys are mounted on a steel shaft about 15 feet long and 125 years old. The mill is one of the now rare machine run with a rack feed. The present owner, W. C. Stapley, is the fourth generation to have owned the mill. In the early days of its operation it required three or four men and a youth's time to set up the mill. Now mounted on a permanent chassis, it took the 80-year-old Mr. E. F. Stapley and another man only three hours to set up.

Also on exhibit was the old type shingle mill still in running order and a number of threshing machines. The early open cylinder hand feed, in the areas was a show of many antique cars, tractors, smaller farm implements and a Wurlitzer hand organ from Rosenash Agricultural Society.

A parade planned for Saturday had to be cancelled due to rain and the opening ceremonies were held in Seymour-Campbellford Arena. A dinner was given by the Steam Engine Association, at which the guests were Hon. George Hees, Russell Rowe, Reid Wells, Alex Carruthers, Russell Honey, Ken Park, Reeve of Seymour; J. Locke, secretary, Campbellford Fair Board; H. Dunk, chairman, Campbellford Arena Board; Bob Mitchell, president of the Steam Engine Association and members of the executive.

school in Point Anne, was driving home to the township's seventh concession when she came on the mishap.

She immediately drove to the nearest house where — luckily — Charles Long, a former reeve of the township and Department of Highways foreman was briefly visiting.

Mr. Long immediately seized the initiative, calling provincial police in Belleville, emphasizing the possible seriousness of the situation, before racing to the scene.

NADINE GREENE

Mr. Long, who helped organize comfort for the injured while waiting help, said he was astonished at the fast arrival of ambulances and police.

They were on the scene in a matter of minutes, he said. "I don't know how they made it so fast from Belleville," Mr. Long added.

Most of the injured had been taken from the bus by the time the ambulances arrived. But not all of them.

One police officer, among the first on the scene, said he looked inside the bus and saw two youngsters.

"There was one little kid with his head against the side of him and a little girl beside him."

"I said 'Are you alright, son?' and he said 'Yes. I'm alright.'"

The truck had been hauling oil for dust treatment on township roads. It was empty when the accident occurred.

After police had taken details at the scene, Griffin was taken to OPP headquarters in Belleville for questioning and charged later.

Meantime at Belleville General Hospital, the staff was geared for an emergency.

"We weren't aware how many injured might be on their way, so we made plans for an even greater emergency," said administrator Philip Rickard.

There were about four doctors immediately available as the ambulances began arriving but within minutes at least 12 doctors were on hand in the cramped emergency ward of the hospital.

Some senior nurses reported back for duty, while X-ray and laboratory technicians stood by.

Other staff members offered blood for transfusions, said Mr. Rickard.

"A hospital is a place where drama is routine," said the administrator, "But a situation involving children effects everyone."

Schoolboy Saves Girl

A 14-year-old schoolboy probably helped save a classmate from serious injury in last night's collision between a school bus and truck north of Shannonville.

Allan Gordon, R.R. 1, Corbyville, escaped with minor cuts in the accident as he sat with five other children in the school bus, hatied at the intersection of Tyendinaga's third concession and the Shannonville gravel road.

This is how he recalled the fatal mishap:

"I think the bus was stopped. I looked back and saw the truck coming toward us. Suddenly it swerved and rolled over on its side. I grabbed Ronnie Reynolds (aged 8) and pushed her down the aisle, but could not reach Nadine before the truck slammed into the back of us."

"I tried to yell out a warning to the others but couldn't as the truck rammed into the back of the bus."

Three United Church Charges Now in One Congregation

The Thurlow township area immediately north of Belleville has a brand new United church organization made up of the three former charges of Canniff ton, Carmel and Bethany.

The name of the new congregation is St. Mark's United Church.

To observe the founding of the new congregation, a centennial service will be held Sunday morning June 25. The guest speaker will be Rev. Robert Crooks, minister of Tabernacle Church in Belleville.

The last service in each of the three former churches was held last Sunday with the minister, Rev. John W. Hobbs, noting that the forming of the new St. Mark's Church should be regarded as a wedding. The forefathers of people who k e p t the three churches alive had not died, but their years only now being truly fulfilled.

Rev. Hobbs said he hoped that everyone would assist in making the wedding of the three church congregations a success.

The amalgamation of the three Thurlow charges is in keeping with the Presbytery decision of last year to close many of the smaller rural churches.

The Canniffon church will be closed for extensive renovations during the month of August. Until then the Sunday morning services will be at 10:30.

With the re-opening of the church in September the service time will be 10:45 a.m. Sunday School commencing September 10 will be at 9:30.

For club members, a social hour and dinner will follow the sailpast.

PICTON (Staff) — Another musical event — the first of its kind ever held here — is planned by the Picton Kiwanis Club for June 24 at Queen Elizabeth school. This will be a piano festival. Toronto Legal Firm Retained by Trenton

TRENTON — Council last night authorized retaining the Toronto legal firm of Beckett and Onley on a trial basis to act as the town's solicitor.

Effective July 1, the firm will be paid on the basis of a $4,200 annual retainer until the end of the year, when council will review the situation.

Clerk - comptroller O. W. Lloyd told council the firm could be retained for virtually the same terms as the present town solicitor, R. Campbell, who has acted in a day-to-day capacity since retiring the full time position.

Mr. Larry said the two partners of the Toronto firm have had broad experience in the field of municipal law.

Councillor D. R. Fraser said criticism of local lawyers wasn't implied in hiring outside legal advice. He said the majority of area lawyers were not interested in the position, and that municipal law had become a legal field demanding specialists.

Councillors had a glimpse of the proposed $25,000 capital works lighting program for Trenton last night, and there were indications that several changes in light placements would have to be made before approval was given.

Mayor James MacDonald reminded council 27 new lights for Byron St. were to be installed out of current funds.

Council has authorized the Hydro Electric Commission of H. J. McFarland Construction Company of Picton for extensive reconstruction of Ford St.

The firm turned in the lowest tender for the project, an estimate of $120,443.

Councillor D. R. Fraser took exception to a Trenton newspaper editorial Monday which he claimed "carried all town executive bodies with the same brush."

He said the article was "irresponsible" in stating there had been an "alarming" number of contractors going broke on town projects, and that town estimates too frequently considerably lower than proved to be the actual fact.

Councillor Fraser asked the town clerk to ascertain exactly how often these charges were justified in the last 10 years.

No formal motion was introduced.

An estimated $200 in repairs to the town bridge was authorized by town council to replace the latest public works committee report for bridge repair. Repairs include installation of a new guard fence on the westerly barrier.

House Permit Withdrawn Builder Asks Recompense

TRENTON — A Trenton homebuilder learned at council last night his building permit for a semi-detached dwelling in a west Trenton subdivision had been withdrawn.

Wasil Sidor, developer of Westmount Park, asked council why he had been granted a permit May 16, and it was no longer valid. He claimed the town should reimburse him for an outlay of some $300 he had made for architect's and other fees for the dwellilk.

Town planning officer Merle Hourswerg replied the department had only recently been made aware of Mr. Sidor's original 1961 subdivision agreement with Murray Township, which stipulated there were to be no semi-detached homes in Westmount Park.

The property in question was annexed by Trenton from the township several years ago, but clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry informed Mr. Sidor: "The law as we understand it states zoning regulations on a property before annexation remain in effect after, until a municipality imposes its own bylaws to cover the situation."

Mr. Larry said Trenton at present has no zoning regulations to deal with the specific problem faced by Mr. Sidor in Westmount Park, and that his solicitor had discussed with Murray Township must stand.

He added, however, that an amendment to the zoning regulation in the subdivision could be effected if Westmount Park residents were polled to assess the reaction to Mr. Sidor's proposal.

Council instructed the clerk to mail questionnaires to the subdivision residents to determine the feasibility of a zoning change.

Possible Vote

Council Favors Arena Proposal

City council yesterday approved in principle the construction of a new $667,000 arena complex at the Belleville fairgrounds, but there is a possibility a vote of the ratepayers may be held before the project gets underway.

Council voted 7-4 in favor of the project but because the estimated cost is $185,000 more than anticipated, approval for the additional expense will have to be sought from the Ontario Municipal Board.

But in any event a vote of the ratepayers may be asked.

Alderman Dr. J. Russell Scott by way of notice of motion said that at the next council meeting July 10 he would ask council to approve a vote of the people on the project.

The motion for approval of the project also authorized final plans to be drawn by architects Watson and Wiegand.

Alderman Donald Williams as chairman of the city parks board said that $212,000 in government grants and water works assistance could be expected for the arena project, leaving the city's share as $465,000.

This, however, is $165,000 more than the $300,000 amount allocated for the project earlier this year in the 1967 capital works program.

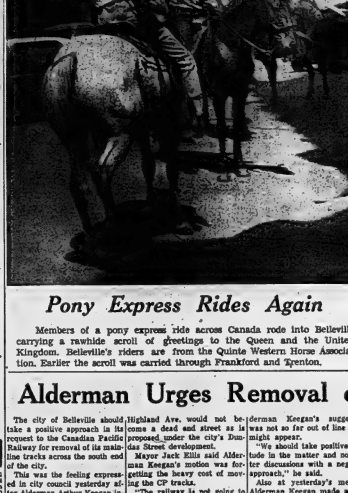
Alderman Jack Deacon questioned whether there would be adequate parking at the fairgrounds, and suggested that another site be sought, or possibly more acreage be purchased adjacent to the fairgrounds.

Alderman Williams felt however that there was sufficient parking at the fairgrounds, where he said up to 1,200 cars could be accommodated.

City Planning Director P. J. Beavis said his opinion and that of the planning board was that parking for a minimum of 1,200 cars would be necessary if all facilities of the proposed arena complex were in use at the same time.

Mayor Jack Ellis said he was a bit disturbed to learn there would not be adequate parking at the fairgrounds but felt council should approve in principle of the project, thus allowing final plans to be drawn in readiness for a fall start should the project receive OMB approval.

However there was a feeling on the part of several other aldermen that the ratepayers should have a say in the matter.



Alderman Arthur Keegan sought to bring in an amendment to this effect but it was ruled out of order as a contrary motion.

Approval in principle for the arena project saw Mayor Ellis and Aldermen Boyle, Carruthers, Deacon, Jose, Soden and Williams in favor, with Aldermen Aikin, David, Keegan and Scott opposed.

Fixed seating for 3,110 patrons and standing room for a further 400 would be provided.

The building would have brick exterior walls, pipe wooden seats and have two bleachers.

Members of a pony express ride across Canada rode into Belleville carrying a rawhide scroll of greetings to the Queen and the United Kingdom. Belleville's riders are from the Quinte Western Horse Association. Earlier the scroll was carried through Frankford and Trenton.

Approve Auditor's Report

Belleville city council yesterday got around to officially receiving their auditor's annual report, but as far as the general public is concerned the audit is already old hat.

Council two weeks ago was all set to hear the report but due to the amount of other business the audit report was tabled for two weeks.

But arrangements had already been made with The Intelligencer to have the audit report run as a paid advertisement and when council approval of the report was delayed, it was too late to cancel the public page advertisement.

There was little or no discussion on the report when it was finally approved yesterday in council, the only question being whether the city's $9½ million capital debt was out of line in relation to assessment.

R. A. Irvine, representing the audit firm of George A. Welch and Company, said it was difficult to relate debenture debt to assessment.

"You must remember that debentures are payable over a long period," he said.

However, he didn't think the city's debenture debt was out of line with that of other municipalities.

The audit report showed a surplus of something in the order of $24,000 on last year's municipal operation.

Cost of Foster Ward Sanitary Sewers Upped

Sanitary sewers for the Foster Ward area, scheduled to get underway this fall, are going to cost about 20 per cent more than was earlier announced.

Last week at a ratepayers meeting held at the Wharf Street Debating Club, Foster Ward property owners were told the rate per foot frontage over a 15-year period would be 80 cents.

Yesterday, however, City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said that due to an oversight the cost had been under-estimated. The new figure works out at $1 per foot.

Total estimated cost of the work will be in the neighborhood of $120,000 of which the local improvement cost to land owners will be $76,625 for the main sanitary sewer and another $18,000 for private drain connections. The balance of the cost would be borne by the municipality.

The city engineer said the $120,000 cost would be conditional on the project being done under winter works.

Questioned by Alderman J. Russell Scott whether due to frost conditions there would be actually any saving under winter works, the engineer said the city should benefit as excavation would be largely in rock.

Council Recesses For Summer

Belleville city council has now officially recessed for the summer holiday season, but members are not going to get off all that easy.

As council yesterday approved the naming of signing officers for the recess period, Mayor Jack Ellis said there would be a special meeting of area municipal representatives on June 27 to hear the Ontario Water Resources Commission report on the feasibility of piping water supply from Lake Ontario.

Also there will be a special meeting of council on July 10 which Mayor Ellis said was necessary for awarding of contracts on several city tender calls.

And at the same meeting there will be a motion calling for a vote of the people next December on the $667,000 arena complex proposed for erection at the fairgrounds.

Last night's meeting of council was one of the longest of the year as a long list of relatively minor matters was up for discussion. Due to a longer than usual caucus session, the meeting didn't get underway until about 4:30 and then lasted until after 7:30.

City Seeks Strip of Land In Sidney

The city of Belleville will seek annexation proceedings to acquire a small strip of Sidney township land to allow the extension of a new street in West Belleville.

Mayor Jack Ellis said the 400-foot strip of property was needed to extend Harbor Drive to facilitate improvement to the operation of city buses, improvement of water service and to provide a shortcut for children attending the new Sir John A. Macdonald public school.

As it is the school children have to walk two miles around to stay on city streets.

According to Mayor Ellis the problem was that one Sidney township resident was requesting special consideration before permission would be granted to extend the street across his property.

He said the annexation would benefit the city as a whole as well as some residents of the township.

City council several months ago gave approval for the street extension but due to the stand taken by the one Sidney township owner the work was not carried out

Council Fills Vacancies

City council last night filled vacancies on three city boards and commissions caused by the resignation of Dr. J. S. Barlow.

The new appointees will serve out the balance of Dr. Barlow's terms.

Named to the Bay of Quinte District High School Board was local solicitor Robertson Collins.

Randy Loewen was named to the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board, and J. E. McKinney to the board of adjustment.

Candy Pills Opposed By Council

City council last night moved to seek a ban on candy "pills."

The pills are usually found in children's toy medical kits.

However, council says had serious intent behind it — as outlined in a resolution from the city of Hamilton.

"The willingness of the child to eat the candy pill is, of course, due to the fact that it is candy. It considered . . . dangerous to have children assume that all such pills may be candy and pleasant to take."

Council concurred in the resolution which would petition higher government to restrict sale of the candy "pills."

Alderman Urges Removal of Tracks

The city of Belleville should take a positive approach in its request to the Canadian Pacific Railway for removal of its mainline tracks across the south end of the city.

This was the feeling expressed in city council yesterday after Alderman Arthur Keegan introduced a motion asking that planning for the Foster Ward area be done to include the possibility of the tracks being moved.

Two weeks ago the alderman brought up the matter of the CP tracks being moved and yesterday enlarged on the subject listing the benefits which might be expected if this were done.

If the CP mainline tracks were moved, the alderman said the railway overpasses proposed by the highways department for the Union Carbide and Cemetery crossings would no longer be required. Also Bay Bridge Road could remain as it was and Highland Ave. would not become a dead end street as is proposed under the city's Dundas Street development.

Mayor Jack Ellis said Alderman Keegan's motion was forgetting the heavy cost of moving the CP tracks.

"The railway is not going to agree to move its tracks unless the city provides a new roadbed and pays for the relocation," he said.

Such a project would cost the city more than its present debenture debt, he said.

Alderman Jack Allin said however that getting CP to move its tracks was not outside the realm of possibility. This was being done at Kitchener, he said.

Alderman Donald Jose took the same attitude and said Alderman Keegan's suggestion was not so far out of line as it might appear.

"We should take positive attitude in the matter and not enter discussions with a negative approach," he said.

Also at yesterday's meeting Alderman Keegan made a progress report on his efforts to resolve the Dundas Street zoning dispute over the William-son medical clinic.

Two weeks ago Alderman Keegan was named a one-man committee to attempt to bring about solution to the problem satisfactory, to both sides.

Mr. Keegan said he had interviewed residents in the Dufferin Ave. area who are opposing the zoning change and a proposal had been prepared for presentation to Dr. Williamson.

Premier Kosygin

In his own quiet way Soviet Premier Kosygin has been creating as much stir in New York as Nikita Khrushchev achieved with his flamboyant and greater flair for histrionics seven years ago.

During his 1960 appearance at the United Nations, Mr. Khrushchev's inflammatory speeches were indeed more theatrical than realistic. But they carried some semblance of threat and air of foreboding, it was still difficult to take the man seriously. He was a spellbinder, and an entertaining one even to the great majority who watched him on television without understanding the language — but nobody felt impelled to rush to the shelters. The high point of Mr. Khrushchev's performance of course was the occasion when he took off his shoe and banged it on his desk.

Mr. Kosygin by contrast, has been his usual self-effacing self. One thing, though, he has not wasted any time. After the long flight from Russia and a dawn arrival Saturday he got out of his car and walked part of the way to the Soviet mission on East 67th Street. Then he attended the formal UN opening session. On Sunday, accompanied by his daughter and the Soviet ambassador, Mr. Kosygin went on a motor tour of the city, but twice got out of the car to walk, taking in the Fifth Avenue department store district and of all places, the capitalistic Wall Street.

But we cannot imagine Mr. Kosygin, any more than Mr. Khrushchev before him wanting to exchange his system for the American way of life. Like any intelligent person, though, he will be impressed by some aspects of life on this continent, and repelled by others.

Mr. Kosygin may be an unassuming man, but he is also an astute politician, and he given an impression of unhurried, quiet strength. Moreover, he seems to have a measure of respect for the West which should augur well for the deliberations now taking place on the Middle East crisis.

Youthful Spirit

Those superb-looking young Canadians who wend their cheerful way to public school each day, how long, one wonders, before the smile leaves their faces and their sweetness and handsome aspect fade?

Well, a few short years in our dour, industrialized society are often enough to effect the change. By the time a child reaches his early teens there is a reserve about him that is hard to penetrate. Mid and late teens come along and the youngsters communicate largely with their own age group. Then comes the adult world, the business grind and the set and anxious expression that characterizes the average North American's visage.

Looking at the youngsters, moreover, one wonders if in the battle of the sexes, even at that early age girls do not have some "go" than the boys? Certainly the girls have a style and color about them, in what they wear, in their general bearing and aspect of alertness, that is impressive.

Glenn and Mail columnist Richard Needham spoke on a related subject recently. Summing up the entries in his See-Canada contest (open to people under the age of 25) he said there was "a tremendous enthusiasm and real enthusiasm the younger entrants (the under 12s mostly), "are miles ahead of the high school and university students."

"The letters from young children have a unique personal flavor that is sadly lacking in the bulk of entries from the teens and twenties. These young ones put their whole heart and soul into their letters — and the places they have chosen as places that have really altered their imaginations."

The columnist noted also that high school girls, and young girls going to university, "seem to be more adventurous than their male counterparts and letters show a great longing, a deep yearning to go, to get away. . ."

Now here is another aspect of travel as it affects (or could affect) young people. And it has to do with a costly charter operation to Russia by Air Canada (which is government and thus publicly-owned) for 83 of Canada's top executives. They include oil men, bankers, paper men, presidents or deputies of several beverage firms, the chiefs of three tire companies and many others. The group has just returned from two days each in Moscow, Leningrad and Sochi on the Black Sea.

The airfare paid the entire cost of transportation, hotels and meals. Now this was an interesting journey by any standards. Free (that is, paid for by the publicly-owned airline), it was even more so. Will Air Canada consider organizing a similar flight for any a group of deserving high school students, young people who have distinguished themselves in one way or another, and who would derive untold educational value from such a trip?

It is worth thinking about.

Dief Plays Wait and See Game with Fellow Tories

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — The covey of Conservative leadership candidates is so busy worrying about Dief the Chief that they seem to have time to worry about themselves.

What is he going to do, they all wonder?

And wonder so hard they seem to do nothing themselves.

Is he going to run, they ask?

And ask so assiduously, after got through the formality of posting their entries, as to appear to go no further with the running.

Dief's got from now to September's convention to make his move.

But as contenders, they all, now, this very day, week and month, should be making their pitch.

So what do you hear from the campaign trail?

Pretty much of a thundering silence.

It apparently never has occurred to any of them that The Old Chief has one option that is his and his alone.

They can run — or as several of them appear to be doing — and run, perhaps relishing from the race in the weeks to come, or even as late as the very eve of the opening at the convention.

So can he.

But there is a third — and for Dief the horrendous thing he could do.

And that is — and what a situation it would create at the convention — do nothing.

Except not attend the convention.

What if, as still Conservative leader — and he is that until he resigns or they oust him out — instead of going to the great leadership race, he goes fishing?

Or takes the convention week off to do some mink-stretching in Saskatoon and Prince Albert.

They all want him to be there in Toronto at the Party rally, playing the part they have cast for him of The Grand Old Man. The Grand Chief, doffing his feathered war bonnet, a legend - in - his - own - time to be honored at the convention — out and cast-off Conservative Leader over his head.

The party leaders have written for him in that of The Mighty Warrior going to glory and a place on history's political pedestal beside Sir John A. Macdonald.

But if he doesn't show at Toronto for this phony feast of love, and shows, instead, on the shores of La LaRonge for a real feast of fish?

What happens?

Do they then vote him out of the leadership?

And what will that do to the historic Party already torn down the middle, right and left between Tuscan Tory and Prairie Radical, by this heroic-size blood feud?

Meanwhile, as the candidates wait, biding their breath for some word or sign from The Old Chief that he is running or relishing — never, apparently, dreaming that he just could do neither none of them are managing to get up any campaign steam.

The most unstreamed-up of them all turns out to be George Hees, the very one you would expect to be seeing all over the Front Page these days. But there is scarcely a whisper of Hees even back of the waist-sds.

He is hardly ever in the Commons these days, and when, on a rare day he shows, he is a drastically different Hees.

The old zing is gone.

And the chest he used to puff, glorying in his physical exuberance now is just something on which he drapes a shirt that seems, strangely, to have become a bit stuffed.

Dewie Positive appears in the Commons infrequently, asks a very polite question or two of the Government and then, as if exhausting into thin air, departs from Parliament Hill on what must be the most silent campaign of all time.

Mike Starr is in the House every day, still is warmly affectionate, friendship, deferring with quiet courtesy to The Old Chief. But what about his campaign, or non-campaign?

Alvin Hamilton turns up maybe once in 10 days and then is off again, out across the land, supposedly sparking all those ideas that you so seldom hear about.

Wallace McCutcheon, as a member of the Senate, is scarcely related since the Honorable Senators never have been noted for their day - to - day attention to the public business.

They all just wait and wonder what Dief's up to — and daring to think that most-of-all-possible thoughts for would-be leaders — that he might be doing simply nothing.

What a royal Canadian foolish that would be.

What politically circular retribution it would be if he were to do just that — nothing—and you know — watching him over the long, long years how absolutely, how utterly unpredictable The Old Chief is.

Toronto Case

Medical Profession And The Bylaws

Globe and Mail

Family doctors are reported to be worried that too few medical students are entering general practice in Canada, and there is statistical evidence to show that the ratio of doctors to population is very much lower than it should be.

This should make doctors much sought after and highly prized by people living in the area where they practice — but it is not necessarily so. Some citizens, impelled by mystery-out motives of their own and chanting incantations from municipal bylaws, seem always ready to roll up the red carpet where doctors are concerned.

One such group exists in North York. Its specific object was to forestall the improvement in service planned by Dr. Robert Stubbins, who until now has been practicing from his home on Bayview Avenue at Fireshire Road. This is permissible under North York bylaws, but Dr. Stubbins' workload has grown beyond his capacity and he wants to open a medical centre. Objecting ratepayers argue that a medical centre should be in an area zoned for commercial use.

Happily for the cause of common sense and medical efficiency, the Ontario Municipal Board — not always immune to the squeaking of ratepayers — has decided that the doctor should have his clinic. It is more than some residents of that area deserve, although it should be noted that Dr. Stubbins gained strong support from the neighborhood.

The quibbling about application of the bylaw and the usual moaning about the generation of additional traffic in the area was not just peripheral to the written judgment of the OMB, part of which stated: "Unless some flexibility is to be granted doctors in hiring assistants, so that they can have reasonable holidays and working hours, they will refuse to take any new patients. There is little point in having medical insurance if there are no doctors who will take on new patients."

The very nature of medical practice, and particularly that part of it covered by family doctors, demands that it be located where it can do most good. This is far more likely to be in the heart of a residential area than in a commercial area. We are glad that the OMB decision will dispose in advance of similar petty-pegging objections when doctors elsewhere offer plans for the establishment of clinics.

All's Well That Ends Well

Letter to The Montreal Gazette

I am one of the 37 Americans who were, as you put it, "duped" during our visit to Expo.

I am now writing to say that might be considered a follow-up story in order that your readers, both tourists and guests of Montreal, can take justifiable pride and comfort in the efficient, courteous operations of your law enforcement officials!

Unless one is in the position himself it is difficult to imagine what it is like to find oneself away from home, weary after an all-night train ride, and suddenly faced with no accommodations in a city that is timed to capacity. At any rate, the present looks bleak and the future, bleaker! That is the way it is and a phone call to the Quebec Provincial Police brought to the scene an angel in disguise in the person of Mr. Roger Charirasd.

It is impossible to tell you how quickly and how graciously Mr. Charirasd and Mr. Robert Letendre rectified this very unfortunate situation. Accommodations which were more than satisfactory were secured; passports to Expo were given us; every courtesy was extended.

I should like at this time to publicly express our thanks, thanks to Mr. Charirasd, Mr. Letendre, the Provincial Police and to Expo as well, for the way for giving 37 Americans a dream weekend instead of a nightmare.

In closing, may I add that I've always admired Canada but I'm simply now more than ever I find another reason to be glad I'm an American — we have wonderful neighbors!

Teen Marriages Increase

Hamilton Spectator

According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, 16 per cent of all grooms and 43.4 per cent of all brides who were married in 1964 were minors. That is the latest report from the bureau — statistics for 1965 and 1966 would undoubtedly show an increase in the number of minors taking on the awesome responsibility of marriage. .

Thirty years ago, the average age for marriage was close to 30 for a man, and near 24 for a woman. Few minors got married. The principle reason was that the groom, the breadwinner, couldn't earn enough to support a wife.

Since the war, affluence has hit all but the most unfortunate. Two-car garages are commonplace. So are backyard swimming pools, even in northern climates. And if the husband doesn't earn enough to give the family the standard of living it wants, the wife goes to work.

All of this has made it inevitable that more young folk could afford to get married. Even more important, permissiveness has so shortened the childhood years and the dependence of parents that many boys and girls are "adults" at 18.

What's more, marriage provides an escape from the parental hearth and from boredom. It is a lure to many teenagers who want to be "with it", to move with the tide.

It is a pity that this should be so. Most marriage counsellors report that youthful marriages break up far more often than alliances made by more mature people. A teenage bride is often disappointed because her husband can't provide her with the nice things she had at home. A baby arrives and she feels tied down.

The teenage groom is less likely to break up in the early years of marriage. Restlessness gets to him. He isn't ready to be domestic. Many men who "really lived". And, as is well known, the male matures later than the female. Many men who always children — the majority of them until they reach 30 or 31. Marriage at 18, 19 or 20 can be a shattering experience.

As the report says that the average age of brides and grooms has declined steadily over the past 15 years, it is no expert that at least 50 per cent of brides and 25 per cent of grooms will be under 21 by 1980. What this will mean to divorce figures, we can only hazard a guess. At the moment, however, it would seem to spell disaster.

There seems no solution to the teenage marriage rate and the thousands of heart-breaking divorces that result from it. As long as our society continues to be affluent, as long as parents and society as a whole remain permissive, and until such time as sex no longer dominates all media of expression, more and more teenagers will get married. And why not? What's to stop them ?

Rabbit Bounty

Ottawa Citizen

In Canada, people keep rabbits as pets, in many parts of Europe, they breed them for food. But in the Australian territory of Papua, legislation is being prepared to impose fines of $224 on anyone keeping one and $1,120 on anyone importing the animal. The island has no rabbits at present, and after Australia's disastrous experience with them, it is anxious to keep things that way.

Rhodesia

Wilson May Relent on Majority Rule Issue

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prime Minister Wilson has, in his own nimble way, indicated that the unhappy political animal Nkmar, born of the Rhodesian affair, may not live to an old age.

Wilson's words on Nkmar—No Independence Before Majority Rule—could be the most important part of his announcement that a new emissary, Lord Alport, will go to Rhodesia in a few days.

Their significance can be gauged by the way Reginald Maudling former Tory Commonwealth secretary, and Jo Grimond, former Liberal leader, pursued the matter.

The Nkmar pledge was wrung from Wilson at last September's conference of Commonwealth prime ministers and gained him yet more time for another "final showdown" with rebel Premier Ian Smith.

After the Rhodesian cabinet rejected the new formal "Tiger constitution" proffered to Smith by Wilson last December on a ship in the Mediterranean, the British premier sent the issue to the United Nations with the assurance that Rhodesia would not get independence before majority rule. This was a far harsher condition than hitherto imposed.

But Wilson now has indicated that Nkmar can change, as so many other things have changed in the 19 months since Rhodesia seized illegal independence.

Maudling there was nothing now in Wilson's statement making way in the idea—which did not seem to convince the Tory frontbencher, who has been following the Rhodesian situation closely.

Wilson seemed to be saying that the pledge was binding unless circumstances as he interpreted last year and exist now, but Britain might be able to release itself for more flexible action under other circumstances.

He said: ". . . If there were a substantial change in circumstances, we should be prepared to discuss the situation which arose with the rest of the Commonwealth, but there would have to be a substantial and permanent change in circumstances."

However slight a change of policy this may mean, it is one of the few things that indicate any possibility of success for the current mission.

The general political feeling in Salisbury is that unless Nkmar is abandoned no real talks on independence could ever be resumed.

CMA Says Profit 4.7 On Dollar

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian manufacturers had an average profit of 4.7 cents on the sales dollar during 1966, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association reported Monday.

This was two cents less than in 1965, and compared with 5.4 cents in 1963 and 1964.

The companies had aggregate net sales of $14,365,632,000, said R. G. Lockey, chairman of the CMA's public relations committee. This was about $1,000,000,000 more than in 1965. "Despite record sales 118 companies lost money on the year's operations."

Of their profit, the firms paid out an average of 2.1 cents on the dollar as dividends to shareholders, and retained 2.6 cents in the business.

The rest of the sales dollar was spent on: Materials, 49.7 cents; wages and salaries, 19.9 cents; excise and sales taxes, 2.5 cents, income taxes, 2.4 cents; depreciation, 2.3 cents; employee benefits, 1.8 cents, and other expenses, 13.7 cents.

Turf Damage By Grader Not Extensive

Turf damage done last winter by a city grader at the Quinte Sloping Club, Belleville court was not as extensive as initially reported.

A report by the city recreation commission was using a grader last winter to prepare the club's tennis court for outdoor skating when the blade was set too deep resulting in damage to the turf.

At the time city council was told the damage could amount to as much as $5,000.

However the estimate of damage is proven to have been high with the bill for repairs amounting to only $540.

And Alderman Don Williams says the mishap actually didn't cost the city a cent. The damage was covered by insurance which has already been paid.

U.S. Power Commission Approves Pipeline Plan

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Federal Power Commission approved today construction of a $212,00,000 pipeline to carry more Western Canada natural gas to Eastern Canada and U.S. markets. The decision was unanimous.

The decision was the climax of an application first made late in 1964 by Trans - Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., allied with the American Natural Gas Co. of Detroit.

The five - member U.S. commission denied a competitive proposal by Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Neb.

Northern Natural has 30 days to ask for a re-hearing and the commission has another 30 days to accept or deny such a request.

However, it was anticipated that construction would begin immediately in order to get more gas to southern Ontario before winter.

Olin ercrys Jane2ow Washington said pipeline-0183. . winter.

The line, when completed next year, will stretch 363 miles from the Manitoba border via Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, to Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and a point near Sarnia, Ont.

The authorized gas volume is 677,500,000 cubic feet daily.

The commission's ruling said it had been "guided by the mandate that we act in furtherance of the interests of U.S. consumers."

It added "We welcome the opportunity to act in the interests of our Canadian neighbors, as well."

Alcan Cuts Production

MONTREAL (CP) — Alcan Aluminium Ltd. announced Monday it will reduce aluminum ingot production at two of its Quebec smelters later this month as an "inventory control measure."

A company statement said that two processing lines at the Arvida smelter will cease production June 29 and another line at the Beauharnois smelter will close down June 30.

The Alcan decision will reduce by 54,000 tons the company's annual production rate of 921,000 tons. The will bring over-all ingot production of Alcan in Canada down to slightly more than 90 per cent of effective capacity, the statement said.

Principals Ask More Time For Administrative Duties

Principals in Belleville Public Schools had three requests for school board members when they met last night.

The principals requested additional time to manage school affairs; an additional $3,000 subsidization for field trips; and $500 for an annual public school field day.

The board referred the first request to the superintendent for study. The request for $3,000 for field trip subsidization was referred to the budget committee and the $500 field day request was sent to the supervisor of physical education, Walter Cochrane who takes up duties in September.

The board received a report from school inspector R. D. Henwood on a recent workshop of senior administration officials in Toronto. School administrator J. L. Anderson also attended.

Two tenders were received for the construction of two portable classrooms. The contract went to the lowest tender, Fanquier Construction Ltd. of North Bay which bid $7,460. Rollins Lumber of Belleville had a tender of $7,525.

The classrooms will be used at King George School. Three firms sent letters to the board explaining they couldn't tender as they found it difficult to handle present business.

The board sent a letter of appreciation to Prince Charles Home and School Association for efforts in improving the lawn and parking area at the school.

The parents did the work while the board paid $450 for supplies used in the project.

It was noted that a meeting of school inspectors and superintendents will be held tomorrow in Belleville. Groups will be on hand from Kingston, Peterborough and Belleville.

School superintendent L. A. Kells told board members the Trent Foundation will make available $20,000 to the Canadian Association of School Superintendents. The money will be used to send school superintendents on trips to other provinces on an inter-visitation program.

The Belleville board approved the plan for its inspectors and superintendents. If the plan is used the board would be required to cover the salary and expenses of their travel, for a two-week period.

It was noted that the Sir John A. Macdonald School opened on June 8. The principal of the new unit is B. L. Somers.

The board also approved probationary contracts for two additional teachers. Katherine De Lazy, a graduate of Toronto Teachers College and Lee Hicks of Bloomfield, a graduate of Peterborough Teachers College, will begin duties in September.

The school year for students in the public school system ends June 29 — the fall term starts Sept. 5.

Long Gowns for Flower Girls Now in Demand

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto designer who specializes in little girls' fashions says long gowns for flower girls are suddenly in demand for weddings.

"It's a trend toward more elegance in dressing up for special occasions this Centennial Year," said Ellen Henderson.

"I've done nothing else but design long gowns this past month."

She said there has always been a demand for long party dresses for weddings and Bar Mitzvahs, "but this year the demand is stronger than ever."

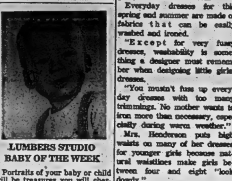
Mrs. Henderson, twice winner of the Eaton Award for excellence in design and the Judy Award sponsored by the Ontario Garment Salesmen Market, expects her high-style children's wear to New York, Philadelphia, Boston and London.

Everyday dresses for this spring and summer are made of fabrics that can be easily washed and ironed.

"Except for very fussy dresses, washability is something a designer must remember when designing little girls' dresses.

"You mustn't fuss up everyday dresses with too many trimmings. No mother wants to iron more than necessary, especially during warm weather."

Mrs. Henderson puts high waists on many of her dresses for younger girls because natural waistlines make girls between four and eight "look dowdy."



"Children haven't got waists. Many five-year-olds are 21-21-21. They don't start shaping up until about seven."

She said she is a conservative designer but there is a growing demand for splashy materials.

"Things I have bought this year and wouldn't have dreamed of buying a year ago include Persian prints, geometrics, African prints, polka dots, big red flowers and stripes."

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Vincent Castellano, director of the Belleville Family Counselling Service was guest speaker at the June meeting of Bay of Quinte Women's Institute Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Meyers.

Mr. Castellano, who came to the city in 1965 to inaugurate the service, said the work is supported by grants from Belleville, Trenton and Hastings County, fifty per cent of the people who come to him do so on their own, the other 50 per cent are referred by doctors and ministers. The counselling falls into three categories — 75 per cent marital friction, 15 per cent parent-child problems and the balance adolescents over 16 who have trouble getting along in a complex world. After two interviews they are sent to someone best suited to help them. Each month 18 new cases come for counselling.

The speaker was thanked and presented with a gift by Mrs. Alva Meyer, public relations convener. Mrs. Meyer also spoke on using the vote and urged all members to protect their privileges by using their franchise.

To insist that a child clean his plate or eat all his vegetables before he can have dessert puts the emphasis on the sweet part of the meal and makes it seem more desirable.

Simple desserts such as squash, custards, ice cream and milk puddings, are nourishing and necessary in a child's diet. Consider them as part of the meal, not as a special treat.

Girls Enjoy Inexpensive Expo Trip

By MARY MOORE

This is a true story down to the last copper.

Betsy and two girl friends drove 400 miles to Expo leaving from their office at 4 p.m. on the Friday night before Victoria Day and returning home by midnight Monday. Safe in their purses were their six Expo entrance tickets bought for 2.10 each at their local banks and their reservations at Mount Royal Hotel, made months in advance. This story briefs you on how they handled the food problem. (Betsy says read your $1 guide book.)

In the noon hour of departure day one of the girls packed a durable lunch for their supper en route. They stopped overnight 80 miles from Montreal, ate their breakfast at the first restaurant they saw Saturday morning. On arriving at the Mount Royal Hotel they parked their car, free of charge and did not see it again until the car porter brought it to the door ready for them to step into on Monday morning.

On Saturday morning before boarding the Metro they bought at a small grocery on Peel St., near St. Catherine, Kaiser rolls, sliced summer sausage and sliced cheese, then walked a half block to the right of the main entrance of hotel to the subway station. Metro tickets are 30 cents each way or 4 tickets for $1 and brought them to Expo entrance.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Chicken Pot Pie with Vegetables; Cole Slaw with Cream; Strawberry Puff Pudding (see Monday); Coffee.

Incidentally: 1) Entrance to all buildings is free. 2) The Expo site is windy so take head kerchief and warm coat. 3) Do not arrive at the 9:30 a.m. opening (time as there is always a crowd waiting for the gates to open and line-ups for the buildings build up immediately.

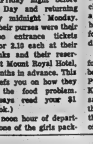
Carrying your own lunch is a time and money saver. A little knife in one of the girl's purses was their only utensil and was indispensable. They found a bench in a park area near the Belgium Pavilion and a stand selling hot and cold drinks and ate their lunch and rested their feet. They had part of their food left for supper. In the 2 days that Betsy and her friends were there, they entered and saw 34 buildings. At 8:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday nights there were no line-ups at the Czech or U.S. Pavilions.

On Saturday night they left Expo at 9:41 p.m., went back to hotel to clean up then to Ben's 24 - hour restaurant for a midnight supper.

Sunday morning Betsy bought 2 corned beef sandwiches for 1.80 at Ben's which they ate for supper. They had noon dinner in the German Pavilion of Rolled Pickled Herring with onions, Hot German Sausage and Hot German Potato Salad which cost under $10, tip included in bill.

To sum up their costs: Hotel bill was $56 for room for three for two nights, with rollaway bed moved in for third girl. Gasoline costs were low — $12.50 for the over 800-mile return trip, for their car is a Cortina — a British Ford.

Betsy advises on return trip start out with a filled tank and drive as far as you can from Montreal before making your first service and lunch stop, for service centres are jammed around Montreal.



Totted up expenses for the four days were $136.86 which meant they spent $45.62 each. Come to the Fair!

Young Couple Should Wait Before Adopting

Dear Doris: We have one child of two. We would like to adopt another, but I guess they are not accepting any orders up there!

Now I am an only child and I don't want my daughter to be one, so in time we plan to adopt. The problem is my mother, the only person, I thought, who would be really pleased about another grandchild, is completely against me. I say me, because she would never say anything like that to my husband. Can you help us, Doris? — Needing Advice.

DORIS CLARK

Dear Needing: You haven't said why she objects. Does she want you to wait a while, or is she one of those misguided older people — and there still are some — who are prejudiced against adopting?

If Junior is only two, give yourself time — a couple more years, anyway. And gradually get it into Mom's head that a child belongs to its parents far more because of the love which grows between them than because of any flesh-and-blood relationship.

I could describe scores and examples of failure of natural parents and children to really belong to each other.

Dear Doris: How or what makes a Ouija Board work? Don't tell me that someone pushes it, for in our case absolutely no one was pushing, or at least no one was aware that he or she was doing so.

I'm not superstitious so I do not believe it is some spirit or other that makes it go. I want a scientific answer. Does the brain send out a sort of reading of the human heart beat or impulses in the fingers? — Fuzzy Runner.

Dear Fuzzy: Your guess is as good as mine. Yet even science has to be open-minded or there'd be no new discoveries. At Duke University the final findings re mental telepathy and clairvoyance can scarcely be denied. And in other fields we are discovering new powers and new ideas all the time. Just take a look around at Expo 67 if you want to get a third out of some of them.

I suggest it could be that one set of fingers leans unconsciously in a certain direction — but what a dull solution!

Dear Doris: Our Current Topics Club wants to get into discussing things like racial discrimination and prejudice. Can you suggest how we might get started?—Canadian Camp

Dear Canadian: For a start get the study guide called "Prejudice and Discrimination", published by the Citizenship Branch, Department of Citizenship and Immigration, at Ottawa. In 13 brief chapters deal with various aspects of these topics, and include questions for discussion following each one.

You could use one chapter a meeting, asking members to read it ahead for lively advance. Then a speaker, a film or a film or tape recording serve to start discussion rolling.

Two other booklets available free from the Citizenship Branch will give you further help: "The Art of Programme Planning"; and "The Why and How of Group Discussion".

Doris can help you with that puzzling decision. Write to her enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.

They were Pauline Jacquith with a 25 pound loss, Jean Woodcox with a 15 pound loss, Ruth Smith with a 40 pound loss and Ethel Harvey with a 20 pound loss. Ann Landers

Executive Objects To Giving Name

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the past 15 years I have been a busy executive. I do not agree with your stand that the person who telephones is obligated to give the secretary his name. I feel the most annoying when I am asked "Who is calling?" I have made it a rule never to give my name.

Only one question is more irritating and I have learned how to get past it in a hurry. When a secretary asks, "What is it you wish to speak to Mr. Doe about?" I reply, "I'd like to know what his intentions are in regards to my wife."

ANN LANDERS

I just thought you'd like to know how we less timid souls handle these self-important secretaries. — SACRAMENTO.

DEAR SAC: Thanks for the clue-in. The trouble with those cute answers is that you can only use them once. What do you do for an encore, Mister?

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been thinking about that girl's suggestion — the one who said if a boy friend wants to get intimate, she should ask him to sign a paper stating that they went to bed on such and such a night, so there will be no question about paternity if something develops.

I think it's a good idea, Ann, but I have another idea which is equally good. I hope you will be fair and print it.

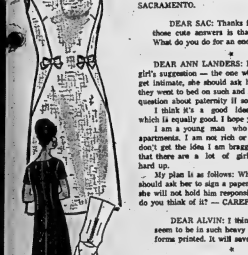
I am a young man who keeps getting invited to girl's apartments. I am not rich or handsome or a great talker, so don't get the idea I am bragging. My popularity is just proof that there are a lot of girls in Washington, D.C., who are hard up.

My plan is as follows: When a girl propositions a guy, he should ask her to sign a paper saying it was her idea and that she will not hold him responsible if something develops. What do you think of it? — CAREFUL ALVIN.

DEAR ALVIN: I think it's a fine idea. And since you seem to be in such heavy demand, I suggest that you have forms printed. It will save a lot of valuable time.—

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print your answer because both my mother and father read your column and quote from it all the time.



There are seven kids in our family. I am a boy 13, and I have five sisters, all younger than I am. My little brother is 3.

The girls (from 5 to 11) get away with murder. They can come up to me at any time and hit me for no reason. If I tell my parents they say, "Forget it. You are the oldest." Will you please tell me why being the oldest gives my sisters the right to hit me? I have some friends who have the same problems. Please answer for all of us. — BLACK AND BLUE.

DEAR BLACK AND BLUE: I get dozens of letters from kids who tell me their brothers and sisters come up and hit them "for no reason." There is always a reason. Maybe not a very good one, but it's a reason, nevertheless. The solution is to have such a friendly relationship with your sisters that they will not want to hit you.

Apparently your mom and dad are raising you to know that boys are not supposed to hit girls and they are to be complimented for it. If your little sisters get overly pesty and take advantage of your gentlemanliness, however, your parents should step in and punish them.

Ever since Volkswagen invented economy in 1949, people have been making regular trips to the bank in the familiar VW Sedan.

Not everyone, however. Some people just don't care for the Beetle's classic bod looks.

So we built a rocy Sedan with all the saving graces of the VW Sedan: The VW Fastback.

It goes about 32 miles on a gallon of regular gas. 35,000 miles on a set of tires. And forever without water or antifreeze. (The air-cooled engine doesn't use them.)

The family resemblance doesn't end there. The Fastback has the Beetle's extraordinary traction to go in snow and mud. (You save on tow trucks.) The same kind of replaceable fenders. (You save on repairs.) The same 4-coats-deep paint job. (You save on paint jobs.)

What the Fastback has that the VW Sedan doesn't is more room inside, a second trunk in back over the engine, front wheel disc brakes, a stronger engine plus rakish good looks that look decidedly Un-Volkswagen.

So much so, in fact, that you may forget your Fastback is a Volkswagen. Until you refer to your Bank Book.

Dosco Is Seeking Six Million For Money-losing Coal Mines

OTTAWA (CP) — Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. wants nearly $6,000,000 from the federal government for its money-losing coal mines, Energy Minister Pepin told the Commons Monday night.

Speaking during committee study of a fat-reaching proposal given the government hopes will inject new life into the coal-based economy of Cape Breton Island, Mr. Pepin said the government considers the Dosco figure 'inflated.

He said the firm broke off talks before the government presented legislation to take over the Cape Breton mines.

The bill setting up the Crown-owned Cape Breton Development Corp. was given second reading—approval in principle —earlier in the day and MPs immediately began committee study of the 36-clause measure.

The Commons spent the full day on the legislation—passing 23 of the clauses.

But the House is scheduled to go back to study of departmental estimates today and completion of the Cape Breton bill is expected to be put off until next week.

A major aim of the corporation will be gradually to close place there with new industry.

It will be given power to buy the Dosco mines by agreement or by arbitration, or to expropriate them by paying "fair market value."

Mr. Pepin indicated that the mines' main worth is the scrap value of their equipment. The mines relied on heavy federal subsidies and still owed the government $4,993,084 on a 1950 loan of $7,000,000.

He said he hopes the issue will be settled soon but described the job of finding a detailed inventory of Dosco's coal-mining assets as "colossal."

The minister said the shoe-down of mines would be completed in a few years, depending on how many industries could be attracted by the new development corporation.

It was intended to cut coal production by half as soon as possible to 2,000,000 tons a year, with further reductions later in the 15-year transition period.

The minister said Cape Breton's plight is of national importance and the government wants to shift the island's industrial base "in an enlightened manner."

As the mines are closed, the Crown agency would promote new industry in a bid to provide alternative employment for most of the 6,500 persons working in the mining industry.

Mr. Pepin was pressed by Donald MacInnis (PC — Cape Breton South) for a guarantee that displaced miners would have the first call on jobs made available by new industry.

"I do not think I should make that promise," Mr. Pepin said.

"It may be that the industries which will settle there are not suited to persons who have spent 20 or 25 years in the mines.

"But there is no doubt that miners will be given a first choice. And if the miners cannot rehabilitate themselves, the pension plan will be provided."

Mr. MacInnis said he does not think the island's coal mines can be economically operated for many years and called on the government to give an undertaking that any money paid to Dosco would remain in Cape Breton.

Robert Muir (PC — Cape Breton North and Victoria) said something still could be done to make Cape Breton's coal industry pay.

Mr. Pepin predicted there will be no large-scale dislocations as mines on the island are closed but that "it's quite possible some miners will lose a few days' work in the process."

He received a cablegram from David Lewis (NDP — York South) that the corporation be empowered to take over the Sydney steel mill, saying such a course might create pressure on the government to do the same thing for gold mines and other financially shaky industries.

"Nationalization is something that would be used very sparingly," the minister said.

The new corporation also will get a $20,000,000 federal grant for its new-industry work. The Nova Scotia government will provide another $10,000,000.

Six Dosco subsidiaries will eventually pass into the hands of the corporation. They include Dominion Coal Co., Nova Scotia Steel and Coal, Dominion Rolling Stock Co. and the Cumberland Railway.

"Clean Water" Campaign Now Under Way

A "clean water" campaign sponsored by the Lake Ontario Regional Development Council is under way.

The council is attempting to bring the water pollution problem to the attention of the public through an advertising and promotional campaign during the next three months.

The "clean water" idea will be kept before the public through newspaper, radio and television advertising. It will also be promoted through business, industrial and certain private publications.

Coasters, bumper stickers and placards will also be distributed.

Chairman of the clean water campaign, Douglas McMaster of Murray township, says water pollution can become a serious problem in the region. "All of us should take a serious interest in doing everything possible to keep our water clean."

He warned polluted water could seriously affect the tourist industry and future location of new manufacturing industries.

The campaign evolved from a conference sponsored by the council in Peterborough last October. One of the resolutions called for development of a campaign against water pollution.

Assisting the council in implementing the program are chambers of commerce, boards of trade, conservation authorities, fish and game clubs, police forces, the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests and the Ontario Water Resources Council throughout the region.

Some Hints Given On Pronunciation

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Why don't the radio and television announcers learn that:

— There is no "babble" in the "Tower of Babel," which wasn't so called for the babbling of tongues.

— There is no "yuh" in "avenue"; there is no "back" in "abacus"; and there is no "ouch" in "debauch."

— There are four syllables, not three, in "decorative"; there are four syllables, not three, in "comfortable"; and there are only three syllables, not four, in "mischievous."

— There is no "but" in "noconbatant"; there is no "rider" in "deirible"; and there is no "knee" in "incognito."

— There is no "coop" in "recuperate"; there is no "p a i r" in "irreparable"; and there is no "here" in "heroism."

— There is no "spike" in "irenple"; there is no "your" in "tremolo."

— There is a "g" sound in "recognize," "strength," "length," and many other words.

— There is no "base" in "history"; there is no "joo" in "envoy"; and there is no "bam" in "Bethlehem."

— There is no "home" in "honorary"; there is no "comb" in "comely"; and there is no "long" in "longevity."

—There are no such words as "ulsterous", "incidently," "previous," "interduction," or "momento."

— The adjective "frequent" is pronounced with the stress on the first syllable; but the verb, "frequent," must be pronounced with the stress on the second syllable, as is almost never is.

—The French word, "forte," has only one syllable, not two, and nothing sounds more ignorant and affected than using a foreign word and its pronunciation, as an "Arranging flowers happens to be my forte."

— Chopin's "Minute Waltz" has nothing to do with a minute of time, but is "minute" the way a small pearl is minute; it is not to be played in 60 seconds, nor pronounced as if it were.

— There is no "wine" in "genuine"; there is no "quip" in "equipage"; and there is no "jhoory" in "euphoory."

— There are three syllables, not two, in "champion" (which on the lips of all athletes and most sports announcers, rhymes with "damn bean"); there are only three syllables, not four, in "athletic" (which, on the lips of most athletes, becomes "athaletic"); there are only four syllables, not five, in "positively"; and there are three syllables, not two, in "probably."

MPs Agree They Need Research Assistants

OTTAWA (CP) Members of all parties in the Commons agreed Monday that they need research assistants to help them cope with the weight of parliamentary business.

Herb Gray (L—East Essex) said Parliament is responsible for an $11,000,000,000 business employing over 300,000 people. He praised the research branch of the Parliamentary Library, but suggested each MP needs an assistant directly responsible to him.

Mr. Gray introduced a motion calling on the government to consider providing MPs with administrative assistants. The House gave unanimous approval to a motion referring it to the procedures committee.

Earlier this session a similar motion by Alfred Hales (PC—Wellington South) recommending a type of internship for political science students was also referred to the committee.

Students Have the Difficult Job Says High School Home Instructor

Story and Pictures By Harry Mulhall

It's surprising the number of successful high school students you don't find in high school.

Particularly, if they've successfully gained the attention of Margaret Flett.

Then they're sure of becoming a teacher's dream of success — the objects of undivided, personal academic attention.

Mrs. Flett has such a post — and it's a rewarding experience for her and her pupils.

Her post calls on her to teach students of high school age who — for various reasons — cannot attend class as demanded by public regulations.

This means students who are ill or injured and therefore in hospital beyond a given period.

It also means educating those who, because of congenital handicaps, cannot easily attend school.

Marg Flett has concentrated on them all in her brief experience with the district school board.

A supply teacher for several years since her arrival here with her air force husband and family from Manitoba, she successfully applied for the home instructor's post last year.

Since then she has found a new experience, demanding in its effort, but captivating in experience.

Particularly so, in her endeavors to help students who are physically handicapped.

At the moment she has three such pupils — two teenage boys and a girl.

Basically, it is Mrs. Flett's job to keep the students up in their grades through home instruction.

She carries out the task by either taking their lessons to them in their own homes or by having them in her residence at 38 Lambert Drive.

It all works perfectly, she from parents to school board.

For those tricky topics she is allowed to borrow equipment from one of the school laboratories.

"They give me the equipment and we set the experiments up in the home," she says.

However, not everything is confined indoors.

With the school year nearing its end, Mrs. Flett also has bonuses for her handicapped pupils.

She's been placing outdoor events on their curriculum and these so far have included a trip down the Bay of Quinte aboard a sail boat and explorations of the mineral-tinged rocks in Ha a tings county's northern townships.

Not all her work is confined says, thanks to the co-operation of everyone involved, to the permanently handicapped.

For instance, the rules of her job demand that she teach any secondary school student incapacitated for more than three weeks.

This means she must carry her personal practice into such places as Belleville General Hospital. It also necessitates a thorough check with the student's teacher as to what course to take.

"I've driven as far as Napanee to check with one girl's teacher," recalls Mrs. Flett. "When she went back to school she was right up to date on her grades."

However, it is with the permanently handicapped that she apparently gains her greatest satisfaction.

Here, it is possible as a teacher to see the student develop under personal attention.

"They're closer—that's all" she explains.

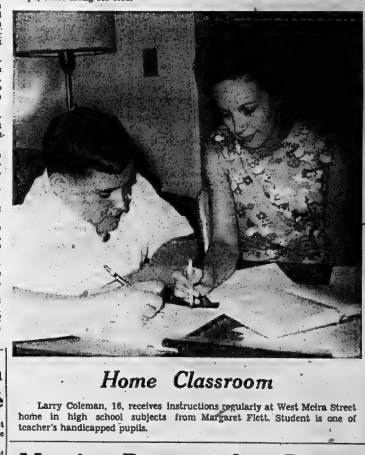
Yet the satisfaction should be all theirs, she feels.

Pupils often reverse on the enterprise shown in her work, but they do not really grasp its significance, she feels.

"The youngsters are marvellous, not the teacher," she says. "It's not difficult for me. It's harder for them."

Children also are an integral part of her home background.

Mrs. Flett is the mother of four, ranging in age from seven to two years.



The Flett Family

When finished teaching other children for the day, Margaret Flett returns to her own family . . . Craig, 4, Jennifer, 2, Cara, 5, and Janet, 7, at rear.

A Fun Bonus

Outings have become part of Mrs. Flett's courses with handicapped students. Trips in outdoors include recent sail above on craft of Belleville yachtsman Roger Riedel. Young friend Larry VanNorman, winching up rope, came along for ride.

Home Classroom

Larry Coleman, 16, receives instructions regularly at West Meira Street home in high school subjects from Margaret Flett. Student is one of teacher's handicapped pupils.

Safe Bathing Spot Provided

CARRYING PLACE — Few places can boast about having outdoor swimming accomodations where the great French explorer Samuel de Champlain waded in the water and walked along the sandy beach three and a half centuries earlier.

And it's unlikely the people of this historic Quinte village would be able to make the claim if it wasn't for a half a dozen ambitious young women motivated by a determination to provide safe bathing for the children of the community including their own.

Two days ago six of the village's fairer sex set aside their house cleaning and armed themselves with hay forks, lawn rakes and shovels to embark on the weed clearing project. Unless you'd heard what they'd planned earlier the marching mothers with implements in hand resembled a little band of loyal home guard on the way to repulse an invader.

To them the endeavor is a personal matter. They refer to it as "our own centennial effort."

The scene of activity is at the approach to the original thoroughfare linking the Bay of Quinte with Lake Ontario through Weller's Bay. It was the entrance to the last portage for Indians bound for the big lake after the trip from Rice Lake down the Trent River — before while man came to these parts. Champlain en route to Ohio river country with his expedition and Indian guides in 1615 used the portage and became its most famous visitor.

Two centuries later enterprising early settlers established a barge towing service over the portage which continued to thrive until the Murray canal opened affording water traffic access to Lake Ontario at much cheaper rates.

The natural cove with the sand bottom and quiet water at the end of the old road always offered pleasant, safe swimming. In recent years receding water levels and increased weed growth almost ruined the popular village recreation area. It

And There's More to Come

So far a handful of determined Carrying Place women have moved an estimated five tons of weeds and stone in a centennial effort aimed at restoring a historic landing place as a safe swimming spot for village children. Samaritans Thanked

It seems the couple were en route by car to Montreal when near Belleville they experienced trouble with their car.

A Belleville man, an employee of a local "spectacle laboratory" and a citizen of radio operator happened along. His was unable to provide the help needed, but he called for assistance on his radio and four other people from the city came out and the stranded motorists were soon on their way.

Yesterday at city council, Mayor Jack Ellis read a letter received from the t h a n k f u l couple expressing appreciation for the assistance given.

The thankful motorists didn't identify themselves and the names of the Good Samaritans are likewise unknown, but the mayor said it was delightful that people still take the time to lend assistance.

Meeting Requested to Discuss Board of Education for District

The matter of enlarged areas of school administration is again to be a topic of discussion in the Bay of Quinte district — this time with public schools as the subject.

Yesterday city council authorized the city manager to contact all municipalities in the Bay of Quinte High School District with the view of arranging a meeting for discussion on the matter of forming a board of education for the area.

If this were to come about it would mean that one school board would administrate the operation of all public secondary schools and public elementary schools in the area.

The Bay of Quinte High School District presently is comprised of Belleville, the village of Frankford, and the townships of Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga, and Ameliasburg.

In recent weeks, however, approval has been given by the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward and the city of Belleville, for the amalgamation of the Stirling-Rawdon High School District, and the Centre Hastings High School District with the Bay of Quinte High School area.

The amalgamation will not go into effect until January 1968.

The Belleville Public School Board is anxious to see an enlarged public school area and the combined board of education come into being.

Last year a number of information meetings on the matter were held in the Belleville area and local board members make no bones about the fact they favor the idea.

Yesterday the Belleville School board chairman Macdonald Smith and schools administrator L. A. Kells talked with city council at a closed session prior to the regular council meeting.

In proposing the meeting with area municipalities, Mayor Jack Ellis said it was hoped that the combined board of education could become a reality by next year.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver

Sports Editor

Adolph Rupp, an American figure as legendary in college basketball as the late Knute Rockne was in football checked some 430 coaches in an address given to them in Detroit a few days ago.

According to Jack Dulmage, sports editor of the Windsor Star, the salty-voiced Rupp, 65, and for the past 36 years head basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, "shook listeners with an address which swerved between campus wrongdoing and the evils of Washington contamination.

He has won world-wide honors with his teams including four National Collegiate Athletic Association championships.

Rupp shocked some of the coaches with an attack on the famous poem of Grantland Rice which goes:

"When the One Great Scorer comes to write against your name —

"He marks — not that you won or lost — but how you played the game."

Practically every coach on the seven continents has used the Rice quote to instill sportsmanship in proteges.

Says Dulmage — "Rice got a lot of mileage out of that one — but Rupp slowed him down... "If it doesn't matter if you won or lost," roared Rupp, "what are those scoreboards for at the end of the ballgame. You think it doesn't matter to the alumni? It makes a great deal of difference whether you win or lose. Look what happened in Germany . . . although they are doing better now."

The Windsor Star writer quotes Fred Katz writing in a recent issue of Sports Magazine who asked Rupp about his sentiments concerning Rice's poem, Rupps answer was then:

"That was a beautiful thing he thought of that day. If he wrote that thing he had a good day. Sure. Let's go even beyond that. Let's just boost the Ten Commandments and if the boys abide by the Ten Commandments, every night, even if you were beaten by 100 points, you still had a good day. You couldn't ask for a better thing than that. That's fine. The trouble is, failure doesn't bother people today. In fact we subsidize failure. We reward failure if we are today the better chance you have of getting some of these subsidies we've got."

Rupp said he has never believed in failure. "Had Adolph Rupp failed in high school or college, I don't know where he would be today. That bothers me. I wake up at night many times thinking of my years in college where I was failing — at least I though I was failing.

"I never failed a grade in my life and I had that burning desire not to fail, I couldn't fail. I couldn't go back to my home community and have people say 'he failed'. That's why I think we must re-establish a new line of thought in regard to 'it matters not whether you won or lost'.

Dulmage said Rupp talked a lot about success. The need for it and what he called the "free enterprise of athletics. He wants Washington kept out of the schools systems. His genuine free enterprise, he said, is the only one not contaminated by Washington.

His belief is that if a Kentucky boy doesn't make it as president of the United States the next best thing he can do is to play basketball for the University of Kentucky.

That's good stuff for an old Kentucky colonel but surely in Mr. Rupp's long and honorable career his Kentucky squads met with defeat at one time or another, I wonder what the "e-rup-tion" was at those times.

Victory is the uppermost thought in the minds of coaches and players in any form of athletics; But "Brainer there a coach with soul so dead who never to himself (and his team) hath said, "Cheer up guys it had to come sooner or later. We were beaten tonight by a better team."

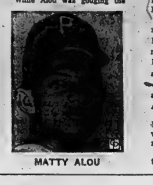
Batty Matty's 3rd Single Beats Cubs

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Matty Alou, the National League's 155 - pound batting king, clobbered Chicago Cube with a run-scoring, bloop single in the seventh inning that carried Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-3 victory Monday night.



The little Dominican's third single in the game gave him 32 hits in his last 15 at bats and an impressive .317 average for the season.

"I don't think anytime in my career I have ever been hitting the ball as hard," said Alou, who led the league with a .342 mark last season but was under .280 when he began his rampage last Friday night with an eighth inning double at Philadelphia.

The victim of Alou's heroics was Ferguson Jenkins of Chatham, Ont., who had his won-lost record reduced to 8-5 as he gave up seven hits in seven - inning stint before being pulled after Alou drove in the go-ahead run.

Jenkins struck out five during his appearance but gave up three earned runs of the four he allowed.

While Alou was gouging the Bill Mazeroski, whose two-run single capped a three-run Pittsburgh burst in the first inning, reached first on third baseman Ron Santo's error to start the seventh. He took second on a single by Jerry May and scored the go-ahead run on Alou's two-out bloober.

Alou's hit enabled southpaw Bob Veale to gain his eighth victory against two losers, with relief help from Al McBean.

Schofield, a .228 lifetime hitter, clubbed a third - inning homer—his first in two years—and then stroked two singles, the second one breaking a 2-2 tie with two out in the ninth.

Right - hander Don Sutton yielded seven hits and scored his fourth victory against eight setbacks as the Dodgers won for the fifth time in their last six starts.

ROGER MARIS

Roger Maris' run - scoring double in the 11th lifted the Cardinals past Houston and nullified the efforts of Gotay, who finished the night with a carry on a string of six straight hits.

Gotay, called up by the Astros two weeks ago after a three-year vigil in the minors, drilled a triple, double and two singles before driving in the tying run in the ninth with an infield hit. He has hit .324 in 19 games as a second look sub for Joe Morgan, who was doing an Army stint.

Left - hander Mike McCormick weathered Pavlesich's two homers and another by Vada Pinson while boosting his record to 6-3 as the Giants beat rookie Gary Nolan on Willie Mays' two-run homer and Jim Hart's bases-empty blast in a four-run third.

Players Toss Punches On Plane

ATLANTA (AP)—Officials of Atlanta Braves declined comment Monday on reports of a fight between Braves pitcher Rico Carty aboard an airplane Sunday night.

The Atlanta Journal reported the fight between the two National League baseball outfielders took place in the rear of the Braves' charter jet as the plane was bound for Los Angeles after losing a 2-0 no-hitter to Houston.

Sports writer Wid Matthews said the fight was the outbreak of something that had been building up for some time.

Neither was hurt and Browning said Aaron spent most of the remainder of the flight lot he forward cabin and Carty remained near the aft section.

Aaron was quoted as saying: "I wish this hadn't happened, especially to me and a teammate of mine. But I had nothing to do with the game yesterday or the game in general in shape or form."

Tigers, Angels Split

Tribe Scalps A's In Twin Wins!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rick Monday, Earl Battey and Bill Skowron all scored out to prove Monday night that it takes more than a cut or a knock to get a fellow out of the ball game.

Monday injured his left foot in the first game of Kansas City Athletics' doubleheader with Cleveland Indians but did not leave for x-rays until the second game. The Indians won both contests, 4-2 and 2-1.

Battey was bounced around in a collision at the plate with big Doug Powell of Baltimore Orioles as Minnesota Twins spit a twi-nighter, winning the first 10-9 and losing the second 9-5. But the Minnesota catcher didn't leave the game until the next inning.

And Skowron, playing only a week after being spiked in the head while sliding home, reopened the cut while batting in the eighth inning of the first game of California Angels' doubleheader with Detroit Tigers. California won the opener 2-0 and the Tigers took the nightcap 3-1.

New York and Boston were rained out.

Monday bounced a foul tip off his foot in the fourth inning of the first game, but not until the fourth inning of the second did he leave the game for a quick trip to the hospital for a check-up.

Apparently, there were no great problems because the Athletics' outfielder left soon after Skowron were taken.

Battey was on the receiving end of Powell's 240 pounds when the first baseman got caught in a rundown on a missed squeeze bunt attempt. Boog was finally tagged, but he jammed Battey's arm in the process. Ezell left for a pinch hitter the next inning.

Skowron needed 20 stitches to close up his reopened wound, suffered as he filled in in the eighth inning.

The Indians won the first game on pitcher Steve Hargan's two - run homer—his first extra-base hit in the majors—with two out in the ninth off Demeter's pinch homer and Fred Whitfield's run - scoring single gave Cleveland the nightcap.

Dave Boswell set the Orioles down on just three hits in the opener as the Twins scored twice on Tony Oliva's homer and twice in Zoilo Versalles single. But Baisinore mounted a 15-hit attack in the second game, led by Paul Blair's two singles, double and triple.

Don Gardiner Big Help

Ethier Two-Hits Kingston 4-0

Bobby Ethier and Don Gardiner have made a thing go for them as the "goldduet twins" of Belleville's undefeated Ellis Seniors Softball Club.

The Seniors added another win in Kingston last night, blanking LaFontaine Clippers 4-0 in Quinte-KASA play.

Ethier spun a superb two-hitter on the pitching mound and for the second game in succession, Gardiner came up with the key hit.

It was a scoreless match going into the fourth. Ellis' got a couple of singles here and Gardiner delivered them both to the plate with a solid base hit.

Meanwhile Ethier, the workhorse of the Belleville squad, gave up just two singles over the nine-inning route, struck out ten and issued one walk for his sixth win in seven tries. The other game was an extra-inning tie.

After Gardiner drove in the big pair in the fourth, the club struck for loners in the seventh and eighth for insurance.

Elwood Hughes started and lost for LaFontaine's with Hartman taking over in the eighth inning. They gave up ten singles, struck out seven and walked three, all by Hughes.

BOBBY ETHIER

Paul Meraw paced the victors at bat with a perfect four-for-four performance. Pat Glancey was close behind with three singles in four trips.

Belleville's next start will be at home Thursday, against Picton Kinsmen. The game is slated for 8.30 at Alemite Park.

Top-heavy Scores

Braves Blank Leafs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There was no pussyfooting around Monday night in the International League as the five games played were won by top-heavy scores.

In Rochester the league-leading Red Wings split a double-header with Columbus Jets. Rochester won 3-0 before losing 6-3.

Toronto Maple Leafs lost ground in their chase to overtake the Red Wings from their second-place position by dropping a 4-0 decision to Richmond Braves while Toledo Mud Hens were battering Syracuse Chiefs 9-3 and Buffalo Bisons were hammering Jacksonville Suns 4-1.

Ed Rakow, a former Maple Leaf, turned on his one-time mates with a four-hitter in Toronto, allowing only one runner as far as third base and bringing his won-lost record to 6-5 with five strikeouts and two walks.

The Braves jumped on Toronto's hard-luck pitcher Jerry Hodgins for three runs in the first inning, two of them on one of Mike Page's three singles.

Crowd Control

Soccer Clubs Get Warning

NEW YORK (CP)—The soccer club Cagliari of Italy was "put on notice" to mend its ways Monday as it's claim to the United Soccer Association were instructed to review their crowd control measures.

Cagliari has been involved in two of three interrupted games so far this season—the latest being Sunday's game against Hibernia in Toronto.

Cagliari is playing as Chicago Mustangs in the U.S.A., while Hibernians are playing as Toronto City.

Commissioner Dick Walsh said Monday he wired the league's 12 clubs to "meet with your players and explain that we will not condone practices of this nature."

Any future disturbances would lead to disciplinary action against players or teams contributing to them.

Toronto and Vancouver, represented by Sunderland of Scotland, are the only two Canadian teams in the association.

Steve Staven, president of Toronto City, earlier demanded disciplinary action by the commissioner against Cagliari executives after the Sunday disturbance.

"We have hosted many Italian teams here in the past without incident but I have never seen such blatant unsportsmanlism and irresponsibility on the part of a team management," he said.

The disturbance, in which fans battered the referee following the second Toronto goal, led to police invading the field.

Ecuador Defeats US

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP) "When you lose, you keep your mouth shut," said U.S. David Cup captain George McCall, and his team had little to say after their humiliating defeat at the hands of tennis midget Ecuador.

Ecuador beat us fair and square," was all Cliff Richey could say after a pair of Americans took an insurmountable 3-1 lead Monday.

Arthur Ashe, the No. 1 player in the United States, said nothing making himself unavailable for comment after his second straight embarrassing loss which left his country on the outside looking in for the sixth time in eight years in the preliminary rounds.

Ashe on leave from the army, lost to underheralded Francisco Guzman, 0-6, 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5 Monday, eliminating the United States in the American zone final.

Ecuador, which has never before reached the quarter - finals in this struggle for world amateur tennis supremacy, thus moved into the interzone semi-finals. It will meet the winner of the European Zone A final between Spain and Russia.

Richey, who beat Guzman in the first singles Saturday, will complete the best-of-five series against Ashe. Richey was leading 5-7, 6-4, 7-5.

Queen's Plate Trials

Pine Point Breezes To Easy Win!

TORONTO (CP) — Several months ago Saul Wagman of Toronto began heralding his horse, Pine Point, as the winner of the 1967 running of the Queen's Plate.

Wagman was so bold as to hand out ball point pens, inscribed: "Pine Point, 1967 Queen's Plate."

His faith in the brown colt was even greater Monday after the son of All Hands breezed to victory in the $10,000 added Plate Trial Stakes, the final test for Canadian - foaled three-year - olds before Saturday's Queen's Plate.

All except two — Betemight, owned by Noel Hickey of Montreal, and Courant d'Air, owned by J. Louis Levesque of Montreal—were entered in the 1½ - mile race over dirt. Both are early Queen's Plate favorites along with Pine Point and Batlling, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto.

Trainer John Meyer was satisfied with Pine Point's time of one minute and 45 seconds for the distance, but said the horse will do better on a fast track.

"He likes to hear his feet rattle," Meyer said. "I just hope it's a fast track Saturday."

Jockey Avelino Gomez, who rode Pine Point Monday and will be in the irons again Saturday, said the colt was running easy.

"But he's the kind of a horse that waits for the other horses when he's out front," said Gomez. "I didn't have to mind off the rest of the field today."

More of Mort, a 40-to-1 longshot owned by Tom Hayes of Toronto, was a surprise second in Monday's trial. He followed Pine Point by 1¼ lengths and edged Mr. Sweet Dreams, owned Mrs. D. H. Coulter of Toronto.

Batting bad medi his move coming into the stretch, but faded.

Meyer pointed out after Pine Point's victory that the race would not have been considered a favorite if Cool Reception was still in the running.

Cool Reception, Canada's two-year-old Horse of the Year in 1966, suffered a fractured leg while finishing second in the Belmont Stakes a few weeks ago and was destroyed.

"The horse just wasn't in the same league as Cool Reception," Meyer said.

Gilmore, owned by Max Bell and Frank McMahon of Calgary, finished seventh in Monday's trial. The brown son of Tell Chief is the only Western Canadian bred horse eligible for Saturday's race.

Betemight, remains a co-favorite for the Plate. The brown gelding, bought for $35,000 by Hickey earlier this year, will be ridden by Ron Turcotte of Grand Falls, N.B.

A total of 11 horses remained as probable starters for the Plate. They included Mr. Sin, Come By Chance, Elite Rule, and Jammed Lovely.

Jammed Lovely, owned by Conn Smythe of Toronto, is the only filly eligible for the race.

Minor Softball Week

Cheesemen Whip Selects

By ROBERT SNEYDELLA

The Black Diamond Cheesemen clobbered the Department Selects 12-1 in a benefit softball exhibition game here last night but the real winners were the Belleville Minor Softball Association.

The game commemorating Minor Softball Week here put $136 into the coffers of the association while the largest crowd to grace the park watched the game.

The Cheesemen, currently running in first place in the Commercial Softball League, pounded out 12 hits off a four man regiment of Select pitchers. The winners grabbed three runs in the first and final innings, and added five in the fifth, as they scored in seven of the eight innings.

Bob Swan and Sonny Holway split the pitching chore for the Cheesemen, giving up five hits and fanning seven. B

Rick Reid and Jim Dully were pounded for 12 hits while walking nine and fanning five, in their losing effort.

Dave Smith also led the winners at the plate, as he slammed a home run and triple. Keith Watson stroked a triple and double, while Dean Lange had three safeties. Jim Stather had two hits, Robert Jevons, Barry Madden, Terry Ray, Victor Power, and Doug Taylor singled for the losers.

Minor Baseball Results

Dave Plesch and Dave Sullivan one each.

Pitcher Ricky Bell replied for Barriages with a single.

The Bad Boys came up with a pair of runs in five of seven innings against IBEW.

Allan Wood toiled the distance for IBEW, giving up eight hits and striking out 15.

Mike Bell had a double and brace of singles to lead Bad Boys at the plate, John Doxe van singled twice, with other hits going to Gary Coulson, Brian Cousins and Mitchell Yott.

Terry Madden, Terry Ray, Victor Power, and Doug Taylor singled for the losers.

Traffic Tight at Top!

Stinson's defeated winless Brant's Mountain View 8-7 and Lightfoots topped the slumping Stewart Warner team 4-1 to create a tight traffic jam near the top of the commercial Softball League standing last night.

City Hotel, Stinson's and Lightfoots are tied for second place, just two points back of the leading Black Diamond squad.

Lightfoots spotted Stewart Warner a 1-0 lead in the first but got the win on a pair in the sixth and seventh.

Ken Smith pitched five-hit ball, fanning four and passing three, for Lightfoots. Doug Ellis took the defeat. He gave up seven hits, struck out nine, and walked five and got errorless support.

T. Johnston claimed a pair of Lightfoots' singles with one each for Paul Goodfellow, Frank Murray, Les Hall, Doug Ellis and Ray Garvin. Lyle Wagmaker had a brace of Stewart Warner singles with D. Reid, G. Smith and Gary Gow getting the others.

In Ameliasburg, Brant's threatened to run away in the first frame with a 4-0 lead. They made it 5-0 in the top of the second before Stinson's started back, notching two in the second, four in the fourth and three in the sixth to erase a 7-6 Brant's lead.

Bob Boyle struck out six and did not walk a man, touched for six hits, on Stinson's rubber. Grant Collett gave up seven hits, whiffed five and passed four in defeat.

Bob Richardson's bases-loaded triple was Brant's big blow in the first. Other hitters were Ted Drumm, John Spinks, Al Colden and Collett.

Madoc-Tweed

Honor Hockey Champs

MADOC — On Monday evening, members of the local Kiwanis Club and guests, numbering about 63, met in Blue's Hotel to pay tribute to the Madoc - Tweed Twins hockey club, Junior "D", 1967 Ontario champions.

The guest speaker for this occasion was Bryan Watson of Montreal. For the past two years, Bryan has been with the Detroit Red Wings. Following the NHL expansion and this year's draft, he goes to the Montreal Canadiens.

In an informal talk, Bryan recalled many interesting items regarding professional hockey and also some of the great stars. He paid special tribute to a former team mate, Gordie Howe. He also mentioned the two of the Twins' players, Gerry Brookes and Gordon Donaldson, had been invited to the Ottawa Junior "A" training camp, Ottawa is affiliated with the Boston Bruins.

Present also at the dinner was Johnny Bower, star goal tender with Toronto Maple Leafs, who spoke briefly and, along with Bryan Watson, answered numerous questions regarding the NHL from those present.

Three and after the dinner, outstanding musical entertainment by Mr. Keith Balm and the nine-year-old son Bill were very much enjoyed by those in attendance.

The delightful enjoyable evening was climaxed by the presentation of suitably engraved individual trophies to each Twin player. The presentations, on behalf of the Kiwanis Club, were made by Mr. Bower and Watson the speaker for the evening was introduced by Harry Brown and appreciation to both NHL players was extended by Tom Lloyd.

Jockey Suspended Ten Days

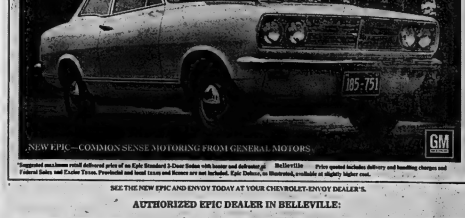
TORONTO (CP)— Apprentice jockey Richard Grubb has been suspended for 10 days for allowing his mount, Worthy Craft, to interfere with horses shortly after the start of the fifth race at Woodbine race track Thursday.

The suspension begins Tuesday and will keep the 18-year-old Ridgeway, Ont., native from riding in the Queen's Plate Saturday.

Grubb, who set a North American record earlier this season when he rode seven consecutive winners on the same day, was to ride Gilmour in the Queen's Plate. Gilmour is owned by Mr. Frank McMahon and Max Bell of Calgary.

Epic's styling means more than appreciative glances. It also adds to performance and interior space.

No ordinary economy import this! Its new shape is so exciting that the double-takes might get downright embarrassing. But behind this great exterior, there's a lot of method.



As well as being a sleek car, its longer, lower and wider styling adds to better handling. It takes to the road and holds it. The wide stance takes you around corners as evenly as a sports car.

But there's more! More room. Leg room. Head room. Hip room. The curved side glass adds inches to shoulder room.

Test drive an Epic with either standard 4-Speed or the great new automatic transmission, soon. You won't have to wait for all the appreciative glances.

You'll know, for sure, as soon as you see it, sit in it and drive it that Epic styling is more than pretty. Epic $1,944* EPIC The lithely one.

*Suggested maximum retail delivered price of an Epic Standard 2-Door Sedan with bumper and delivered at Belleville. Price quoted includes delivery and handling charges and Federal Sales and Excise Taxes. Provincial and local taxes and license are not included. Epic Deluxe, as illustrated, available at slightly higher cost.

Third Station Toronto Bid Has Repercussions Around Province

OTTAWA (CP) — The latest round in a battle for a new slice of the rich Toronto television market will be staged during a Board of Broadcast Governors hearing opening today.

At stake immediately are millions in potential earnings.

A decision on the tangled question also could have wide-ranging effects on future TV development in Ontario.

Among the Toronto applicants for television stations is one from Belleville. It is suggested that Toronto's CHLT, on Channel 6 be changed to Channel 5 opening a station frequency on Channel 6 for Belleville.

CKVR-TV in Barrie is back before the BBG with a proposal to move its transmitter 30 miles south, to the "fringe of Metropolitan Toronto. A similar bid by the station last year stirred up controversy in the Commons before the BBGs end turned it aside.

Opposition MPs raised the matter of a hearing.

They described CKVR - TV President Ralph Snodgrove and his associates, Allan Waters of Toronto radio station CHUM and Geoff Stirling of Montreal station CFCM, as loyal Liberals seeking to lift a slice of the Toronto TV pie by coming through a back door.

They said the value of the Barrie broadcast licence would jump to $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 from $2,000,000 overnight if the switch was allowed.

When the bid was heard by the BBG, Toronto radio station CFRB opposed it on grounds that Barrie was casting a covetous eye on the Toronto market instead of serving the area it was licensed to serve.

The BBG ruled the proposal amounted to establishment of a third Toronto station and recommended its denial last Nov. 24. It noted its ban imposed since 1961 against third TV stations in areas already served by two Canadian outlets.

But the very next day the board announced it would start hearing applications this spring for third stations in Toronto and Montreal, the two most populous markets.

CKVR-TV promptly filed another application for the transmitter shift.

Once again it is being opposed by CFRB which has a proposal in the works for a series of channel shifts that would open Channel 13 for use in Toronto.

In its last submission, CKVR-TV maintained it had been serving some areas of Toronto since 1958 when it increased its power. The station said the transmitter shift would improve signals in areas already being served.

Also in the picture this time are two groups seeking a Toronto franchise for an ultra-high frequency channel. One is represented by Leslie A. Allen of Brampton and the other by R. E. Misener of Communications Associates, a Toronto firm.

The BBG has said it will hear UHF applications for the two cities as well as those for the very - high frequency channels now in use. Current sets cannot receive UHF signals without a special adapter.

Collected with the present CKVR-TV bid are three other proposals to improve signals from repeater stations it operates at Parry Sound, Huntsville and Haliburton. CKVR-TV wants approval of all four, maintaining each one is contingent on the others.

This has brought a welter of comments from other stations.

KECO-TV in Kitchener says the proposed Parry Sound changes would block it from getting up a repeater station in Wiarton to serve the Bruce Peninsula.

CHEX - TV in Peterborough would like to take over the Haliburton repeater and CFCH-TV in North Bay the Huntsville one if the Barrie transmitter is moved south. They are services for these areas would not be good if CKVR-TV becomes a station oriented towards Toronto audiences.

Also complicating the picture is the possible effect on reception of Channels 2 and 4 from Buffalo, N.Y., in the Toronto area.

Critics say strengthening of Barrie's Channel 3 signal could interfere. They claim it might take some sort of screening device to protect Toronto homes against this.

CKVR-TV says no. It also says it would hope to enjoy some of the estimated $3,000,000 in Canadian advertising now beamed by American channels into the Toronto-Niagara area.

Robert Culp Twice Beaten For Emmy by Same Person

A two-time loser, in fact. A born loser, he says, but as for that:

"You and I may have different definitions. Losers are people who commit cushy and quickly to things they believe in and then, like fools, hang in there till the last dog is killed."

What is he committed to? "I don't want to go into that." He is against killing. Period. Isn't he? Exploitively: "I don't know what more to say about that. I just don't understand it!"

Culp, 36, tall and athletic, with great flocked temples and offscreen spectacles, is Bill Cosby's sleuthing partner and co-star on I Spy.

Many people predicted Culp would get the Emmy (which is given on things up with Cosby, who won last year. But no, Cosby received it again, in the category in which both were nominated: Lead role in a dramatic series.

Said Culp: "I am not a natural award winner. Some people are, some are not. I tend to make people uneasy whether they know me or not."

Culp disparages even the honors he does get. The National Press Club gave him and Cosby its community - relations plaques at Washington screenings June 10. Said Culp: "It was something to liven up the evening. They were desperate for something to laugh at."

He received an off-Broadway acting award in 1957 but winning a College of the Pacific track meet in 1949 was "infinitely more important."

"I knew I was the best actor in the year. I wasn't so sure about the pole vault."

Cyprus Force Extended

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— The United Nations Security Council voted unanimously Monday to extend the mandate of the UN peacekeeping force on Cyprus for another six months.

The 4,600-man force includes about 900 Canadian troops.

Canada, participating in a council vote on the Cyprus force for the first time since it was established in 1964, cast a backward glance at the sudden disbandment of the UN Emergency Force in Egypt last month.

Ambassador George Ignatieff said Canada wants it clearly understood that the Cyprus force was established by the Council for a specified period of time and any change in the council's decision, or even a proposal for a change, will involve prior consultation among council members.

The UN force in Egypt was set up during the 1956 Suez crisis by the General Assembly, which has no enforcement powers. Egypt ordered the force to quit its territory for an unspecified length of time and the force was abruptly withdrawn last month by Secretary - General U Thant at Egypt's request.

Global TV Program Scheduled Sunday

MONTREAL (CP)—The first attempt at live radio-visual global transmission, covering 30 countries, will be carried out next Sunday by 19 participating nations.

The two-hour program—Our World—will use five satellite stations in presenting a spectacular documentary on man's problems and preoccupations as they are happening.

As part of a sequence on over-population, CBC cameras will focus on Habitat, the revolutionary mass-housing concept on display at Expo 67.

The program will open with a sequence from maternity hospitals in Mexico, Poland, the Soviet Union, Japan and Canada.

Our World uses four communications satellites—three American and one Soviet — with another Soviet satellite on standby over the Atlantic.

A sub-section of the program, entitled This Moment's World, will present a panorama of the world in action: midnight at the Swedlvosk airport in the Soviet north, evening in the capitals of Europe; afternoon in New York; high noon in the Alberta foothills, where a cowboy is breaking in his new pony; morning on Vancouver's Pacific shore, and the small hours in Sydney, Australia, and Tokyo.

Canadians will see Our World between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. The time varies elsewhere. In Moscow, for instance, it will be between 3 a.m. and 6 a.m.

Congolese Pavilion Opens

MONTREAL (CP) — A high-powered delegation of Americans pays a visit to the world's fair today before getting down to two days of Canadian-African talks on trade and economic matters.

Monday was International Africa Day at Expo 67. It also celebrated the official opening by The Congo of its pavilion after several weeks of troubles and a frantic last-minute scramble to get the pavilion's decor finished.

Traffic delayed the arrival at Africa Place of Jean - Marie Kiltiwa, the Congolese minister of foreign commerce and his accompanied a representative at the opening ceremonies.

The pavilion was busy until the early hour Sunday as workers laid red floor carpets and finished wall decorations prior to the arrival of Mr. Kiltiwa.

Mr. Kiltiwa blamed the delay in the opening on the loss of pavilion displays which had disappeared en route to Canada due to difficulties in communicating orders between the two countries.

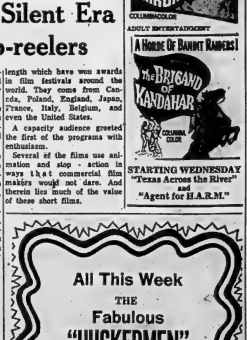
Great Comedies of Silent Era Only One And Two-reelers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The short subjects provided vehicles for the talents of Laurel and Hardy, Robert Benchley and Mickey Mouse.

Among the directors who graduated from making shorts are Frank Capra, Leo McCarey, George Stevens and Fred Zinneman.

The popularity of the double feature put the short into a lamentable decline. Today major studios produce virtually no shorts except for a few violent, unfunny cartoons.



The county museum, in cooperation with Janus Films, has been presenting two programs of New Cinema—movies from four to 28 minutes in length which have won awards in film festivals around the world. They come from Canada, Poland, England, Japan, France, Italy, Belgium, and even the United States.

Several of the films use animation and stop - action in ways that commercial film makers would not dare. And therein lies much of the value of these short films.

Three BC Fishermen Unionists Jailed One Year for Contempt

VANCOUVER (CP) — Homer Stevens, jailed Monday with two other British Columbia union leaders for contempt of court, said facts were distorted in the dispute that led to the charge and that "the whole truth must one day see the light of day in court."

Sentenced to one year in jail for criminal contempt of the Supreme Court of B.C. were Stevens, general secretary of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, UFAWA President Dave Stevens and UFAWU business agent Jack Nichol.

In addition to the jail terms, Mr. Justice T. A. Dohm fined the union $25,000 and directed a writ of sequestration on its assets and assets of the five who was not paid immediately. The fine was paid.

It was a cry of shame and a shout of boo from a packed gallery as the judge passed sentence for what he seemed a pleasant flaunting of the court's authority.

"I have read all the reported cases that could be found between the years 1760 and 1958 and nowhere have I found anything that equals the contempt shown in this case," the judge said.

Stevens, 52, pinched his eyes and lowered his head when sentence was passed. Later, he confronted his tearful wife. There was no show of emotion from the bearded Dave Stevens, or the burly 41-year-old Nichol.

Harry Rankin, a defence lawyer, said there would be an immediate appeal and an accompanying application for bail.

Mr. Justice Dohm initiated the contempt action following union strike, picketing and a strike bulletin relating to a Supreme Court injunction issued in a labor dispute at Prince Rupert, on the northern B.C. coast.

The injunction ordered the union to send a telegram giving permission for the union ships' workers to unload and process fish from five strike-bound trawlers.

The union mailed a membership vote on whether the telegram would be sent. The membership voted no.

"These people threw down the gauntlet and the court had a duty to pick it up," said Mr. Dohm. He said statements in union press releases and documents that no one person can order the union" and "he can make out 7,000 indictments" could only refer to a judge. He noted there had been no apology.

Stevens, in a prepared statement, said it had not been his intention to place the court in contempt.

"Presumably," he said, "the only real defence is to apologize without being sincere."

Stevens said that while lawyers had tried to bring out the facts behind the dispute in Prince Rupert, the court appeared to overlook all such facts and evidence as irrelevant.

He said he could go on at length about facts distorted by the Prince Rupert Fishing Vessel Owners' Association and the news media but he could only anticipate frustration.

"When the whole truth is considered irrelevant then it seems the court cannot render impartial justice," Stevens said.

"Yet the whole truth must one day see the light of day in court."

First Masonic Grand Master For Ont. Honored at Simcoe

On Sunday a bus load of district Masons, their wives, and members of their families travelled to Simcoe, Ontario, to participate in a Grand Lodge Pilgrimage, in commemoration of the late Col. William Mercer Wilson, LLD.

This distinguished Scottish immigrant became one of Canada's outstanding citizens. He served in the public life of this Province, in the armed services, and as honored and distinguished a judge.

Members of the Masonic Order honour him particularly, as he was the first Grand Master of A. F. & A. M. in Canada in the Province of Ontario. He gave such outstanding and devoted leadership that he was prevailed upon to serve as Grand Master on three different occasions, and was serving in this office in 1867 when Canada became a nation.

At 2.30 p.m. a divine service was conducted in St. John's Anglican Church, at the beautiful rural section of Woodhouse south of Simcoe. The Church was filled to overflowing by Grand Lodge Officers and past Officers. The congregation also over 2000 of necessity was accommodated in a large tent and on the spacious well kept lawns.

The service was conducted by Reverend James Donaldson, the lesson was read by Deputy Grand Master, Donald J. Gunn, and the sermon was delivered by the Rev. Alex K. Campbell, Past Grand Chaplain, and his theme, "A Glorious Heritage". Emphasis was placed on the Centennial of our Country. All masons were reminded of their debts to those who built well in the past that we might benefit and enjoy the privileges that we have today. While we celebrate in this centennial year, the minister reminded the masons of the obligations and duties of the present.

At the conclusion of the service, all Masons passed in procession from the service to the cemetery, where a service was conducted at the grave of William Mercer Wilson, by Eric Jensen, Worshipful Master of Norfolk Lodge No. 10, Simcoe, the late Grand Master's Lodge. Most Worshipful Bro. Ewart G. Dixon, Grand Secretary, placed a wreath on the grave. R. W. Bro. Bruce M. McCall, chairman of the committee responsible for arranging the entire program, introduced the present Grand Master, Most Worshipful the Hon. James Noble Allan, who delivered the address. He gave an eloquent eulogy portraying the sterling qualities of this great citizen and citizen. The Benediction was given by Bro. Rev. W. M. Bennett.

In spite of the huge attendance, a bountiful lunch was served to all the masons and their families.

To conclude this historic and impressive occasion, the visiting masons and their families were conducted through Norfolk Lodge in Simcoe, the Lodge of the late Most Worshipful Bro. William Mercer Wilson, LLD.

Five Campsites Ransacked at Presqu'ile Park

BRIGHTON — If burglary is thirsty work, the night wasn't a complete loss for thieves at nearby Presqu'ile Provincial Park, Saturday night.

Otherwise, a whole plan of wholesale burglary came hopelessly unhooked.

Among those entered were a tent belonging to Floyd Crawford, Belleville hockey players-coach, and a tent-trailer owned by Frank Insley of Trenton.

The nefarious net take from all break-ins amounted to six cans of beer.

High Level Bridge For Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD — A high level bridge will be built over the Trent River to replace the present low level 1.H. structure. Construction is expected to start by September.

This decision was made by Campbellford council at a special meeting Monday night. An ultimatum from the counties engineer and the road commission placed the onus of responsibility on council because of the unsafe condition of the existing bridge. Many months of discussion at local, county and the two levels of the Department of Transport preceded the decision. Although residents of the town are glad the matter has been decided, some are dissatisfied because the necessary 6½ per cent grade will change the entrance to some places of business.

Reeve G. H. Free and Councillor Newman were absent when the motion was passed. Deputy Reeve R. Locke cast the one dissenting vote.

Council Briefs

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford Community Centre will be officially opened July 19. Arrangements are underway for a dinner in the evening at which Premier John Robarts and Russell Rowe MPP will be present.

Arrangements are now being made to show the Don Messer Show at the Community Centre in August.

Because of the illness of Police Chief Baird, the town was left with only two police officers during the weekend. Heavy traffic, partly because of the Steam Reunion, created congested traffic and delays. Police Commissioner Harold Dunk said two new applicants will be interviewed Tuesday morning and one will be chosen to bring the force to the four men considered necessary.

Members of Campbellford Volunteer Fire Department driving their cars to a fire were asked to keep their speed to the established limit and observe all other traffic regulations. The resolution passed by council does not apply to the fire truck.

Mother of British MP Had Close View of War

LONDON (CP)—One of the first things Mrs. Adelaide Lubbock did today was speak to her sister and brother-in-law in Toronto to relate her experiences while stranded in Great Bitter Lake during the Egyptian-Israeli war.

"It was just marvelous to hear from them on the trans-Atlantic telephone," said Mrs. Lubbock after speaking to Victoria and James Woods in Toronto. Woods is an industrialist associated with a number of textiles and other companies.

Mrs. Lubbock, 60, mother of Eric Lubbock, a British Liberal member of Parliament who was educated in Toronto, was aboard the 10,400-ton Port Invercargill, a British ship returning home from Australia with a perishable cargo of apples and pears.

"I had a grandstand view of the war with planes shooting past us overhead and with the most awesome sight of the defeated Arabs trying to get back across the lake," Mrs. Lubbock said in an interview.

"Yes, I suppose we were in danger but I didn't mind being stranded. There wasn't a dull moment."

Dozens of other ships were also stranded in the lake when it forms part of the Suez Canal. Passengers and crews were being taken off their ships by launch and returned to their homes by air from Cairo.

Canadian officials said a number of Canadians were reported to be among the evacuees. The Blue Star line said it had two Canadians, identified only as Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Whipple, ham, who had boarded the cargo ship Scottish Star at Freemantle, Australia. The ship carried refrigerated cargo. The Blue Star said the Whipplehams arrived safely in London Friday but no further word of their whereabouts was available. The line did not know their hometown.

Mrs. Lubbock said her worst moment was on Saturday, the shriek of aircraft over head or the sight of the straggling Arab army but the moment when she boarded an aircraft to return to Britain.

"I have never flown before," she said. "I have always firmly refused to fly and now I have loved my time had come to die."

But the trip back was very smooth."

Passengers aboard the stranded ships saw between 200 and 300 retreating Egyptian soldiers on the East bank of the lake. Some were in their underclothes and "looked like beasts," Mrs. Lubbock said. Egyptian and canal authorities "appeared to be absolutely, entire indifferent to the plight."

One Egyptian swam three miles to the Invercargill and reached the ship in a state of collapse. Crews aboard the Invercargill and some other ships lowered lifeboats and helped hundreds of the exhausted Arabs across the lake. Some of the Arabs died as they lay in the boats.

NDP Proposes Minimum Wage Of $1.75 an Hour

TORONTO (CP) — The New Democratic Party of Ontario will raise the minimum wage in the province to $1.75 an hour for men and women if it forms the next government, a policy statement released Monday shows.

The 77-page statement also says an NDP government would give workers a minimum eight statutory holidays with pay, a reduction in the standard work week to 40 hours from 44 and no reduction in take-home pay, and longer holidays.

On holidays, there would be a minimum of three weeks' vacation for employees with at least one year's service and four weeks for those with 10 years' seniority.

The minimum wage in Ontario now is $1.25 an hour for construction workers and $1 for others.

NDP leader Donald MacDonald told a news conference the statement is the most "comprehensive" statement of policy ever formulated by the party.

Based on 400 resolutions drawn up at the party's 1966 convention, the program says an NDP government would:

—Raise the provincial share of education costs to 80 per cent from 45 in the first term of office.

—Enact a tenants' bill of rights and develop a large program of low-income housing.

—Enact a medical care program that would include prescription drugs and free dental care for children.

—Develop a regional development program for Northern Ontario and move to regional municipal government.

—Implement Freedman report recommendations bringing automation to industry and eliminate all injunctions which threaten to deprive the right of employees to protect their jobs.

The program also favored an incentive plan for farmers, public auto insurance and tougher policies on car safety, and a shift towards progressive taxes to raise Ontario's revenue, moving away from property and sales taxes.

It would provide free university education, replace grading systems and report cards in elementary schools, make the teaching of English and French compulsory, establish a pension plan and rent review board and grant municipal status to Indian reserves.

The program says the party believes the hiring of outside strikebreakers should be outlawed.

Missing Border Patrolman Found Handcuffed and Shot

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)— The bodies of two U.S. border patrolmen missing since Saturday were found Monday in a lonely desert cabin at the desert community of Anza, 70 miles northeast of here, the FBI reported.

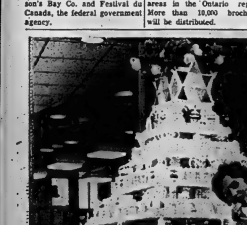
The patrolmen, each shot in the head and handcuffed to a stove in the cabin, had been sought since their disappearance from an inspection station at Oak Grove, Calif.

They were Theodore Newton Jr., 25, and T. H. Arneck, 22. Newton's wife said the two men was a routine radio call from their position Saturday.

A citizen later reported he had seen Carmen Raymond Gagliardi, one of the FBI's 10 most - wanted men, about 30 miles west near the same highway.

An FBI spokesman refused to speculate on any possible link between the missing officers and the reported presence of Gagliardi, 27, wanted for evading prosecution on a Bonad murder charge.

Congo Police Cut Off Fingers



BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian foreign ministry said today that M. Van der Steen, a Belgian technician, was subjected to "odious brutalities" by police in The Congo.

Informed sources said Van der Steen had been badly beaten and that his right ear and all the fingers of his right hand had been cut off. He is under treatment in hospital.

The Congolese police were reported to have arrested Van der Steen in Mutshasa, Katanga province, after a bridge was dynamited.

Belgian consular authorities in Katanga were reported trying to stop Belgian technicians from quitting their jobs because of the incident. Sources in Brussels said a few spontaneous strikes have already occurred.

Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel called in the Congolese charge d'affaires and demanded that Congolese authorities express regrets and prevent further such incidents.

Doctors Told to Arm Selves With Lobbyists, Publicity Men

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian doctors should form a united front and arm themselves with the full range of public relations, parliamentary lobbying and expert negotiating weapons for impending medical care negotiations with governments, says the secretary of the British Medical Association.

Dr. Derek Stevenson, BMA secretary since 1958, advised Canadian doctors never to deprive the public of services through a strike but to retain their right to refuse to operate under any medical care scheme that endangers the profession's principles.

"The first essential is a strong association which can be proud to speak for a united profession," he told the Canadian Medical Association's conference on medical insurance and medical manpower.

"The second essential is to maintain and maintain the closest links with those who control public and parliamentary opinions. This includes the modern mass media of television and radio.

"The third essential is to gather the best possible team of advisers in preparation of the case."

The negotiating team leaders should be doctors but the members should include a lawyer, accountant, statistician and economist, he said.

Dr. Stevenson's advice came as provincial medical associations were preparing to negotiate or were conducting negotiations with provincial governments which intend to participate in the federal medical care insurance program starting July 1, 1968.

The CMA last week decided to set up a special department of collective negotiations to help provincial medical groups become more expert in negotiation with government.

The CMA also decided to shift national headquarters from Toronto to Ottawa, where contact with federal legislators would be easier.

Dr. Stevenson offered the doctors advice on impending negotiations, a Canadian physician expressed anxiety over the attitude of the Ontario Medical Association, which has decided as a matter of policy to deal only with patients and not with the provincial government.

Dr. Frank Turnbull of Vancouver, who headed the CMA committee that recommended a department of collective negotiation, said it remains to be seen whether the Ontario Medical Association decision is workable.

"The doctors of Ontario have the strongest provincial medical association in Canada," he said. "Their leaders have influenced Canadian medico-political thought profoundly for generations.

"Today they are standing alone. Perhaps they are right. Their colleagues in other parts of Canada are anxiously watching their course."

Ex-policeman Beaten to Death In Toronto Home

TORONTO (CP) — William Jeffrey Sangster, 47, a Toronto hydro worker and former policeman, was shot and bludgeoned to death early today in his east end Toronto home.

Police said Mr. Sangster, father of seven, was asleep when someone entered his bedroom and began fighting with him. He was shot four times in the chest and shoulder with a 22-calibre rifle that managed to crawl nude into the street.

His assailant continued beating him about the head on the sidewalk, witnesses said.

Mr. Sangster resigned from the police department several years ago.

Police said five children were in the house at the time of the incident. A son was being questioned.

Witnesses said Mrs. Sangster had been away from home since last Friday when police were called to quell a domestic argument.

Roblin Said Ready to Run

MONTREAL (CP) — The Gazette says Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba is "on the verge of declaring his candidacy" for the Progressive Conservative party leadership.

In a story from Ottawa, the newspaper quotes party sources as saying that Mr. Roblin consulted last week an influential group of Manitoba Conservatives who gave him the green light to seek the party leadership.

To Your Good Health

Schedule for Vaccinations Is Given

There may be occasional reasons for delaying or advancing an immunization, so do not be upset if your doctor finds need of such modifications of the schedule.

However, this has been checked and approved by outstanding authorities. It will be worth clipping out and saving. Of course, further vaccines doubtless will develop as time goes on, but this covers the basic list of necessary ones now.

3 months: First quadruple vaccination — diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and polio. (Or first triple vaccination, diphtheria - whooping cough-tetanus, plus first oral polio vaccine.)

4 months — Second quadruple (or triple plus oral polio).

5 months — Third quadruple (or triple plus oral polio).

Note: When oral polio vaccine is given, all three doses may be the trivalent type — that is, including the three major strains of the vaccine, or single-strain vaccine may be used. In the latter case, Type 1 is given first, Type 2 given second and Type 3 last.)

10 months — Measles vaccine.

12 months — Smallpox vaccination. If it has not been given earlier, plus tuberculin test.

14-15 months — Another quadruple vaccine (or triple vaccine plus trivalent oral polio vaccine.)

2 years — tuberculin test.

3 years — Tuberculin test.

4 years — Quadruple or triple vaccine.

5 years Smallpox vaccination, tuberculin test, and trivalent oral polio vaccine (if oral vaccine was used earlier)

12 years—Same as 10 years.

Adult: Beyond age 15, a booster of adult-type diphtheria-tetanus every five years also repeat smallpox vaccination every five years.

Requirements for entering school vary from one community to another, but the recommended ones are that a child should be protected against diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, polio, smallpox and measles, and a tuberculin test should be repeated. The above schedule fulfills all these.

If a child has missed any of these, it's never too late to start the needed vaccinations.

At any age, remember: Boosters are needed to keep protection at peak effectiveness. A combined booster of diphtheria and tetanus every five years, and a repeat smallpox vaccination every five years provides safety. A booster of tetanus toxoid is wise whenever an injury breaks the skin, particularly if it is a puncture wound suffered out of doors.

Your doctor can keep you posted on the advisability of polio boosters.

For foreign travel: Special vaccinations such as typhoid, cholera, typhus will depend on the area visited.

De Gaulle Explains

Mid-east War Caused By U.S. in Vietnam

Psychological Process Seen

PARIS (AP) — President de Gaulle accused Israel today of starting the Middle East war June 5 but said the conflict was in effect caused by what he called U.S. intervention in Vietnam.

The war in Vietnam created "a psychological and political process which led to the fighting in the Middle East," he told the cabinet.

De Gaulle said France "condemns the opening of hostilities by Israel." Previously France had avoided putting the blame on either Israel or the Arab states.

De Gaulle noted that France had tried to get the Big Four—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France—"to unite in opposition to the use of arms" in the Middle East.

"Today, France does not recognize any of the changes realized on the ground by military action," he said.

SUDBURY (CP) — A 17-year-old girl was the only survivor of a seven - member Sudbury family killed today in a one-car accident less than three miles from home.

Dead are Raymond Picard, 50, his wife Dora, 48, and their children Donna Gail, 18, Francis, 16, Catherine, 10, and Patricia, 9.

Britain Wants Old Frontiers

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Britain warned the Israelis today to avoid annexing the section of Jerusalem they conquered, because doing so "will be a step which will isolate them from-world opinion."

Britain's stand was a direct challenge to Israel's announced determination to hold out to all the Holy City.

British Foreign Secretary George Brown told the emergency General Assembly session that "in my view war should not lead to territorial aggrandizement."

In this, he gave important Western support to a strand of the Soviet Union that Israel should not gain territorially from her lightning victory over the Arabs in five days of war early this month.

Brown, leader of the Labor day in the continuing acrimonious UN debate on the Middle East, told the 122-country assembly it faces a new urgency now in view of news of "new dangers on a scale which we can scarcely imagine," reference to China's explosion of a hydrogen bomb.

"If we fail in an area as dangerous as this (the Middle East), the chances of the world and our children and grandchildren going up in a mushroom cloud must be enormous."

This appeared to be an appeal primarily to the big powers, in view of the Chinese H - bomb threat, to clear away obstacles to a dialogue at the highest level.

Persistent reports continue that U.S. President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin will meet, although the White House repeated today that no arrangements had been made.

Britain urged the appointment of a UN representative, "whose standing should be unchallenged" to go at once to the Middle East with staff and full facilities, to advise the UN secretary-general on cooperfor and peacekeeping problems there from day to day.

Israel Denies Attack

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—An Indian defence ministry spokesman Tuesday denied a report that Israeli tanks deliberately attacked troops in the Gaza strips after fighting between Israel and Egypt broke out June 5

He was commenting on a report by The Canadian Press from Nicosia, Cyprus, which quoted an unnamed Indian officer evacuated from Egypt as saying an Israeli attack on a UN truck convoy June 5 was a deliberate, cold-blooded killing of unarmed soldiers.

Fourteen Indian soldiers were killed or died later of wounds and another 24 were wounded.

The spokesman also said there was no truth in the report that an Israeli tank opened fire point-blank at an Indian colonel and that a tank had rammed its gun through the windshield of an Indian jeep, decapitating two men, and shot down Indians who attempted to help their comrades.

Earlier Tuesday, an official Israeli spokesman at the United Nations said his country rejects as unfounded any suggestions that casualties among the Indian soldiers were deliberately inflicted.

Arabs' Revolt in Aden May Delay Independence

ADEN (Reuters) — Arab nationalists burned down the Aden Legislative Council building today in a renewed outbreak of violence.

Police said the council building went up "like a big bonfire."

The building was on a hill in Aden's Crater district which appeared today to be under the control of Arab nationalists.

A branch of the British Bank of the Middle East in Aden was also set on fire by Arabs, police said, but not much damage was caused."

By noon today British troops had failed to dislodge Arab gunmen entrenched behind old Turkish fortifications on a mountainside in the Crater area.

A total of 24 persons—17 of them British soldiers — were killed and 26 others wounded. A British civilian also was killed.

LONDON (AP) — The British government's plans to leave Aden and the South Arabian Federation in January were threatened today by a mutiny in the South Arabian Army and the Aden police.

The belief was widespread in London that British government would have to take a hard new look at its plans, announced Monday, to give independence about Jan. 9 to the federation made up of Aden state and 16 sultanates and sheikhdoms strung along the southwest coast of Arabia.

Red Offensive Likely As Monsoon Rains Start

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands today reported intensified Communist movements and clashes in the central highlands and the 1st Corps Area south of the demilitarized zone — the two current danger points of the Vietnam war.

In the highlands, a Communist offensive is expected with the monsoon rains now drenching the jungles.

American forces reported 43 Communists killed in the 1st Corps area Tuesday in a rash of small but stiff firefights. The U.S. command said U.S. casualties were three killed and 32 wounded.

South Vietnamese infantrymen claimed 82 Viet Cong killed in two clashes 29 miles south of Da Nang.

Communist rocket and mortar attacks continued against U.S. and South Vietnamese posts just below the demilitarized zone. Two marines were reported killed and eight wounded, while the South Vietnamese said they had light casualties.

In the foothills in Binq Dinh province, troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported continuing skirmishes. In clashes Tuesday two cavalrymen died and 28 were wounded.

A total of 124 strike missions were flown against North Vietnam Tuesday. Major targets were the Red River Delta line, running northwest from Hanoi to China, and the northern line to the industrial centre at Thai Nguyen, about 40 miles above the capital.

In the South B-52 bombers plastered suspected Communist concentration points with heavy raids in three provinces.

Garrison Witness Says NBC Asked Him to Wreck Probe

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)— District Attorney Jim Garrison's investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy found itself in more controversy today after a star witness provided a detail to Tuesday statements aired by the National Broadcasting Co.

Perry Russo told reporters Tuesday members of an NBC news team sought his help "to wreck the Garrison investigation."

He said that the NBC team alternated promises and threats in repeated efforts to enlist his co-operation.

In New York, the network denied Russo's detailed accusations.

In its Monday night televised program NBC said Garrison placed Russo on the witness stand during the preliminary hearing for Clay L. Shaw knowing that the witness had failed a lie detector test relevant to his testimony.

Leonard Gurvich, a private investigator who supervised the test, denied Russo flunked and said the polygraph operator was unable to get specific readings because Russo was "highly nervous."

Shaw, 54, a wealthy retired New Orleans businessman, has been indicted on charges of conspiracy to murder Kennedy, assassinated in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963. The indictment was based largely on Russo's grand jury testimony.

Russo told reporters Walter Sheridan of the NBC news staff offered "to set me up in California, protect my job and guarantee Garrison would never get me extradited back to Louisiana" if he co-operated.

Sheridan identified other persons he said talked to him on behalf of NBC as Richard Townley of WDSU-TV, an NBC affiliate here, and writer James Phelan of the Saturday Evening Post.

Russo said Townley threatened to wreck his personal reputation unless he co - operated.

Garrison says Kennedy was killed by anti - Castro Latin-Americans who once worked for the CIA.

U.S. Disputes Israeli Claims Reds Pour Arms Into Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. intelligence information indicates Communist European nations have sent Egypt about 50 MiG jet fighters since the Israelis smashed Egypt's air force in the recent Middle East war.

U.S. sources also said replacement of Egyptian tanks has been relatively slight so far.

They disputed claims of Israeli military sources here that Communist countries have been pouring in equipment and supplies to replace Egypt's staggering losses in the brief Sinai campaign and Israeli air strikes that preceded it.

In Moscow, informed sources said today the Soviet Union has promised to rebuild Egypt's armed forces to their strength before Israel defeated them, sending replacement weapons free of charge.

Israeli military sources told a reporter the Soviets, Czechs and other Communist European countries have sent 150 to 200 MiGs to Egypt by direct flight or by ship.

But U.S. sources said it appeared some Communist European MiGs might have been sent to Egypt as a loan to provide security for the country.

The Americans said about 100 MiGs survived the Israeli air strikes.

American officers said a check of a reported shipload of tanks resulted in the conclusion there were only five of the armored vehicles delivered by an Algerian vessel to Egypt.

Americans did not challenge the claim that supplies and equipment were entering the country, but they said the volume was not especially large and could be a carry-over of materiel en route before the war started June 5.

Israel has claimed to have destroyed 431 Arab aircraft, including 337 Egyptian planes.

The Israelis claimed to have destroyed or captured 600 of Egypt's 900 tanks.

But American experts said the Soviet-built armor may be of limited use to the Israelis because they will not have available to them spare parts for maintenance.

Car Damaged by Crash, Fire

Car Hits Gas Meter, Houses; Fire Damage Set at $7,500

Damage amounting to more than $7,500 resulted from an accident at Albion and Station Streets early today.

A fire ignited when the car driven by John Caulder of 200 East Dundas street ruptured a gas meter and line at 155 Station St. The car broke through the wall of the house and gas poured out of the line into the interior.

Ted Poste said the fire was "like a big, blow torch" and it looked like we were going to lose both for a while." The fire was brought under control but the heat was enough to melt the front of the car.

Mr. Caules was making a left hand turn on to Station St. when the car skidded over the north curb onto the sidewalk, knocked down a steel post and then swerved across the road and crashed into two adjacent houses.

The Morris residence at 155 Station St., was completely gutted by the crash and the fire. Ray Cornell's home at 153 Station Street was also damaged extensively. The front of the car to the windshield was completely wrecked.

Mr. Caules, 79, was taken to the emergency ward at Belleville General Hospital for treatment. His condition is not serious.

CAP PAYS OFF

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Drug poisoning cases in southern Ontario have decreased steadily since the introduction of new safety caps on containers, Windsor druggists found in a survey. Of 62 cases of poisoning in March, 1967, only 14 were caused by prescription drugs. One case involved a safety cap improperly fastened.

The meeting chaired by the retiring president, Lieut.-Col. A. Duffy, received reports from the Ambulance, Nursing and Cadet Nursing Divisions. These revealed a very heavy schedule of activities of all divisions, largely due to the many essential activities and projects in which Saint John is participating to provide first aid service to the attending public. These are in addition to the many members on assignment to render similar service at Expo. All the services of Saint John Ambulance in Belleville are made possible in part due to the financial assistance of the United Community Services of which it is an agency.

Coroner Rules Out Inquest

An eight-year-old boy, injured in Monday's crash of a school bus and tanker - truck north of Shannonville, is still in serious condition, Kingston General Hospital authorities reported today.

Walter Vos, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Vos, was rushed to Kingston after preliminary examination at Belleville General Hospital. He suffered a broken leg and a fractured skull.

His sister, Jeanine, 7, remains in Belleville General Hospital with a fractured ankle suffered in the same mishap that sent a total of five Melrose School students and the woman bus driver to hospital. Three of them were later released.

Meantime, no inquest is expected to be held into the death of Nadine Greene, the nine-year-old Corbyville area girl fatally injured in the crash.

Coroner Dr. John Stock today said an inquest was ruled out by the fact the truck driver, Gerald Griffin, 36, of Toronto, had been charged with criminal negligence.

Griffin, in custody since Monday night, made his first court appearance tomorrow in Belleville.

Kinsmen Club Still Looking For Entries

The Kinsmen Club of Belleville are still looking anxiously for more comely young ladies of the Quinte district to enter the Belleville Centennial Queen Beauty Pageant.

While several applications have been received, the Pageant officials are hopeful of receiving more entries to provide an interesting contest.

It is expected that there will be a capacity crowd in attendance to see who will be crowned Queen. While the price of admission is small this is not an indication of the quality of the entertainment. The Kinsmen Club is underwriting the cost of the hall and orchestra to enable as low a price as possible to attend. Eddie Graf's orchestra a Toronto based group from the Bobby Gimby organization and is rapidly gaining renown as a top flight dance band.

The Pageant officials will be announcing next week the names of the judges for the Beauty Queen Pageant and the full list of prizes to be awarded. This is to be one of the highlights of the local centennial celebrations and those organizing the Pageant are hopeful of generous public support.

Lions Club Winds Up Season

DESERONTO — At the close of the dinner for the final meeting of the Lions Club before the summer recess, a vote was taken to decide the most popular member of the club. The count revealed that all but two members had voted for George Lyons.

As his award Mr. Lyons was invited to the head of the table, where he made a brief speech thanking his fellow members, and then proceeded to cut the huge cake. Wishing to share the honor, he invited each member to cut his own, but was refused. The honor was his alone.

A cut which he thought adequate failed to make any impression once it got through the icing. More and still more pressure had no greater effect.

Four Receive Commendations

Final Flight for UN Emergency Force Arrives at Trenton

TRENTON — The evacuation of Canada's Middle East peace-keeping force was completed yesterday, and three of the last 10 returning troops found themselves recipients of government commendations for distinguished conduct.

Flying Officer R. J. V. Simpson, 26 of Yorkton, Sask., F/O L. S. T. J. Gagnon, 24 of Montmagny, P.Q., and 36-year-old Cp. O. J. L. Bedard, of Orleans, Ont., arrived at CFB Trenton yesterday on one of three returning Caribou aircraft that made the de-activation of El Arish Air Transport Unit 115 an accomplished fact.

Air Vice Marshal Chester Hull, commander of Trenton's Air Transport Command headquarters, announced the commendations that had been received yesterday afternoon by Defence Minister Paul Hellyer.

The commendations were awarded in connection with an air incident over the Gaza Strip May 17. F/O Simpson was piloting Caribou 5321, which carried four senior military officers, including Maj.-Gen. I. J. Rikhye, the Indian commander of the United Nations Emergency Force. Two Israeli fighter planes intercepted the Caribou when it was about 12 miles south-west of Gaza Airport, and fired a burst of shells across its path when F/O Simpson ignored the Israeli signals to follow them.

General Rikhye later lauded a formal objection against Israel through U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, which was followed by an official Israeli apology for the incident.

F/O Simpson has been awarded a queen's commendation for brave conduct. F/O Gagnon a Queen's commendation for valuable service, and Cpl. Bedard will receive a letter of commendation from chief of defence staff, General Jean V. Allard.

A fourth crew member, Cpl. D. M. G. R. Golden who returned with a previous evacuation flight of the Canadian contingent, will also receive a letter of commendation from General Allard. Cpl. Golden served as transportation technician aboard Caribou 5321.

"Their first passes appeared to be more of a friendly nature," said F/O Simpson yesterday, "that type of thing is quite common. We weren't really concerned until they really started to swoop down on us.

"They gave us the international 'follow me' signal by lowering their undercarriage. They came by two or three times with their wheels lowered, and finally passed so close we had to take evasive action, and were flying at about 1,300 feet.

"When we didn't indicate we were going to follow them, one of the jets circled and fired a burst of about six or eight shots some distance ahead of us. General Rikhye came and stood between the co-pilot and myself when he learned the aircraft was intercepting us. He actually observed the firing.

F-O Simpson said the UNEF commander later presented him with one of the shells fire at the Caribou which was recovered on the ground in the area. The pilot is having the keepsake mounted.

He said one of those aboard at the time of the incident was an Egyptian captain who had been negotiating with Canadians for their withdrawal from the Gaza Strip, as ordered by United Arab Republic President Nasser.

Yesterday afternoon's arrival at Trenton came seven months to the day after F-O Simpson was posted in the Middle East.

In welcoming the last of the Canadian Middle East contingent to Trenton, Air Vice Marshal Hull said: "We are winding the de-activation of 115 Air Transport Unit. You will note I said de-activated, not disbanded, for in these unsettled days it may be called upon on short notice to provide the essential services that it has in the past."

The air transport commander also read the small group of arrivals a message from Defence Minister Hellyer, congratulating them on behalf of the prime minister. "The way in which your command responded to this short notice operation and the manner in which you continued to meet your other commitments is something of which all Canadians have a right to be proud," the message read.

The last commanding officer of El Arish ATU 115, Wing Commander J. W. Fitzsimmons of Lindsay had been in Gaza almost a year. His tour of duty there was to be completed in August.

He said the Canadian troops felt a "feeling of futility as peace-keepers" upon learning of their evacuation orders. They felt a quick withdrawal was not in keeping with their role," he said.

"We brought out all personal gear, and all valuable equipment, such as aircraft parts. Some things, such as bedding, were left because of bulkiness, or lack of eventual value as compared with the urgency of our departure.

"Most of whatever mechanical equipment we had to leave at El Arish was not left in working condition. The last Canadian left the Gaza Strip May 31."

From El Arish the Canadians had flown to Beirut, Lebanon.

"We understand the Beirut airfield closed an hour after we left on June 2 — the day hostilities broke out between the Arabs and Israelis."

The last three Caribou aircraft flew home via Athens, Pisa, Lahr, Scotland, Iceland, Greenland, and Goose Bay over the past two weeks.

W-O Fitzsimmons said the three aircraft, now bearing the light blue United Nations insignia, will likely be based with CFB Trenton's 302 ATU (Search and Rescue) Unit, and their crews will be re-assigned to other duties.

Plane Floats to Island

The sabre jet to be displayed on Zwick's Island as part of Belleville's centennial project arrived at the site this morning. Workmen will have it and other project items ready for July 5 opening. The Lions Club are sponsoring the project.

Mild Criticism of Doctors Expressed by Magistrate

Doctors who cannot appear to testify in court cases because of other professional commitments today drew mild criticism from Magistrate R. C. Jackson in Belleville.

"Doctors are busy people," admitted the magistrate. "However, attendance at court, even with a very small fee. . .is part of the citizen's duty, the same as in war."

Magistrate Jackson's comments were sparked by a request from the prosecution for adjournment of a preliminary hearing into income fraud charges against government income taxation officer Alex Manjuris, 36.

Manjuris was suspended from his post at the Department of National Revenue offices March 16 and later charged with uttering forged medical receipts and a charitable donation.

The departmental investigation preceding his suspension brought angry charges at that time from Manjuris' lawyer, Robert Temple, that his civil rights had been infringed. Individual rights.

Assistant Crown Attorney Glen Deline today sought postponement of the hearing because of the inavailability of out-of-town witnesses.

"There are some witnesses involved who are doctors and two of the doctors have found it extremely inconvenient to attend today," he said.

The magistrate said he understood the position of the doctors but emphasized that court testimony imposed as much duty on a citizen as wartime service.

Society, he added, was giving doctors "a good living. . . the best in better living than the soldiers of 25 years ago as far as I'm concerned."

Mr. Deline said the prosecution also was seeking the adjournment since further investigation was necessary.

This brought strong objections from Mr. Temple who said the Crown had opportunity to continue its investigations since May 8, when the charges were laid against Manjuris.

"I won't comment on what it indicates to me," said the defence lawyer.

He said the prosecution had not furnished him with photostatic copies of all the medical receipts income tax officials allege were forged by Manjuris.

The case should also be expedited since Manjuris was still under suspension.

"This man has been suspended from his employment pending the outcome of these matters . . . there is no employment and there is no money coming in," said Mr. Temple.

The magistrate agreed it was a very unfortunate position for Manjuris to find himself in."

Both counsel agreed with Magistrate Jackson's decision to postpone the hearing until June 30.

Mr. Temple then said his client, if committed for trial at that time, would choose to be before a jury.

De Gaulle

ruel's attempt to hold any of the land captured from the Arabs in the six-day war.

De Gaulle's views were contained in a statement handed to correspondents following the cabinet meeting.

The president declared that the world is threatened by spreading conflicts. He asserted that peace can only be saved if the United States gets out of Vietnam, a war he blamed on U.S. intervention.

In his strongest statement yet on the Vietnam war, de Gaulle said his cabinet:

"The spirit and fact of war are spreading again across the world. Once more conflict contributes to causing another.

"The war started in Vietnam by American intervention cannot help but spread trouble, not only there but far away. . . .

"France has taken a position against the war in Vietnam and against foreign intervention which seemed in the first place to be tainted since the start that this conflict can only cease through the pledge of the parties involved to withdraw her forces within a given time."

De Gaulle's gloomy picture of the world scene was drawn following recent talks with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin of the Soviet Union and Prime Minister Wilson of Britain.

He said that "France considers that there is no chance of arriving at a peaceful settlement in the present world situation unless a new world element appears."

"This element could and should be the end of the war in Vietnam, by the termination of foreign intervention."

De Gaulle described the Vietnam war in these terms:

"The war started in Vietnam by American intervention—the destruction of lives and property that it brought about, the fundamental sterility which it characterizes it, however powerful and however terrible are its effects, could help but spread trouble, not only there but far away."

De Gaulle added that from this state of affairs, "comes the attitude of China and the speed-up in its armament." This was an obvious reference to China's H-bomb test last Saturday.

Carrying on what he said was a cause-and-effect relationship with the war in Vietnam, De Gaulle said it created "a psychological and political process which led to the fight in the Middle East."

Picton Mayor Gives Cheque, Will Build Road for Camp

PICTON (Staff) — Roblin Lake Salvation Army Camp in Ameliasburg last night held it's annual official opening. Mayor H. J. McFarland of Picton declared the camp officially open before a large audience from the whole of the Mid-Ontario Division. Representatives were there from Oshawa, Whitby and Bowmanville on the West to Peterborough on the North and some from as far East as Gananoque. Also on hand to bring greetings to the Camp staff and the Salvation Army in particular were Norris Whitney, MLA and Robert Boyce, Warden of Prince Edward County.

The evening's program opened with a selection by the Belleville Citadel Band under the direction of Bandmaster John Green.

Lt. Col. W. T. Hawkes acted as chairman for the evening's program and thanked those who made the camp possible and all the representatives of the division personnel who cooperated so well and showed such a good spirit all day. He pointed out the improvements made to the Camp over the past year. Mrs. Col. Hawkes, "Nora" as she is known, are a lot of "borderline Salvationists" who are interested in our work and who have helped our work with under privileged children".. "Those children often come," he continued, during the month of August and we have 200 campers with 60 to 70 who are underprivileged in each of the camps. Col. Hawkes pointed out that the camp's purpose is laying the foundations of the camp and gave special mention to the late Senator W. H. Fraser of Trenton and Mayor H. J. McFarland. Both he said were instrumental in the camp's origin and they are indeed to be commended for their work. Col. Hawkes also paid tribute to Jesse Mason of Picton, who has contributed much to helping the camp.

Robert Boyce in bringing greetings from the County to the visitors praised the good work of the Salvation Army. "I'm not surprised to see Mayor McFarland here, he said, in spite of his illness I know this is one event he would not want to miss, and I feel the same way about the Salvation Army and the work it does. "We in the County of Prince Edward," he said "are both proud and honored to have you visit our county and to have this wonderful camp in our county."

Mayor McFarland arrived directly at the camp from Toronto and in his opening remarks said, "This camp brings back memories for me" and I am very pleased to see the progress that has been made over the past years." "I'm only sorry," he added, "the late Senator Fraser can not be here with me." This building was named in Fraser Hall in his memory and I'm sure he would be pleased to see how it looks today.

The mayor thanked both Jesse Mason and Jack Lethop of Picton for the work they have contributed to the camp. His Worship also volunteered to build the camp a new road badly needed in one area of the camp. "I want everything we can for this camp," he said. The mayor then received a cheque from the Salvation Army for work he had previously done on the camp and promptly handed it back to the local representative Capt. Gee to be used for underprivileged children of Prince Edward County. The cheque was in the amount of $600.

The program closed with concert music, and throughout the evening the audience was treated to vocal solos and the work of a fine singing trio from Belleville. A luncheon followed the evening program.

The camp starts off with the Ladies' Home League Leaders from throughout the division. They will attend the camp for about three days and then the first group in for the season will be a Music Camp from the Division and they will occupy the camp from July 2 to 10th. The camp is situated in a beautiful location bordering the north shore of Roblin Lake in the village of Ameliasburgh.

Kosygin Hits Out

Politicians are politicians — and mild-mannered as he appears Soviet Premier Kosygin has shown himself to be no more accommodating to the West than his predecessor Nikita Khrushchev.

What he had to say in his United Nations address was all too eloquent of the hypocrisy of the communist world. By blaming Israel for aggression in the Middle East, Kosygin naturally was attempting to put the best face on things following the defeat of the Soviet-equipped Arab forces. At the same time he is a good deal less than believable when it is remembered that Egypt had closed the Gulf of Aqabe, cutting off Israeli's southern sea route, and with its other Arab neighbors had threatened Israel with extinction.

Kosygin also accused the United States of encouraging Israel to renew war on the Arabs. This is patently absurd; the United States at no time during the crisis made any overt move against the Arabs. In fact, one of its ships in the Mediterranean was strafed and torpedoed by Israeli jets and naval vessels, and when U.S. carrier-based jets went to the ship's aid President Johnson used the "hot line" to inform Mr. Kosygin that this was a defensive action only.

But all that is history. What are the Soviets planning now that shows any real concern for peace and stability in the Middle East? Or are they simply going to keep the area in turmoil, by inflaming not only the communist world in the traditional pattern of anti-western propaganda, but by maintaining the Arab states as a constant, if unreliable, threat to the continued existence of Israel?

Kosygin is not specific on points such as these. Apparently he is hoping to negotiate a cease-fire in the war between India and Pakistan the Soviets have never lifted a finger to promote peace anywhere in the world. It is true they are not openly engaged in military hostilities as the Americans are, but that is not to say Russia is not actively promoting and backing any number of governments outside its own territories as a means of undermining Western influence. That has long been Soviet policy and there is no reason to suppose it has changed.

The Soviet leader told the UN Assembly his country "will undertake all measures within its power both in the United Nations and outside to eliminate the consequences of aggression and promote the establishment of a lasting peace in the region."

But such a statement is not likely to inspire confidence. Anyone can express sentiments of that kind, but in international politics actions speak louder than words. Thus far the Soviets have been long on verbiage and short on any positive action that would tend to promote peace.

It is as H. G. Wells noted in 1936, in a book on the writings of William Burroughs Steele, "Man desires peace. The plans for an eternal world peace have been exhaustively sketched in outline by hundreds of thinkers and writers . . . For all that we prepare steadily for war and drift toward war. There can be no other answer than that for all its wide distribution that desire for peace is too weak, too discontinuous and too uncoordinated for the adverse impulses."

Or as it has been put more tersely, "As long as man is man there shall be wars."

Family Advice

Every now and again the family man in this work-oriented society remembers he is a family man and he has a wife and offspring and that they need some attention.

If this sounds like a cynical observation, the way the magazine, The Canadian Salesman, views it is, if not cynically, then patronizingly.

The magazine gives the following advice to husbands which could be construed thus, though doubtless the advice is timely enough:

Listen to what she has to say. It may not be earthshaking, but is your description of the latest manoeuvre of office politics?

Take your wife with you on business trips whenever possible.

Praise her cooking.

Even if you are the sole breadwinner, be fair and open about family finances.

Sometimes give her some unasked for help.

Compliment her to your friends and associates.

Be a little romantic.

Don't wait to tell her you love her until she asks if you do.

All rather cautious, this advice, as if it is saying, perhaps it would be a good idea if we paid more attention to our wives . . . you know, "whenever you have a moment . . . if it is not too much trouble . . ."

Rapid Reader A Challenge To Education

Ottawa Journal

The spread of rapid reading will pose a new challenge for schools in the next few years, writes Eric McLuhan (son of Marshall) in a new magazine for Canadian teachers called Monday Morning (published by the Saturday Night people).

McLuhan asks what will happen when an Arts student can do his four years' work in two or three; a grade nine student can do ten months' work in two months, thanks to having increased his reading speed by several times through one of the successful speed-reading courses now going. His guesses: "Perhaps the 20 or 25-year old Ph.D will become commonplace . . ."

Perhaps, but the schools will have to adapt to the fast readers if that is to happen. "Drastic changes in the layout of curriculum and methods of presentation of material" would be needed.

It's an important question with a world struggling to cope with an ever-burden of information. Should the ability to read at three to 10 times or more the present average speed by simply a human aid for those fortunate enough to acquire it, or should it be taught to all who can benefit from it? It's the sort of question that Monday Morning will do well to keep on top of — and if it does, the magazine will find more than just teachers reading it.

Ottawa Mall Is A Success

Ottawa Journal

Workmen will probably be tinkering with the Sparks Street Mall until the official opening on June 28 is over but before that date it will be a success. Enough of the Mall has settled into place to be able to pronounce it a popular and critical success.

The Mall will join the Parliament Buildings and our other ways as one of the major distinguishing landmarks of this city. When the National Arts Centre taking shape and the new section of the driveway along the east side of the Mall has the effect of these major physical features on Ottawa is now becoming apparent. We are beginning to acquire an idea of what the heart of the capital of Canada is going to look like for many years to come.

China Weak For All Its Resources

Orilla Packet and Times

It is not actual power alone that determines a nation's status in the world's pecking order, but its ability to translate that power abroad. Thus China, perhaps the greatest single nation in the world today in terms of manpower, resources, and sheer physical size, counts for nothing in the ordering of much of the world's affairs because it has been so far not even a serious potential power to bear against nations far removed from her boundaries. At the other extreme is Britain, an island nation, which for centuries has played a dominant role, out of all proportion to her relative size, because her command of the sea enabled her to bring her influence to bear in every quarter of the globe.

Drug Addiction Running Away From Life

Richard Needham in The Globe and Mail

It's an old tradition both in Canada and in the States that if a thing is harmful, the authorities should ban it. "There ought to be a law!" But the fact a law exists doesn't mean it can be enforced. It can lead, as prohibition did in the States, to a general collapse of the law.

I doubt this is going to happen with the various laws against drugs. But I doubt also if those laws can be effective. What is more important than law, in this case, is advice and example. My advice on drugs is not to take them, not even to try them; that's my example as well, and more than this I can't do.

I remain curious as to why people run the physical and legal risks associated with drug-taking. If they want excitement are there not easier and better ways? They could fall in love, that's a psychedelic experience. They could go to Expo. They could engage in the mystical thoughts of William Blake. They could get out into the world, the real world, and see what it's like. The only trips that I can encourage are ones on the CPR or Air Canada or Colonial Coach Lines.

By way of being ultimately square, I think there's a moral issue here — morality, to me, meaning the proper conduct of a man or woman in this world. It seems to me that people who use drugs (or who drink excessively, come to that) aren't so much taking a trip toward anywhere as taking a trip away from something — from their own lives, their own selves. They're deserting the field of battle marked out for them.

It's better to fight. Anybody who is old enough to vote, or want to use, drugs is old enough to do things which are more worth while. They're old enough to change any circumstance which bothers them, to develop any life which suits them, do real things and be real people instead of taking refuge in a dream world.

Taking drugs is wrong. I should think, not because it is illegal, not because it is (or is said to be) pleasurable, not because it denies life and action and accomplishment. It's on the side of weakness rather than strength, and that's always a bad side to be on. Young or old, we have little to learn from Dr. Timothy Leary. We have much, much more to learn from Sir Francis Chichester.

Investors Review Tactics

Financial Post

The managers of some of Canada's big stock portfolios have been changing their basic investment policy. Where balanced investment and long-term growth were common goals before, these professional investment men have been emphasizing short-term profit and rapid trading in an attempt to outperform their competitors. Based on today experience, whenever the main investment forces in the stock market concentrate on short-term trading they rapidly lose sight of fundamental values (earnings, net worth, growth rates, etc.) and wind up chasing prices. The seemingly senseless churning of shares and prices which results can do serious damage to the confidence in the stock market and in investment generally.

Highway Aid

The Good Samaritans

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

On our way to Montreal June 2 we broke down about three miles east of Belleville. It was dusk and for half-an-hour we had no help. I am not in top shape physically; I have a person from the last war and we have been handicapped. I feel discouraged when a car rolled up.

The driver could not help us by himself. However, he had a radio transmitter and called for help. After an hour-and-a-half four cars arrived. They got us on our way and told us how to get to other Belleville or Ontario roads for further repairs of the first tire. They broke two of their wrenches and a blow torch was needed to remove the wheel. One man hurt his hand.

They are magnificent citizens and a symbol of the city of Belleville. Is there any way you can thank them, have we think highly of them?

We have written to the premier of opposition to Mayor Ellis.

MR. AND MRS.
GEORGE GAINS,
London, Ontario.

Letters to Editor

Medical Clinic Probe

Editor
The Intelligencer.

On a Belleville City Street, nine-tenths commercial, from hot dog stands and factories to the cemetery, most hotels, motels, etc, a local doctor built the medical clinic across from the General Hospital, a beautiful site best suited for his patients and practice.

This beneficial set-up has been kept in constant turmoil by a few residents living on side streets who, claiming infringement of their residential property rights. This so-called infringement took place years ago, when industry and business moved in, which is from Front St. to the limits and beyond. There are several clinics in the city, in almost residential areas, and no doctor lives on the premises, as far as I know.

Some months ago a brand new clinic was unveiled one morning, right in the middle of residential property. The lay-out, a big improvement over the old structure, was accepted and but for a serious parking problem, no objections were raised. Of all the clinics mentioned, just one has been the target for abuse.

The doctor in question is a dedicated man, highly skilled in the specialized branch of his profession along with his wife, is a doctor. Belleville needs the services of these doctors, and this aggravating situation must come to an end. No longer can be remedied as soon as possible.

The appointment of Alderman Arthur Keegan as a committee of one, to try and work out a solution is a step in the right direction. The offer of advisement by adjoining property owners is adequate and I feel sure, through the good offices of Mr. Alderman, a permanent and satisfactory solution to all concerned will be reached.

FAIR PLAY

BC and Its Universities

Vancouver Sun

A close look at higher education financing in B.C. shows our universities are being mysteriously short-changed by the provincial government.

And not for any pitting amounts, but by at least $8 million due the universities from the sales tax "windfall."

The money appears to have arrived in Victoria intact but then was thin disappeared — presumably to swell that whopping provincial surplus Premier Bennett so delightedly announced recently.

Which brings comes on the scene this way:

Last year B.C.'s universities requested $24.8 million from Victoria, $8 million of it in federal grants.

This year no direct federal grants were made but under the new tax abatement arrangement the province added the 8 million from OTAWA, supposedly for higher education.

That's $16.8 million more than the previous year's grant.

But the amount given the universities by Victoria was only $11 million on the previous grant.

The $800,000 can probably be written off in grants made to the provincial private universities, leaving $8 million off somewhere in the wild blue yonder, one of Victoria's more profound mysteries.

If the Premier Bennett the benefit of doubt it must be said that the federal government, in making the arrangement, did not lay it down in black and white that all the money be spent on higher education.

But in negotiating the agreement with the province and later, Ottawa did say it was intended as half the cost of higher education in the country.

Which imposed on Premier Bennett at least the moral responsibility of using the money for what it was aimed.

Which he has done so, Ottawa's $28.8 million, plus the sum from Victoria as its half the cost of the tuition already committed under the provincial five year capital program, amounting to a projected the $66 million which retiring UBC president Dr. John Macdonald has called an absolute necessity.

But Mr. Bennett did not follow through. Instead of the $66 million that such a plan would provide, the universities received only $53 million ($45 million of it for operating grants).

And the missing $8 million remains a mystery.

The surrendered German fleet was scuttled in Scapa Flow, Scotland, 48 years ago today—in 1919—in a last gesture of defiance. The fleet of 11 battleships, five battlecruisers, eight light cruisers and a number of destroyers was at anchor at the war base of the British naval fleet when the German crews opened the seacocks and the ships went down. Only Germany stayed afloat, the battleship Baden and three light cruisers. The action proved expensive for Germany which had to surrender large quantities of dockyard equipment in pieds of the scuttled warships.

Middle East Debate LBJ Stole Kosygin's Thunder in Restrained Address

By STEPHEN SCOTT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In the fine art of politics and international diplomacy, headline-grabbing is an essential gambit.

Thus, if in Washington or Ottawa, an opposition spokesman is about to make a much-publicized major statement, the government may seek to make an almost simultaneous announcement.

The effect is to steal, at least partly, the opposition thunder and relegate it to the back or front pages of the newspapers.

U.S. President Johnson, past-master of the gambit, used it Monday when he made a major foreign policy speech just one hour before Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin was to speak at the special meeting of the General Assembly.

And in so doing he answered, in part, some of the statements that Kosygin had not yet made.

The United States last week manoeuvred itself into speaking first at the General Assembly meeting so it could put its points across first and put the Soviet speaker at a slight disadvantage.

Then, with diplomatic alacrity, the U.S. gave way in the assembly to the visiting head of state.

But it still managed to fire the first shot in what shapes up to be a bitter debate—but it did it from Washington.

As the substance of Kosygin's remarks was revealed, they were a bitter restatement of already announced Soviet positions. Johnson was able to present a stark contrast.

He warned against taking hard positions in the UN, enunciated five principles for peace and supported troop withdrawal. But he managed to put much of the blame for the recent war on Egypt, without mentioning her by name, and made clear that the U.S. believes the Arabs must recognize the existence and rights of Israel.

And he wanted to narrow the differences between the U.S. and Russia.

Kosygin, who heard Johnson's speech on television but declined to comment at this early date on the five points, took a tough line.

He demanded condemnation of Israel and compensation for Arab countries.

He bitterly denounced the U.S. and Britain, blaming them for Israel's military "intoxication."

And he warned of the possibility of a nuclear war resulting if the UN is at test. Johnson, for his part, was specific and indicated that the efforts castigated the U.S. for exercising from Cuba to Vietnam.

Now the questions remain: Can there be a summit meeting between the two leaders? Can anything be usefully achieved by such talks.

And eventually, it would appear, the UN will have to come to grips with that Canadian resolution, almost forgotten in the talk of summitry and denunciation, calling for UN action in the Middle East.

Even if the Soviet Union achieves condemnation of Israel in the General Assembly—by no means certain — the matter must go back to the Security Council.

If the Security Council should defy the lead of the General Assembly and condemn Israel -even less certain—Israel has stated that it will not retreat from its advanced positions unconditionally.

With each of the parties taking hard lines, the question is whether anything but a new buffer can stop a renewal of fighting.

Cyprus Annoys Pearson Moneymaker

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson, in a moment of frustration, accused the press of politicking (CP)—Rising costs, run, indifferent management and old-fashioned editorial policies threaten to force more newspapers out of existence, an international gathering of newspapermen was told Tuesday.

The warning came from a three-man British panel at the annual assembly of the International Press Institute, supported by 1,500 editors and publishers in 61 non - Communist countries.

Denis Hamilton of The Times and Sunday Times, Alastair Hetherington of The Guardian, and Melvin Lasky of the magazine Encounter formed the appeal. Many of the 300 delegates appeared to agree with their views.

James Cooper of the Toronto Globe and Mail said the press should use big business and electronics, as both lead to greater success.

"No matter what the competition, quality always succeeds," he said. "I was going to say quality pays but it seems to be a dirty word around here."

Cooper said his own newspaper made money in what he described as the most competitive city of North America.

Hamilton suggested an increase in newspaper price, better training of reporters and more modern printing and communications equipment as some of the most effective ways out of the current trend of rising costs and diminishing returns threatening many newspapers.

Hetherington said the trade unions, which opposed any changes in the past, now seem to be more willing to negotiate new arrangements because of the threat of more newspapers closing down. The guardian recently managed to cut costs by 20 per cent as a result of new agreements with unions to reduce manning, overtime and so called bonus payments.

Lasky warned that many editors still have an exaggerated idea of the political role of a newspaper.

Fashioned Policies Threaten Success of Newspaper Business

Tolls on St. Lawrence Seaway Said Hurting Canadian Economy

COBOURG, Ont. (CP)—Tolls on the St. Lawrence Seaway at Montreal and lockage fees on the Welland Canal are hurting Canada's economy, Stuart Armour, president and general manager of the Great Lakes Waterways Development Association, said Tuesday.

Tolls of 40 cents a net ton on iron ore and other bulk cargo shipments entering Lake Ontario from Montreal cost a fully-loaded carrier $12,400 a trip, he said. Lockage fees at the Welland, imposed for the first time this year, will cost a bulk carrier up to $108,000 a season by 1971.

These increased tolls will eventually be passed on to consumers by steel companies importing the iron ore and by the Hydroelectric Power Commission of Ontario, which is shipping about 6,250,000 tons of coal to its Lake Ontario stations this year, he said.

Department Store Sales Up Nearly 30 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP)—Discount department stores boosted their sales by nearly 30 per cent last year and sliced into the sales of the more traditional shopping emporiums, recent federal statistics show.

While the standard department stores had total sales amounting to $2,019,796,000 last year, an increase of 5.9 per cent over 1965, the discounters recorded a 28.4-per-cent boost in sales.

Their sales totalled only $345,736,024 in comparison with the big volume of business done by the traditional stores. But the discount shops had 14.6 per cent of the total department store business in 1966, compared with 12.3 per cent in 1965.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics compiles figures on the Canadian stores from 25 firms, including Allied Towers Merchanes Ltd., GEM Stores, Sayvette Ltd., and Woolco department stores.

While fur sales in the discount stores amounted to only $8,222 last year, this was a 78.4-per-cent increase from the previous year.

Most of the discounters' sales are in toiletries, cosmetics and drugs — $32,548,291 worth last year—where the high volume purchase and sales enables the stores to cut prices significantly below more traditional shops.

Hardware and sales related volumes of sales last year were $28,130,221 in hardware and housewares and $27,078,010 in girls' and infants' wear.

Toronto Livestock

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were steady on a moderate demand for light receipts of slaughter cattle at the Ontario public stockyards today.

Veal and slaughter calves were lower and hog prices were higher.

Brazilian Light and Power Might Leave Canada If Carter Report Implemented-$1,000,000,000 Assests

TORONTO (CP) — Brazilian Light and Power Co. Ltd., a Toronto-based company with assets of more than $1,000,000,000, might be forced to leave Canada if the Carter report on taxation is fully implemented, the company's annual meeting was told Tuesday.

Answering a shareholder's question on what alternatives were open to the company if it became subject to Canadian corporation tax as the Carter report proposes, J. Grant Glassco, president, said:

"We would have to consider where we could go for fairer treatment."

In an interview later he said there could be no question of winding up the company because it could not get its money out of Brazil.

"We might move to Brazil, or somewhere where we could continue operations."

He told shareholders that subjecting the company's income, already taxed in Brazil, to 50 per cent corporation tax, and the tax on dividends leaving Brazil by the Brazilian government, and the Canadian dividend tax, would represent "an intolerable burden."

Because it operates entirely outside Canada, Brazilian now pays no Canadian corporation tax, although its income is taxed by Brazil.

Mr. Glassco said his company intends to make representations to the Canadian government "to support our contention that to render untenable the position of foreign business corporations such as ours would be a costly mistake for Canada."

He told the meeting that Brazilian paid $27,000,000 for the 1,000,000 shares it bought of John Labatt Ltd. earlier this month.

This, he said later, A was slightly more than the money Brazilian had available for investment outside Brazil through sale of its telephone utility to the Brazilian government last year.

The Labatt investment is a 23 per cent interest in the company, and makes Brazilian the largest single shareholder outside the Labatt family.

However it plans no representation on the Labatt board.

"We are not becoming involved in the brewing business," Mr. Glassco said.

Bank of Montreal Announces Stock-Split

MONTREAL (CP)—The Bank of Montreal announced Tuesday that its capital stock will be split on a five-for-one basis at the close of business Friday, June 23, following ratification of the proposal at a special general meeting of shareholders.

The shares will have a par value of $2, compared with $10 before the division.

Initial announcement of the split, said the plan was designed "to broaden the base and encourage the broadest possible distribution of share ownership."

"Although ownership of the Bank of Montreal is already extremely widespread, we believe there is room for an even greater participation."

Share certificates now held will still be valid on the same numerical basis and additional certificates for four times the number held will be forwarded shortly to the bank's 27,000 shareholders, almost 90 per cent of whom reside in Canada.

The bank's present paid-up capital is $60,750,000, which will be represented by 30,375,000 shares on the new $2 par basis. No enlargement of paid-up capital is involved by the move.

Also in Montreal, shareholders of the Royal Bank of Canada approved a five-for-one subdivision of shares at a special general meeting. The change will take effect at the close of business Saturday, June 24.

Radioactive Snails Studied

LONDON (Reuters) — Alarm spread through a century-old Scottish village when scientists announced that "certain radioactive material" were being dumped in a local quarry.

The people of Ashbourne in Derbyshire imagined dead fish contamination spreading over the countryside.

But the truth came as a relief. The radioactivity will travel only at the snail's pace of 50 yards a year — for the "certain materials" are 400 snails.

They are to be kept in a fenced-off area so the scientists can study their behavior for a year. The radioactivity is to enable researchers to trace the snails with geiger counters.

Tommy: "That's my dump truck. I left it here yesterday."

Johnny: "No, it's mine."

Mother: "It looks like Johnny's toy truck. Are you sure you left yours in our sandpile, Tommy?"

An identifying mark, even a dab of paint or fingernail polish, on toys will do away with some of the arguments that seem inevitable when children pool their possessions.

Parents

BY BEYSON

Mother: "Let's all mark the toys our children take to each other's yards. So many of them are similar, it's hard to tell who owns what. I'll paint Johnny's name on all his things."

Once we met where we had it planned. He sayed for about five minutes, then left with his friend saying he'd come back. He never showed up or phoned to explain. I don't though. — Puzzled.

Dear Puzzled: Then it's time you did. Or ignore him

Some boys have no idea what bad manners they show in being unreliable, not to mention how unkind they are. Besides, he should be coming to pick you up at your house.

Get up on your high horse. A boy will respect you when you start respecting yourself.

Dear Doris: My daughter, who is away at college, was annoyed with me for failing to answer a letter and then causing her to miss a date because she thought we needed her at home that weekend.

While here, she informed me that she intends to sew on Sunday if she wants to, when she is home. Says she hasn't up to now out of respect for me.

Sometimes I think it is not the "sewing on Sunday" as much as her attitude that bothers me. She is a clever student, and quite independent, which is fine and healthy. — A Concerned Mom.

Dear Mom: Defiance is hard to take.

But this is your daughter's declaration of independence. Some smoke a cigarette, some diet their hair. Anything — just anything — which can show the folks at home that Dotty has a mind of her own and intends to assert it.

If you insist on your rules, you may lose your girl's visits. that she is being too, too needlessly aggressive. I can't believe she means to be cruel; she is merely beating her wings against her cage.

Remove from her mind her feeling of being caged in, and you'll find she'll complete coming home to roost.

Dear Doris: Thank you for sending me a copy of the mush loved poem "Somebody's Mother". I shall treasure it always. My children love it and already want to memorize it.

I commend you for the great work you do in your column— I know you must have helped thousands. I have often thought of writing you for help with some of my own problems. I am under the care of a psychiatrist and it is a proposition, since mine is a "prolonged illness".

I have learned to face one day at a time and through discipline and self-control, I try to overcome the trials and tribulations that I have to face. I know that life was not meant to be easy. Sometimes I feel my patience and faith are being tested to the very end.

We pray for strength and God gives us difficulties which make us strong. We plead for courage and God gives us dangers to overcome.—Grateful.

Dear Grateful: I can still remember the thrill of the day I read "Somebody's Mother" aloud at school, and with such warm sympathy that the teacher awarded me two "extra marks". Great prize!

I am glad you are making headway with your own problem. You are not singled out for tribulations but you seem to be discovering an effective approach. Thank God for psychiatrists!

Ask Doris for the information you need. If she doesn't know she'll find out from one of her consultants. Enclose a voiace for private reply.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Grecian Steak Served on Savory Rice

By MARY MOORE

AH good meat cooks are familiar with the pounding technique used on round steak for preparing Swiss steak. Today's recipe is borrowed from the Greeks because less expensive shoulder or meat steaks may be pounded likewise and used for this flavorful dish with the universally popular "sweet 'n sour" overtones.

GRECIAN STEAK ON SAVORY RICE
(economical — serves 6)

1½ lbs. round or blade or short rib steak cut ½" thick
¼ cup flour
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. garlic salt
2 tbsps. butter orc oking oil
1½ cups hot water
2 Ozo cubes

In a small bowl mix together the flour, salt, pepper and garlic salt. Pound this mixture both sides of the steak as well as you can. Cut the meat nearly into strips ½" x 2". Heat butter or oil in large frying pan and brown meat on all sides in it, adding any leftover flour mixture to pan too. Add hot water to Ozo cubes, stir to dissolve and add to meat in pan and simmer, covered, about 45 min. or until meat is tender. At this stage follow either one of these two variations:

1) Add one 8-oz. bottle pickled cocktail onions and their vinegar and bring to boil and serve on Savory Rice (see below) or

2) Add ½ to ¾ cup green seedless Thompson grapes, along to boil for 2 min. and serve on Savory Rice (see below.)

SAVORY RICE

Into a heavy saucepan with tight-fitting lid measure
1 cup long grain raw rice
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. garlic salt
1 tbsp. butter
2¼ cups hot water
2 tbsps chopped parsley — fresh or bottled flakes

Cover, bring to boil, turn off heat for 5 min. turn heat on low and cook 25 min. longer until rice is tender and all water is absorbed.

Note: Three of us liked the colon variation best, but there were two vociferous votes for the grape variation. So there is no alternative but to make Grecian Steak both ways and make your own decision.

Mother-in-law's Visit Results in Migraine

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's mother will be coming to visit next month on her annual "inspection tour." I have already called my doctor and asked him to reorder my migrain pills. For 12 years her visits have given me bloading headaches.

ANN LANDERS

The first thing my mother-in-law does is go through my cupboards and medicine cabinet and throw out everything she decides I don't need. Then she relines the shelves. After that she rearranges the furniture and changes the pictures around. Then she checks my linen closet and tears up the sheets and pillowcases if they have a few little worn spots. Her favorite expression is, "Rags, should be used for rags."

Please don't suggest that my husband talk to her. He has refused. Thanks for your help. — MIGRAINE MILLIE.

DEAR MILLIE: Greet your mother-in-law with the announcement that from now on she is going to be a guest in your home and guests don't rearrange the furniture, clean the cupboards or tear up the linen. It's up to you to tell her, not your husband, since these matters are within the homemaker's province.

This is the only realistic solution, Millie, and if you don't follow through and take the advice it means you really do want to have those headaches.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A woman in our neighborhood calls the rescue squad at least once a month. They take her to the hospital, keep her for a day, then send her home because the doctors can find nothing wrong with her.

The woman seems to know exactly when the fainting spells are coming. She always manages to put in a phone call to the rescue squad just before she passes out. She has never broken a bone or gotten a bruise that anyone knows of.

When I was discussing this ridiculous phony with my sister-in-law recently my husband scolded my for not being more charitable. Why should I be charitable when I know this woman is faking? Please reply in the paper. — NO SYMPATHY FOR PRETENDERS.

DEAR NO SYMPATHY: Perhaps the doctors can find nothing physically wrong with the woman, but she is sick just the same. A person who would go to such extremes to get attention has a severe emotional problem which can be even more incapacitating than a physical illness. The woman needs compassion and understanding, not criticism.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Don't tell me I am cheap or petty. Just tell me what to do about two friends whose inveterate and skillful moocbing are about to drive me nuts.

We three have known each other for years — went all the way through school together. Neither of these girls is as well in the kitchen but it's because they don't try very hard. Their means are unimaginative and they buy cheap cuts of meat to begin with.

Every time they have dinner at my place they ask if they can take the leftovers home. They go through the icebox and help themselves to everything in sight — even the butter. I have a feeling that when they tell me the dinner was so delicious they'd like the left overs for lunch tomorrow. Please think of a genteel reply which means "no." — RAIDED.

DEAR RAIDED: "Tell them you thought the dinner was delicious,too, and the leftovers are going to be your lunch for tomorrow. You'll only have to say it three or four times and they'k quit asking.

Public Response Poor During Veterans' Week

DESERONTO — Activities in Deseronto during Veterans' Week did not follow the plan and program but it did attain its objective, which was to bring the veterans and their families together, explained Mr. Earl Murphy who is president of Branch 280 of the Royal Canadian Legion.

There was a good turnout of members of the Legion and of the Ladies' Auxiliary for the Sunday service at the Cenotaph, when Padre Russel Finley officiated. A wreath was placed by past-president Earle J. Brant, now Zone Commander of Zone F 3. During the parade which followed, Zone Commander Brant, William Miller, a veteran of World War I and Jack Berry, a veteran of World War II, took the salute. President Murphy noted, regretfully, that few of the townspeople attended.

The ball game planned for Monday evening was postponed and another date intended instead in furthering the work on Centennial Park. Wednesday's game between the Firemen and the Legion ended in a tie, and a second game will be played in the fall. This is an annual event, with the trophy going to the losing team.

Friday evening saw the biggest event of the week, with the Troubadours of Belleville playing for the Centennial Ball. Spot-prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher of Bath, and by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Albertson, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Vick of Deseronto. The prize for the oldest couple dancing was won by Mr. and Mrs. William Barker, who refused to give their ages but confessed to having been married 32 years.

Many of the dancers came in centennial costumes, and there was a grand march, with the band members acting as judges for the best costumes. Albert Punchard was awarded the first prize as the best dressed man, Mrs. Victor Brant as the best dressed lady, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Murphy were judged to be the best dressed couple in attendance.

The closing evening of the week saw an informal party with music as the chief feature. Everyone joined in the singsong highlighted by Bill Long of both world wars. Sherwood Reid at the piano, Billy Brant on drums, and John Begg playing the guitar were the volunteer accompanists.

Within Decade Man Will Forget Work and Leisure Difference

TORONTO (CP) — Within 10 years man will manipulate his brain, forget the difference between work and leisure and collect a guaranteed income, Robert Theobald, a socio-economist told the Canadian Welfare Council Tuesday.

He said the 47th annual meeting of the CWC to throw out concepts of a world based on "wage - slavery" and positive and negative sanctions.

Psychologists say man will strive to fulfil his potential even without punishments and rewards, said Mr. Theobald.

Reuben C. Baetz, executive director of the CWC, said earlier that Canada's war on poverty has helped only a handful of the poor, leaving the rest impoverished and deprived.

He criticized the federal government's impotent array of new weapons to fight poverty" which he said included a housing and reserve improvement program for Indians plagued by administrative snags.

Mr. Baetz said the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act has slowed to a crawl over federal - provincial jurisdictional debates.

The manpower mobility program has moved only a handful of workers and the guaranteed monthly income for the aged has resulted in a hike in housing rental for older people he said.

Betty Graham, of the Ontario department of family and social services, said teen - agers who are often accused of immoral behavior have a lower number of illegitimate children than women in the 25-to-35-year age group.

Miss Graham said the rate of 55 illegitimacies in every 1,000 births is a 53-per-cent increase in the last five years.

The illegitimacy rate may appear to be rising due to improved techniques for reporting such births, she said.

A report prepared by the council for the Indian affairs department charges that residential schools provide cultural care instead of treating the Indian child as an individual.

The report surveyed nine residential schools in Saskatchewan—two Anglican and seven Roman Catholic. It recommends that the Indian affairs branch remove itself from the operation of residential schools.

Rev. F. Guy Voisin, secretary of the Indian and Eskimo welfare commission of the Roman Catholic Oblate order in Ottawa, said in an interview that neither the Indian affairs department nor the church has the means to finance better accommodation.

He said the report is incorrect in claiming children are treated as a mass rather than as individuals. His major criticism was that the report was limited to the 2,000 Indian children in schools in one province. Ten thousand Indian children attended Canadian residential schools.

Montreal businessman Felix Guibert was elected president of the CWC, succeeding B. N. Alexander of Ottawa.

The conference continues this week with the preparation of a statement on social welfare in Canada to cover the next decade.

Education Ministe... To Co-ordinate The...!

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's education ministers agreed Tuesday at a closed meeting to form what amounts to a nation-wide education ministry to co-ordinate national policy.

Formation of the body, to be called the Canadian Council of Ministers of Education, is subject to ratification by the 10 provincial governments.

The council will be established formally this September and will co-ordinate development of educational television, teacher exchanges, educational planning and development, and the trading of research information.

The council will have a secretariat of about 25 permanent staff. Funds to set up the secretariat will not be available before next April and the provinces will pay, per capita basis, 0 per cent share with largest.

Informants said Education Minister William Davis of Ontario urged that a strong secretariat be formed.

He said Ontario would be prepared to pay more than 34 per cent to get the secretariat established. Mr. Davis said Ontario also would lend technicians and researchers to the new body so it could start working while searching for staff.

Ottawa is the strongest contender as headquarters for the secretariat while Montreal is another contender.

Among those attending the meeting were deputy ministers from most provinces, some assistant deputy ministers and all the ministers except British Columbia's Leslie Peterson, who is in Europe.

'Sexual Revolution' Is Change in Attitude

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — In today's younger generation, the so-called sexual revolution is bringing more "a change in attitude than behavior," a psychiatrist said Tuesday.

"I would suggest that we are not seeing orgies or lack of control, but rather a different kind of control — self-control based not on guilt or fear of disapproval but on a concept of human relations that emphasizes self-respect, human worth and human dignity," said Dr. James F. Masterson Jr. of New York City.

Adolescents are demanding logical reasons for ethical standards, Dr. Masterson told the American Medical Association.

Masterson, of Cornell University Medical College, said:

"I think our fears about sexual misbehavior have led us to obliterate the fact that beginning sexual experiences for many youngsters if often fraught with anguish and pain, and, therefore, can be as much a trial as a pleasure.

"One does not remove as easily as an overcoat values which, transmitted from generation to generation, have been inculcated into one's conscience throughout childhood.

"My guess is that the advanced guard of the younger generation are indeed exhibiting a great deal more sexual freedom, but that the majority, while still holding to traditional patterns in behavior even as their parents did, are at the same time submitting their corpse, previously taken for granted, to serious and searching scrutiny."

Free Competition Goes With Private Business

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The popular phrase, "free enterprise," is an interesting example of what the linguists call "telescoping." It is made up of two separate words, "free competition," and "private enterprise."

Private enterprise is what we have in America. In order for private enterprise to work at its best and fairest, we must also have free competition along with it. And that's the rub.

The reason that the phrase "free enterprise" has become such a meaningless political slogan is that many of the people who believe — as I do — in private enterprise do not at the same time really believe — as I do — in free competition.

Not long ago, the state of Illinois recovered nearly a half million dollars from seven rock salt suppliers charged with a price-fixing conspiracy against the state. All those suppliers, no doubt, are ardent believers in private enterprise; but they seem a little short in their fidelity in free competition.

Yet it is impossible to have one without the other. This would be "socialism at the top" — companies reaping all the benefits of private enterprise without running any of the risk of free competition.

Anyone who follows the proceedings of the Anti-Trust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice knows the number and variety of large business and industrial firms which have over the years tried to administer prices, fix profits for the whole field, and achieve a monopoly or dominance that would really stifle free competition.

It is hard to escape the conclusion that these companies really do not like competition, or the operation of the free market, and seek to replace it with a closed system that assures them profits and gives the consumer no real choice between so - called "competitors."

Now it may be possible that competition is destructive, wasteful, or unnecessarily expensive; and perhaps a few large companies would offer better goods at lower cost fighting each other. But, if such is the case, then we had better stop using the slogan, "free enterprise," and find something more clumsy but accurate to describe the operation of our market.

It seems to me that many leaders of our business community want two contradictory things: freedom to make as much profit without interference, and also to protect themselves from the nuisance of free competition. Until they resolve this paradox, they cannot address themselves to the electorate with authority, consistency, or conviction.

Cyprus Annoys Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson, showing a note of frustration over continued lack of a political settlement in Cyprus, warned Tuesday that the United Nations cannot continue its peace-keeping mission there indefinitely.

At the same time he reassured the Commons that the Cyprus force will not go the way of the Middle East Force, disbanded last month at the request of Egypt.

The House exchange was touched off by the UN Security Monday in extending the life of the 4,800-man force for another six months.

The force was set up in the spring of 1964 to keep peace between Greek and Turkish factions on the island and has been extended for three- or six-month periods ever since. It has been financed mainly by a small handful of Western countries including Canada, which pays for its own 900-man unit.

Mr. Pearson in his replies to the House questions appeared to be nudging the Greek-Cypriot regime of Archbishop Makarios to deal with the Turkish minority.

Mr. Pearson said the government is making clear to colleagues on the Security Council that the purpose of the force is to keep peace while political negotiations go on.

"If these negotiations are postponed indefinitely, then the reason for the force being there indefinitely has been eliminated."

Summer Recess Being Studied

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is thinking about a July 8 start to the summer recess for Parliament, informants say. But the wishes of opposition parties will help determine the date.

If members of Parliament go home about that time for the Centennial Year vacation, they would not reassemble until late September at the earliest.

On this basis, the reopening would not conflict with the Conservative leadership convention in Toronto Sept. 9-9.

New Data-processing Service Planned for Ontario Farmers

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario farmers should have a computerized data - processing and accounting service in time for the 1968 harvest.

The service, to be sponsored by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, will be the first province - wide service of its kind in Canada, an OFA news release says.

Plans for the service, which will prepare farm income tax returns, do bookkeeping and analyze farm operation, were affirmed at a recent meeting of the OFA, the release said.

County organizations will be asked to hire one bookkeeper-fieldman for each 100-140 farmers participating. He would visit each farm regularly, check the books, cull data - processing information and interpret results of the centre's analysis.

The OFA also said Ontario government reaction has been favorable to the idea of promoting vacations on farms.

Ontario farmers, particularly those on non - economical marginal land, could be encouraged to operate "dude farms" to take advantage of the present demand on their property from hunters and fishermen.

The OFA suggested that a government agency be formed to co - ordinate camping and trailer facilities on participating farms, and to provide a liaison with the department of tourism and information.

FISH DIE IN THOUSANDS

CHICAGO (AP) — Beaches here were littered Tuesday with thousands of dead fish known as alewives. They were blown ashore in Lake Michigan by winds from the northeast and east. Bulldozers and lift trucks were used to clear the beaches. "In some places they are a foot deep," said Joseph Krzesinski, landscape maintenance director for the beach area.

Mao's Wife Wreaked Havoc as Purge Leader

TOKYO (AP) — Despite the jeers and envy of her critics, Chiang Ching remains the most powerful woman in her husband's China.

A few years ago, she apparently was a self-effacing housewife, content to remain in the shadow of her eminent husband, Mao Tse-tung, chairman of the Communist Party.

She shrugged off this role publicly in 1966 and took on a new one: defender of the Maoist faith.

She has gained a wide reputation for her razor - tongued criticisms of the Peking Opera, literature, art and theatre.

Her work in this field has brought her one important job after the other—adviser to the army's cultural purge, deputy chief of the party's purge committee and empress of Chinese arts.

Chiang Ching is not far from the top in the tough, swiftly changing world of China's men. She ranks somewhere among the first seven or eight closest politically to her husband.

Once she took over the job of cleansing the "revisionists" and "anti - Maoists," she worked havoc among some of the most powerful men in the party. She is said to have had a hand in cutting down Marshal Hsu Hsiang - chien, once chairman of the army purge committee and Marshal Yeh Chien - ting.

What transformed this once obscure moth?

Her method was to revise, revise and revise again. The final result, in the eyes of some critics, was romanticism at its worst, propaganda in its most exaggerated form. But it was all Mao.

Communist China, in theory, should be run by the peasants and proletariat. But in fact intellectuals, writers, historians, poets, and educationists have had a large say along with the military men. Mao himself is a scholar, calligrapher, historian and literary stylist.

Fulton's Eight Planks To Outline His Stand

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's constitution needs to be overhauled to meet the problems of the 1970s and a national Confederation conference should be held to find the way to do it, Davie Fulton said Tuesday.

He told a news conference during a Toronto visit as part of his campaign to win the Progressive Conservative leadership that federal - provincial action on the constitution must involve a fresh start.

It would evolve a formula to make it possible to amend the constitution in Canada.

During the next 10 weeks, he said, the emphasis will be shifted to eight statements on basic policy "so that when the convention is here everyone will know exactly where I stand."

He urged reorganization of the party to provide four separate bureaus that would be full time in the areas of organization, policy development, youth and women.

Embassy Siege Lifted

PEKING (Reuters) — Indian embassy staff and their families returned to their homes today after being blockaded in the embassy compound by Red Guards for four days.

The siege was lifted Tuesday night after a foreign ministry official told the Indian charge d'affaires that restrictions on Indians in Peking were no longer necessary since Peking's communications were restored with the Chinese embassy in New Delhi.

Some foreign diplomats, the first visitors since last Friday, were able to enter the Indian Embassy Tuesday night.

Charge d'Affaires Ram Sathe has decided to send home to New Delhi all the wives and children of embassy personnel here.

Sathe said he rejected the Chinese insinuation that the Indian government was responsible for the break in telecommunications with the embassy in New Delhi.

The Indian - Chinese dispute began when China deported an Indian diplomat for alleged spying. The diplomat and another embassy employee were beaten by Red Guards at Peking airport as they left for India.

Later in New Delhi, the Chinese Embassy was stoned and embassy employees beaten. This led to the blockade of the Indian Embassy in Peking.

Sath said embassy dependents would be evacuated June 23 if the Chinese government gives permission for a special plane to fly to Peking.

The Indian government earlier said that permission for the special flight was in response to allowing the Chinese to send a plane to New Delhi to bring back Chinese injured in anti - demonstrations attacked the Chinese embassy there last Friday.

In New Delhi, a Chinese diplomat ordered to leave India for China by a week ago and was asked to leave the country within 72 hours.

Party Hurt Recently Says Fulton

TORONTO (CP)—Canada did not elect a Socialist - inspired Conservative prime minister in its first 100 years and Davie Fulton of Kamloops, B.C., says he hopes to change that in the next century.

The bilingual lawyer told a news conference he believes the party has been hurt, "especially in the last 10 years," because it did not have a bilingual leader.

Asked whether he believes Quebec should have special status in Confederation, Mr. Fulton said the term is ambiguous "and never has been really defined."

But if it implies that Quebec's government would be equal with the federal government, I would say no. There is room for one national government and that one is in Ottawa.

"But Quebec citizens must be shown they are equals in Confederation and that this equality is a right. They must be able and be encouraged to play their part in the growth of Canada and made welcome in any part of the land."

SKYDIVER KILLED

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A 29-year-old Rochester, N.Y., skydiver fell 2,500 feet to his death Tuesday night when, authorities said, his parachute failed to open during a performance here. They identified him as Terry Slate.

Opposition Fails in Bid to Win Promise Of New Jobs Before Mines Are Closed

OTTAWA (CP)—The opposition was defeated Tuesday night in an attempt to establish in legislation the principle that fresh job opportunities must be created before Cape Breton mines are closed down.

The government argued that the principle is built into the spirit of its Cape Breton Development Corp. bill.

However, New Democrats and Conservatives teroed in on a sub-section that will require the Crown corporation to take all reasonable measures "to reduce as far as possible any unemployment or economic hardship that can be expected" from reduced coal production.

Oclawa and Halifax are to put $30,000,000 into the corporation to close down failing Cape Breton coal mines during the next 15 years and replace them with new industry.

Detailed study of the bill was resumed Tuesday after the Commons moved quickly through the 1967-68 spending estimates of the energy, mines and resources department.

The House turns to the health and welfare estimates today, with the Cape Breton bill to come up again at an unspecified date.

In the Cape Breton debate, Conservative Gordon Churchill (Winnipeg South Centre) backed the strong NDP attack on the re-employment section.

He said the government has "written into the Cape Breton legislation the fact that there will be unemployment and economic hardship. "This is a message of despondency."

David Lewis (NDP — York South) said the wording "emphasizes the kind of priorities Ottawa itself has had." He suspected that corporation officers would be told to "follow the usual commercial criteria" in closing the mines.

A Lewis amendment, supported by Conservatives and Creditistes, would have required the Crown corporation to take all reasonable measures "to provide alternative employment for employees of the corporation who may be laid off as a result" of mine closures.

The amendment was defeated 64 to 42 in a standing vote, but not before a spirited debate between Mines Minister Pepin and the opposition.

Mr. Pepin, arguing that the Lewis amendment would minimize the bill's good effects, said Parliament would have to "trust" corporation officers to carry out the spirit of the legislation.

Robert Muir (PC — Cape Breton North and Victoria) supported the Lewis amendment and, said that Mr. Pepin "may be a political scientist but he has a hell of a lot to learn about human nature."

An amendment by Robert McCleave (PC—Halifax) to allow the corporation to "open" new mines was passed without debate.

Barrie TV Seeking to Move Its Operations to Toronto

OTTAWA (CP) — Pleading growing economic problems and offering increased exposure for CBC television programs, CKVR-TV in Barrie asked permission Thursday to move south to the Metropolitan Toronto scene.

The Barrie station sought permission at a public hearing of the Board of Broadcast Governors to move its transmitter 30 miles south to the fringe of northern Toronto.

CKVR-TV offered no radical change in its programming, much of which would duplicate the output of CBC station CBLT in Toronto. It argued the application would result in more people seeing the CBC's programming than now and this would be good for the national network.

Much of the Barrie presentation hinged on the station's desire to find a way to offer the CBC network programs to Toronto viewers at different times than they are aired by CBLT. This would increase the audience for CBC programs, the station argued.

But the station admitted it had held only preliminary talks on obstacles to such action. Other broadcasters suggested the obstacles are too big to be overcome.

President Ralph Snelgrove of CKVR-TV said the move south is designed to make maximum use of Barrie's Channel 3. He said his station's audience has been eroded through a "series of encroachments" by other stations.

The co - owners with Mr. Snelgrove, Geoff Stirling of radio station CKGM in Montreal and Allan Waters of Toronto's CHUM, also appeared.

CKVR-TV said interference by its Channel 3 on Channels 2 and 4 from Buffalo, N.Y., in the Toronto area would be minimal. For most homes there would be none.

The Barrie bid was opposed Tuesday by the privately-owned CTV network.

Al Bruner of CHCH-TV Hamilton, which joined with Power Corp. of Canada last year to put a proposal for a new TV network using a space satellite before the board, and two educational groups also appeared Tuesday.

Toronto radio station CFRB, which has been seeking a TV outlet in Toronto for years, and two other groups interested in establishing a third station are to appear today. Channel reallocation could make a channel available for a TV station at Belleville.

Mr. Bruner said his network proposal planned to use an ultra - high frequency channel in Toronto, which would be the central point for distribution of English - language programs coast to coast and into the North.

Any additional channel on the very-high frequency band would make it tougher for a UHF operation in Toronto to be a success. There had to be strong stimulation to encourage the switch from VHF, to UHF, which cannot be received by current TV sets without a special adapter.

T. R. Ide of the Ontario education department said educational TV should have priority of allocation of channels in both VHF and UHF. It should not be restricted—to UHF.

Specialists Face More Difficult Task If Role of Family Doctor Not Upgraded

MONTREAL (CP)—A general practitioner and a specialist took a look at medical manpower in Canada and reached the same conclusion today—upgrade the training, status and number of family physicians.

Dr. R. L. Perkin, a Cookville, Ont., general practitioner, said an acute shortage of manpower in general practice is becoming worse. His suggested solution was creation of a new medical specialty—family medicine—with the profession as a whole deliberately supporting a program to create more "primary contact physicians."

Dr. William Goldberg, Dundas, Ont., specialist in internal medicine, suggested the shortage of specialists is aggravated by a great lack of doctors doing "first contact" medicine.

He said certain specialists, especially in internal medicine, pediatrics and obstetrics, should confine themselves to consultant roles and an effort be made "to upgrade the present family physician by appropriate training programs as well as train new family physicians to completely fulfil the needs of first contact medicine."

The two men were participants in a day-long study and discussion of medical manpower at the Canadian Medical Association's conference on medical care insurance and medical manpower.

Dr. Perkin has himself been involved in a family practice teaching unit established by the University of Toronto at Toronto Western Hospital with a staff of six family doctors. Students showed great interest in the development and response to the teaching program was excellent.

Dr. Goldberg maintained that if medicine fails to train enough new doctors to fill the needs of first - contact medicine "the number of specialists we have and will need in the future, is and will be woefully short."

Dr. Goldberg also suggested that specialists could use their time more efficiently and their skills more fully if their offices were in or adjacent to hospitals with adequate facilities.

"All other specialists should still be grouped, but in clinics outside the hospital, acting as a referral centre and with adequate equipment and surroundings so as to see under the most efficient circumstances as many patients as possible and still perform good work."

Texts of the day's addresses were released to the press before delivery.

Municipal Debt Said At Danger Point

LONDON, Ont. (CP)— Robert Nixon, Ontario Liberal leader, said Tuesday night that municipalities do not have the resources they need to carry out their responsibilities — and a shamed the provincial Conservative government.

He told a London South nomination meeting the gross debt of municipalities was $225 a person while provincial debt was $305.

"Those figures are too close for comfort, particularly when you consider that the provincial figure takes into account the millions borrowed by Ontario Hydro."

Mr. Nixon said the government must take three steps to meet the problems faced by municipalities:

—It must assume 50 per cent of the costs of education in the next four to five years.

—Call a conference of municipal leaders to chart a course for the future.

—Allow municipalities more autonomy in the fields assigned to them.

Too often, he said, municipalities are frustrated because they do not have the authority or the funds to get on the jobs that must be done.

New Bridge, Senior Citizens Complex Opened in Belleville

$360,000 Bridge Officially Opened

In daily use for more than a month, Belleville's new $360,000 four-lane College Street Bridge was officially opened yesterday by Deputy Highways Minister Cameron McNab.

The deputy minister was filling in for highways minister Hon. George E. Gomme, who was unable to come to the city because of illness.

Members of city council, city hall officials and local dignitaries, and about 600 school children were on hand to see Mr. McNab, assisted by Hastings West MPP Elmer Sandercock and Mayor J. R. Ellis, cut the silk ribbon to officially open the bridge.

Clarke T. Rollins, MPP for Hastings East, whose riding borders the Moira in the College Street area, was prevented from attending the opening because of sudden illness.

The deputy highways minister complimented the general contractors and consulting engineers for the speed with which the new bridge was completed, saying that he always marvelled at the ingenuity of bridge builders in getting the job done.

At the same time Mr. McNab offered apologies to the many school children who were inconvenienced during the construction period.

Many of the students attending Prince of Wales School and the nearby Holy Rosary School living on the opposite side of the river had to be bussed to and from classes.

The new bridge was dedicated by Rev. Harry M. Davis of Bridge Street United Church.

Mayor J. R. Ellis as master of ceremonies introduced council members and other dignitaries. The official program called for L. H. McWhinnie, general contractor, to "hand over" the bridge to consulting engineer N. E. Damas who in turn officially turned it over to Mayor Ellis.

This brought a bit of laughter from the crowd as a comment somewhere along the way suggested that "handing" over a bridge might take a bit of doing.

Concluding the opening ceremony, Mr. McNab unveiled a bronze plaque bearing the names of the mayor and city councillors, along with those of the general contractor and consulting engineers.

Then the barricades were removed and the new College Street Bridge was back in service.

As noted earlier the over-all cost of the new bridge together with property acquisition was $360,000.

The bridge alone cost $160,000 roadwork $90,000; engineering and supervision $30,000 and property acquisition $80,000. The department of highways subsidy amounted to $115,000, leaving $245,000 as the city's share.

Older Residents Show Keen Interest In $350,000 Senior Citizens' Complex

Belleville's older residents showed keen interest yesterday afternoon as the new senior citizens' housing complex on Turnbull Street was officially opened.

Potential tenants of the $350,000 37-apartment complex were in the majority among the spectators as Hon. Stanley J. Randall, Ontario Minister of Economics and Development, officially declared the building open.

The new senior citizens' housing complex is to be known as Yeates Court in honor of James Yeates, former owner of the Turnbull Street property, and fittingly Mr. and Mrs. Yeates were on hand to take part in the official opening ceremonies.

Mr. Randall said that Mr. Yeates came to Canada from his native Greece about 40 years ago and settled in Belleville.

Since that time while enjoying a fair share of benefits Ontario has to offer, he has cultivated to a very high degree a sense of responsibility and good citizenship.

"Small wonder then that he was willing to accept an amount considerably less than the appraised value of the land," said Mr. Randall.

Alderman Douglas Boyle, chairman of the city council committee responsible for bringing senior citizens' housing to Belleville was in charge of the opening ceremonies.

Taking part were general contractor Maurice Rollins, Fred Wiegand, representing architects, Watson and Wiegand, Mayor Ellis, Mr. Randall and officials of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, and the Ontario Housing Corporation. The new complex was dedicated by Rt. Rev. J. F. Sullivan.

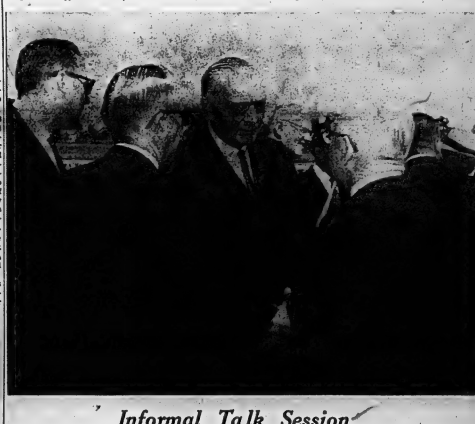
Yeates Court consists of 23 bachelor and 14 one-bedroom suites and will provide accommodation for up to 52 senior citizens. The minimum rental for the fully serviced accommodation is $32 per month for elderly persons earning up to $192 per month. Management of the complex is being handled by Mr. William James already in charge of about 40 other Ontario Housing units in the city.

Each of the 37 apartments are completely self contained, but facilities also include a common room for recreational and social use of the tenants.



The Belleville Kinette Club as a centennial project, have donated a handsome color TV for the common room.

OHC Ready to Build More Housing

The Ontario Housing Corporation is ready to construct more senior citizens housing and more low rental in Belleville if there is a need for such accommodation.

This was the statement yesterday by Hon. Stanley J. Randall, Ontario Minister of Economics and Development, as he visited Belleville to officially open the new 37 unit senior citizens apartment on Turnbull Street.

Speaking at a noon luncheon attended by about 45 invited guests, Mr. Randall said the Ontario Housing Corporation was ready to conduct a survey to determine the need and demand for additional Ontario housing in Belleville.

"At the moment we are awaiting the go-ahead from city officials, who like ourselves, are hampered by a shortage of staff and other difficulties".

During the official opening ceremonies at the senior citizens complex (Yeates Court) it was intimated that a similar apartment block may be erected on the adjoining lot.

Tuesday saw two separate official opening ceremonies in the city — one in the morning for the new College Street bridge, and the other for the senior citizens' complex.

The two ceremonies were completely separate, but the officiating dignitaries combined for a joint luncheon during the noon hour.

Mr. Randall said all would agree that both the new bridge and the senior citizens' complex were welcome additions to the infrastructure of the city of Belleville.

The minister went on to comment on last week's announcement by Premier Roberts regarding the provincial home construction plan.

Already, about 30 municipalities had begun to participate in the land development scheme, which he said, was only one of the eight components of the plan.

Mr. Randall said there was no intention on the part of the Ontario Housing Corporation to go into competition with private enterprise in the home construction field.

"Rather", he said, "the Corporation was assuming its rightful role in bringing together prospective home owners, financial institutions, serviced lots and speculative builders".

"I know that the home builders Association in Belleville have several hundred serviced lots available and quite understandably they are most interested in our activities in this field".

He said that through the office of Mayor Ellis a meeting was being arranged between local home builders and Ontario Housing Corporation officials.

Improves Appearance

Construction of the new senior citizens' apartment complex on Turnbull Street has resulted in an improved appearance for what a few years ago was a somewhat depressing area.

The new apartment block is constructed on the site of the one time Turnbull Street arena which until the present location of the market square was built was the scene of many a spirited hockey game.

But with the construction of the present arena in the late 1920's, the old Turnbull Street structure fell into disuse.

For many years the old arena was used as a warehouse. Then a fire gutted the building and it lay in ruins for many months.

Back in the days of the major baseball leagues when the reystering rascals ran rampant tippling, treachering and wenching, superstitites ran wild in the heroes of the diamond.

A lot of them carried various gimmicks to ward off the threat of black cats, roaming-dogs, spilled saltshakers, hats tossed on banks and other so-called bad omens.

Some of the items carried by players in the belief they were enchantments were an old detective's badge, a short piece of trolley wire, a peach stone, a shred of ribbon from a WCTU banner, a horse chestnut, the minute hand of a watch, a stole pencil, a hotel key and a mandolin pick.

The famous Lefty Gomez was delighted one day when presented with a handkerchief the great Rube Marquard carried while winning 19 games in a row. He put it in his pocket, saw a black cat and promptly lost the next four games.

A black cat once paraded through the dugout while Casey Stengel was in his managerial hey-day. Casey had given the team the big talk while dressing and when through followed them to the field with the lineup. The crowd let out a howling roar. Casey looked down and found the answer. He was appearing before his public in colored shorts and underwear.

The Cardinals were playing the Dodgers some years back and in their third inning with no score Max Lanier walked three "Bums" to fill the bases. Mickey Owen came up and as he did a black cat came streaking in from left field. It circled home plate and headed down the right field foul line. Owen grounded out and the Cards won the game 1-0.

Ernie Smith, a Fort Worth pitcher, had different ideas about black cats. His team had been beaten twelve times in a row. He figured a black Thomas would change the luck. He bought one off a little girl and tethered it to the team bench. Fort Worth broke its loss string with two runs in the top of the ninth.

In a Columbia-Augusta game a pitcher was in trouble having walked a man and had three balls on the next batter. At that moment a black cat came in and crossed the diamond between the batter and the pitcher. Who was batting? The batter fouled out to the catcher on the next pitch.

A North Carolina team was in a horrible slump and had tried everything to break it. Someone thought of black cats. The team scoured the town for the kitties and by game time had come up with six. Each of the cats was on a lead and while the pitchers were warming up, paraded the jinx critters back and forth before the opposing team's bench. North Carolina won the game.

Even dogs had their day in baseball. At Battle Creek a dozen years ago a pooch came racing on the field and snatched the pitcher's resin bag. The hurler tried to get it away and offered his glove to the dog as it would drop the bag.

The dog made the deal, seized the glove and took off. The pitcher chased him and got it back. But later the pooch took after a runner who had hit a three-bagger, caught him midway between first and second and grabbed him by the seat of the pants.

With the dog fastened to his derriere, the runner went into a long slide throwing his body sideways. The second baseman, the ball, the runner with dog attached, all arrived at second base at the same time. The umpire ruled the runner safe because the second baseman, pivoting to make the putout, was a little late and tagged the dog.

Out in Prince ene day a player loafing in the bullpen was frightened out and trapped it in his cap. He decided to amble into the dugout and scare hell out of some of the rookies.

The rookies didn't scare — but the rat did and bounced out in the diamond screaming and recrossing it while balls and bats were hurled at it.

Frightened and circling second base it stayed there while a player yelled "What's the plain umpire doing out there on second?" That apparently was the crowning insult to the rat. It took off and disappeared in a corner of the park.

Clay; Five Years, Fined $10,000!

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay had an appeal motion ready today in the boxer's conviction on criminal charges of refusing induction for military service. They predicted eventual victory and said that jail is 18 months away at worst.

It took one day of testimony and motions and 21 minutes of jury deliberation for the verdict Tuesday. U.S. District Judge Joe Ingraham imposed the maximum sentence—five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Clay said he had expected the worst, but he and his lawyers appeared shaken by the quickness of it all.

He walked from the courtroom free under the same $5,000 bond posted after his indictment in May for refusing to take the one step forward into the army with other draftees.

In two court rulings Ingraham had destroyed the intended defence: that Clay, as a Negro, is discriminated against by the racial composition of draft boards; and that Clay, as Muhammad Ali, travelling bishop for the Black Muslims, is entitled to ministerial exemption from military duty.

Chief defence lawyer Hayden Covington of New York, said he saw a "better than even chance" for reversal of the conviction.

The appeal initiated today will be argued before the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. Covington estimated it would be December or January before the panel could hear the case.

Covington said a decision would not be forthcoming from the Appellate Court until sometime next spring, and if the decision is against Clay the case would go to the Supreme Court three months later. He said the high court's decision, if it agreed to hear the case, could not be expected before late in 1968.

Covington said before the legal battles began that Clay never would spend a night in jail. He repeated that opinion after the verdict, saying, "He hasn't yet."

In underscoring first one and then the other of Clay's two main defence points, Ingraham told Covington and co - counsel Coleman Hodges of Houston the argument before the jury of six men and six women that Clay was "sincere in refusing to be drafted.

First the judge held that the defence allegation of draft board discrimination would be an inadmissible conclusion in Clay's trial. Then, answering a lengthy plea for directed verdict of acquittal, he told Clay and his lawyers—with the jury out of hearing—that he had found a basis for the selective service's action in placing the 25-year-old fighter 1-A, ripe for the draft.

Most of the courtroom talk was devoted to the defence plea for directed acquittal. Hodges told the judge, "There is no doubt that he gave up universal popularity in this country" by joining the Muslim sect.

Hodges said Clay's religion had cost him, aside from popularity, his marriage to a "beautiful wife" who refused to submit to Muslim standards of dress and conduct, a $200,000 movie contract because the subject of the picture conflicted with his religion, a $200,000 recording contract because the Muslim name on the record would not place his Jackets, and all chances of product endorsements.

Remember This Johnny?

Muckler, Memphis Boss

MINNEAPOLIS (CP)— Wren Blair, general manager of Minnesota North Stars of the National Hockey League, took on the added duties of coach Tuesday — and immediately named the man he expects to succeed him.

Blair, from Oshawa, Ont., picked John Muckler, a Paris, Ont., native, as general manager-coach of the Stars' Memphis club in the Central Professional League and on his appointment.

"We want John to help us organize the Memphis team and to learn more about operational details while on his own," Blair said.

"Then, if all goes according to my timetable, he will replace me as North Stars' coach and I will then concentrate on important duties as general manager only."

Muckler, 33, was co-ordinator of player personnel for New York Rangers last season after 5½ years as general manager-coach of the Long Island Ducks of the United States Eastern Hockey League.

Peter Hope, Halifax, is first alternate, with Bob Wylie, Calgary, second.

Joe Foy The Hero

Bosox 4-Run Homer Blasts Yankees

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Foy, unnerved by a near shattering experience two days ago, has pulled himself together in time to take apart New York Yankees.

Foy arrived in New York in time to lead his parents from their burning house Sunday night, then, playing the hero left him plenty shaken up.

"I had so much on my mind," he said, "but the good thing we were rained out Monday night," said the Boston Red Sox third baseman. But by Tuesday night, Foy recovered enough to step into the hero's role again at Yankee Stadium where his grand slam home run helped shatter New York Yankees 7-1.

In the only other American League games scheduled, Washington Senators splintered Chicago White Sox 4-3, Detroit Tigers stopped California Angels 5-1 and Cleveland Indians topped Kansas City Athletics 5-3.

Foy unloaded against Mel Stottlemyre in the fifth inning after two walks and a hit loaded the bases.

The blast, his second major league slam, gave him five homers and 14 runs batted in since he was benched for two days June 6.

Gary Bell, 5-4 before Cleveland traded him to Boston June 4, breezed to his third victory in four decisions with the Red Sox.

The Senators took advantage of some rare miscues by the league leading White Sox for their victory. Leading 2-1 in the sixth inning, Mike Epstein tried to score from second base on Paul Casanova's single to center, but Tommy Agee threw him out. However, the umpires ruled third baseman Don Buford obstructed Epstein and the run was allowed.

The Senators got another gift run in the seventh when Ed Stroud was hit by a pitch, went all the way to third on a wild pitch and scored on an error.

Detroit had to come from behind in the eighth inning. Al Kaline doubled in Don Wert, who had been hit by a pitch, and then Jim Northrup's single scored Kaline.

Luis Tiant of Cleveland hit a solo homer and hurled a two-hitter for eight innings, but needed hitting and pitching help. Lee Mays also homered. Max Alvis singled in a run and Pedro Gonzales hit two sacrifice flies. Steve Bailey struck out the last two batters in the ninth after KC scored twice.

Harness Racing

Connaught Opens Aug. 2

OTTAWA (CP) — Connaught Park raceway, with a new glass-enclosed, fully heated grandstand will resume harness racing on Aug. 2.

The old grandstand of the park, on the Aylmer Road across the Ottawa river from the capital, was destroyed in a fire in March, 1966.

The 2,000-seat grandstand will have huge glass panels across its front. They will slide open to permit warm-weather ventilation and allow race - watching any time of the year. A track official said races will be held every Sunday during the winter.

General Manager Frank Gorman says he expects all Connaught attendance and mutuel records to go by the boards on opening night. The Canadian Juvenile Circuit, with a purse of $5,000, is the feature race Aug. 2.

Post-Meeting Settlement

Temporary Peace On Golf Front

CLEVELAND (AP)—There's a peace again — at least temporarily — on the pro golf tour.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and Co. will play in the Professional Golfers Association championship at Denver, Colo., next month, and the nations' top pros will play the Canadian Open and Ryder Cup matches at Houston in October.

This was made certain in an impromptu meeting here late Tuesday night between PGA and top PGA officials had broken up an earlier showdown meeting with their exchanges and in an apparent stalemate. It appeared certain that the top touring pros were going on with their determination to form a maverick tour when Mac Elkin of Washington, the PGA president, got the players, tournament committee into a private session just before midnight and hammered out these points of agreement:

1. The tour will be under the full direction of Jack Tuthill, the president tournament director for the PGA.

2. The television program will be run by the tournament committee and not PGA headquarters, with Marty Carmichael in charge.

3. The current seven - man tournament committee, consisting of the four player representatives and the top three PGA officials, will be supplemented by a fourth PGA representative. In case of a voting deadlock, the issue will be referred to a three - man board from the advisory committee.

4. The PGA will obtain its powerful right of veto on policy decisions.

"It is a good settlement, we are perfectly satisfied," said Dan Sikes, chairman of the players committee which also includes Gardner Dickinson, Mason Rudolph and Doug Ford.

"We wanted to remain in the PGA, but we didn't want to give up all of our rights," said Ford. "I think this settlement will be satisfactory to everybody."

The players' main demand was the right to run their own show, a $4,500,000 enterprise which has rich added television benefits.

The players also received greater control over television monies which amount to about $800,000 a year.

In giving up a greater voice in the control of the tour, the PGA retained its veto power which it considers a strong point.

The players, including all of the top four competitors, planned a petition threatening to boycott the PGA Championship July 20-24 at Denver. The PGA reacted by also threatening suspension of some players.

Cheesemen Retain Lead

Black Diamond Cheese retained a two-point lead in the Commercial Softball League standings by whipping Stewart Warner 11-5 in half of the Alemite Park twin bill.

The Cheesemen needed the win too, for in the other tilt, City Hotel blanked Tiki Club, 8-0 to stay two points back, with a game in hand.

Dave Feeney pitched the Hotelmen's shutout, stopping the Tiki youngsters on six hits. He struck out seven and did not walk a man while receiving strong support. Mike Healey started and lost, giving way to Bill Wickens in the second. They gave up nine hits, fanned one and walked one. Healey was tagged for seven of the runs and six hits.

Lombanks Host Oshawa Tonight

Belleville baseball fans will get their first look at the EOBA senior loop's Oshawa entry here tonight when the Motor City crew tangles with the Lombanks at 8 o'clock.

The Lombanks, rained out in a couple of recent games, will be gunning for a victory to keep them near the top of the league standings.

Oshawa has a fast, young club that could give the Lombanks trouble unless coach Fleet Goeppa has the boys "up" for this one.

The Lombanks have added a good man to the club, both afield, and at bat, in Don Purvis. The former South Hastings League star has made his presence felt on the Belleville squad already and will do his share to help win games.

Tonight is special too in that the Lombanks are holding "Home Town Night", admitting free of charge any city softball minor teams willing to show up in body and wearing their team sweaters.

Game time, once again is eight o'clock, at the Fair grounds.

Larry Jackson Has One-Hitter

Phils' Hurler Beats Mets 18 In Row

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry Jackson has tossed another curve at the law of averages—and New York Mets are still waiting for it to break their way.

Jackson, Philadelphia's 30-year-old Mel Killer, borrowed a pitch from team-mate Jim Bunning Tuesday night and beat New York for the 18th time without a loss, firing the second one-hitter of his career as the Phillies breezed to a 4-0 victory.

Jackson's 18-0 record against the Mets is second only to San Francisco's Juan Marichal, who has beaten the expansion club 18 times without a setback.

Marichal, meanwhile, became the first 10-game winner in the majors by overwhelming Cincinnati's slumping Reds 5-1 on a five-hitter.

Elsewhere, Chicago Cubs upended Pittsburgh Pirates 8-3; St. Louis Cardinals whipped Houston Astros 6-2 and Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Atlanta Braves 3-2 in 15 innings.

He struggled his one-hitter to a new curve ball he picked up from Bunning.

"I've changed my grip," Jackson said. "I'm choking up on the ball and holding it like Bunning does . . .

"Now I wish I'd started throwing it 10 years ago."

The Phillies gave him a quick rendoff with three runs in the first inning on Tony Taylor's single, Rich Allen's triple and Don Lock's sixth homer.

Marichal, who missed his last turn because of a pinched nerve in his neck, was credited for two hits and a run in the first inning but stymied the Reds thereafter while boosting his record to 10-5.

The Giants roughed up Mel Queen, 4-7, for two runs in the second and knocked him out in a two-run ninth.

Ron Santo and Ted Savage paced Chicago's 14-hit attack with three hits apiece, Santo driving in two runs.

Rookie Chuck Hartenstein rescued Pirate starter Joe Nelson after Dave Clendenon's three-run homer in the fifth.

Dal Maxvill drifted a tie-breaking triple in the seventh inning and Orlando Cepeda cracked a three-run homer in the eighth as the Cardinals pulled away from the Astros.

Houston's Jake Gaisey stroked two hits for a club record of eight in a row before winning pitcher Larry Jester ended the streak.

Atlanta reliever Claude Raymond of St. Jean, Que., filled the bases in the 15th inning with an intentional pass to pinch - hitter Ron Fairly, then forced home and winning run by whiffing John Roseboro.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)— Kate's Intent, owned by Boston sportsman Peter Fuller, won the featured Seaway Stakes in the seventh race at Woodbine Tuesday.

The victory was worth $6,850 to the U.S. horse and increased her earnings from three races in Canada this season to $15,050.

Pomme Souffle and Jock's Pride combined for a $35.30 daily double.

The exacter of Terrible Tan and Globexantier in the fourth paid $26.80 while the exacter of Redirect and Little Bullfrog in the sixth paid $18.60.

Minor Baseball Results

Three close games and one lopsided victory were recorded in BMSA play last night.

Parkdale edged Farrell's Motors 8-6 in bantam, Little Oven Bakery scored nine runs in the sixth inning to come out De-Miller's 17-16 in PeeWee, and Canada Packers defeated Bob's Auto Shop 9-6 in tadpole. In another tadpole tilt, a pitching trio of Clyde Rombley, Mike Kisley and John Dunphy combined for a one - hitter to lead Belle Food to an 11-1 triumph over Golden Mile.

Terry Meagher hurled a six - hitter and fanned 11 in Parkdale's win. On the loser's mound Austin Wilson was tagged 11 times and struck out eight.

Richard Graham smacked a home run and single, Glen Carleton, Merle Defoe and Stan Brooks stroked two hits each to lead the winners. Also hitting were Mike Semark, Paul Wolfe and Terry Meagher.

Billy Cole, Dave Wood, Moe Thompson, Austin Wilson, Larry Reid and Dominic Tomeo hit safely for Farrell's.

The hitters had a field day in Little Oven's victory over De-Miller's. The winners stroked 18 hits while the losers replied with 24 as all pitchers were given a rough time.

Tim Whelan and Pat McKinney tolled for Bellville's whole nine while Paul Weeks and Greg Macinnis toiled for Auto Shop.

Bernard Trumpour with two hits, Randy Hutchinson and Mike Wessels, with doubles led the winners. Also hitting were Dean Newman, Glen Andrews and Brian Coughlan.

Pat Mulvihill homered and singled, and Paul Weeks had two doubles and a single for the losers. Roy Garvin and Greg MacInnis also hit.

Mike Kirby and Peter Coates led Belle Food to victory with a pair of singles each. Teammate John Dunphy, Rick Murray and Clyde Rombley also hit.

Queens Plate

"Mr Sin" Could Prove Big Surprise!

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Sin will probably be overlooked when the betors line up to place their money for the 108th running of the Queen's Plate Saturday.

"And they'll leave their money at the wickets," says Ernie Lieberman of Toronto, co-owner of the bay son of Double Jay along with Sam Bass of Vancouver.

"Look at that animal," Lieberman said Tuesday.

"Just compare his size to the ordinary racehorse. This animal's a tiger. He's big and he's strong. He never ran more than seven-eighths of a mile until Monday."

Lieberman was referring to Monday's Plate Trial in which Mr. Sin finished fifth after leading the field of eight for most of the 1¼-mile distance.

"We've kept this horse under wraps, but he's ready now. Monday was the first time that horse was ever blown out. He drank water after the race for the first time ever. And I'll tell you a secret. The horse won't run on the fast.

"He likes to run on the soft side. That's where we're hoping to win the Queen's Plate."

But the experts around Woodbine have picked Pine Point, owned by Mrs. Jack Laing of Toronto, to win the $75,000 classic for Canadian - bred three-year-olds.

The All Hands - sired brown colt after being pre-embarked by winning the Plate Trial by 1¼ lengths.

Meanwhile, Courant d'Air, owned by J. Louis Levesque of Montreal, began to line up as the second favorite. The son of Nearctic surprised early risers by working three - quarters of a mile in 1:13 2-5 Tuesday.

Coma by Chance rates as third favorite among the early guessers.

League Approves Aces Sale

SOUTH EGREMONT, Mass. (AP)— The American Hockey League's board of governors approved at their annual meeting Tuesday the purchase of Quebec Aces by Philadelphia Flyers, a new entry in the National Hockey League.

Bill Putnam was seated on the board as a representative of the new ownership of the Aces.

The board also voted to start a player pension plan this year. The plan will be contributory on the part of both players and club owners, but no other details were disclosed.

The governors also decided on a study on the possibility of creating an AHL television game-of-the-week.

Football Bird Dogs Reap Rich Harvest of American Imports

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Sports Editor

The bird-dogs and talent scouts of Canadian football this year have reaped the richest harvest of import talent in history and there may be more to come.

Only one player from the United States drafted into college ranks by a Canadian Football League club last year; the total is close to 14 so far this year.

How did it happen? Top football men agree it's mainly a reaction to last winter's merger of the National and American leagues which put an end to $500,000 signing bonuses and cut-throat contracts.

By Canadian standards, the good U.S. players aren't costing enough. A picked up $13,000 plus a $2,000 signing bonus.

And most of them are firm believers in the incentive clause.

There are contract clauses calling for bonuses for the number of passes caught or knocked down depending on the circumstances for making the all-star teams and for various other recognitions bringing fame.

One figure wants to be paid off on the number of tackles he makes.

Canadian coaches feel that some of the good ones will use their new-found wealth to build a reputation to carry them into good football jobs back in the U.S.

In the big bonus years, a top draft choice could afford to sit out a year or a few years while working his way into a top job. Now, an all-star import who is fit to line for a defensive halfback spot with a U.S. team may feel more like toying for star status in Canada where he might get a chance to develop a multiplicity of talents.

Halfbacks — Dennis Capozzi, 10th draft choice of Kansas City Chiefs, to Toronto Argonauts; Ben Wooden, 15th choice of National Raiders, to Calgary Stampeders.

Ends—Nick Sheron, second choice of New York Jets, to Edmonton Eskimos; Tim Leveon, sixth choice of New Orleans Saints, to Edmonton.

Quarterbacks—Dave Lewis, fifth choice of New York Giants, to Montreal Alouettes; Paul Brothers, 10th choice of Dallas Cowboys, to B.C. Lions.

Guards — Bill Seman, 10th choice of New York Giants, to Toronto.

In some cases, rather than wait for the bleach draft of U.S. pros, American players signed early in Canada. The Canadian teams informed their U.S. colleagues so they could bypass these players without wasting a draft choice.

Even so, Kansas City wasted its 15th draft choice on Concord and Detroit used up its fourth pick on Lou Kachmer.

Other prospects, not on draft lists, picked up by Canadian clubs:

Saskatchewan—Jesse Kaye, Tampa; Tony MacKinnon, Weber State, Utah, defensive end; Glen Gardiner, Brigham Young, two - way lineman; Walt Odegaard, North Dakota, defensive tackle.

Calgary — Bruce Handley, offensive guard; Moses Watkins, defensive tackle, both Weber State.

Winnipeg—Lou Morris, Villanova, offensive guard, linebacker; Roger Bonk, North Dakota, guard - linebacker; Ken Duke, Morgan State, Md., fullback who was 1966 draft choice by Baltimore Colts.

British Columbia—Earl and Burt Wood, West Texas State, linebackers.

Edmonton — Bartley Harkless, North Texas State, guard; John LaCroix, Southern Methodist, linebacker; Dave Grasser, West Texas, linebacker.

Ottawa — Earl Edwards, Wichita, tackle; Chuck Erenbaugh, Purdue, guard; Red Anderson, Florida, linebacker.

Montreal — Ron Parsons, Austin Peay College, Tenn., end; Al Tyler, Livingstone College, N.C., quarterback; Ron Edwards, Utah, quarterback; Carroll Williams, Cincinnati, quarterback.

Toronto — Ken Watkins, Adams State, Colo., halfback; Jim Grelk, Arizona, flanker; Larry Middlebrooks, Jackson State College, Miss., lineman; Tim Talley, Notre Dame, lineman.

There are others. Quarterback Terry Baker, 1962 Heisman Trophy winner who spent four years with Los Angeles Rams, was signed by Edmonton.

Jim Young of Hamilton, with Minnesota Vikings for two years, moves to the B.C. backfield for Willie Fleming.

Jerry Neal, a Michigan State tackle who carries 235-pounds on a 5-11 frame, joins B.C. Lions.

Charlie Mitchell is a defensive lineman who is not eligible for anybody's draft. The 6-4½ crusher from Texas Christian, coveted by Dallas Cowboys, Kansas City and Argonauts becomes the year of college eligibility he has left made him unsignable by U.S. clubs.

And the bald-tinch over 6-6 that he carries is just enough to put him over the maximum height allowable under the U.S. military draft.

Each Canadian team must be down to 18 Canadians and 14 Americans by noon of the day of their first conference game, which will mean a tough cutting job for most coaches.

Toronto Argonauts alone will probably have to peel off more than 30 players.

Seniors' Golf Tourney

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Jim Gibson of Toronto Summit Golf a one-over-par 72 Tuesday to take the first-round lead in the Ontario seniors golf tournament.

Gibson ripped up the back nine at the 6,622-yard Essex Golf Club with a two-under-par 34 to take a two - stroke edge over Jack Nash of London Hunt. Don Anderson of St. Thomas and current champion Jack Lister of Toronto Mississaugua.

This is the first year the tournament is being played over 36 holes and two days on two golf courses. Wednesday's final 18 holes will be played at the beach Green club near Windsor.

Gibson, a 54 - year - old sales executive, admitted that he "got mad after bogeying the ninth" for a three-over-par 36 going out. He then strung three straight threes and finished an eagle on the 10th. Only a one-over five on the 18th took some heavy off.

Phil Farley of Toronto Scarborough, winner of the tournament the last three years, was in fifth place with a 75 after taking a 44 at back nine. He was tied with J. Malcolm Dingwall of the Dundas Valley Club.

Wings Nip Leafs Twice

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leaf pitchers had business Tuesday, but manager Eddie Kasko might just as well have given the kitters the day off.

Richmond Braves capitalized on Toronto's impotent bats to sweep an International League doubleheader from the Leafs, 1-0 and 3-1.

The two losses dropped Toronto 6½ games behind first-place Rochester Red Wings who squeezed past Columbus Jets 3-1.

In other action, Buffalo Bisons nipped Jacksonville Suns 3-2 in 10 innings and Syracuse Chiefs took a twilight game Toledo Mud Hens 10-4 and 4-3.

U.S. Pipeline Approval Doesn't Rule Out Political Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's second trans - continental gas pipeline likely will remain a volatile political issue, even though the giant project was approved Tuesday by the United States Federal Power Commission.

The decision was greeted with cheers by government and Conservative spokesmen in the Commons, but New Democratic MPs bitterly assailed it. Both sides indicated they will continue to debate the routing of the $211,700,000 natural gas line.

Energy Minister Pepin welcomed the FPC ruling to allow Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. to build a 262-mile section across the U.S. Midwest between Emerson, Man., and Sarnia, Ont., as the central link in a pipeline that will eventually stretch from Alberta's gas fields to Quebec City.

He was particularly pleased that the FPC decision was unanimous, after nearly three years of hearings and controversy both in Canada and the U.S.

Canadian approval for the international route was given last fall.

"This is a great day for Canada," commented Alvin Hamilton, former resources minister and a candidate for the Conservative leadership.

He predicted that the southern route will make natural gas cheaper in Canada than in the U.S., will create large new gas markets in Eastern Canada's industrial belt and encourage further industrial growth.

Two NDP members from Northern Ontario took a diametrically opposite view. Arnold Peters (Timiskaming) and Murdo Marvin (Timmins) argued that the project serves American interests at the expense of Canada.

Mr. Peters said most of the gas carried by the new pipeline will be sold in the U.S., without filling gas needs in Eastern Canada. His party would continue to fight for a line across Northern Ontario.

The Americans had approved the southern route only because the war in the Middle East and the resulting disruption of oil shipments had "scared the hell out of them."

Mr. Hamilton said the Liberals' "vacillation and cowardice" in vetoing until last fall before approving the Trans - Canada project delayed construction by one year.

He accused the NDP of taking an attitude that would have boosted gas prices and hurt Ontario workers and gas consumers.

The impromptu pipeline debate arose during the Commons question period and discussion of energy department spending estimates for 1967-68, which were approved.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"What really upsets me is I just had the cleaning woman in yesterday."

No Shortage Now Say Distributors

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

After more than two years of frustration, Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. won approval Tuesday to build its $212,000,000 natural gas pipeline south of the Great Lakes.

The approval given by the U.S. Federal Power Commission was greeted with a sigh of relief by Trans-Canada and major eastern Canadian gas distributors.

"We are extremely gratified to receive the unanimous approval of the Great Lakes Project," said Jamed W. Kerr, president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd.

"We still have plenty of time and there will be no gas shortage in eastern Canada during the winter of 1967-68."

Mr. Kerr said construction will start immediately and the first stage of the project to connect gas storage fields at Austin, Mich., with storage facilities in Dawn township near Sarnia, Ont., will be completed this fall.

Piping and other material for the first phase of construction are on the job site and right-of-way has been obtained, Mr. Kerr added.

He said the second phase of the pipeline will be completed in 1968, inaugurating the direct delivery of western Canadian gas to eastern Canada, including Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

When completed the 1,000-mile 36-inch Great Lakes pipeline will run from Emerson, Man., through Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan to Sarnia.

Mr. Kerr said that by 1971 Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co. will deliver 677,000,000 cubic feet of Western Canadian gas each day to eastern Canadian markets. Experts of Canadian gas associated with the project would total 170,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co. is a jointly-owned subsidiary of Trans-Canada and American Natural Gas Co. set up to handle the pipeline.

Estimated costs of twinning Trans - Canada's present pipeline through Northern Ontario is $200,000,000.

D. G. Clark, executive vice-president of Northern and Central Gas Ltd., which is a major purchaser of gas from Trans-Canada, said the FPC decision will "solve immediately the prospect of a gas shortage in eastern Canada."

He said the company, which has been looking carefully at its sales future because of growing gas shortage, could now go ahead with its sales programs.

However, Mr. Clark said the FPC decision does not rule out the company's earlier proposal for another line through Northern Ontario, which would break off from the present pipeline at Nipigon to serve communities along the north shore of the Great Lakes and extend through Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec City.

George W. Carpenter, vice-president and general superintendent of gas supply for Consumers' Gas Co., said "everything looks real rosy for distributing companies in Ontario."

He said as a result of the decision gas rates are not as likely to go up as they might have if an alternative northern route had to be built.

Robarts Tells PCs to Campaign

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says Premier Robarts Tuesday told a closed meeting of Progressive Conservatives to start campaigning this summer for a provincial election, but he gave no indication whether he would call one for this fall or wait for spring.

The meeting was held for 43 PC candidates who are not members of the legislature.

Tour Expo Site

MONTREAL (CP) — Twenty-three blind children made a touch, smell and listen visit to Expo 67 Tuesday and got a chance to finger the fur of a kicking kangaroo.

Accompanied by adult volunteers and parents, the children toured the Bell Telephone, Canadian Pacific - Commerce, and Australian pavilions and then set off for a visit to the La Ronde amusement section.

"We told them what to expect beforehand and now they've got some experience of things they would likely never get near anywhere else," explained Rene Macegy, a worker for the Montreal Association for the Blind who organized the trip.

At the Australian pavilion attendants hauled Victoria and Thomasina, two female kangaroos, out of their pen and had the struggling, pair while the children reached out their hands to touch them.

"Oh, it's skinny," cried one little girl who happened to grab Thomina's grey tail.

Michael Parker, 15, felt Victoria's face and ears and pronounced "she's just like my pet rabbit."

Bob Barker Does Good Job As Emcee of The Family Game

TV-Radio Column

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Work days? A pity. You missed the start Monday of ABC's daily The Family Game.

This one has a predictably suave, handsome master of ceremonies, three pairs of thirtyish, all - American - looking parents and, with each couple, two cute, cushby children.

Despite the overabundance of gloss, it's fun.

After jolly introductions the parents retire to a sound-proof booth and the youngsters answer questions designed to reveal family secrets.

Emcee Bob Barker: "Which one of these Seven Dwarfs best describes your father in the morning — Sleepy, Happy or Grumpy."

Two tots chose Grumpy, one Sleepy. The parents returned and two correctly guessed their children's answers.

Other questions brought out the time mom lost her equilibrium and the time pop ran through the petunia bed.

Reviewers are expected to lambaste television game shows.

Probably the most charitable thing to say for television games is that they are harmless plantings between more nourishing crops in the television wasteland.

Refreshing candor by Walter W. Straley of American Telephone and Telegraph as he accepted the American Symphony Orchestra League's gold beton award for the audience—hungry Bell Telephone Hour:

"To level with you, the Telephone Hour is mostly a corporate whim. As a part of our advertising program it is difficult —nay, impossible — to justify. Now and then a corporation should divert itself from waving its banners for the attention of great masses of people and wave one file banner simply because it deserves waving."

PAPER COOKS DINNER

QUEBEC CITY (CP)—Among the entries at the Quebec Spring Science Fair was a solar cooker of aluminum paper and cardboard, made by Richard Corriveau and John Davis, which uses the sun's rays to cook food. Allen Kerwin invented a sound amplifier of aluminum foiling which picks up conversation 25 feet away. All the boys are aged 13.

Ceylon PM Arrives For Big Day at Expo

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Dudley S. Senanayake of Ceylon heads that country's delegation today at flag-raising ceremonies marking Ceylon's national day at Expo 67.

The prime minister arrived in Montreal from Ottawa Tuesday night.

Mr. Senanayake spent a night at the theatre and at a special supper in his honor given by Montreal's Mayor Dean Drapeau.

A number of American and Canadian cabinet ministers took in the sights of the fair Tuesday.

The Americans, headed by Henry Fowler, secretary of the treasury, are in Canada to attend today's opening of a two-day meeting of the Joint United States-Canadian committee on trade and economic affairs.

Robert Winters, Canada's trade minister, headed the Canadian delegation.

Tuesday also was Maine's special day at Expo. Governor Kenneth Curtis of that state officiated at ceremonies at Place des Nations prior to a whirlwind tour of the site.

Mr. Curtis, who took over the office as Maine's Democratic governor in January, said the world's fair "will do a great deal to eliminate the feeling that Canada is up there somewhere at the end of a long road."

Mr. Curtis later was accompanied by Robert Shaw, deputy commissioner-general of Expo, on a visit to the training ship Maine of Maine which arrived Sunday in Montreal as part of the fair's visiting ships program.

The Maine governor told a press conference aboard the ship—which had served as General Dwight Eisenhower's communication vessel for the Normandy invasion June 6, 1944—that he hoped the tourist trade attracted by Expo will spill over into Maine.

Police reported no serious incidents at the fair except an explained explosion at the rear of a maintenance truck that left Claude Perron, employee of the City of Montreal, in hospital with second-degree burns.

Expo officials were unable to explain the circumstances of the explosion.

Olivier's Cancer Curable

LONDON (AP)—Sir Laurence Olivier has cancer, but there is a good chance of a cure, his wife said Tuesday night.

Lady Olivier — actress Joan Plowright—called a news conference to appeal to the public not to cancel bookings at Britain's National Theatre during the absence of its director and leading actor.

Olivier, 60, now is in hospital and doctors have forbidden him to appear at the theatre for the next three weeks.

His wife said he also suffered with a mild form of pneumonia Monday.

DONNER MOVES AGAIN

Clive Donner, director of What's New Pussycat?, is producing a film for the first time, Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush, in England.

To Your Good Health

Vasculitis Has Many Different Causes

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told I have vasculitis. What is it and how is it treated? — I. S.

Vasculitis is an inflammatory condition of the blood vessels, and the usual result is a sore, red area in the involved part of the body.

Naturally the inflammation may result from varied causes. Infection may be involved — typhoid or pneumonia germs for instance, or viruses. Allergies and sensitivity to certain drugs, the saliva sometimes being the offender, may be involved. Sometimes vasculitis develops in connection with the collagen diseases.

With such various possibilities to consider, it may be simple to diagnose the condition as vasculitis but not so easy to track down the exact cause. It is not unusual to require a stay in the hospital to ascertain the cause, and treatment may consist of avoiding the irritant to which it is identified.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any difference between mental deficiency and being mentally ill? Is there any keepsincere or free help for mental defectives — Mrs. V. L. D.

There's a world of difference between mental deficiency and mental illness. Mental deficiency means that the brain simply does not operate at full efficiency — mental retardation is from heredity, illness or injury.

Mental illness, however, can and sometimes does affect even people of very superior intelligence. It is an emotional illness. The ill person does not lose touch normally to life and society. With proper treatment, many of the mentally ill recover.

If the deficiency is moderate, training schools can teach some to be self-supporting.

Dear Dr. Molner: Years ago I had syphilis and was treated by injections. Blood tests are always negative. Does that mean that I am completely cured? — Worried

Yes. So next time sign yourself "Not Worried."

Dear Dr. Molner: Are phlebitis and aneurysms the same thing? Can an aneurysm result from phlebitis? — Mrs. M. S.

They are not the same. Phlebitis is inflammation of a vein. An aneurysm is a weak bulge place, and more dangerous in an artery.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can you tell me about a rare disease of the uterus which causes it to enlarge until it is first diagnosed as a tumor, then as a possible pregnancy? — Mrs. M. I.

I think you are referring to what is called "false pregnancy." This sometimes occurs to women nearing menopause, or to younger women who have an intense desire to have a child.

Actually the uterus is not affected and not enlarged. It is the abdomen and breasts, probably due to fat or to intestinal gas. Obviously the emotions are having tremendous effect, although we do not understand the precise mechanism.

While the condition prevails, the woman usually continues to have her menstrual periods and the situation returns to normal if the individual can be convinced that she is not pregnant.

Regional Stoppages Overcome, Quebec Hydro Strike Planned

MONTREAL (CP) — Emergency power crews have overcome about 20 electrical blackouts in the Montreal area after 5,000 Hydro — Quebec workers went on strike in four regions of the province.

Premier Daniel Johnson served notice Tuesday night in Quebec City that his government would intervene in any general strike against the publicly-owned utility which threatened public security.

Spokesmen for the Canadian Union of Public Employees said all 8,000 Hydro workers would be off their jobs in three or four days if no agreement is reached on the terms of a new contract.

The strike, designed to press demands for better working conditions and wages, replaces the rotating or staggered-area walkouts which have been held in various regions of the province since May 8. It began Monday night.

The last time the Johnson government intervened in a strike in the public sector was in February when Roman Catholic teachers in several Quebec centres were ordered back to work by legislation.

Union officials said in Montreal the formerly-used system of rotating strikes, each lasting 24 hours in one or two Quebec regions, had not proved as effective as originally planned and a more widespread strike was necessary to press their demands.

The initial strike affected workers on Montreal Island, Quebec City, the Laurentians and the north shore of the St. Lawrence River.

The strike began a few hours after a majority of the Hydro workers voted to reject a management settlement offer designed to end the rotating strikes.

Involved were office workers, technical personnel and employees described as basic workers.

Seniority has been a major factor at stake in the dispute. The last contract between the union and the utility expired Dec. 31.

Hydro's 4,500 hourly - rated workers have been seeking a $1.31 hourly wage increase in a two-year contract. Their average hourly rate before the strike was $2.50.

The office workers were seeking a 23-per-cent increase in their current average weekly earnings of $91. About 400 technicians have asked for a $13 increase in their weekly wages of $122.50 in the first year and a $8.50 raise in the second year.

Pleads Guilty

Magistrate T. Y. Wills assessed a two-year suspended sentence to 18-year-old Lawrence A. Claus after he pleaded guilty to three charges of forgery on his appearance today in police court.

New Library Room Officially Opened

MADOC — The Centennial Room at Madoc Memorial Public Library was officially opened Friday afternoon when William Shannon, Warden of the County, assisted by Tom Burnside, Reeve of Madoc, cut the ribbon.

The centennial room was planned in 1965 when the Board canvassed the village for the necessary funds and raised $1,533. Work was started in 1966 and completed the same year.

Due to new regulations of the Department of Education Library Services, the Madoc Association Library had become a free public library. The library was organized in 1900 in William Cross' law office by a group of men from the village, and began with 173 volumes. In 1948 Samuel Rollins built the new library and donated it to the village. The Women's Institute furnished the reading room for $600.

COMMENTS ON EXPO

With a colossal project like Expo there are bound to be a few gripes but most of our members have nothing but raves for this gigantic, man-made spectacle.

A few of the comments: — everything is run very efficiently; there is ample parking space; the buildings are terrific; there are signs everywhere making it easy to reach. Many have visited it two or three times already.

There are two good routes into Montreal: 1. Take 401 to 20, 7 and 20 to Expo parking lot. There are lots of buses to Expo from there.

2. Highway 401 to 20, 540 to Trans-Canada Highway, 40 to newly widened 10-lane Decarie Blvd., to 20 and Expo parking lot.

If you wish to cross to the south side and take 8 to Quebec City a good fast route is 540 to 40 which takes you through the northern part of the city to 25 and the newly finished bridge tunnel to 20 on the south side and 8 to Quebec City.

If you wish to avoid going through Montreal you can take the 401 and cross over to the south side at Valleyfield, Quebec, and 3 to Longueuil, Quebec. Here you can park your car and take the subway to Expo.

Both parking lots charge $2, whether you park for one hour or 24 hours.

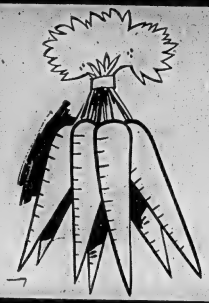
Once you pay your entrance fee and get into the grounds, all the pavilions are free. Most of the rides cost 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, except the super rides like the Cyrano, which costs $1 for adults and 75 cents for children.

All of Expo's 65 restaurants must post their prices outside so that visitors know what it will cost them before they go in. They will find prices from 50 cents in cafeterias to $4.50 and up in the super deluxe restaurants.

Rates will be high for accommodation but the Quebec government has ruled that hotels, motels and tourist homes must post room rates on the door and abide by them.

Accommodations can be made through Lepage or, for our members, at the Royal Auto Club in Montreal or at our office 15 Kingston. The Express electric train carries passengers free of charge. It is air-conditioned and gives one a beautiful view of Expo grounds.

Expo's islands are a Venice of Canada. On Notre Dame Island you can slip into a dhow, chinese junk, Venetian gondola, Mexican flower boat, sampan or Mississippi show boat, and try out the vessels of the world.



A 35-passenger Hovercraft will fly above the water at 40 miles an hour from landing ramps, Cite du Havre to La Ronde, or two-passenger pedicabs will be pedalled by students for 50 cents or $6 an hour.

If you have anything, watch out for closed circuit television monitors which act as a lost and found service. If a child is lost he'll appear on the screen holding a message telling where to find him. If it is some article, phone Expovox. There are 250 hostesses and guides whose full-time duty is to help, direct and explain.

KyAsks To Talk At UN

SAIGON (Reuters)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said tonight he is prepared to go to New York to argue South Vietnam's case before the present emergency session of the General Assembly.

The premier said he has asked his ambassador in Washington to look into ways of raising the subject of Vietnam at the assembly, now discussing the Middle East crisis.

Ky, speaking to reporters at a reception for countries and organizations which have supplied aid to Vietnam, said:

"Israel fought for only four days but, that conflict was brought before the United Nations for discussion.

"Why has the Vietnam war dragged on so long without it coming before the United Nations?"

Wife's Dryer Kept Him In Whisky

EDINBURGH, Scotland (Reuters) — Benjamin Duffield's whisky ration came out of his wife's clothes dryer, a court was told Wednesday.

Duffield, 51, used the family spin dryer to squeeze the whisky from Silver pads thrown in the garbage by a bottling plant.

Duffield pleaded not guilty to attempting to evade excise taxes on the whisky. His lawyer said the whisky he got was waste.

The court postponed its verdict.

Russia May Man Arabs' New Arms

LONDON (Reuters) — The London Evening Standard says in a report from Tel Aviv that Russia might send volunteers to Egypt and threaten to restart the Middle East war.

The report links Soviet anti-Israeli radio broadcasts with the arrival in Cairo of Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny and Marshal Matvei Zakharov, Soviet chief of staff.

These developments are being closely studied, the report says.

"It began to look as if the Russians might provide the personnel to man the arms which they were supplying to Egypt could this be the prologue to a Middle Eastern Vietnam, it was asked?"

Meanwhile in Cairo, President Nasser conferred today with President Nikolai V. Podgorny, the Egyptian Middle East news agency reported.

The meeting was attended by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik. There was no word on topics discussed, presumed to be aimed at concerted action against Israel.

Talks began Wednesday night at Nasser's private residence were expected to continue until Podgorny's departure, probably Friday or Saturday.

The authoritative Cairo newspaper Al Ahram says Podgorny and Nasser had a four-hour discussion Wednesday night, shortly after Podgorny's arrival, interrupted only for a quick dinner.

In Moscow, informed sources said Wednesday Russia has agreed to re-arm Arab armies without charge despite an Egyptian arms debt to the Soviet said to be as high a $1,000,000,000.

Al Ahram says Podgorny is expected to return to Moscow early next week. By that time Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin was expected to return from attending a United Nations General Assembly session on the Middle East and the central committee of the Soviet Communist party should have completed its consideration of the problem.

Al Ahram quotes Podgorny as telling Nasser shortly after his arrival: "The imperialists and their stooges think we have come here to exchange social conversation. . . . We shall prove to them what we mean is more than mere conversation."

The Soviet president was replying to Nasser, who had expressed regret that Podgorny could not visit different parts of Egypt.

An editorial in the newspaper says Podgorny's visit and Kosygin's attitude at the General Assembly meetings, as well as Soviet support of Arab countries, proves that friendship and appreciation dominated Soviet-Egyptian relations.

Zakharov was leading a high-level Russian military delegation making an on-the-spot assessment of Egypt's defence needs in the wake of the recent war with Israel.

France Will Enter UN Debate Today

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—France enters the United Nations debate on the Middle East today.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville's speech to the UN General Assembly was expected to expand on a statement by President Charles de Gaulle Wednesday which gave support to both sides in the Arab-Israel dispute.

For the Arabs, de Gaulle said Israel started the war and France does not consider Israeli territory gains to be final. For the Israelis, he said every Middle East state, "notably Israel," has a right to live and be considered like Arab threat to destroy the Jewish state.

Martin May Win 'Big Two' Meeting

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—U.S. President Johnson and Soviet Premier Kosygin may decide today whether to hold a summit meeting.

With External Affairs Minister Martin of Canada urging Kosygin to meet the U.S. leader, the foreign ministers of the U.S. and Russia left the final decision to the leaders of the two big powers.

This became known after a three - hour meeting between U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Martin said for an hour with Kosygin urging the meeting. Although declining to say how Kosygin reacted to his suggestion, Martin said "there would be great embarrassment throughout the world" if the summit meeting did not take place.

There were reports from other sources that such a meeting might take place in New York today.

Since Johnson had a heavy schedule in Washington today, it appeared unlikely that even a brief Big Two parley could take place until Friday or later.

One possible indication of a Johnson - Kosygin meeting Friday came when the White House announced Wednesday that Premier Jens Otto Krag of Denmark would see the President in Washington today instead of Friday, as previously scheduled.

The issue has become tied to questions of policy and prestige, with Kosygin against journeying from New York to Washington to call on Johnson and vice versa.

Since the U.S. government considers the UN session a Kremlin manoeuvre to gain favor with the Arabs, Johnson was reported opposed to lending his prestige to the assembly session or meeting what appeared to be a pilgrimage to Kosygin.

Kosygin presumably did not want to visit Arab wrath by appearing to make a pilgrimage to Johnson or seeming too friendly with him.

But there was pressure on both leaders to demonstrate by at least a token meeting that the two great powers are not about to plunge the world into a new cold war or worse.

Informed sources said Martin and Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani "have been particularly active" in efforts to bring about the Big Two meeting.

Pest Control Lab Is Losing Top Men to BC University

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The director and seven top staff researchers at the Department of Agriculture's pest research institute in Belleville are resigning to found a new university project.

The group has accepted postings at British Columbia's Simon Fraser University as staff core for a faculty developing a new concept in world pest control.

The Simon Fraser project was directly inspired by principles advocated in a recent book by the director of the institute at Belleville, Dr. B. P. Beirne.

Besides Dr. Beirne — who will head the new university centre for training graduate students — these are the other Belleville appointees announced by the university today.

Dr. J. S. Barlow, Dr. J. P. M. MacSwayn, Dr. K. K. Nair, Dr. A. L. Turnbull, Dr. J. M. Webster, Peter Belton and Mrs. Thelma Finlayson.

They plan to move to the university campus at Burnaby in August and September.

Meantime, a department spokesman in Ottawa says the extensive resignation will not affect the function of the institute.

A new director will be supplied and will assume his duties immediately Dr. Beirne leaves, while staff replacements are now being recruited, he said.

"It may take a little time to rebuild — it's quite unusual for us to get so many resignations at the same time," said Dr. J. A. Anderson, director of the department's research branch at Ottawa Experimental Farm.

"But we've had it once before under similar circumstances when Laval University was setting up its faculty of agriculture."

The institute in Belleville — one of more than a score of department centres across Canada — will be "maintained essentially at the same level," said Dr. Anderson.

"We have excellent research facilities there and we intend using them to the full."

Dr. Anderson said the department had a staff of close to 1,000

Even Pro-Gaullists Critical of Statement

PARIS (Reuters)—President de Gaulle was widely criticised in the French press today for his policy statement Wednesday in which he branded Israel the aggressor in the Middle East war.

The pro-Gaullist Paris-Jour says the accusation cannot be taken seriously.

After explaining that de Gaulle was led to make Wednesday's statement by fears of a third world war, the paper's political commentator Bernard Lefort says:

"The accusation of Israel as the aggressor cannot be taken seriously. It's not the one who fired the first shot who started the war."

The independent leftist Combat headlines: "De Gaulle stokes up the fire—and disqualifies himself as an arbiter."

The paper says his attitude is contestable and surprising.

It was contestable because it did not favor the search for a solution. It was surprising because it contradicted France's initial position—"this was neutrality and now this neutrality has been betrayed, arbitrarily."

Two Admirals Open Logs To Disprove Egyptian Charge

ISTANBUL, Turkey, (Reuters)—U.S. Rear-Admiral Lawrence Geis produced today flight logs and charts to deny Arab charges that American planes from aircraft carriers supported Israel in the recent Arab-Israeli war.

Geis, commander of Task Force 60 of the 6th Fleet, called a press conference aboard the carrier U.S.S. America in Istanbul harbor to make the denial.

"I can honestly say that our aircraft did not participate in any raid over the United Arab Republic, Syria or Jordan, did not provide a defensive umbrella for Israel and did not enter air space over Suez," he said.

In Singapore today, similar denials were made from the British side by Rear-Admiral Edward Beckwith Ashmore aboard the carrier H.M.S. Hermes. Beckwith showed reporters copies of ship movements and flight plans "to provide that it was impossible for our aircraft to do what the Arabs claim."

Geis said:

"Our activities were absolutely neutral during the Mid-east war. The Soviets know this because their ships were with us. Greek airspace flight information control knows this."

Red Guards On Visit To Albania

PEKING (Reuters) — China has sent its first delegation of Red Guards abroad on a trip to Albania, newspaper reports revealed today.

The delegation was headed by Yao We Yuan, attributed with having fired the opening shot in the cultural revolution by writing a public criticism of an anti-Maoist play in a Shanghai newspaper in November, 1965.

In Albania the delegation will attend the fifth congress of the Union of Working Youth of Albania.

At the airport to see the Red Guards off were Premier Chou En-lai, Chen Po-ta, fourth man in the Communist party and head of the group running the cultural revolution; Kang Sheng, top party ideologist and security specialist; Public Security Minister Hsieh Fu-chih; Mao Tse - tung's wife Chiang Ching; and Yang Cheng - wu,

Women Killers Help Viet Cong

SAIGON (Reuters) — Women suspected of motorcycles are the latest terrorist weapons of the Viet Cong against Americans in South Vietnam's capital, police said today.

Police are looking for one of them who shot and wounded a U.S. Air Force sergeant in a street Wednesday. The sergeant was reported in good condition today.

A police spokesman said the sergeant was the latest victim of Viet Cong women firing pistols from the rear seats of speeding motorcycles driven by a man.

Quinte High School Board Will Publish Examination Results

A motion that the Bay of Quinte High School Board not publish results of examinations was defeated by a close six to five vote at a meeting last night. All members voted on the issue, The issue came under discussion when Superintendent of Secondary Schools, K. A. Orr, read a letter from a student asking that her results not be published.

The board also decided against the specifically that his personal results not be published should have them omitted from the newspaper report.

Mr. Orr told board members that time the motion was defeated.

Headmasters Association had recommended some years ago that yearly examination results should not be published. The Quinte School Board voted on the issue two years ago. At Several members voting against the motion felt examination results should be a private matter. Those in favor said the tax paying public should have a right to know the results.

The motion covered students in grades nine to 13.

In other business the board awarded tenders on the transfer of students to sum ner school classes in Kingston. Earnest Wilkinson and Richmond School Coach Service were the low bidders and will split the daily transfer of an estimated 165 students. The service will cost approximately $93 per day.

Other bidders on the tender were McGinnis Coach Lines and Rawson Bus Lines.

The board also moved to hold back a $30,000 performance bond on the new Centennial School project. The total amount owing the contractor is estimated at $470,000.

One of the few remaining problems in the school is auditorium lighting. Changes could cost as much as $5,000.

Tenders were also awarded for the painting of schools during the summer months. This contract was also split between L. G. Byrd and Sons and E. Eadie Vanner and Sons. Estimated cost of the project is $2,500.

Following discussion Bay of Quinte District High School board members decided to forward a favorable opinion to the Provincial Teachers' Association on the deduction of association fees. The board also decided yearly at the present time that the professionals are the best board's feeling on deducting over a ten-month period.

The board also took action on new fencing for the north end of the Moira School property. More than 150 feet of fencing will be installed.

Following a suggestion from the industry and education conference, held recently in Belleville, board members decided to write a letter to place a representative on the local Chamber of Commerce. The membership fee is $25 per year.

Four new teachers were appointed at last night's meeting and they include: William Lee, McAllister of Tokyo; Andrea G. Smith, a graduate of the University of Toronto; Maurice Archer of Trinidad and Elizabeth Hasen, a graduate of Queen's University.

The board was told the total staff for the year just ended has been hired. Figures show an increase of 14 teachers over the 1966-67 school year. Total staff will be 213 teachers.

In his report Mr. Orr noted the secondary schools will be represented at a United Nations Seminar at Queen's university this year. Those who will be Mrs. Dixon, Kenneth Marek, Anne Monk and Douglas Miles.

130 Cases Of Books Shipped

"Operation Bookshare", which is the Belleville Rotary's answer to the Governments " Operation School Supply" was a big success in the area.

The program, organized by the Rotary club, consists of gathering books from schools in the area which have become unclean due to carelessness and course changes. These books are then shipped to Book Centres of the Overseas Institute of Canada and distributed among book and institutions in developing countries.

This year over 100 cases of books were gathered. The books have been shipped free of charge due to the efforts of Jerry Downs, acting manager of the Toronto - Peterborough Transport station in Belleville.

"Doc" Dougharty, who co-ordinated the drive was very pleased with the amount collected as they had expected to obtain around 70 cases opposed to 130 that they eventually gathered.

Filtration Plant Managers Study Belleville's System

Close to 25 water filtration plant managers from Central and Eastern Ontario were in Belleville yesterday studying the use of liquid alum and discussing other related water treatment problems.

Keith Rayburn Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hansen of Maryknoll Ave., Lindsay, formerly of Stirling, received his Bachelor of Arts degree June 2, at Queen's University spring convocation. He will return to Queen's in the fall to continue his studies.

Hosts for the day were Allied Chemicals of Canada Ltd. Plant Manager E. L. Burnham welcomed the visitors to the city.

Discussions were held at the Belleville Shrine Club where morning and evening sessions were held. During the afternoon the visitors toured the Belleville water filtration plant where they viewed recently installed liquid alum equipment.

Belleville plant manager Jim Scriven and Alf Rogers attended the sessions.

Helmets Recommended

TRENTON — A coroner's jury investigating the May 10 death of a Trenton youth last night recommended legislation to enforce the wearing of protective helmets for motorcyclists.

An inquest into the death of 19-year-old Gordon Irving Hunt found death was due to complications caused by a severe head injury he received when the motorbike he was driving was in a collision last October.

Hunt was not wearing any form of head protection at the time of the accident.

The other vehicle involved was a 1963 car driven by Albert Hollis Morrissey also of Trenton.

The mishap occurred around noon last October 5 at the King and Catherine Streets intersection in Trenton.

Hunt youth died last month in Kingston hospital after being in a coma from the date of the accident.

professionals" and the new members would be selected from their ranks.

"We have lots of room for choosing a top-notch man and there are two or three very capital considerations," he added.

Key figure in the development is the institute's present director, Dr. Beirne, an expert on problems of pest control related to world food production has brought him international recognition.

An Irishman who taught zoology at Dublin's Trinity College, before coming to Canada in 1949, he has travelled widely as chairman of the International Advisory Committee for Biological Control and as a member of various UN and Canadian wealth groups.

Dr. Beirne so far has written more than 100 research publications and five books — including the one which inspired the new faculty at Simon Fraser.

The university project specifically relates to pest control and world food production. However, so complex is the situation, says a university announcement, "a new type of professional training is needed to produce the specialists required."

The Simon Fraser program plans "to give Canada the leadership in the modern approaches to the subject, as advocated by Dr. Beirne."

The centre will produce Ph.D. and M.S. graduates for research.

Other members of the group resigning are veterans of the Institute staff and are well known in the city.

Prominent among them is Dr. Jack Barlow, former city councillor and chairman of the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board. In 1966 he was awarded the Jaycee Citizen of the Year citation. His profession in the Ontario Athletic Championships have been selected for a team to compete with school champions in New Brunswick in July.

Members of the team are John Chalmers and David Wright of Belleville Collegiate, Frank Johnson of Centennial School, and Glen Easton and Grant Vanderveort of Quinte Secondary School.

Several students have also been selected to represent schools in the Youth Centennial Travel Program. This includes an all-expense-paid trip to Alberta in July.

Those selected were Grant Woodcock, Dale Sobis, Nicky Gardner and Sharon Dalton.

The board passed a motion to authorize the hiring of a clerical assistant for school libraries at a salary of $2,700 per year. Gloria Murphy, a graduate of

Amalgamation Causes Concern Of Board

The amalgamation of Centre Hastings, Stirling and Rawdon High school districts is causing concern among members of the Bay of Quinte High School Board. The amalgamation comes into effect Jan. 1, 1968.

At a meeting last night school superintendent, K. A. Orr, reported to the board on information available on the plan.

He said the first step in the planning for the new district would be a meeting between Mayor Jack Ellis of Belleville and Reeve Ken Smith of Rawdon concerned. "We should get some direction from this meeting," Mr. Orr said.

"Department of Education officials will provide most of the supervision for the amalgamated area."

Mr. Orr said the new board would be formed in January but hoped the make - up would be known well in advance of that advance. "New members would at least know what is going on in the area and in one or two meetings."

- The problem of enlarging the administration during the year the new district will be considered after the actual amalgamation takes place.

Mr. Orr suggested the high school board should get together with the Hastings County Board to discuss construction of a combined unit. "We may have the integrated school board in the future," he said.

RCIVS was also employed as an office assistant in Centennial School.

The board's next regular meeting will be held in September.

Observers Expect New Pipeline Carry Canadian Oil to Chicago

OTTAWA (CP)—This week's no-strings U.S. approval of a pipeline to carry Canadian natural gas south of the Great Lakes has encouraged some observers to expect approval of a pipeline to carry Canadian oil into Chicago.

Oil and gas imports do not share the same regulatory authority in the United States.

It is believed the reasoning behind the gas decision by the Federal Power Commission may well be shared by the federal administration, which directs oil policy.

The FPC stressed U.S. national security and the importance of safe petroleum reserves in its approval of the $212,000,000 gas proposal of Trans Canada Pipe Lines Ltd.

This statement, on top of the board's unanimity in the decision, was described by one official here as "very exciting."

If anything, the Arab-Israeli war with its threat to Middle East petroleum reserves has lent an enthusiastic merit to FPC thinking.

Trans Canada and its allied American companies will add to patch up to 677,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily through a 980-mile section of line from the Manitoba border through Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan to Sarnia.

Substantial volumes will be tapped from the line for American consumption.

Interprovincial Pipe Line Co. is proposing that the next expansion of its Alberta-Ontario crude oil pipeline should involve a loop through the rich Chicago refining area.

The pipeline being discussed by the federal-administrations of both countries in a context of extreme pressures working on and against it.

The question of oil, in the light of the Middle East situation, was on the agenda of the Joint Canada-U.S. committee on trade and economic affairs in Montreal this week.

Independent U.S. oil companies are demanding the ear of Interior Secretary Stewart Udall for their contention that Chicago should be supplied only by domestic production through existing lines from southern states.

Mr. Udall has so far favored substantial increases in imports from Canada, in part because they can be delivered at a better price with savings to U.S. consumers.

The interior secretary has commitments, however, to defend the interests of domestic producers. The approach of the 1962 presidential and congressional elections is regarded as another major factor that may influence both Mr. Udall and the administration to limit increases in oil imports from Canada.

One source here predicts the U.S. will accept Interprovincial's proposal with a qualification that flows into Chicago stay below the line's capacity for some time.

The company wants to run a line from Superior, Wis., down to Chicago and back up through Detroit and Toledo to Sarnia.

Its existing line runs from Emerson, Man., through Superior and the Mackinac Straits to Sarnia. It feeds the Detroit-Toledo and Buffalo, N.Y., areas as well as Ontario.

A current expansion will bring the capacity of the line to 700,000 barrels a day, but Interprovincial contemplates a need for higher capacity in two years.

The company would probably be satisfied with an initial commitment that it will not be shut out of the Chicago market, officials say.

Canadian oil can be delivered about 60 cents a barrel cheaper than domestic supplies, and provides a more consistent blend to meet their critical specifications in crude mixes.

One authority close to government policy-making says the FPC decision will embellish the image of Canadian resources policy as continentalist and economically sound.

Accept Contract

WELLAND (CP) — Printers of The Evening Tribune Wednesday night accepted a new contract providing a salary increase of 54 cents an hour over 27 months.

The increase will bring the current $2.87 hourly rate to $3.41 at the last period of the contract.

The printers, members of Local 87, International Typographical Union, went on strike against The Tribune Tuesday, causing suspension of publication. They returned to work Wednesday on the advice of the ITU representatives.

Allergy May Cause Sclerosis Observation Used in Research

QUEBEC (CP) — Dr. Henry Miller, dean of medicine at the University of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England, said Wednesday an unidentified virus, an allergy or a combination of both may be the cause of multiple sclerosis but researchers still are not certain.

Dr. Miller said clinical observation must be used as the means in the continuing research. This method had its disadvantages "since there are limitations on what physicians can do with patients."

The British specialist spoke about multiple sclerosis to the Congress of Neurological sciences at Laval University here.

He said some people object to the idea of experimenting with drugs on people.

"But all administration of drugs is an experiment, in that different people have different reactions."

Multiple sclerosis is characterized by the appearance of patches, inflammation and scars in the human nervous system. Effects can include the onset of trembling, periods of delirium, a weakening of intellectual faculties and irregular muscle fluctuations.

Dr. Miller said the disease lists an average of 20 years, and that he "distrust" some of the treatment that has been tried for the disease.

Experiments on animals as a technique for research has proved impossible with multiple sclerosis.

The disease seemed to appear mainly in northern countries, such as Canada and Britain.

Another speaker at the congress, Dr. Claude Belanger of Quebec City, said cases of multiple sclerosis are more frequent in the northern than in the southern states of the United States.

Arena Issue

City council's approval in principle of an arena to be constructed at the Belleville fairgrounds was won by a seven to four vote which reflects the reservations of some members — and doubtless a section of the public as well — as to the advisability of proceeding with such a project at this time.

Certainly the arena itself would be a desirable enough acquisition, giving further effect to the increasing recreational needs of the city. Objections to it at this stage centre mainly around the question of cost, and to a lesser but none the less important degree on the question of adequate parking at the fairgrounds.

Estimated cost of the building currently is $165,000 more than anticipated, and this means approval for the additional expense must be sought from the Ontario Municipal Board. This in turn points to a vote of the ratepayers of the city, and the feeling is that such a vote will be sought in any event.

In any event, a start on such a project would boost Belleville's image further in this Centennial Year, already given strong momentum by the Zwicky Island improvements and the use of it for sporting and recreational facilities there. With the city's general budgetary position rising, however, the question of cost is one that cannot be ignored.

Grants of more than $200,000 canbe expected, but this would still leave the city a sum of $465,000 to meet. In the long term view, though, it may be hoped Belleville will have such a facility. And it must be remembered the longer it is delayed the more it will cost ultimately.

Political Post-mortem

In the long history of politics (which are synonomous with bias, conflict and rancor) the instances in which privately-held views are formally adopted are probably very rare indeed.

Warfare offers an example of this premise, in the form of memoirs of the commanding officers involved. Every war or campaign in modern times has been followed by a rash of literary effort on the part of generals in the field. Battles have been re-lived and analysed, successes have been lauded and failures and losses explained away.

Certainly one of the most interesting (and likely best-selling) war books will be the one that someone inevitably will write on the Israeli-Arab campaign. This is a classic example of the triumph of skill and determination over an inept and irresolute opponent.

But such works tend to become no more than unofficial textbooks whose authority is questionable. For example, has Britain ever paid much attention to the memoirs (less frequent nowadays) of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery who, following his retirement, was very prone to offer advice on everything from the desirability of the United States recognising China to contemporary military strategy?

One piece of advice of the hero of Alamein that the Americans so far have taken to heart is that they should never become involved in a land war with China. On the other hand they have shunned the advice of one of their own retired generals, General Mark Clark, of Korea fame, who once advocated withdrawal of U.S. forces to fixed strategic positions in Vietnam, holding these and merely maintaining the American presence in Southeast Asia as a bulwark against further communist advances. Such a strategy would avoid hazardous escalation of the conflict, but it would also give the communists virtually a free hand to annex other areas of Vietnam and eventually win over the entire region.

Applying the same premise to the political situation in the Middle East, the suggestion of David Ben Gurion that an autonomous Arab state be formed on the west bank of the Jordan River on territory now occupied by Israel seems fair and reasonable.

The 50-year-old founder and former premier of Israel says the proposed new State could be linked to the economic boom of Israel, have guaranteed access to the Mediterranean, and be protected by Israeli troops. He also suggests that Israel offer to conclude peace treaties with Jordan and Egypt.

Arab pride of course is still very much a factor in the highly-charged Middle East situation. Even though a State came into being, its autonomy would probably expose the raising of a new Arab defence force, rather than having to rely on Israeli protection.

Still, the basic idea is a good one. But will it be put into effect? As we have suggested the private views of former politicians, however eminent, seldom find favor in official circles. It may well be that Ben Gurion is just another voice crying in the wilderness of international politics.

Sharp's "Foot-in-Mouth Disease" Worries Liberals

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — If Finance Minister Sharp keeps talking he could talk himself straight out of the leadership race — or so worry some of those Liberals who have been looking him as The Man - Most-Likely - To - Take - Over-From-Prime-Minister-Pearson.

But he persists in upsetting them — and the odds in the leadership race — by saying all the wrong things.

Like only a few weeks ago, when he warned the taxpayers that governments — the three, municipal, provincial and federal, levels — almost certainly would have to have a fatter slice of their incomes dollar.

The tax take, he counseled (like some professor of economics, likely would have to rise from 32 to 35 cents of every dollar.

And with the Federal administration taking its cut, since the increase, as he so cheerfully forecast it, would be a three-way operation in the triple-level of governments.

Well, Federal taxes didn't go up this time, but the deficit did — to $700 million with the ballin threat or perhaps even prediction of a bigger tax bite in the next Budget.

But even higher than the soaring deficit has rocketed Federal spending.

Up, high and wide by an extraordinary backbench $600 million to just a shade short of $10 billion.

And why?

Well, here was another time that Not - So - Sharp Michell again worried his leadership supporters with gloomy suspicions that he might still be talking himself out of the leadership race.

What did he say that was just exactly not the thing for any Finance Minister, much less a leadership aspirant to say?

He said — and it is there in black and white in the text of column two on page 666 of Hansard — that while "some people" would "rather believe the target-people" including some in this House" (MPs, Liberal and Opposition) "might have preferred a lower level both of spending and taxes," it just wasn't to be.

And why and some backbenchers economy in Federal spending and hopefully a consequent cut in taxes?

Because, he smiled thinly, that "wasn't consistent with the views of this government . . ."

He did get bolder less spending and lower taxes were "coincident" either, with the "views" of Parliament, including the Opposition — although how he figured this was a little hard to understand when he had just finished saying that "some people, even in this House" thought they were.

True it was though, and heard any shadow of doubt, that the Government wanted little or no part of less spending and lower taxes — not, purred the Finance Minister, when the "importance of our spending programs was considered."

Which he made a little joke.

Big spending and high taxes after all were really laughing matters, he chuckled — if you looked at them the right way.

So Federal spending was up another $600 million?

Hmmm his Cabinet buddies, he hoped, in what he assumed to think was high good and tolerant humour.

But don't blame the boys too much.

After all, they were Big Spenders, largely because of what he beamed approvingly was their "enthusiasm and persistence . . . in support of worthy but expensive ideas."

What worthy and expensive ideas?

The Would-be Future Liberal Leader did not specify beyond an expansively casual reference to "so many new (spending) programs we have, whose cost is difficult to estimate until we have some experience with them."

The idea obviously being to speed with "enthusiasm and persistance" first and count the cost later.

After all, what kind of dogged determination does it take to agree with "enthusiasm" — especially other people's money — and anyway, doesn't Big Daddy Know Best?

His remarkers for the Liberal leadership have been boosting his self-confidence as Finance Minister - in - be on the basis that Mitchell Sharp is a "Right Winger" — a solid business type, a practical down-to-earth operator who knows and respects the value of a dollar . . . even a tax dollar.

They forgot that Mitchell Sharp is a Barnardo kid, not a businessman. Call him anything but don't call him "Right."

Forin Street

Cars, Children and Overcrowding

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I wonder when the city fathers will get around to doing something about the traffic conditions on Forin Street. This is one I know is a very narrow street, and with the oversized cars of today and parking allowed on one side of the street it has become the worst bottleneck in the city. It is almost impossible for two cars going in opposite directions to pass one another in safety.

To further impede the motorist children of all ages use the street for a play ground, to say nothing of bicycles, tricycles, dogs and cats. It is worse in the winter when the plows leave mounds of snow on both sides of the street and many cars are stalled.

We shudder to think what would happen if the fire department should get a hurry-up call to this area.

There are far too many cars in this area, two and three to one apartment or dwelling with no place to park them without encroaching on private property, blocking driveways,— and at times blocking sidewalks and the police had to be called.

As a recent council meeting mention was made of old wrecks of cars, with obsolete licence plates, being parked all over the city making it look like the village dump. But apparently all they do is talk, because no action is ever taken. These wrecks are not only unsightly but are just as much a hazard to small children as the proverbial discarded refrigerator. Cars with noisy engines and mufflers are a further annoyance.

Sidewalks are in a terrible condition and a menace to handicapped and elderly people only more so in the winter time. These older streets are the heart of the city and should not be allowed to deteriorate and become slum areas.

Summer Jobs Pave the Way To a Career

Regina Leader-Post

It has been said that the best way to get a summer job is to know someone. That is only half right. The other half lies in the applicant being able to prove that, given the chance, he can do the job. Summer jobs are available but only to the boy or girl who is willing to do an honest day's work. Too many students seem to be looking for a sort of vacation with pay, with very few responsibilities.

The wise student in search of summer employment will do well to forego preference for a particular kind of job if this is his first search for employment. Time enough upon graduation to settle on specialized fields. In the mean-time, he will be learning the workings of a variety of businesses. He will get ideas that may help him decide his future after graduation. And, most important of all, he will be building up a list of important references for future employment.

Resistance To Change

How Much Do Canadians Care?

Richard Needham in
The Globe and Mail

We've lots of space. But there is a certain spookiness about it.

A landscape without people may be spectacular, may be — as the saying goes — unspoiled, but it's empty, lacking in warmth. Not even a child exploring, or a couple taking a walk, or a family having a picnic on the grass. Nobody.

I wonder sometimes how long this can or will go one. The world, so we are told, is overpopulated, overcrowded; it is poor, it is hungry. Yet here we are in Canada, a land 20-million of us, with all this land. Much of it won't produce a good living, but much of it would produce a living of sorts. Here we are, too, with a chronic lack of people to develop and use our resources.

A result of this is what you find in British Columbia, an immensely rich province with fewer than two million people. It's shipping coal and ores to Japan, whose 100-million people make them into finished products and sell them all over the world (including B.C.) and get by far the better part of the deal.

But I don't find Canadians frustrated in this situation. I don't find them much interested in any national situation, whether it's high taxes or resource development or foreign ownership or the perfidious of the national political parties. Canadians, I would judge, are content with what they have, and simply want it to continue. They don't want change or action; and those who do, go on to say, it's impractical. Things are as they are, nothing can be changed, perhaps nothing really needs to be changed. The nation is in no mood, as apparently it was 18 years ago, for vision.

Cop thing you notice travelling "around" (especially by train) is the messiness on the outskirts of towns and cities, the junk strewn all over the ground — rusting cars, abandoned furniture, empty packing cases, domestic and industrial waste of every type.

I wonder if any community in Canada ever has (or ever will) set about to clean itself up. I wonder, if one did, how long the clean-up would last. Canadians may be tidy as individuals, in their homes, but collectively they don't seem to care. Any vacant space is good enough for a dump-heap. Who cares?

Israel's Claims

LBJ and Kosygin Spar Over Middle East Settlement

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The agencies of President Johnson and Premier Kosygin may have opened the way for more meaningful private exchanges between the big powers on the Middle East.

The speeches, taken together, indicate the two leaders have been thoroughly alarmed by the Middle East war and want a permanent settlement.

This is a good sign because, even if a settlement is worked out by the smaller antagonists, it will have to be guaranteed by the big powers to carry any conviction.

Britons and Europeans generally have been fascinated by the spectacle of the U.S. president and the Soviet premier talking at one another over television while only a helicopter flew apart.

The Soviet leader was talking not only to Johnson but also to his Arab friends, some miserably humiliated by the Israelis and let down by the Kremlin. He had to show them in his allies and make sure everyone knows which side he is on.

Even if it is true—as alleged in some quarters—that the Soviet Union foresaked the Middle East crisis, they must now be regarded as how Red it was and at the weakness of their side.

There are indications that Johnson, for his part, may well be disquieted by the escalation of Israel's settlement demands.

At first the Israelis were demanding only the opening of the Gulf of Aqaba and use of the Suez Canal. But now they proclaim the annexation of holding most of their territorial gains.

This may mean that the line planned by the desire to assume a strong negotiating position. Nevertheless, it has gone so far that some British commentators feel serious damage may be done to the cause of peace. It could succeed an unrealistic demand and would alienate support and sympathy.

The U.S. has often backed the right of territorial integrity and political independence of Israel. That is the principle on which there were a reminder that Israel is not the only country in the area with a right to territorial security.

Johnson and Kosygin agreed, at least, that Israel should give up conquered land, although the U.S. leader linked this with such terms as free maritime passage and arms limitation.

Ceylon Boosts Tea at Expo

Bill Beasley in The Montreal Gazette

When someone points fun at the British for their tea-drinking habit, the Ceylonese see no reason for apology. Tea-drinking is up. In fact, even the image of the swinging, switched-on British Isles is in for distressing to the Ceylonese because presumably the with-it Now Generation is drinking coffee.

The subject of tea is uppermost in the minds of the men responsible for the Ceylon exhibit at Expo and it's understandable.

Tea is the mainstay of the country's economy, providing over 65 per cent of the island's foreign trade. In the latest year for which statistics are available, 505 million pounds of tea — the highest figure in Ceylon's history — were produced and 472 million pounds exported.

There is some indication now that tea consumption may be dropping. The Middle East crisis is viewed with alarm, for one thing, because the Arab states, especially Egypt, are a major Ceylon buyer. Consumers are conditioning here what they are, sales could easily decline.

Britain has remained Ceylon's best customer, consuming over one-third of the country's tea exports. However, the Ceylonese fear that tea may be a victim of changing traditions of the new Britain.

And so the Ceylonese drive to make a detailed impression on the side of the ocean clearly makes sense.

The first is a large-scale mock-up of a tea plantation. The second is a tea lounge where the four principal varieties of Ceylonese tea are served (hot or iced) and sold in packages.

Next, the Ceylonese are hoping to mount a promotional campaign in Canada and the United States in an effort to capture a larger market in America.

Ceylon, incidentally, shares an anniversary with Canada. Just as this country is celebrating the centennial of Confederation, Ceylon is making the centenary of its tea industry.

Serious Problems Sited

Canada-U.S. Auto Pact May Be Subject of Discussions

MONTREAL (CP) — The recent automobile agreement between Canada and the United States may come up for discussion today among top officials of both countries.

Wednesday they traded views on such provocative points as the state of U.S. investments in Canada, the future of Canadian oil exports south of the border and U.S. practices regarding securities supervision.

Trade Minister Robert Winters is leading the Canadian side and Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler the U.S. in the discussions, which constitute this year's session of the joint Canada-U.S. ministerial committee on trade and economic affairs.

The annual gathering, a two-day affair closed to reporters, ends today, with the delegates focussing on topics generated by trade between the two countries. Among these may be the automobile pact.

"Very serious problems" requiring "goodwill and patience" existed between Canada and the U.S., said Mr. Fowler Wednesday night.

The Canadians told the Americans earlier that one current power of the U.S. Securities Exchange Commission takes that body beyond the jurisdiction Ottawa considers proper to the agency.

The commission, Canadian officials say, has a rule which calls for disclosures regarding company affairs on the part of any firms in which Americans have bought shares.

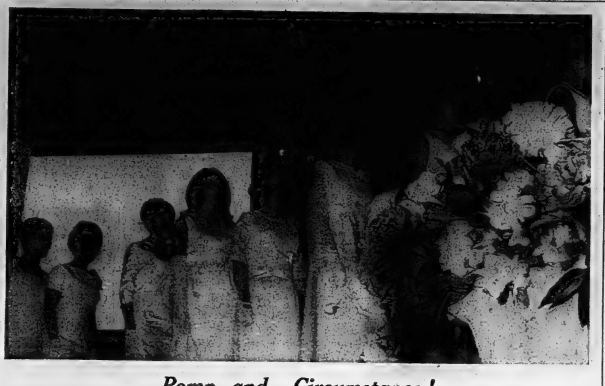
Included were Canadian firms, even if these companies did not actually make an effort to sell shares to the Americans who happened to hold them.

Bigger Canadian oil exports to the U.S. would benefit continental security as well as Canada's balance of payments, this country's representatives also were reported to have said.

Both sides traded familiar views on such matters as the position of the U.S.-owned Mercantile Bank of Canada and the general status in this country of U.S. investors from south of the border.

Finance Minister Sharp told the Americans their investments in Canada are welcome. The visitors also were given what was called an "explanation" of the activities of a committee under Privy Council President Walter Gordon which has been looking into the problems raised by foreign investment.

The delegations exchanged views on what might be done by both countries toward further reduction or elimination of tariff barriers and how problems of aid to developing areas might be tackled.



The delegations also considered possible establishment of a new international currency unit, as part of a survey of the general international financial picture.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — Investor interest in Scurry - Rainbow remained high as the stock scored another solid gain in morning trading today on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

The stock, which has jumped $½ in the last two sessions, added 2¼ at 21¾ on 29,09 shares.

The surge followed a company announcement earlier in the week that it has encountered nickel, copper and zinc on its property in northeastern Saskatchewan.

Scurry's rise has helped push the western oil index to a yearly high. The index gained .36 to 181.70.

Among other oils, Hudson's Bay gained 1¼ to 36¾ and Canadian Superior ⅛ to 43¾.

Industrials weakened as CPR fell ⅛ to 71¾, Alcan ⅛ to 29¾ and Bell Telephone ⅛ to 43.

Trans - Canada Pipe Lines eased ¼ to 32¾ in mild profit-taking. The stock rose gained 2 in the last two sessions following the United States Federal Power Commission approval to allow the company to build a pipeline from the Manitoba border to Sarnia, Ont., south of the Great Lakes.

On index, industrials were off .44 to 166.68 while golds moved up .56 to 173.36 and base metals .34 to 103.63.

Scurry also climbed quickly Wednesday.

The stock, which jumped 4¼ Tuesday, added 4¾ at 39¾ on 14,146 shares after touching a high of 40. Three weeks ago the stock sold at 21¾.

The sudden surge followed an announcement that the company had encountered nickel, copper and cobalt deposits on its property in northeastern Saskatchewan.

Trading in the stock was halted Friday at the request of the company until information of the Saskatchewan find could be provided. Details were announced late in Monday's session, but the exchange withheld trading until Tuesday to give the financial community time to digest the news.

As a result of Scurry's jump, the western oil index rose 2.59 to 180.72. It had touched a high of 181.13 at mid-afternoon.

Trans - Canada Pipe Lines gained ¼ to 33 on 42,382 shares. The stock rose 1⅜ Tuesday after the U.S. Federal Power Commission approved Trans-Canada's $212,000,000 project to build a pipeline south of the Great Lakes from the Manitoba border to Sarnia, Ont.

Home Oil, which owns about 17 per cent of Trans-Canada's shares, also moved up. The A stock increased 1⅛ to 21¾ and the B stock 1 to 23.

In the industrial list, TTC Industries advanced 2 to 23¼, Union Gas 1¼ to 14 and Imperial Oil 1¼ to 63¼.

On index, industrials were up .35 to 167.12 and base metals .19 to 103.59. Golds fell .80 to 172.80. Volume was 2,596,000 shares compared with 3,489,000 Tuesday.

Minister Opens Cheese Plant Addition

Tributes to the foresight and initiative of past and present directors of the Eldorado Cheese and Butter Co. — operative you paid Wednesday night as the new $130,000 addition to the Eldorado cheese plant was officially opened.

Officially opening the plant addition, now in use for about a year, was Hon. William Stewart, Ontario minister of Agriculture and Food.

Also in attendance were provincial ARDA officials, executive officers of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, area members of Parliament and County and municipal officials.

Unable to attend the opening was Clarke T. Rollins, M.P. for Hastings East, who Mr. Stewart said had been the sparkplug inducing an ARDA grant which made the plant addition possible. Mr. Rollins is confined to hospital at Bancroft.

The opening ceremonies were watched by about 200 factory patrons and area residents who later toured the new plant. Douglas Tipper, County Agriculture Representative, acted as chairman.

Mr. Stewart said that ARDA (Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act) had contributed an outright grant of $55,000 toward the new cheese plant addition. The grant was made on the basis of amalgamation and limited milk market in the area.

The minister noted that many Ontario factories were disappearing through amalgamation but said that was the trend of the times. Bigger and more efficient factories and more efficient farming operations were the only answer to modern day production.

Larger and more efficient units were becoming increasingly evident among farmers. The number of farmers was rapidly decreasing but at the same time production was on the increase.

To illustrate Mr. Stewart said that in 1951 there were 106,000 farmers in the province with an average of nine cows each.

By 1961 the number had decreased to 76,000. But the number of cows per farmer had increased to 13 and milk production was up by one and a half million pounds.

Last year the number of farmers was down 48,000; the average dairy herd had increased to 19 and there was a further increase of half a million pounds in milk production.

Government capital grants to agriculture allowed farmers to help themselves but Mr. Stewart warned these were not the only answer to production problems.

"Wasted", he said, "was a long term national committee to study farm income problems and a national authority to protect farm incomes".

Egg production today is at an all-time high yet huge imports of eggs were allowed. This, according to the minister was "ridiculous".

Factory president Stanley Franks said that the plant addition had been necessary to provide increased capacity. Recent years had seen an average annual increase of 30,000 pounds of milk.

Mr. Frank expressed appreciation to ARDA for its $55,000 grants, which, he said, would benefit the entire area.

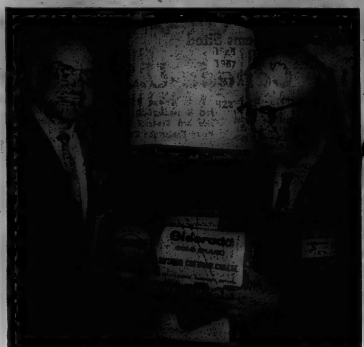
Other speakers at the opening included George McLaughlin, chairman of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, Herb Crown, Ontario ARDA director, Lee Grills, M.P. for Hastings South, Rod Webb, M.P. for Hastings-Frontenac, County warden William Shannon and area ARDA committee Clayton Hall.

Allan Ketcheson, Madoc township reeve and director of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, reviewed the early history of the Eldorado cheese co-operative and related some of the difficult financial problems encountered. Approximately 20 years ago four Madoc area factories — Spring Creek, Cold Springs, Eldorado and Champion - decided to amalgamate and construct a new plant.

This was one of the first of the amalgamated plants in the Hastings area and went into operation in 1951. Directors took advantage of the new 30 per cent amalgamation grant to get the plant built.

The first year of operation saw only 100,000 pounds of cheese made, but gradually milk production increased until the plant was up to capacity.

Other factories to join in recent years have been Alexandria, Springhill, Madoc and Oak Leaf.



Mr. McLaughlin said he envied the support and effort which went into plans for the new amalgamated plant.

He said it was one thing for a group of directors to decide that an expansion program was necessary but selling the matter to the producers was another matter.

Mr. McLaughlin stressed the importance of the export market to the Canadian cheese industry. "Some people," he said, "had doubt about the export future, but not the milk marketing board which intends to keep the overseas market.

He said he agreed with a former speaker, Lee Grills, when he said cheese was the balance wheel on the dairy industry.

Ivan Shaw, factory manager for the past 15 years, says this year's production of cheese will be close to 1,300,000 pounds. Currently there are about 35 patrons with milk being hauled from three townships — Madoc, Elzivir and Marmora.

Dairy Queens Are Selected

Becoming royalty by competitive examination for Barbara Doxsee is now almost old hat — or maybe old crown.

Last night in Belleville, the 19-year-old Demorestville girl walked away with the Prince Edward County dairy princess award — for the second year running.

More than that. It was Barbara's third year in the competition and in 1965 she was runner-up for the award.

Facing her success at the Dairy Days promotions in the Quinte district was Gail Thompson, 17, of Milford, crowned dairy princess of Hastings County.

Gail also has something of regal pedigree. The secretary - treasurer of her local 4-H Club, she also is Princess of Tweed winter carnival. She attends High school in Madoc.

Barbara is a student at Belleville's Ontario Business College, eight years a 4-H Club Member and holds provincial honors in homemaking clubs.

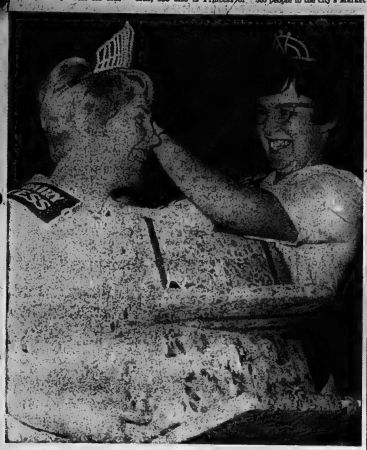
Both girls competed for the titles in an open-air demonstration that drew more than 300 people to the city's Market Square.

For the title, the contestants had to prepare milking devices then each milk a cow within a given time. To prove they could also talk about what they knew, a three - minute speech was set for each entrant.

Organizers of the event had set aside the city's armory just in case it rained.

It didn't — during the contest. But the fallout started almost immediately it ended.

By that time anyway, the crowd, — and contestants—sojourned to the Memorial Arena, where Radio Station CJBQ had laid on a jamboree with the CBC's Tommy Hunter Show.



Fans swelled the crowd to more than 1,400 before the results of the competition were known and both dairy princesses crowned.

On hand for the honors — and lending a touch of glamor to the evening, was Dolly Ann Edmunds, 1967 Ontario Dairy Princess.

Both local winners left the stage laden with gifts from local commerce, plus a surprise bonus from Mayor Harvey McFarland of Picton.

Mayor McFarland went one better than most. He not only had the organizers give personal prizes to the winners — gifts also were presented two runners-up.

Competing for the titles against the two victors were Cathie Lahey, 17, of R.R.4, Madoc, and Cathy Alexander, 18, R.R.2 Hillier.

Regal Tribute

Hastings County Dairy Princess Gail Thompson holds onto piled-up gifts from district businesses as Prince Edward County counterpart Barbara Doxsee — a two-time winner — adjusts Gail's new-won crown at Memorial Arena.

Milk by the Row

Contestants for dairy princess titles of Hastings and Prince Edward counties go to it in Belleville's Market Square. Toughest part of contest called for girls to milk cow within given time, as an estimated 300 people watched highlight of district Dairy Days milk promotion campaign.

12 Widows, 36 Children Still Looking for Fathers

MONTREAL (CP) — Women's rights have taken another step forward in Quebec with the naming of Rose Larose, 23, as the first woman professor in the 90-year history of the Ecole Polytechnique of Montreal.

Miss Larose will teach physics to first- and second-year students at the polytechnical school, and at the same time will finish her master's thesis of the structure of atoms.

When she received her diploma last year from the University of Montreal, she was holder of the highest marks in her course.

Miss Larose has received many honors in her scholastic career, including a bursary from the National Research Council, the Rentamai - governor's medal, the bursary of the Quebec Engineers Corporation and the Arthur Surveyer gold medal.

She is fond of the university milieu. A telephone gives her constant access to the nuclear physics laboratory at the university city where she is preparing her thesis under the direction of Prof. Hans Jeremy.

The study of physics and higher mathematics is not difficult, she insists. "You just have to like it."

Miss Larose said she found it difficult to choose, her field of study when she entered university.

"I decided to enrol in science," she said, "because I would still have time to go to art exhibits and concerts and to read, whereas if I studied arts or music, how would I be able to learn about mathematics or nuclear discoveries?"

In her opinion, a change is better than a rest. To relax after a hard day of study, she turns to the study of something else.

Even her summers are profitably spent.

During the 1964 vacation Miss Larose went to Mexico to learn Spanish and in the summer of 1965 she spent six weeks in Chile with a world university mutual aid organization.

Ground Almonds Add to Summer Fruit Cake

By MARY MOORE

You will have to taste this rich cake to believe me. It calls for almonds, but you cannot see them for they are ground. They are all through the batter and give the cake that unmistakable flavor of almonds that is universally popular.

This recipe makes 2 loaves. Make it now, taste the cake, wrap or freeze-wrap, store in refrigerator or freezer. When VIP's arrive this summer, nonchalantly bring out this cake, slice it thinly and serve it as if you have this kind of fare every day of your exciting life.

SUMMER FRUIT CAKE
1967 (two 8½" x 4½" x 2¾" loaves)

1½ cups (6 oz.) ground almonds (not packed — see note below)
4 cups bleached sultana raisins
1 lb. mixed red and green glace cherries, sliced
(these measure 2½ cups before slicing)
1 cup butter
1 1-3 cups granulated sugar
4 large eggs — yolks and whites separated
2 tsps. almond flavoring
2¾ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cream of tartar
¼ cup milk (or ¼ cup brandy or 2 tbsps. each milk and brandy)

When cool wrap well and store in refrigerator. Or, if desired, freeze-wrap and freeze. Flavor is elegant and cakes slice perfectly.

NOTE: If you grind your own almonds to a powder in your blender you will need 6 oz. but do not pack when you measure them.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY
(Guests)

Chilled Vegetable Juice; Grecian Steak on Savory Rice (see Wed.); Crumbed Sliced Eggplant; Chocolate Meringue Pie; Coffee.

SUNDAY
(Guests)

Roast Leg of Lamb; New Mint Sauce; New Potatoes; New Green Peas; Tossed Lettuce and Cucumber Salad with Sour Cream Dressing; Strawberry Shortcake (see Fri.); Tea.

In a medium bowl mix together the raisins (do not plump them), the sliced cherries and ¼ cup of the flour.

In large mixing bowl cream together the butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in the egg yolks until almond flavoring for at least 2 min. Remove beaters' and add floured fruits, ground almonds remaining unsifted flour, salt and milk or brandy and mix thoroughly with strong wooden spoon. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff and fold in thoroughly.

Line 2 loaf pans with double thickness wax paper and butter it well. Have some wax paper protruding at ends for easy removal. Turn in batter, pushing it into corners and smoothing top. Have waterpan on lowest rack of oven filled with boiling hot water. Bake cakes at 300 deg. Fahr. nearly 3½ hrs, replenishing water in waterpan if it has gone away.

Remove from oven, cool in pans on cake racks 15 min. Lift cakes from pans and cool on rack leaving wax paper on.

Like a good summer fruit cake? Then you'll like this one with a powder in it. Lift cakes from pans and cool on rack leaving wax paper on.

Children Play Mediators for Parents

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do to get my mother to forgive my father? For five years my father was unfaithful but he has told Mom that he never loved the other woman, and he will not see her any more. Mom has asked Dad for a divorce, not because she doesn't love him, but because she thinks he would be happier if he were free. She blames herself for his unfaithfulness — says if she had been the right kind of wife he wouldn't have strayed.

I don't think Dad really understands how Mom feels. Should I suggest that he be more affectionate and take her out more? Would that help?

ANN LANDERS

We kids love both Mom and Dad and we hate to think of our family being busted up. Several of our friends have divorced parents and it is just rotten — summers with one, weekends split up and nobody happy.

Please print some suggestions for children of parents who are having trouble. We need your help. — IN A PANIC.

* * *

DEAR ANN: It's a sad state of affairs when kids have to act as mediators between grown-ups.

If you feel that either or both Mom or Dad would be receptive to your advice, by all means offer it. In the meantime I am printing your letter in the hope that parents can see how they appear in the eyes of their children. I am adding my own plea that they get some outside counselling and learn how to live together.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been a reader of your column for years and I learned how to read. I am 15 years old now and I need your advice.

A schoolmate died last week and everyone was very sad about it. Several of us girls were going to the funeral home to pay our last respects. One of the girls in the group took a camera along and made several pictures of our classmate in the casket. She asked me if she should give a few pictures to the parents of the deceased. I don't know what to tell her. Please help. — MISS M.D.

* * *

DEAR MISS: My immediate reaction is a strongly negative one, but much to my surprise, in the past, I have received such a variety of opinions about photographing deceased people in caskets that I hesitate to say no. The girl who took the pictures should ask the parents if they would like to see the photographs.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 26, the mother of three children. It just so happens that I do not like coffee or tea. It's not a matter of religious conviction, I simply prefer milk or a glass of cold water.

It seems that whenever I go to a luncheon or a dinner, someone makes a point of my not drinking coffee or tea, and I end up looking like a freak. Yesterday I attended a church social and when I refused coffee and asked for milk or water, the woman said, "Any person who cannot enjoy a hot cup of coffee after a meal must be mentally disturbed."

How can I defend myself? — CHEERFULTEAD.

* * *

DEAR PEER: No one needs to give a reason for declining any beverage or food. Just ignore the clods and forgive them for their bad manners.

Successful Living

Girl Wants to Join Armed Services

Dear Doris: I am a girl 16, and like every other teen-ager at this stage, I am still undecided about a career. But a thing while now I have been interested in joining the Air Force.

A few nights ago I mentioned this to my mother, and she nearly flipped. Right away she started telling me that all the men in the Air Force were bums, that all they did was run around and get girls into trouble, and other such stories she had heard.

I know that there are some Air Force men who are like this but you do not have to go into the Armed Forces to find men like that. Furthermost, I know a few Air Force men who are not like this but my mother does not believe it. She does not approve of my telling to them if I meet them on the street.

Are the majority of Air Force men bums? What do you think of a girl who joins the Air Force or any other branch of the Armed Services? Do you think that it is a disrespectful career? My father does. — Straighten Us Out.

Dear Straighten: One of my best friends commanded the CWAC in London, England, in 1945. It was a tough, demanding job; no work for a weakling. Her girls adored her and many of them still consider her the grandest person they ever knew.

The best soldiers are individuals who have been raised on good families, and you'll find not-so-choice recruits in every line of work.

What's more, the disciplined life has brought more than one potential delinquent into line. For information, write to Canadian Forces Headquarters, Ottawa 4, Canada.

Dear Doris: We are having a 50th wedding anniversary Open House for our mother and father. We are serving tea.

Do we have a receiving line to welcome the guests as they come in? If mother and father are both present, should they stand? They are very active and I'm sure don't sag on their feet.

Also the guest book. Should it be placed in such a spot that the guests will sign it as they enter or should we put someone in charge of it for the afternoon? — Harried Daughter.

Dear Daughter: Are you quite sure the happy — but aging — couple won't want to be near their feet for hours at a time? This is what such a receiving line is bound to mean.

A wedding is different. Everybody arrives about the same time and sooner or later the receiving line breaks up. But with an Open House people turn up at any old time.

There is no law against it, but I'd rather settle Mother and Father in comfortable chairs, some distance from the door. Friends are brought to them for a chat; and helped to move on when others await a turn.

Place the guest book near the entrance. Put someone in charge to ask guests to sign it, either coming or going.

Please make letters as brief as possible — not more than two pages. And remember that stamped envelope.

$10,000,000 Pitch Made to Establish New Toronto TV Outlet

OTTAWA (CP)—Radio station CFRB made a $10,000,000 pitch Wednesday for permission to establish Toronto's third television station.

It came during a public hearing of the Board of Broadcast Governors on an application by CKVR-TV Barrie to move its transmitter south to give it a top-grade signal in Toronto.

W. C. Thornton Cran, president of Standard Radio Ltd. which owns CFRB, said if the BBG ruled that CKVR-TV should remain the Barrie station even if the transmitter switch was approved, CFRB had no objection.

But if the Barrie move was permitted and this shut off an application for a third Toronto station, "we object most strenuously." In that case, CFRB would ask that its application be heard before a decision is made on the Barrie request.

Then, in effect, CFRB made its application — a 90-minute, full-dress presentation that included a 30-minute color film and appearances by some of the personalities its proposed station would use.

CFRB said it would provide Toronto's only "truly local" TV station. The existing stations, as anchors for the publicly-owned CBC and the privately-owned CTV networks, had to commit so much time to producing programs for national use that they could not do this job.

WANTS COLOR

Standard Radio stood ready to put up $10,000,000 to go on the air in color with 35 or 40 hours a week in the first year consisting of locally-originated programs using local talent. This would be increased after the first year.

Vital to the CFRB pitch is a complicated channel shuffle that drew opposition from a CBC spokesman.

CFRB proposed its operation on Channel 13. This entails switches by three other Ontario stations and one in Rochester, N.Y.

A satellite of the Barrie station at Haliburton would have to switch to Channel 4 from 5. CBLT, the Toronto CBC station, would go to Channel 5 from 6. In the third step, CKCO-TV in Kitchener and WOKR in Rochester each would switch from Channel 13 to Channel 6.

Mr. Cran said this arrangement would "clearly provide more Canadian viewing of Canadian television than any other possible re-allocation." It also would repatriate Channel 13, originally assigned to Hamilton, from Rochester.

But Ron Fraser, a CBC vice-president, said the corporation wanted to switch channels in Toronto to open up Channel 6 for use in London, Ont., and the Belleville - Kingston area. If Kitchener and Rochester switched to Channel 6 this would be impossible.

Stations using the same channel must be far enough apart to avoid interfering with each other. There would not be enough separation between a London station on Channel 6 and Kitchener, or between Rochester on 6 and a Belleville-Kingston station on that channel.

Outlining the need for another Toronto channel, CFRB made these points:

—Stations in Buffalo, N.Y., were earning $2,700,000 a year in Canadian advertising because there was no Canadian advertising space on Toronto TV.

—A new Toronto station should use a very - high frequency channel, capable of being received by current sets. It was not economically feasible to try for an ultra-high frequency channel when, even if it was made law that all future sets have UHF capability, it would take seven years to establish a sizable audience.

—With one VHF channel for each 1,000,000 residents, Toronto showed "drastic imbalance" with Montreal's one for each 550,000, Winnipeg's one for each 100,000 and Vancouver's one for each 340,000.

The Barrie proposal also brought comment by R. E. Minner of the Toronto firm of Communications Associates, interested in bidding for a Toronto station with a UHF channel.

Mr. Minner said the time to start introducing UHF is now and the occasion will not improve by waiting. But if CKVR-TV was allowed to put another VHF signal into Toronto the advent of UHF television could be delayed for five years or more.

The board should rule that any application for a third station should be on the UHF band.

CKVR-TV sparked more than a day of talk before the BBG with its proposal to move its transmitter from Barrie some 30 miles south to Palgrave, near the northern fringe of Toronto.

President Ralph Snelgrove of CKVR-TV, co-owner of the station with Toronto broadcaster Allen Waters and Montreal radio owner Geoff Stirling, said the Barrie audience has suffered steady erosion because of new facilities coming into his area.

CKVR-TV proposed the transmitter move to allow to put a top-grade signal into Toronto, boosting its potential audience from about 200,000 to over 2,000,000.

Barrie is a CBC affiliate, committed to carrying the CBC network programs during about 40 per cent of its broadcast day. If it moved into Toronto, its network segment would duplicate the programs carried by CBLT, the Toronto CBC station.

Outlining the Barrie proposal Tuesday, Mr. Stirling said it was hoped a deal could be worked out with the CBC to allow Barrie to delay some network programs so they would be shown on different days or times than they appeared on CBLT.

This would allow a viewer who had been out or watched something else when the program appeared on CBLT to catch it later on CKVR-TV.

Mr. Stirling said he understood a agreement could be worked out with the CBC and with artists and performers groups to avoid payment of talent fees for this delayed basis.

But Mr. Fraser told the board the CBC is against this sort of duplication in principle. The CBC would "find ourselves competing with ourselves."

He also said the corporation hopes the right for one performance in each market for its network programs.

The writers and performers would be almost sure to consider the delayed showing low performance and demand payment for it. They might also demand an extra payment every time the two stations showed the same program at the same time, considering this two performances.

CKVR - TV maintained that even having two channels showing the same program at the same time would increase the audience, Mr. Fraser noted. But the value of the audience increase would have to be judged against the value of a channel that brought an entirely new list of programs into the Toronto area.

BBG Hear New Proposal For French TV in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)— The second proposal in as many months for a new French - language radio station for Ottawa was taken under advisement Wednesday by the Board of Broadcast Governors.

The latest bid was made by Radio Prestige Ltee., which would be controlled by Jack Thetolman, owner of station CKVL in the Montreal suburb of Verdun.

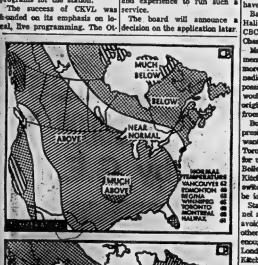
It was opposed by Radiodiffusion Mutuelle Ltee., which is headed by A. R. Crepault, president of Montreal station CJMS. This group presented a proposal to the BBG in April for a new station in Ottawa.

When the Crepault application was heard last April, the CKVL group asked for a delay in any decision by the board to allow it to present an application.

Marcel Prevost of Ottawa, a vice-president of Radio Prestige, said his group would give the Ottawa station in - depth news from the national capital, Montreal, Quebec City and Toronto. It also would set up a production workshop in Ottawa which eventually would turn out many programs for the station.

The success of CKVL was A-sailed as its example in local, live programming. The Ottawa station would "follow the same line."

At the start, some of CKVL's programming would be used. But this would be the type of program that would be of general interest to any listener, whether he lived in Ottawa or Montreal.



Mr. Prevost said the station also plans courses to encourage bilingualism. They would work both ways, encouraging those whose mother tongue was English to learn French and vice versa.

Lawyer Marcel Joyal, appearing for the Crepault group, said 30 per cent of its shareholders would be from the Ottawa area. Ottawa men accounted for less than five per cent of the interest in the CKVL proposal, he said.

Mr. Crepault said there is a danger the Ottawa station as proposed by CKVL would be merely a "satellite of CKVL."

An information media trying to reach French-Canadians has to know their language, Mr. Crepault said. His group was composed entirely of French-Canadians with the knowledge and experience to run such a service.

The board will announce a decision on the application later.

Canada's Mentally Ill Poorly Treated, Claim

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's mentally ill are treated as second-class citizens under federal health legislation, Dr. P. B. Rynard (PC—Simcoe East) said in the Commons Wednesday.

Opposition members gasped up on the government's medical and hospital care schemes using both the mental "discrimination of the health and welfare departments spending estimates and the private members hour to criticize Liberal policies.

Before the House were the $2,900,000,000 estimates of the department of health and welfare for the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Dr. Rynard said Canada may have the best social legislation in the world, but he described the health department as "a jungle of bureaucracy."

He said there are many blind areas in the welfare program and the care of the mentally ill is one of them.

"Why is the stigma of a second-class citizen attached to a person who unfortunately becomes mentally ill?"

The mentally ill and the tuberculosis patients should be given the same facilities for medical care and hospital service as any other sick person, he maintained.

In private members hour David Orlikow (NDP — Winnipeg North) introduced a motion to include mental hospitals and tuberculosis sanatoria in the federal hospital insurance program.

He said 1,900,000 Canadians suffer from mental disease and account for 25,000,000 patient-days in mental hospitals. Inclusion of the mental hospitals and sanatoria in the program would give the provincial governments sufficient funds to provide care for the ill and training for mentally retarded children.

Government backers balled out the motion after Margaret Rideout, parliamentary secretary to the health minister, explained the problem was in financial one and was being studied by the federal-provincial tax structure committee.

Introducing his estimates Health Minister MacEachen pointed out they were up $453,500,000 over last year, an increase of 19 per cent. The annual reduction in age for recipients of the old age pension accounted for $327,000,000. On Jan. 1, 1968 the $75 a month pension will be paid to all Canadians 67 years of age or over.

Dr. Rynard said the shortage of doctors is becoming acute and accused the minister of "gross misrepresentation" in saying that the medical care bill will provide doctors' services for all Canadians.

He said Canada has one doctor for each 1,000 population, but "half the doctors are specialists so there is one general practitioner for each 2,000 population.

A crash program to train more doctors should be instituted by dropping summer vacations at medical schools, Dr. Rynard said it would reduce the time to train a doctor to four years from the present six.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) accused the minister of duplicity in the operation of the income supplement for senior citizens and the Canada Assistance Plan.

He said pensioners were told they did not have to include their provincial welfare payments as income when applying for the supplement, but the provinces were told they must include the $30 income supplement when figuring provincial welfare payments or lose the 50 per cent federal subsidy under the Canada Assistance Plan.

Today the Commons turns to consideration of the estimates of the defence department and then the labor department. Government House Leader MacEachen said any time left Friday would be used to continue committee of the whole study of the Cape Breton development bill.

Annual Policy Study Is Urged by Hees

WINNIPEG (CP)— The Progressive Conservative party should hold an annual national policy conference to develop new ideas, George Hees said Wednesday night.

In a speech to the Greater Winnipeg Young Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Hees, one of the leading candidates for the party's leadership and MP for Northumberland, said such conferences should select a special theme each year such a taxes, Canada-American relations, automation or education.

He also advocated the development of a strong research staff at party headquarters in Ottawa to keep Conservative MPs informed of new trends and policies.

The text of his speech was issued to the press in advance of delivery.

Blacklist Seaman Sues SIU

MONTREAL (CP)—The Seafarers' International Union of Canada has been given 10 days to file a defence or pay a seaman $30,000, the amount of his suit against the union, it was announced Wednesday.

The suit was launched seven months ago by Donald Lechard of Shallow Lake, Ont., who charged that the SIU had blacklisted him nine years ago when Hal Banks, SIU president at the time, placed him on the "do-not-ship list."

John Schlesinger, Leonard's lawyer, said his client had been asked by the defence attorney to forward $750 to cover possible court costs.

"It took him a long time to raise the money but it was received yesterday and the SIU has until June 30 to file a defence or pay up," he said in an interview.

Banks, the former SIU president who fled Canada to the United States almost 10 years ago while facing other court action, claimed Leonard had been placed on the list for not paying union dues.

Mr. Schlesinger said receipts show Leonard had paid up his dues.

Guernseys Produce More Milk

Overall production per cow increased to 8,711 pounds of milk and 424 pounds of butterfat from 8,609 pounds of milk and 413 pounds of butterfat in 305 days on 6,309 cows reported.

Loyalist Campus To Be Different — Kiwanians Told

"Loyalist campus will be different from any other institution," R. K. Bredford, president of the new United Empire Loyalists' Campus, said yesterday at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Bredford explained that schools need to be different to accommodate the new type of student.

"There is a different type of thinking among students today. Things come a lot closer, a lot faster and a lot broader."

"Students are now able to make their own decisions and values."

He told the Kiwanians that we can't expect that students are adolescents.

"As adolescents they have a different approach. Everything is a game to a student. The stakes are much more interesting."

He remembered an instance when students told him they were lost at school. He admitted that the reason for this might be a lack of real interest by students as separate persons to me.

It's hard to find enough staff to treat students as individuals. As an example he used Berkley campus in California which has about 200,000 students.

He outlined solutions to the problem. "We must have administrators who have enough interest in people to deal with them as individuals."

"We must remember there are many successful students who also need individual assistance."

"The intelligence of a modern student is being underrated. We often confuse maturity with intelligence."

Mr. Bredford said that Loyalist Campus would take steps to solve some of these problems.

"For the first time a college will be controlled by student-oriented administrators. We'll bring in administrators who are people - oriented. They will be screened with that in mind.

We will get to know the students by utilizing more than one method of evaluation. Also, we will have special interviews for special students."

Mr. Bredford suggested that there would be a new counselor added to the staff, a sociological counselor. "Everyone has sociological problems."

He explained that the new methods of education were the result of a belief in "individual self-evaluation." "What is going when the means to help themselves."

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

BY BERNARD C. MELTZER

When a mortgage is required, the broker usually helps the buyer to obtain the loan. However, unless the agreement of sale contains a mortgage clause, the buyer, unbeknown to him, has actually agreed to pay cash and all the broker's efforts toward obtaining the mortgage are really strictly voluntary.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I recently bought my fourth house for $24,000, deposited a $2,400 good faith cheque and agreed to settle in 30 days.

I had planned to get all the money from the sale of my third house. When this fell through, I told the broker I would need a $30,000 mortgage for about 1 year.

Imagine my surprise when he informed me that I was required to get my own mortgage. I told him off. When I bought my previous three houses, the broker's each secured a mortgage for me. Reluctantly, the broker then made an effort to get me a mortgage. When he informed me that the mortgage would be 7½ per cent, I told him off a second time.

I have now stopped playing games with the broker. I have informed him that unless he provides a $30,000 mortgage at no cost to me, the whole deal is off and I want my money back. His answer was that he will provide me with mortgage, and if I don't show up for settlement I will lose my deposit. Which of the two threats stand up? — Mr. G. S.

ANSWER: I think the broker holds the trump cards. I would say that if you do not show up for settlement, your deposit will be surrendered.

When a buyer signs an agreement of sale and no provision is made for a mortgage, he, in effect, is agreeing to pay cash.

Therefore, if a mortgage is required because the buyer does not have the full amount of cash, then the buyer must secure the mortgage. Accordingly, because, if any, are paid by the buyer.

The above is general practice. However, if the buyer insists that the agreement of sale contains a mortgage clause, the buyer, in effect, has agreed to pay cash. If no mortgage is required, the buyer then obtains the same at his own expense and cost.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Assume you had $10,000 which you did not need and could well afford to lose. What object was to invest as something that could potentially give you a great capital growth. What investment would you choose? — Mr. R.T.

ANSWER: The investment, which, in my opinion, today offers the greatest potential for capital growth at well located, needs land in the path of growth of an expanding urban community.

• • •

Dear Mr Meltzer: I received good news in this morning's mail. I was informed that I was being given a valuable lot free. The only cost to me would be for closing, attorney fees, appraisal charges, and cost of preparing the papers. This comes to only $400.

If I send them the money now I can have a deed to my lot in less than a week. What do you think of my good luck? — Mr. R. W.

ANSWER: You sure are lucky — not because you have been given a lot free but because you have not yet sent them the $400. The land promotion scheme was old when ancient Rome was young.

If you still have a question about your good luck, I can put you in touch with some persons who own some of these lots and the U.S.

and they can't even give them away for free.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I have a simple question. "When does one start to paint a room?" You would not think the question was so simple if you could listen to the 100 opinions I have obtained from asking 100 people. — Mr. S. R.

ANSWER: The ceiling should be painted first — starting across the width of the ceiling and not the length. If the ceiling requires two coats, wait until both coats are on and dry before starting the walls. When painting the walls, begin in an upper corner and paint down — wet to the floor in a strip about 3 feet wide. Always work from the dry area to the wet area. The floors are finished last.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Every visitor who knows anything about construction greets me as he enters our new gameroom with, "The nails in the dry wall are popping." Actually, they are. It is as if some giant magnet were slowly drawing them out of the wall. I keep hitting them back in but they keep coming out. How do I stop this cheerful — Mr. T. A.

ANSWER: Popping nails in dry walls usually are due to the use of the wrong nails. Dry wall nails are not the ordinary kind used by carpenters. They are short and stubby, with rings around them, and look like tiny screws. These nails should be long enough to be driven about an inch into the studs. They should be spaced 8 inches to 12 inches apart and driven just below the surface of the dry wall.

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

Education New Lands' Prime Need

TORONTO (CP)—In modern society business is all-important and people in developing nations need education in the basic fields of business, Lord Thomson of Fleet said Wednesday.

Addressing a teach-in sponsored by the Canadian Women's Press Club, the Canadian-born publisher said mass media can offer the most practical form of education.

Lord Thomson was one of a panel discussing international understanding on the final day of a three-day seminar held by the press club. The audience included 35 women journalists from other countries who are visiting Canada as centennial guests of the press club.

"Many of our troubles come about because of misunderstanding caused by untruths. Truth is important in our daily lives, but more important in our news.

"The proper function of a democracy depends on the collective judgment of all people. They cannot form judgments if the news lies."

Philipe Deane, Greek - born writer and broadcaster, said it is increasingly difficult for newspaper men to decide what truth is. He said the meaning of words is changing rapidly and the current avalanche of information is more than any individual can cope with.

He said the threat of total destruction has completely outmoded traditional concepts of nationalism and international power structures, and suggested the world is threatened with a dyarchy dominated by Russia who own some of these lots and the U.S.

Fog Hides Centennial Naval Assembly

HALIFAX (CP)—The biggest fleet of warships ever assembled in Canada in peacetime was hidden under heavy fog in Halifax harbor early today.

Canada's Centennial Naval Assembly, made up of 40 ships from 16 nations, was secure in the harbor but few residents could see their lights Wednesday night because of thick fog that came in from the Atlantic just after the last of the visiting ships arrived.

The fog is expected to roll back today to unveil an armada of naval craft ranging in size from the tiny Italian sailing yacht Corsaro II to the 22,000-ton Canadian replenishment ship Provider.

Biggest fighting ship in the fleet is the 17,000 - ton U.S. cruiser, Newport News, a member of the world's biggest class of cruisers.

The assembly, the fourth held in Canadian waters and the second here, will be reviewed Friday by Governor-General Michener, who will tour the three lines of moored ships stretching six miles down the harbor. The Governor - General will review the ships from the minesweeper Chaleur which will be escorted by three RCMP patrol vessels in an international naval parade today.

The first naval assembly held in Canada was formed up in 1958 in anchorages in Royal Roads to commemorate British Columbia's 100th birthday. Thirty-two ships took part.

Queen Elizabeth reviewed Canada's second and third assemblies—in Lake St. Louis near Montreal in June, 1859, when 16 ships took part and in Halifax later that year, with 30 ships involved.

The 40 ships now in port have a total complement of about 15,000 officers and men. More than 2,000 will take part in ceremonial events.

The end of the naval assembly will be marked by a mammoth dance at the Halifax Navy has advertised for 1,500 girls to act as hostesses at a Forum tonight.

Union Dues Go To U.S.

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—An official of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers says it is not good that seven out of every 10 union members in Canada belong to international unions.

Ed Finn, publicity director for the brotherhood, told the Sarnia and District Labor Council that every year between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000 in union dues collected in Canada disappear in to union treasuries in the United States.

Mr. Finn, whose all-Canadian union has a membership of more than 30,000, said Canada's labor movement is in urgent need of overhaul.

Valley Farm was financed by Atlantic.

Slowly Egyptians Learning Extent of Defeat in Desert

AP Correspondent Dennis Neeld went to Cairo soon after Egyptian forces began mustering in the Sinai Desert. He remained in the Egyptian capital through the Arab-Israeli war and has just gone to Athens, where he filed this report on conditions in Cairo.

By DENNIS NEELD

ATHENS (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser has largely succeeded so far in hiding from the Egyptian people the magnitude of Egypt's military defeat in the Sinai Desert.

But slowly the word is spreading. Troops have returned from the battlefront with tales of food and horror. More and more families are being notified that their sons will never come back.

Cairo radio and the government press maintain a steady drumfire of propaganda telling Egyptians it is only a matter of time before the lost territories are recovered.

There have been calls for a "people's war" and suggestions for arming the civilian population against Israel.

Egyptians were stunned when told the country had agreed to a ceasefire and Nasser's prestige was at its lowest ebb. But he fought back with skill.

His emotional speech of resignation followed by massive demonstrations in his favor and his subsequent change of mind put Nasser back on top.

Loudspeakers which only days ago echoed round the sun-baked squares of Cairo with martial music and prophecies of humiliation for Israel are now silent. The "on to Tel Aviv" banners are gone.

Today commentators speak of preparations and sacrifices to be made before a "second round" can be fought. Few Egyptians believe a peaceful settlement with Israel is possible and few seem to want one.

Already Egyptians are feeling the pinch. Meat and other food is scarce. Couples have been asked to give up their wedding rings to replenish the country's gold reserves.

Harder times probably are ahead. With the Suez Canal closed, the flow of tourists at an end, Egypt's hard currency earnings have all but dried up. It is surviving on Soviet handouts.

The outskirts of Cairo are jammed with troops. Columns of heavy tanks lie just off the main road to the airport. MiG jets scream overhead.

The show of strength may be a precaution against a possible coup by disgruntled military elements but there is no evidence of any great discontentment with the man who has led Egypt for 13 years.

By appointing himself premier and head of the ruling party Nasser has strengthened his political control.

Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny's arrival Wednesday further boosted Nasser's ego, helping cut the hops of stepped-up Soviet aid.

There are signs, meanwhile, that Egypt, with Russian help, is already rebuilding its military forces. Big Soviet transport planes have been streaming into Cairo airport. They are reported to be carrying MiG fighters to replace those destroyed by Israeli bombing raids.

SPORT SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Ole Jupiter Pluvius ordered his rain-firing tanks into action last Saturday evening and put an effective quietus on the harness racing card at the Quinte Driving and Riding Club. At six o'clock the rains came with not a few of the faithful on hand but they had to settle for a movie or the family square-face.

It was the first cancellation of the club's meets since 1954 — not a bad record at that.

However club president Gerald Vance and his officials have their fingers crossed and have come up with an even better card for Saturday than that of a week ago.

A record number of forty-seven pacers and trotters will face the barrier in a new events departure of five single races and two double affairs.

The fourth and eighth races will be special handicap trots and brings together Sandy McDuff, Judy's Echo, Ken Stewah, Chenango Bill, Farjax, Mr. Spudjay and Dara Tooting.

That is this greenhorn handicapper looks like a battle between Mr. Spudjay and Dara Tooting. The latter won the last clash between the ages and a mile before. But remember it's your shirt so don't come after me with a subpoena.

What looks like the harness Queen's Plate of the night is the fifth and ninth double events that will see some of the best horsehigh of the district in action.

It is a toss-up between Direct Dillard, Single De Best, Don Comet, Lee Law, Les Lad and Brian Wan. Single De Best has been going good of late but don't take the word of a guy who doesn't know how to pick the winner of a cockroach derby or a grey-hound gallop.

Hisland Herbie who racked up a double victory in his last outing two weeks ago while his driver added another for good measure, deserves attention in the top spot. But he's up against some tough competition in April Linda, Dudley Herbert, Miss Cheer Greater, Ken Way, and Judy Erika.

As I mentioned it's your underwear that goes into the pari-mutuel wringers and if you come home in a barrel forget you ever read this column and take it out on your mother-in-law.

Being an ex-naval type, I sort of fancy Admiral Jamie in the inaugural heat. The Vance nag is in competition with J. J. Dale, Tip Cee Chief, Myda Dale C, and Victory Rahs. And if you get seasick on this one blame it on something you ate, or the sport you sneaked under the grandstand.

To the maiden's mammas, if you're the sentimental type you could lay a deuce on Wotta Man in the second event and think you could go home minus the mint skirt or whatever you bet. There are besides the "Man", Double Star (this could twitch the bone, too), Combat Pick, Dilly Direct, Swift Pick and Tripper's Boy. Or you could pick the Picks and come home with a shoestuff of loot.

"Stitch" is a name usually associated with prizefighter stumblebums or a Helms variety of mutt, but it could ring a bell in the third race on account he has such fancy companions as Cash Princess(and this name could very well be a prediction), Janet Chief, Hagis Lady Lou, Mr. Keshia and Dillard Grattan.

Again you're on your own and this unqualified guesser won't be responsible for unpaid taxes, grocery bills and the rest.

I stuck a pin in the seventh race park and stabbed Hardstone square in the withers. This horse was a toughie in the first outing and except that he reckons with Campbell Chief, Agitator, May Flower, Bella B. Grattan and Bellfox. Another good and better bet, stuck in a pin of your own and see what comes up.

Best Bet of the Night:—Carver to lose nine shirts.

Five Players Given Suspensions

Tempers are flaring in the Trent Valley Softball League this week but the league executive is throwing the knockout punches.

President Cliff Belch Jr. announced the suspensions of five players from the Trenton Carm's Cleaners and the CFB Flyers teams this morning.

As a result of a brief scuffle and shoving match in a game between the two clubs on Monday night, Carm's Ron Chambers and the Flyers' Don Hillier each drew one-game suspensions and the Flyers' Des Lafforde drew two games for leaving the players' bench during the altercation.

The clubs met again last night and a fight broke out at first base between the Flyers' Harold "Bugs" MacDonald and Trenton's Dale Lewis. They were handed two-game suspensions.

Carm's won last night's game 12-4 and lead the four-team loop with Point Anne second.

Belch said this morning that the clubs had been warned and that the league executive would deal out stiffer suspensions if the battling continued.

City Hotel Wins Over Dixie Lee

Erma Barberstock slammed two home runs to lead City Hotel to a 20-5 verdict over Dixie Lee in the Ladies' Softball League last night.

Sharon Francis pitched on the winner's mound, and held Dixie scoreless until the sixth, when Dorothy Caverly scored one for the losers.

Margo Harding hurled for the losers, with most of her hitting support coming from Doreen Lee's triple.

Police Stop Battle

Bosox, Yankees Stage Bean Brawl!

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Lonborg has hitters ducking him like he had bad breath.

The Boston Red Sox new mean man of the mound blew his latest knockout by New York for an 8-1 victory Wednesday night, but the Yankees did not go down without a fight.

Lonborg's lively fast ball and one thrown by the Yankees' Thad Tillotson that wasn't so lively started a brush back, bean ball contest that emptied both benches in a second ensuing free-for-all.

Tillotson hit Joe Foy on the helmet with a pitch in the top half of the inning, then one of Lonborg's high hard ones struck Tillotson in the shoulder. Words were exchanged between the two pitchers, then between Tillotson and Foy, as benches emptied, a wild melee began and it took 12 special policemen to restore order.

Elsewhere in the league, the leading Chicago White Sox quietly swept a doubleheader from Washington Senators 5-2 and 3-1, on the hitting of Tom McGraw and Gerry McNertney, and reliever Eddie Watt saved Baltimore Orioles' 5-4 triumph over Kansas City Athletics.

Detroit Tigers and Minnesota Twins played to a 3-5 tie in a game halted in the ninth inning by rain and Cleveland Indians and California Angels were rained out before they started. No players were ejected in the brawl at Yankee Stadium, the second there in recent weeks, but Joe Pepitone of the Yankees was decked by one punch and had to leave the game with a sprained wrist.

Asked later if he threw at Tillotson, the 6-foot-5 Lonborg answered: "What do you think? I have to protect my own players."

Tony Conigliaro's three - run homer and three run - scoring hits by Carl Yastrzemski led the Red Sox attack against Tillotson.

McNertney also slammed out three hits, driving in two runs and scoring a third as the White Sox won their opener on the shutout relief pitching of Bruce Howard and Hoyt Wilhelm.

McGraw's leadoff homer in the seventh inning gave Jim O'Toole the triumph in the nightcap.

Watt entered in time to strike out Bert Campaneris with the bases loaded in the eighth inning and protect Pete Richert's victory for the Orioles.

Frank Robinson hit his 21st homer with a man on and Dave Johnson drove in two more runs to build Baltimore's lead.

Two - run homers by Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe of Detroit matched Harmon Killebrew's 30th and 31st homers and a shot by Rod Carew of the Twins in their game.

All records of the Detroit-Minnesota game count and the game will be replayed from the start.

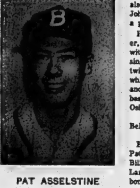
Bats Healthy Again

Lombanks Whip Oshawa 7-5

By Robert Saufjells

Belleville Lombanks' bats are healthy again after a brief slump.

The city team cured its ailments by blasting 13 hits to defeat Oshawa Legionaires 7-5 yesterday evening at the Fairgrounds.



The victory brought their record to five wins and three losses, and kept them close on the heels of league-leading Kingston in the EOBA senior race.

After three innings Belleville led 4-0, and Oshawa remained within shooting distance with a lone tally in the fourth. The winners added single runs in the fifth, seventh and eighth frames, and although the visitors plated one in the seventh and three more next inning, they were unable to come closer than two runs.

Righthander Rodger Hunter started on Belleville's mound, and breezed along until he ran into difficulties in the ninth and seventh innings. With one out in the seventh pitching ace Bill Latchford took over. Latchford had trouble in the eighth as the losers pushed three runs across, but he stymied Oshawa in the ninth to preserve the victory.

Hunter fired third strikes past 11 batters and handed out five walks while giving up five hits and two runs, in being credited for the victory. Latchford fanned four, walked two and was scratched for two hits in relief.

Bill Ryan hurled the entire game for the Legionnaires, and gave up hits in all but two frames. He struck out six, but did not walk a man.

PAT ASSELSTINE

Pat Asselstine led the winners in scoring with two runs, on a double and single. Don Forsythe slammed a triple and single, and John McKibbon a double and single, and both scored once.

Carl Boomhower came into the game in the fifth and banged a triple, batting in one. Third baseman Moe Hunter and Terry Wellesley stroked two singles, while Larry Mavety and Jerry Hill had one each. Moe Hunter also batted in three runs, and John McKibbon brought home a pair.

Pat Watters, Oshawa catcher, was best for the visitors with a double and two singles. Wayne Cookson hit twice and scored on both, while teammates Ken Tuffen and Wayne McDermid had base hits.

Oshawa	000 100 130 - 5 7 0
Belleville	013 010 11x - 7 13 1

Batteries: Bill Ryan and Pat Watters; Rodger Hunter, Bill Latchford (7th) and Larry Mavety, John McKibbon (4th).

Cannifton Comeback Clips Read

Cannifton Plaza's roared back from a five-run deficit in the final inning as they flooded across six runs to edge Read 7-6 in a South Hastings league contest at Cannifton last night.

Read had taken a 6-5 lead in the fourth on seven walks and their only two hits of the game. Cannifton put one back next frame and then rallied in the final inning Aag they combined five walks and a trio of hits for six runs.

Larry Adams grabbed the spotlight for the home team when he broke a 6-6 tie with a bases-loaded hit to win it.

Terry Thompson, with help from Pat O'Connor and Bernie Coughlin in the fourth, hurled for the winners. They totalled eight strike outs and as many walks.

Ted Abrams started for Read and lasted until the sixth, when Carm Milligan mounted the mound to face one man. They three third strikes past four and issued seven walks.

Cannifton was led by Larry Adams at the plate, as he stroked a pair of hits, including the game winner. Catcher Court Bradley slammed a double, and Bob Moore, Ron Urch and Bob Luffman had base hits.

Batteries: Abrams, Milligan (6) and Brennan; Thompson, O'Connor (4), Coughlin (4) and Brailly.

Sponsorless Bantams Unbeaten

Belleville's entry in the Eastern Ontario Baseball Association bantam division apparently has everything but a sponsor!

The city bantams, coached by Don Dolan, added to their winning string last night with a 7-4 decision over Frankford on the losers' home field.

The bantams are the only unsponsored club in the city's minor baseball program. Among their victories to date are two no-hitters by pitching ace Wayne Farrell.

Belleville jumped ahead 3-0 in the top of the first last night but Frankford roared back for a 4-3 lead going into the sixth. A trio put Belleville back in front 6-4 and one in the seventh sewed up the win.

Terry Meagher and Farrell shared the victors' pitching chore. They gave up four hits, struck out 11 but walked eight.

Terry Fox and Bruce McCauley allowed just five hits on the Frankford hilltop, issuing seven and passing eight.

Belleville hits went to Glen Carleton with two doubles, Paul Hall with a triple, Randy Burks and Barry Culkin a single each. Steve Bedard had a double, Doug Rogers, Perry Williamson and Dargie Kendot a hit each for Frankford.

Minor Baseball Results

Barriages notched two runs in the seventh inning to gain a 3-2 tie with the Bad Boys in BMBA peewee play last night.

In other peewee action, Sinc's Shell used a late inning flurry of runs to outlast Fountain Farm 8-5.

For Barriages, Tom Coughlin and Greg Duffy gave up 10 hits and fanned 13 while walking 11.

Mike Bell cracked three singles, and John Donevan and Mitchell Yott had two each, to lead the Bad Boys. Andy Kickeziz, Denny Coulson and Kent had loan base hits.

Wanye Andrews and Mike Weir stroked two safeties each for Barriages. Also hitting were Bob Moore, Tom Coughlin and Terry Cowie.

Sinc's Shell pitching pair of Blaine Mullins and Ron McTaggart allowed nine hits and fanned 11 in gaining the victory.

Danny Lupenette and John Mulvihill pitched on the losers' mound, giving up nine hits and fanning seven.

Bobby Menard clubbed a triple for Sinc's. Don McTaggart and Grant Goegan also hit twice. With lone singles were Jed Forster, Brian Globe and Blaine Mullins.

Fountain Park got most of its offense power at the plate from Danny Lupenette. He smashed a pair of round-trippers and a double and single. Fred Meers, Sandy Cairns and Jim Richardson added hits.

Has 1-2 Entry

Taylor Strategy Could Win Plate

TORONTO (CP)—E. P. Taylor, whose horses have won the Queen's Plate nine times in the last 17 years, may have hit upon a formula for winning Saturday's 108th running of the Canadian thoroughbred racing classic.

Taylor has entered two horses Bastiling, a favorite, and Blesbein Park, a sprinter—in the 1¼-mile race for Canadian-foaled three-year-olds.

Blesbein Park will probably grab the lead over the first six furlongs in hopes some of the favorites will follow.

Bastiling, a bay colt sired by Nearctic out of Lyford Cottage, was rated along with Pine Point, Courcet d'Air, Betenight and Come By Chance to win Saturday's event.

But the colt lost some prestige when he finished sixth in the Plate Trial Monday.

Trainer Joe Thomas points out that Bastiling was not outclassed. "He sulked," Thomas explains of a mile. He never sulked like that before. . . ."

Pine Point, owned by Saul Wagman of Toronto, is the top choice among early selectors to win the Queen's Plate, scheduled for 3:12 p.m. and televised nationally by the CBC.

The race, with an anticipated gross of more than $75,000 and net earnings to the winner of more than $53,000, will be attended by Governor General and Mrs. Michener.

Fourteen horses are expected to leave the starting gate.

Among them will be one Western colt, Gilmore, and one American - owned Etts Rule. Neither are rated highly, but both are considered good bets if the track is wet.

"I guess we're paying pretty hred for rain," said Neil Herbord, who trains Ette Rule for owner Marty Wilson of Buffalo, N.Y.

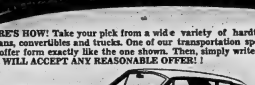
"He doesn't have the depth for distances. . . . If we get rain, it will be different of course. The pace will be slower and he'll have a good chance."

Avelino Gomez, North American riding champion in 1966, will ride Pine Point. Courcet d'Air, a second choice, will be ridden by Herb Hinojosa, while Come by Chance will have Frank Barclay in the irons.

Bastiling will be ridden by Hugo Dittfach, while Ron Turcotte of Grand Falls, N.B., is coming from New York to ride Betenight, owned by Noel Hickey of Montreal.

In addition to Bastiling and Blesbein Park, there will be at least two other entries in Saturday's classic.

Come by Chance, owned by M. J. Boylan of Toronto, will be coupled with Mr. Sweet Dreams, owned by Mrs. D. H. Cosiner of Toronto, on the same post - around ticket. Mrs. Cosiner is a daughter of Boylan and both horses are trained by Art Warner.



Dauphin Blen will also be coupled with Gilmore as an entry. Both are owned by Frank McMahon and Max Belt of Calgary.

The only fifty in the race will be Jammed Lovely, owned by Conn Smythe of Toronto.

Cocky Clay Crows At Sentence

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius said he still is heavyweight Clay, talkative as ever, form champion of the world and ally appealed his five-year pri- could whip anybody. son sentence Wednesday and Shadowboxing and joking in the Federal Building corridors and elevators, Clay gave no apparent indication of concern over his conviction Tuesday on a charge of refusing to be inducted into the armed services, in addition to the prison sentence, U.S. District Judge Joe Ingraham fined him $10,000.

"Regardless of a man's religion or his politics, you just can't ignore he's the champion," Clay told newspaper men. "I am the best. I can know I'm the champ."

Hayden Covington of New York City and Quinnan Hodges of Houston, Clay's attorneys, filed the notice of appeal and reserved the champion's $5,000 bond which he had posted May 8 following his indictment.

Clay refused to take the traditional one step forward to be inducted into the Army April 28.

When Clay first posted his bond after his indictment, Federal Judge Ben C. Connally said requests to travel outside the United States would have to be ruled on separately. There had been reports Clay hoped to fight in August and September in Sweden and Germany.

"I am not even thinking about it now," was Clay's only comment.

An all-white jury of six men and six women deliberated only 20 minutes Tuesday in finding Clay guilty. Clay had said he is a Black Muslim minister with the name Muhammad Ali and should have been draft exempt. His attorneys also contended draft boards were stacked with white members and therefore discriminated against Negroes.

Clay said he is pleased at any announcement from the British Boxing Board of Control which said it considers him heavyweight champion, pending outcome of the appeal.

"That is real good, real just," Clay said, "they know I am the best."

Covington indicated the final outcome will be determined by the U.S. Supreme Court but he said such a decision is at least 9 months away.

Brants Lose Another

Tiki Trips Cheesemen

One streak was broken but another stretched in last night's Commercial Softball League double - header at the Alemite.

The young Tiki Club squad dripped the first - place Black Diamond team 3-2 in one extra inning to tighten the league race.

But the winless Brant's - Mountain View boys dropped their ninth game, a close 5-4 decision to Lightfoot Construction.

Both games were cliff - hangers!

With the score tied 3-2 after a regulation seven frames, Tiki loaded the bases in the bottom of the eighth on three walks off losing pitcher Sonny Holloway. Player - coach Lam Carson of the Cheesemen took the rubber himself with none out and got one man on as infield pop. Dale Duvall promptly ended the game with a long base hit.

Tiki only had three hits in the ball game, two of them by Duvall and the other by Steve White. Holloway struck out 13 batters and walked but one until he lost the plate in the eighth.

Al Pullen was the winning pitcher, taking over from Gary Matier in the sixth. They allowed five hits, struck out seven and walked three.

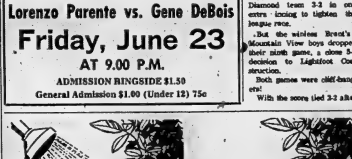
The Francis brothers again paced Black Diamond with Jack and Gene each clouting a double and single. Don Holloway also hit a double.

The loss was the Cheesemen's second against seven wins.

Brant's came close once again without quite making the win column. They scored twice in the ninth to take a 4-3 lead but Lightfoot stepped back with two of their own to snatch the decision.

John Francis batted four-bit ball on the Lightfoot's rubber. He whiffed four and walked three. Gene Collet gave up eight hits on the Mountain View mound, fanning six and walking three. Six miscues proved costly.

Don Smith punched a pair of base knocks and Lee Hall had a double to spark the Lightfoots. T. Johnston, Frank "Shaker" Murray, T. Casselman, Rusty Garvin and George Perry had a single each.



B. Richardson hit a double in defeat and other safeties went to B. Greenwood, Ted Drumm and G. Daniels.

Crothers Back In Stride; Sets Sights On Pan-American Gold Medal

SASKATOON (CP) — A healthy Bill Crothers is taking dead aim at the Pan-American Games and a chance to break up an image somewhat tarnished at the 1966 British Empire Games in Jamaica and during the winter season.

One of the world's outstanding half - milers, Crothers was second in the 1964 Olympic 800 metres to Peter Snell and after Snell's retirement the Marham, Ont., pharmacist was considered by many to be the premier runner at this distance.

But in the B.E. Games he was boxed in and finished fourth and during the last winter indoor season he lost a couple of decisions to American Jeri Yen Dyke and two others to West Germany's Franz - Joseph Kopse!

Lately, however, Crothers appears to have recovered his world championship form and in a recent track meet in Toronto ran the 880 yards in 1:47.3 —just .4 seconds off his fastest ever time.

Crothers will form up for the Pan-Am Games at the team selection trials at Saskatoon Friday and Saturday, competing in the 800-metre event, and possibly the 1,500 metres.

The field in the metric mile is crowded, with 22 athletes already registered. If they all compete, this would mean heats, which in turn would mean a Saturday final clashing with the final in the 800.

The Trials have drawn an entry of 253 athletes, about 80 more than expected.

The entry list was swollen by the last-minute entries of several fine athletes, including Janet Meekins of Winnipeg, a threat in the Women's 200 and 400 metres; Susan Nigh, a high jumper from Toronto; Don Domansky, a quarter - miler from the Lakehead; Ron Wellingford, a veteran distance man from Hamilton; Steve Spencer, a Vancouver high jumper who has cleared six feet, seven inches, and steeplechaser Hyrke van der Wel of Hamilton.

Also in the field will be Nancy McCredie of Brampton, Ont., a shot put and discus star making a bid for her fourth interscholastic team.

The largest entry in the Trials will come from Ontario, where three branches of the Amateur Athletic Union combined to form the Ontario zone and women. British Columbia will be represented by 41 men and 37 women.

The largest entry in the 5,000 metres, with 23 registered.

Two of three track and field gold medallists from the B.E.G. are certain entries—Dave Steen of Toronto and Burnaby, B.C., in the shotput, and Abby Hoffman of Thornhill. Harry Jerome, the sprint star from Vancouver who owns a share of the world 100-metre record of 10 seconds flat, is a doubtful entry.

Other well - known competitors will be Dave Ellis of Toronto in the 5,000 and 10,000 metres; hurdler Bill Gairdner of Toronto, Dave Bailey of Toronto in the 1,500 metres; Jenny Wheatcroft Meldrum of Toronto in the hurdles and long jump; Irene Piotrowski of Vancouver and Judy Dalliscroz of Toronto in the sprints; and Bob Verd and Gerry Moro of Trail, B.C., in the pole vault.

Moro is the only Canadian ever to clear 15 feet, and won bronze medals at Jamaica, in the pole vault and decathlon.

Nicklaus Eyes Cleveland Open

CLEVELAND (AP) —Newly crowned United States Open king Jack Nicklaus was a heavy favorite today to capture the $150,500 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

But the big better from Columbus wasn't likely to carry a smug attitude into the first round of play.

The blonde power-hitter won the National Open in record-shattering fashion last week-end with a crafty performance. His five-under-par 65 Sunday at Baltusrol Country Club in Springfield, N.J., included eight birdies.

It was the second Open crown for the 27-year-old pro who owns every major title in the book.

But Nicklaus, who has won more than a half million dollars in slightly more than five years, has never come out on top here. Observers figure he may find the $20,700 first prize interesting enough to apply the pressure on the Aurora Country Club's tight, 6,611-yard layout where par is 70.

In the first Cleveland Open in 1963, Nicklaus finished seventh in 1964, Jack finished in a tie for third; he skipped the 1965 tourney and in 1966 he finished well back in the pack with a 278.

Stiff competition should come from Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper, Julius Boros, the tour's only three - tournament winner, and R. H. Sikes, last year's champion.

Nicklaus tuned up for first-round action with a nine-hole score of 34 on Wednesday.

Cards Shut Out Dodgers

Fisher's 2-Hitter Blanks Phils

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Mets' Jack Fisher hurled a brilliant two - hitter Wednesday night and beat Philadelphia Phillies 2-0 on an attack that consisted mainly of Mets Tommy Davis getting plunked by Jim Bunning's pitches.

It was the best pitched game in the National League where Cincinnati Reds nipped Houston Astros 3-2, Chicago Cubs dropped Pittsburgh Pirates 6-3, Atlanta Braves battered San Francisco Giants 9-3 and St. Louis Cardinals shut out Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0.

The only hits off Fisher were by rookie Gary Sutherland, who opened leadoff double in the sixth and then singled in the eighth. Fisher struck out five and walked two in running his record to 5-7.

The Mets nicked Bunning for single runs in the first and third innings. Cleon Jones singled and stole second before Bunning hit Ed Kranepool and Davis in the first. Tom Reynolds' sacrifice fly delivered the run.

In the third, Davis was hit again, reached third on Rich Allen's error and then scored on a grounder.

Vada Pinson opened Cincinnati's ninth inning with a double and came around on a wild pitch and a grounder for the Reds' winning run against Houston.

Tony Perez and May Jr. accounted for Cincinnati's first two runs with solo homers. Jim Wynn hit his 17th for the Astros.

The Cubs moved into third place by beating the Pirates with Curt Simmons and Dick Radatz making an early four-run helps stand up.

Adolpho Phillips drove in two runs with a first-inning single and John Boccabella chased two more across with a triple in the sixth.

But Uecker drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a double as the Braves whacked the Giants.

Uecker's shot capped a seven-run Atlanta third that put it away for Pat Jarvis, who buried a six-hitter. Denis Menke tagged three hits including a homer for the Braves.

Right - hander Ray Washburn and two relievers combined for a four - hitter as the Cardinals blanked the Dodgers and sailed it four - game Los Angeles winning streak.

Washburn had allowed just three hits until the seventh when he stopped a line drive single by John Roosboro with his pitching hand. Washburn suffered a compound dislocation of his right thumb but x-rays showed no.

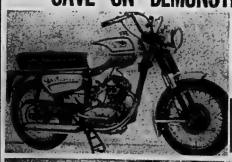
Jets Ground Red Wings, Hens Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rain on both sides of the border washed out most of the International League schedule Wednesday, but Rochester Red Wings saw their first-place lead over Toronto Maple Leafs shaved by half a game.



The Leafs doubleheader with Richmond Braves at Toronto, Jacksonville Suns scheduled twinbill against the Blazes at Buffalo and the second half of a twi-nighter at Rochester were postponed by the elements.

Of the games that were played, Columbus Jets dumped Red Wings 7-5 in seven innings and Toledo Mud Hens dropped Syracuse Chiefs deeper into the cellar, winning 9-1.

Latta Nips Shannonville On Error

An error with two men on base brought in a run to snap a 2-2 deadlock and gave Latta a 3-2 win over Shannonville in a Smith Hardware league fixture at Latta yesterday evening.

The two runners had reached base on walks and with two out, Howard Meeks lofted a fly ball that was dropped by the Shannonville outfielder.

The contest featured a tight pitching duel between Doug Chisholm of Latta and the combination of Bill Barberstock and Dave Lewis for Shannonville. Chisholm was scratched for four hits, three of them going to Bud Hill, while Barberstock gave up all five hits on the Shannonville mound in the three frames that he worked. The Latta hurler fanned five and walked one while the losing duo struck out six but walked six.

Latta scored singletons in the first and third innings, and the visitors replied with two in the fourth to tie it. The winners took the lead for good in the fifth with the lone tally.

Doug Calder and Dave Parks had two base hits each, while Howard Meeks added one, for Latta.

Barberstock slammed a double and Bud Hill a single, double and triple for the oasts.

The Motors blanked the Police 7-0 as Wake struck out a two-hitter.

Both clubs played errorless ball, a rarity this league, as the winners jumped ahead 3-0 in the second inning.

Scoring for the team-mate of Wake's on the city's midget team, was the losing pitcher.

Hitting for the winners were Wake, Ralph Davis, Rick Rosencrans, Mike Lamb and Glynn Reynolds.

The two clubs are tied for fourth place, each with four points, just one back of the Combines and three behind the Intelligencer.

Combines and the leading Firemen are scheduled for tonight's game, weather permitting.

Gori Remembers Stalin

The big stone museum at left, dedicated to Joseph Stalin who died 14 years ago, is at Gori, in the Georgia district of the U.S.S.R. The museum has been open sporadically, despite encouragement in the rest of the U.S.S.R. to forget Stalin's name. Most of the visitors are foreigners. In the centre of Gori, where Stalin was born and went to school, stands a statue of him as he appeared in his heyday in the 1930s.

Russian Security Head Close to Top Echelon

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia's newly-appointed security police chief, Yury Andropov, moves close to the top echelon of Soviet power in a key promotion announced Wednesday night.

He becomes the ninth candidate member of the Communist party's ruling Politburo — the first head of Soviet security police to reach such a high political rank since the much-feared Laventry Beria.

He was elected to his new post at a two-day plenary session of the party's 182-member policy-making central committee which ended Wednesday.

During the 1956 Hungarian uprising Andropov was the Soviet ambassador in Budapest, and saw Russian tanks brought in to crush the rebels.

London Rail Traffic Halts

LONDON (CP) — Railway freight traffic into London ground to a halt Wednesday night as 19 of the city's 21 freight depots were closed by a Tuesday walkout of 3,500 workers.

Members of the National Union of Railwaymen left their jobs to support a strike of 200 workers at British Railways new £1,500,000 ($4,500,000) international goods terminal in East London.

The East London workers went on strike Monday, claiming that only union members should be employed to handle freight at the new terminal.

The union advised workers at the depots Wednesday that "the spreading strike is unofficial and not in conformity with the executive's policy."

The dispute now affects delivery of 10,000 tons of freight a day.

Ted Bowers, a leader of the East London strikers, said the union executive would probably declare a national strike today.

The railways board said Wednesday night there were "no firm grounds for hope of a settlement." But Leonard Neal, the board's industrial relations director, might meet the union executive.

Meanwhile, dealers said the spreading dispute could cause price increases and hinder vital supplies of fruit, vegetables and meat to weekend shoppers. The supplies were being trucked in.

An official of the Retail Fruit Traders' Association said:

"If there is a hold-up in the rail supplies and if it costs more to get supplies by road, then prices are bound to be affected."

A spokesman for the Road Haulage Association, which represents 18,000 truck drivers, said most firms now are working to capacity.

Where possible, a descendant of each of the Fathers, escorted by a uniformed scout, will place a wreath on the grave in the presence of civic, church, patriotic and service organizations.

Royal Tour Given New 'Mod' Touch

OTTAWA (CP)—A Royal tour with a swinging difference will unfold next week when Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip come to Canada's centennial bash.

The small army of officials planning the visit has rewritten the tired Royal tour "script" and scheduled mass gatherings with "mod" touches.

The Queen will graphically mark the 100th birthday of Confederation July 1 by slicing a 20-foot-tall bellow cake on Parliament Hill.

A rock'n' roll band and folk singers will entertain the Royal couple and 15,000 teen-boppers at the new Lansdowne Park grandstand.

Trumpeter Bobby Gimby will play his hit tune Ca-na-da, balloons will fill the sky, a 100-gun salute will boom at noon and clowns will ply kids with free cake and ice cream on the Hill.

The Royal couple will arrive by air next Thursday at 1:30 p.m. to the sound of a trumpet fanfare and 21-gun salute. They will be greeted at Uplands Airport by Governor - General Michener and Prime Minister Pearson.

The next day, the program calls for an informal press reception at Rideau Hall, a ceremony at the National War Memorial, a diplomatic reception at Parliament Hill performance by dancers and choirs representing Canada's numerous ethnic groups.

Main event July 1 will be an open - air joint session of the Commons and Senate on the parliamentary lawns, at 10:30 a.m., weather permitting. It will begin with an ecumenical church service and end an hour later after an address by the Queen.

Additional details of the week - long Royal visit to Ottawa, Cornwall, Expo 67 and Kingston were revealed Wednesday.

After attending church in Ottawa Sunday, July 2, the Royal couple will drive to Cornwall, board the Royal yacht Britannia about 5 p.m. and cruise down the St. Lawrence to the Expo island site.

TO TOUR EXPO

Monday, July 3, will be spent touring Expo pavilions. The Britannia will leave that night, taking the Royal visitors to Kingston, where there are no scheduled events until Tuesday evening.

On July 5, they fly from Cornwall to the Rockcliffe air base at Ottawa for previously-announced events preparatory to departure that night for London.

The tour planners decided to use the Royal yacht for the trips in and out of Expo partly to give the couple time to rest and partly for security reasons.

Conditions Poor

Shortage of Nurses Forecast

MONTREAL (CP) — Unless sub-standard salaries and working conditions in nursing are corrected there will be a shortage of nurses within a few years, Dr. Helen K. Mussallem, executive director of the Canadian Nurses Association, said today.

She called for concerted action by the health professions to meet the manpower problems that will result from the start of medical care insurance programs after July 1, 1968.

"Let us be done with these edgy confrontations that take place between our associations," she told the Canadian Medical Association's conference on medical care insurance and medical manpower.

"We need a plan and a program that embraces all workers in the health professions, a plan worked out in co-ordination with all health professional associations."

Dr. Mussallem said there is no real shortage of qualified nurses but there is "a colossal waste of nursing skill from poor utilization of nursing time, turnover of staff, emigration and non-practising personnel."

Of 121,000 registered nurses in Canada, only 54 per cent worked full-time at nursing, 19 per cent were employed part-time, 22 were not employed in nursing and five per cent were of unknown employment status.

Between 25 and 33 per cent of the nursing jobs required a bachelor's degree, but only five per cent of nurses had this qualification.

She suggested seven steps to improve the available manpower:

—Use nurses properly, by relieving them of duties that could be done by less skilled workers or by relieving them of duties that really belong to doctors.

—Increase recruiting and reduce student attrition.

—Reduce the turnover rate.

—Put to work some of the 25,000 registered nurses who are not employed.

—Bring back into the labor force some of the 120,000 nurses who could, but do not, contribute to the nursing force.

Right some of the part-time registered nurses—one in five —on full-time.

—Boost immigration of nurses and reduce emigration.

The Canadian Nurses Association has set a target of 16,000 a year for beginning practitioners in 1968 and two provinces have set this as their goal for next year.

A text of Dr. Mussallem's address was released to the press before delivery.

World Needs Flexible Fusion Of Doctrines of East, West

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

Perhaps the principal difference between a "woman" and a "lady" is that a woman wants to be admired, while a lady wants to be admirable — which is much harder and higher, goal.

What the world most needs is a flexible fusion of the doctrine of the West — that action is paramount — and the doctrine of the East — that action is futile — so that we are neither infatuated with mere motion, nor immobilized by a sense of passivity.

One thing we try to teach children is to refrain from laughing at the infirmities of other individuals; yet, as adults, we can scarcely keep from snickering at the idiosyncrasies of other nations.

Everyone who aspires to public office should have engraved on the wall above his desk Goethe's pithy remark: "Ruling is easy, governing difficult."

It may be the greatest and most dangerous fallacy committed by our popular fiction and films that marriages are divided into two classes, the "bad" and the "good"; for marriage is indeed divided into two classes, the "bad" and the "hard" — and conjugal wisdom consists in learning that one is lucky to have merely a "hard" one.

Those conservatives who recently said they would like to amend the First Amendment to the Constitution — relating to free speech — in order to punish the more ardent war protesters, are, in my opinion, more "un-American" than any so - called subversives who have been dragged up before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

One of the best and least followed rules for any kind of happiness in the world was expressed by Emperor Sigismund of Germany, who advised: "Only do in health what you promised to do when you were sick." (Ah, but how we revert when we recover!)

We are all aware of optical illusions in space; but few are aware of optical illusions in time, as it were, for we foolishly imagine when young that the second half of our life will be as long as the first half, and it never is, for time has quality as we grow older.

A "well-adjusted" person nowadays is one who is reconciled to his lack of adjustment to the world, and neither assures it nor fights it; to be obviously adjusted to this world is to be insane along the same grain.

The weak hate because it makes them feel strong, only the strong know that hate makes them weaker.

Rain Washes Away Fear Of More Atlanta Riots

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rainshowers dampened hot, muggy weather in Atlanta, Ga., Wednesday night and helped wash away fears of racial violence after four nights of disturbances left one dead and several injured.

Meanwhile, police arrested 15 Negroes in New York and one in Philadelphia Wednesday and charged them with planning to kill two civil rights leaders.

Police said they were members of a Negro group called the Revolutionary Action Movement.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Whitney M. Young Jr. of the National Urban League were alleged murder targets of the group, which the FBI described as pro-China and openly committed to the overthrowing of governments by violence and assassination.

Those accused in the plot included a teacher, a U.S. Navy management analyst, a welfare department clerk, an exchange student and an avid poverty worker.

Altogether, police seized more than 30 weapons, including a machine-gun, more than 1,000 rounds of ammunition and a quantity of explosives.

The man arrested in Philadelphia was Maxwell Stanford, 33, who the FBI described as the national leader of the group.

All 16 were charged with advocating criminal anarchy and conspiring to advocate criminal anarchy. 13 were accused of conspiracy to commit arson and seven with possession of dangerous weapons. Two were charged with conspiracy to commit homicide.

A dispute continued in Atlanta over who fired the shots which killed Willie B. Ross, 46, and critically wounded nine-year-old Reginald Rivers after a Negro threw a gasoline bomb at officers Tuesday night.

Jessie Hill, a Negro businessman who heads the Atlanta Summit Conference, said the sister of the dead man had assembled 12 eyewitnesses who indicated the shots came from the direction of police.

Police officers denied firing the shots.

However, Lieut. W. K. Perry said a shell removed from the body was the type of buckshot used by police in riot guns.

Negro Slain as Violence Erupts

The body of Timothy Ross, 46, is placed on stretcher after he was killed by a shotgun blast in Atlanta, Ga., after violence flared in a predominantly Negro section of the city. Atlanta is reported calmer today and a curfew has been shortened.

Quebec Plans Free Colleges

QUEBEC (CP)—The Liberals joined the Union Nationale government Wednesday night to give final reading to a bill establishing free public colleges at the pre-university level.

The bill received third reading by a vote of 71 to 1. Frank Hanley, independent member for Montreal St. Ann, voted against the measure.

The pre - university colleges fill a gap in the public education system between secondary schools and universities.

Traditional route to university from a French - language secondary school has been a private classical college run by the Roman Catholic Church.

The government expects to have seven students this fall, about 10,000 students this fall. A network of more than 25 colleges with a variety of technical and academic education is envisaged. Graduates would be qualified to enter universities.

Admission will be free. The legislation follows recommendations of Quebec's royal commission on education which found existing educational institutions at the post-secondary level to be confused. At least seven separate systems are involved.

Johnson Mediates

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson, personally mediating the strike of Hydro-Quebec workers, said he hopes to bring union and management back to negotiation tables today.

Mr. Johnson spoke to reporters at 1:35 a.m. after concluding top-level talks with union and management officials called to Quebec City Wednesday.

He said he hopes the meetings between the two groups can be held either this afternoon or this evening.

About 5,000 Hydro workers have been on strike since Monday, when union membership rejected an agreement negotiated by a government mediator.

Police Charge Hundred Million Fraud Planned

TORONTO (CP)—Three Toronto men surrendered to police Wednesday on charges of conspiracy to defraud the public of $100,000,000. A warrant was issued for the arrest of a fourth man.

Detectives from Metropolitan Toronto police fraud squad arrested Meyer Rush, 42, a stock promoter, and Joseph Williams, 53, a lawyer. Bail was set at $50,000 for Rush and $10,000 for Williams.

They were remanded to June 23 when they appeared in court.

Manuel (Manny) Britzone surrendered at police headquarters late Wednesday and his bail was to be set today.

Detectives said the fourth man, a former Toronto alderman, is believed to be outside Canada.

Norman Cox, chief investigator for the Ontario Securities Commission, said the OSC seized the books of British Overseas Mutual Fund and Darien Explorations Ltd. from Rush's home two months ago. Darien is a mining venture.

Mr. Cox said in an interview that the capitalization of the two companies was $100,000,000 and that the men involved sold shares to raise the capitalization.

He said:

"As far as I know, shares in the companies were sold in the United States, but I don't know of any that were sold in Canada. Neither company was registered with the OSC and therefore their shares couldn't be sold legally here."

British Overseas was originally incorporated in the Bahamas, but a month ago it became incorporated in Panama.

Investigators of the OSC had fanned out through the U.S. Wednesday interviewing persons who had made large purchases of the stocks.

British Overseas stock sold for as much as $10 a share in the U.S. and Darien for as high at $1.50. Both now are worthless, Mr. Cox said.

Williams ran unsuccessfully as a Liberal against Governor-General Roland Michener in the federal election of 1958.

Six Men Charged With Theft Plan

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Five of six men arrested in raids Wednesday were free today on $15,000 bail to await a hearing on conspiracy charges connected with alleged plots to rob three banks, an armored truck and a hotel. Three of the six are reputed Cosa Nostra crime syndicate leaders.

The robberies, however, were never staged, U.S. Attorney John T. Curtin said. They allegedly involved two banks in Weirton, W.Va., and one in Buffalo and armored truck owned by the Armored Transport of Los Angeles Inc., and the Beverly Hills Hilton Hotel in California. Plans for the robberies were formulated in 1963 and 1965, Curtin added.

The six men were arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Edmund F. Maxwell, who set June 3 as a preliminary hearing date.

Among those arrested were Frederico G. Randazzo, 58, of Buffalo, who police said is an underboss to Stefano Magadino reputed leader of the Cosa Nostra in western New York State and a part of Ontario.

Pasquale Natarelli, 58, Buffalo, said to be Magadino's lieutenant.

Salvatore Pieri, 56, Buffalo, who police said was Magadino's chief lieutenant before serving an eight-year sentence for a narcotics conviction.

Other arrested in early-morning raids on their homes were Daniel J. Domino, 44, of suburban Kenmore, and Nicholas Rizzo, 48, and Stephen A. Cino, 50, both of Buffalo.

All except Pieri and Domino also were charged with violation of the Hobbs Act, a federal law prohibiting interference with commerce.

All except Pieri were freed on bail ranging from $5,000 to $50,000 within six hours of their arrests. Pieri was confined to Erie County jail in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Conviction under the Hobbs Act carries a maximum prison sentence of 20 years. A conviction on a conspiracy charge provides for a prison term of up to five years.

Dutch Will Buy 105 F-5s

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (Reuters)—The Canadian government has made written pledges to place orders worth at least $30,000,000 in this country if the Netherlands orders 105 Northrop F-5 military planes worth 800,00,000 guilders (about $183,200,000) in Canada, Dutch Defence Minister W. den Toom disclosed Wednesday.

The Canadian orders were expected to be mainly for aircraft equipment, including electronic equipment from Philips.

Den Toom made the announcement in a written reply in Parliament on government plans to buy the Canadian-built aircraft for the Royal Netherlands Air Force.

Den Toom said Holland had not yet concluded a main contract with the Canadian government but had signed a binding provisional agreement in the form of a "letter of intent."

Nassau Casino to Close Because of Heavy Tax

NASSAU (Reuters) — The Monte Carlo casino, one of the three gambling establishments in the Bahamas, will close at the end of this month because of a $1,000,000 gambling tax.

The owners, Bahamas Amusements Ltd., said they will decide early next year whether or not to re-open.

By closing June 30, the casino will have to pay only one-half of the tax, which is retroactive to Jan. 1, and is for this year only.

The bill to tax each of the three casinos $1,000,000 was passed by the House of Assembly Saturday. Premier Lynden Pindling said legislation for the future would be introduced after a commission inquiring into Bahamas gambling submits its report next fall.

330,000 Beds

Accommodation Available in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—After almost two months of operation of Expo 67 it looks as if the fainthearts called it wrong when they said Montreal could not accommodate the millions of visitors.

There still are kinks in the system for getting out-of-town c a l l e r s in a hurry, but it appears there will be enough beds and that Expo and the provincial government are determined to give tourists a fair shake.

Andre Mercier, head of Expo's visitors services says:

"We can provide at the moment 330,000 beds within a 25-mile range of Expo and at government-controlled prices. And if that isn't enough at peak times we can tap thousands more at very short notice."

Jean-Jacques Bertrand, Quebec's justice minister, appointed Montreal lawyer Yves Mayrand May 20 as a special prosecutor to deal with any cases of fraud arising from Expo lodging restrictions.

June 10, another 30 lawyers and notaries were sworn in as justices of the peace to hear cases involving failure by landlords, hotel and motel owners to comply with provincial laws designed to protect visitors.

Already Mr. Mayrand has announced preparations for a "fast" cleanup of the Provincial Lodging Service following a series of complaints by accommodation operators in the Montreal area of questionable practices by some service bureaus.

The service, when approved by the government, will be passed to Logerpo, the agency of the world's fair corporation which supplies a free service to visitors of directing them to the accommodation.

Logexpo has been so successful that it now is suffering from an unexpected problem—landlords are complaining that they are not being sent enough visitors.

Logexpo's 230,000 beds were available in the following types of accommodation:

—75,000 in hotel, motel, tourist and efficiency apartments with a $10-$20 price range.

—10,000 in trailer motels on permanent lots ranging from $30 for four adults to $45 for eight adults.

—150,000 in private homes at $6-$12 single, $8-$24 double, $18-$18 for three persons and $12-$22 for four persons.

—35,000 in institutes and colleges at $3 to $5.

—60,000 in camp and trailer sites at $2.50 to $3.50 for a tent, $3.50 to $5 for a trailer mobile home.

"Our projection was that with 11,000,000 visitors coming to the fair we would have to accommodate 725,000 persons on the worst night.

"New figures indicate a possible 15,000,000 visitors and we already have nearly doubled our projected needs."

Most surprising assertion by Mr. Mercier is that the big central hotels are not fully booked for the entire fair period as had generally been assumed.

"In the 10 major downtown hotels we have 150 to 300 rooms available every day," he said.

Some U.S. travel agencies have complained to Logexpo about experiences of clients, mainly in connection with motels which were built for the Expo period and which will be torn down after it is over.

Mr. Mercier said many problems with these motels would sort themselves out with time. Some had been built in a hurry and things like badly-hung doors were being repaired quickly.

The government is doing its best to see that visitors are not swindled.

Have Camera, Will Travel

Ceylon's Prime Minister Dudley Shelton Senanayake, equipped with camera slung across his shoulder, passes exhibits inside his country's pavilion at Expo 67 Wednesday. The premier was visiting the world's fair as part of his country's National Day celebrations. (CP Photo)

Thailand's National Day Launched at Expo Site

MONTREAL (CP)—King Bhumibol Adulyadej and Queen Sirikit of Thailand bring a little bit of Southeast Asia to the world's fair today as the royal couple launch Thailand's national day celebrations at Expo 67.

The king and queen of a land on the rim of the current Vietnamese war will head their ancient country's delegation at flag-raising ceremonies at Place des Nations and a day of festivities.

The royal party arrived in Montreal from Ottawa Wednesday night, signed the Golden Book at city hall, attended a reception and finally a dinner given in their honor by Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal.

The king announced that his country's pavilion will be turned over to the city of Montreal after the world's fair closes Oct. 29, following the land of a number of official visitors to the fair.

Thailand's big day at Expo was preceded Wednesday by celebrations which marked Ceylon's national day. Prime Minister Dudley Senanayaka of Ceylon took part in his country's ceremonies and festivities.

The outstanding characteristic of Canada was its "sympathy, appreciation and understanding" of the varied cultures of the world, said Mr. Senanayake after being welcomed by a 19-gun salute and a guard of honor.

The prime minister took Pierre Dupuy, commissioner-general of Expo 67, on a tour of Ceylon's 400,000 pavilion where he explained the background of the religious paintings, statues, dancing figures and a model of a white pagoda as well as the craftsmanship involved in the silverware on exhibit.

The National Dance Ensemble of Ceylon, consisting of 11 men and five women, put on two dance performances at downtown Place des Arts as well as at the fair site.

Mme. Ekaterina Soviet pavilion, Dr. Galina Prokhorova, a Moscow economist, said in a lecture Wednesday afternoon that Soviet women have greater rights than women of other countries.

"Much has been done to make sure that equal rights are more than a paper declaration in the Soviet Union," she said. Her address also touched on the subject of family care, weddings and divorces in her country).

Expo officials meanwhile warned the United Arab Republic pavilion not to interrupt visits to the pavilion during hours the pavilion should normally be open.

The warning followed Monday's closing of the pavilion until 6 p.m. Pavilion sources blamed the closing on necessary rearrangements of pavilion exhibits but they did not elaborate.

The Kuwait pavilion closed its doors May 29 in protest against what they called Canada's pro-Israeli stand in the Arab-Israeli dispute in the Middle East.

Average South Vietnamese Workers Stymied by Increasing Inflation

SAIGON (AP)—In the midst of inflation it is becoming harder and harder for the average South Vietnamese worker in Saigon to make ends meet. Some of them can't.

Men like laborer Lea Van Tho and his friend, Nguyen Van Tien, are feeling the pinch. Chicken or pork is a rare delicacy on their tables.

Tho is 52, the father of three small children. He works for the government, repairing streets, and earns 1,250 piasters a month. This is about $29 in Canadian funds.

The said he spends about 200 piasters a day to feed his family.

In addition, he spends 60 on himself for lunch, cigarettes, hot tea and other incidentals. Thus he is spending an average of 7,800 a month. Since he earns only 7,250, his wife must work to make up the difference. He pays no rent since he owns a home. The family's clothes are ragged.

The can't afford pork, which runs 90 to 150 piasters a pound, or chicken, which costs 120 piasters a pound. The family's basic diet is rice, vegetables and dried fish which is less expensive than fresh fish.

At the beginning of 1966, Tho was working for a private contractor and making only 1,000 piasters a month. At that time he was spending 40 to 50 piasters a day to feed his family.

He later went to work for the government. Last July, such labor rates as 20 per cent per hour crease. They have received no raises since then, though the cost of living has gone up.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has announced that, starting this month, civil servants got a special monthly allowance of 300 piasters for each family member. The is eligible for an additional 1,000 piasters a month.

Tho's fellow worker, Tien, is 42 and unmarried. He earns 3,400 piasters a month, and spends more than 100 a day on food.

Tran Thi Tien, a 43-year-old woman laborer—not uncommon in Vietnam—works for a private contractor. She receives 130 piasters for an eight-hour day, a little more than $1. She lives alone and says she spends about 100 piasters a day to live, saving the rest.

Grocery clerk Tran Hoa, 35, is married and has three children ranging in age from three to seven. His salary is 4,000 piasters a month.

Hoa was making less than 4,000 piasters a month until last December when he got a raise. He received another raise last month, but hastes he still is not able to live on what he makes.

Hoa spends about 200 piasters a day on food for his family, which amounts to about 6,000 a month. He says he has to ask his brothers for money to meet the bills.

Hoa's house was destroyed by fire recently but he rebuilt it himself. He owns it.

One of the higher - paid Vietnamese workers, a Saigon garage mechanic, makes 5,500 piasters a month plus a cost-of-living supplement that boosts his net salary to 8,300.

Healing Arts Standards Urged

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government should establish a body to regulate entrance requirements to the health professions, the Ontario Hospital Association told the government Wednesday.

The association said in a brief this would ensure maintenance of adequate standards while bringing the supply of graduates more closely in line with the needs of provincial health care programs.

Dr. H. T. Kwavt, chairman of the association's committee on professional relations, said that if present trends towards raising entrance standards continue the hosting profession will find themselves turning away competent people.

Standards should not be lowered, he said, but they should be kept at practical levels.

Computers May Teach At McGill

MONTREAL (CP) — McGill University engineers and scientists may soon be trained in part by machines that "talk back," says Prof. George d'Oubrain.

Computers have been developed that have such large memories and are so fast that 50 or more persons can use it at the same time, he says.

Ways are being worked out by which computers can in a fraction of a second reply to the user and tell him, for example, that it does not understand his instructions.

The machine would provide the student with the equivalent of a personal assistant upon which the student could practice, thus achieving a far greater understanding of the subject.

McGill plans to add an IBM system 360, model 50, with conversational features to its 7044 model in August. Next February it will replace the 7044 with a system 360, model 75.

Bus Line Drivers Return to Work

MONTREAL (CP) — Greyhound Bus Lines drivers here returned to work Wednesday, ending a 20-hour wildcat strike that forced cancellation of a number of scheduled runs and charters.

W. R. Robinson, regional manager of Greyhound in Montreal, said the Amalgamated Transit Union which represents the drivers, ordered the men back to work Wednesday afternoon.

He said the drivers walked off in objection to a company decision to change the working schedule from two days on and two days off to two days on and one day off.

Greyhound's principal routes from Montreal are to Boston, New York, Syracuse, N.Y., and Saint John, N.B., and all of them were affected by the walkout to some extent, he said.

A union spokesman in New York City said drivers of 30 Greyhound buses refused to cross picket lines at the entrance to the Port Authority terminal and discharged their passengers on the sidewalk outside.

Majority Favor Bullfight Coverage

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The sword went in half way, but the bull refused to die.

Blood streaming down his lance - fringed shoulders, it charged not his tormentors but the matador's cape. Knifed anew, four minutes after the initial thrust the beast fell dead —to cries mingled with boos for the botched butchery.

So went the last of four kills Saturday night on Hollywood station KHJ-TV's 8 p.m. bullfights filmed in Tijuana and Mexico City—a show that has brought both hisses and bravos.

With the first telecast, a week earlier, KHJ asked viewer comment. Letters included:

"My husband and I were thoroughly shocked. Those fellows take turns torturing an animal."

"I turned off the television, absolutely sickened."

"Dear sadist: Keep it off TV on a night that most children are up watching."

"I thought the program was great. Thank goodness someone has the courage to present a marvelous national sport on a major channel."

"We are grandparents in our 50s, but affectionate nonetheless. Your program is a dream come true."

The station says most from the first program was 83.1 per cent in favor and 16.9 per cent against contentment.

Then, it says, a head of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals newsletter to members protesting "death in the living room" and "dramatic exhibition of torture," brought almost solid opposition in the second week's mail. The cumulative percentages fell to 58 for, 42 against.

Mal Klein, KHJ-TV general manager, says:

"We're saving them on an experimental basis. Our community has a strong Latin heritage, and that heritage includes bullfighting."

Censorship of Movies Rests Largely in Hands of One Man

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With state censorship virtually wiped out by court rulings, responsibility for determining the taste of movie entertainment in the United States rests largely in one man.

He is Liverpool-born Geoffrey Shurlock, 72, who administers the production code for the Motion Picture Association. Between 80 and 90 per cent of the movies seen in U.S.-theatres pass through his office. There they are measured for compliance to the industry's self-censorship code.

Shurlock's power is undeniable. Rarely are his decisions disputed or appealed.

With films turning more and more to realism in language and treatment of sex, Shurlock finds his office under continuing fire from industry and public critics.

"I think we are doing a good job of reflecting the taste of the American public," he says. "After all, the people are the final judges."

Hollywood's self - censorship stemmed from scandals in the 20Os, when moralists clamored to create censor boards in every state and city. A strict code of morality was created and enforced.

Shurlock has advocated a classification system for age groups, as is done in most other countries. In the last year 16 movies have been issued by the code administration with the label, "suggested for mature audiences."

Before shooting begins, producers submit two copies of their scripts to Shurlock. They are read by two of his six-man staff.

Letters are sent to the producer with possible suggestions that there might be too much sex or brutality in certain scenes. Each letter carries the notice: "You understand our final option must be based on the completed picture."

Shurlock says he will probably continue to be attacked by the moralists. But he feels that the U.S. is breaking out of the Puritan tradition and is taking a more mature attitude toward films.

"More and more people are judging pictures on an aesthetic and artistic basis," he said. "They are less interested in moral lessons."

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For June 23

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Some may seek power. Discriminate between truth and mere rumor. Could affect position, standing in community. Stick with quality. Emphasis truth, experience.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Finish what you start. Day to appointments with doctor, dentist, attorney. Expect loss of interest. Avoid one who is of faint heart. Speak up.

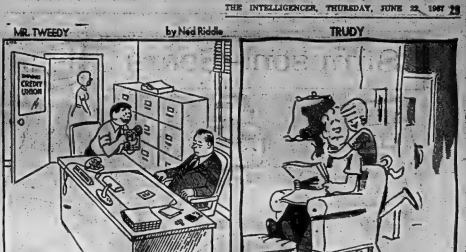
GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Be sure of facts. Base actions on knowledge. Accent today on hidden matters. Don't gamble money. Probe deep. Realize all that glitters is not gold. Be sceptical.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Muff talk, less action — that's more of your day. Be patient. Sum up situation. Observe and learn. Sharpen sense of timing. Don't let others run the show, if you. Storm will pass.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Important person could enter life. You could get first indication of this at meeting, social affair tonight. Don't forget promises made to yourself. Be practical.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Young persons, including children, affect decisions. Strengthen home, domestic ties. Stick basic routine. Don't let others try to talk you into foolish action to himself foolish.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Day of decision. Could involve. You are asked to choose — perhaps a member of opposite sex. Take your time. Weigh various factors. Look to future.



SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Obtain hint from Libra message. Make necessary adjustment at home. One close to you urges certain action. Now is the time to decide. Further delay not advisable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Display of zeal could put you over the top. Keep communication lines clear. Catch up on calls, messages, correspondence. Relative could surprise with favorable news.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Opposition today is not vocal than anything else. Realize this and maintain dignity. Don't compound error by arguing needlessly. Your position is strong.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Open communication lines with those who serve you. Learn what you don't know, and DON'T permit pride to trip you up.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Opportunities not to be seized as you imagine. Friend comes up with solution. Power lies in simple approach to most complex matters. Ride with the tide. Greater enlightenment is due.

Mayor Wins July 28 Deadline for Plan for Urban Renewal

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

Action on urban renewal for the Belleville downtown area moved a step nearer last night, but only after spirited dueling between Mayor Jack Ellis and Planning Director P. J. Beavis.

The Mayor finally won a promise that preliminary studies, required before the city can apply for federal and provincial redevelopment plan grants, will be completed by July 28.

Reading from a handful of papers, Mayor Ellis said that the studies had been promised by July 7.

"I didn't prepare that report," snapped Mr. Beavis.

(Questioned today by The Intelligencer, the Mayor said he had been reading from material obtained from confidential sources through City Manager J. R. Reynolds.)

"Frankly," Mr. Beavis told the Mayor, "you ask the impossible. You come into the office and ask for industrial, and other studies you do not want made public. All this subtracts from the time available for redevelopment studies."

Mr. Beavis told The Intelligencer no deadline had been set by his staff when they undertook the urban study recently requested by council in February. His estimated six or seven months as the time normally required to complete such a study, provided official plan material were available, Belleville's official plan is still in preparation.

Last night the planner told Mayor Ellis the preliminary redevelopment study promised for July 28 would be a third-rate report at best, with skimpy information in some important areas.

"It is one thing to produce evidence to prove need for redevelopment to a citizen on the spot. It is another matter to prove your point to those spending the money in Ottawa and Queen's Park. If I shed responsibility for considered re-zoning application and for giving planning advice to the public, the document can be submitted by July 28."

The Mayor also objected to postponement of completion dates for the city's official plan, begun in 1963.

"After two years work and expenditure of $40,000 for extra staff, we're in limbo", he said. We have no material and can only assume it doesn't exist.

"I won't accuse anyone of delaying tactics", Mayor Ellis added in conclusion "I find planning staff above average, its work superior to that of other municipalities and even consultants. This is a question of giving a date and holding to it".

(Today, Mr. Beavis told The Intelligencer the one-year deadline for completion of an official plan, tentatively set by the Mayor two years ago, was impossible to meet. Work on the official plan has been temporarily suspended since the renewal studies began in February.

"Four to five years is the preparation time considered normal by professional planners", he said.)

The Board took no action last night on the suggestion of chairman G. G. Bursey that consultants be hired to prepare part of the second redevelopment report. This report, based on the preliminary survey, will outline new development needed to overcome the city's downtown problems and is required before application for final government grants.

R. Lorren was appointed a member of the Board to replace Dr. J. S. Barlow, who resigned last month.

Kosygin Meets LBJ With Broad Smile

GLASSBORO, N.J. (CP) — President Johnson and Premier Kosygin met today in the first Soviet-U.S. summit meeting in six years amid limited optimism about speedy or concrete benefits.

After days of haggling over a site, the leaders got together at Glassboro State College, 15 miles south of Philadelphia.

As an indication of the diplomatic haggling preceding this meeting, the little college of about 8,000 students is almost halfway between New York City, where Kosygin had attended the United Nations General Assembly session on the Middle East, and Washington.

In the background were concerns of a renewed cold war arising from the Vietnam war, the Middle East crisis and other outstanding Soviet-U.S. differences, including nuclear disarmament and a possible costly new nuclear arms race.

Also overshadowing the talks is China's successful hydrogen-bomb test last week well ahead of expectations.

Johnson shook hands with Kosygin and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. Both leaders smiled broadly.

Johnson and Kosygin posed briefly for cameramen and the two entered the home of the college president, Thomas E. Robinson, about 23 minutes behind time for their scheduled meeting.

Tight security ringed the house. Police were spaced about 30 feet apart to hold back thousands of curious who had gathered across the road from the mansion. Nearly every community in southern New Jersey sent police to assist secret servicemen in the security operation.

"You have chosen a nice place," Kosygin commented as the meeting site as he and Johnson surveyed the grassy lawn with its shelter of elm, oak and linden trees.

The Russian delegation with Kosygin and Gromyko included Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to the U.S., and one of Kosygin's secretaries, Yuri Fitov.

In the president's party, in addition to the secretaries of state and defence, were Walt W. Rostow, presidential assistant for national security affairs; Llewellyn E. Thompson, U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, and Bromley, press secretary, George Christian.

For the most part, the welcome to Kosygin in the quiet little college town was courteous and warm, although one dissenter did cry out "No welcome, Kosygin."

The White House said there was no agenda for the meeting but indicated the president planned to raise such issues as the Middle East, Southeast Asia and Vietnam, the proposed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons, and the U.S. proposal to limit the U.S.-Soviet anti-ballistic missile race.

It is the first face - to - face meeting of the men on each end of the Washington-Moscow hot line. They might now understand each other and the others positions better.

Those around the globe who look to the great powers for evidence of their interest in avoiding conflict might feel reassured by the meeting.

At the last U.S.-Soviet summit, in Vienna in May 1961, President John F. Kennedy and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev agreed on neutrality and independence for Laos. But they disagreed over Berlin, which became a crisis point later that year.

Mass Flight of Arabs Across Jordan Resumes

ALLENBY BRIDGE, Jordan (AP) — The massive exodus of Arabs from Israeli - held areas of Jordan resumed at dawn today and thousands of refugees poured across the Jordan River. They struggled across the wrecked Allenby Bridge, harried along by armed Israeli soldiers.

This correspondent, standing on the Jordanian bank, clearly heard bursts of machine pistol fire as Israeli soldiers pushed the refugees to the bridge.

One soldier was in full view of spectators on the east bank as he loosed a burst into the air.

Jordanian police said that by 10 a.m. nearly 2,000 people had crossed the bridge. Officials expected that flow would continue all day.

Trucks and buses full of refugees could be seen lined up on the Israeli side.

About 30 trucks and buses waited on the east side. As they filled up with fare-paying refugees and their bundles, they set off for refugee camps farther east.

Well-to-do refugees were met by relatives and taken by taxi to Amman, the Jordanian capital.

Jordanian officials said the refugees fled because of harassment by the Israelis.

The refugees complained of losing their homes, either through destruction in the fighting or seizure by the Israelis. They said food had run out, they could not get money, and they felt they would be safer among their own people in the eastern part of the country.

Many said they left because of the uncertain future, not knowing how long the Israelis would hold the territory they seized west of the river in the lightning war.

There was much bitterness evident. Men looked grim as they hauled women and children across the footway improvised on the girders of the wrecked bridge, which the Jordanians call Hussein Bridge.

Old people and small children were carried up the east bank by husky young men. Sometimes overloaded and tired people passed their burden and fell into the river. They were rescued quickly with their soaked bundles.

UN Must Help Find Peace Formula -- Martin

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—External Affairs Minister Paul Martin of Canada partly endorsed the Israeli attitude towards a Middle East peace settlement today when he said "the chief responsibility for finding that solution must rest with the parties to the dispute."

But the United Nations "must help them to find it," he told the UN General Assembly.

Israel has insisted since its victorious war of June 5-10 that it wants to deal with each of its Arab neighbors directly.

Martin said a durable settlement must rest on four general principles:

—Respect for the territorial integrity of the nations of the area, including provision for the security and international supervision of frontiers.

—Guaranteed rights of all nations to innocent passage through international waterways.

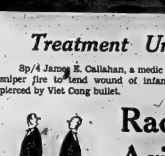
—Early and just solution of the refugee problem.

—Recognition of international concern for the preservation of the special Christian, Jewish and Moslem religious interests in Jerusalem, perhaps by giving the United Nations an international supervisory responsibility for the protection of these interests.

Martin said there should be no "precipitate action" that might prejudice the special interests of the great religions in Jerusalem.

Israel has declared its willingness to guarantee free access to Jerusalem's holy places, which was denied by Jordan for 20 years to Jews and Christians living in Israel. But Israel has also expressed opposition to any international administration in Jerusalem.

Russia Should Give Arabs Aid, Not Arms



OTTAWA (CP)—Russia should be sending relief to Arab refugees rather than arms to the United Arab Republic, Prime Minister Pearson said in the Commons Thursday.

Replying to H. A. Olson (SC—Medicine Hat) the prime minister said he did not know whether External Affairs Martin suggested the U.S.S.R. send aid to refugees when he met Soviet Premier Kosygin in New York Wednesday.

The external aid office of the department of external affairs will send $250,000 shipment of food and medicine to Arab refugees in theMiddle East this weekend.

Race Riot Agitators Face Jail

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill aimed at jailing professional agitators who stir up racial riots was rushed through a House of Representatives judiciary subcommittee Thursday.

The bill, which also includes a provision to protect Negroes against interference with their civil rights, would make it a federal crime punishable by up to five years in jail to cross a state boundary to "incite, organize, promote or encourage" a riot.

Prompt action by the full committee and the House is expected.

Pressure for enactment of anti-riot legislation has been mounting in Congress as violence in Tampa, Dayton, Boston, Cincinnati and other cities has borne out the warning of civil rights colonels that "a long, hot summer" is in prospect.

That June Moon Is Song-writers' Delight But Police Find It Means Families Fight

KITCHENER (CP) — That full moon in the sky this week is giving the Kitchener police Department the jitters as they wait for something to happen.

Chief James Lautenschlager began 10 years ago to keep score on night calls and says they increased sharply when the moon was full.

Family squabbles, fights and assaults are in full swing when the moon is full and a policeman is not happy.

"It never fails," Chief Lautenschlager said. "We get even more noticeable during hot summer evenings.

"I would like to turn over my data to some psychiatrists and see what they have to say."

The chief also wonders what other Canadian police forces would find if they started checking their crime waves with an eye on the celestial moon.

He began his study on a hot, moonlight night after the police dispatcher commented on the number of policemen he had sent out to calm family battles.

"A few months later, I suggested others look for the highest number of family disturbances. They found the number of fights and assaults were highest during the full moon.

Now everyone on the staff gets ready for a busy time during the week of the full moon."

Chief Lautenschlager said he has read up on legends which associated the full moon with werewolves and witchcraft.

"I don't go along with all that but there is definitely some link with humans."

Missing Since Feb. 8

Body Identified as Thorpe Boy; Foul Play Is Feared

TRENTON — After five months of police investigations, the case of Brian Thorpe may just be opening. Provincial Police yesterday confirmed the identity of a body found in Lake Ontario May 21 as that of the boy last seen at his Trenton home Feb. 8.

Investigating officers are working on the theory that foul play was involved in the death. Trenton police had been working on the case in conjunction with Cobourg OPP and the Provincial Police Criminal Investigation Branch in Toronto.

Bulletins went out to law enforcement agencies across Canada and the U.S. after local police failed to turn up the youngster, last seen by friends at an informal get-together. The slightly-built, 75-pound Brian would have been 13 years old May 14.

Police had theorized the missing boy might have fallen through the ice-cover on Trent River on his way home the night he disappeared.

But investigation has turned to a companion's story that Brian got into a white station wagon in north Trenton after leaving a party to meet his 9 p.m. curfew. Close friend, Michael Forbes, had told town police Brian flagged down the car, got in, and drove away.

Reports that the driver of a similar vehicle tried to entice children into his car subsequent to Brian's disappearance were followed up, but police said no leads resulted.

Fight to Flight!

After a flight with Don Rogers, Reeve of Stirling, at the Oak Hills Flying Club Miss Bozenna Krajca, aerobat and racer, would rather fight than stay on the ground.

Noted Woman Pilot Visits Club

One of the world's early women pilots paid a visit to Silver Hills Flying Club last night. Miss Bozena Krajca, a native of Czechoslovakia "borrowed" a Communist plane in 1949 and flew to freedom. She is now living in Sydney, Australia.

She began flying in 1937 and gained international recognition in aerobatic and racing. Her country sent her on tours over Europe and Asia and on numerous occasions she took top place in competition against a field of men. When she was not busy performing she was a flying instructor.

During the war Miss Krajca was forced to work in a factory making bombs for Germany. She patiently waited for Germany's demise but shortly after it Czechoslovakia in 1945 she stole one of their planes and escaped.

After moving to Australia she tried to join the RAAF as a fighter pilot stating, "I have only one wish — to help against the Communist regime. Communism is dangerous to Australia and Australia is now my home so I will fight."

She gave up performing 13 years ago but is now beginning to get aerobatic urges again. Saying to Silver Hills club friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kreek she is now flying around the world. She will be attending the 99's inc. convention in Washington, DC, a gathering of women pilots of the world. The organization is honoring Amelia Earhart who was the first president of the organization 30 years ago. From Washington Miss Krajca will fly going to Vienna to meet her sister.

Speaking of her new home and of democracy Miss Krajca unknowingly has pointed out how good we really have it. "I am lucky I am here in a free country and I am grateful and proud to be an Australian citizen, but deep in my heart there is always a strong love for my own country and I know that I will never see her again."

Suspend Sentence Two Years

Front Street cigar-store owner, Donald Thomas, 52, today was placed on a two-year suspended sentence after he pleaded guilty to a book-making charge.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills also ordered that Thomas relinquish about $800, in alleged gambling funds after the court was told the merchant was receiving race-track bets and selling Irish Sweepstakes tickets at his store.

He was charged with keeping a common gaming house after the OPP anti-gambling raided the premises last April.

Magistrate Wills ordered Thomas to sign a $1,000 behavior-bond to keep the peace and refrain from gambling activities.

Beard Growers To Be Judged Next Friday

TRENTON — There are only seven days to deadline in Trenton's 1867 whisker parade. Next Friday evening, during an outdoor dance at CFB Trenton's south-side parade square, the winners will be declared of the town's Centennial beard-growing contest.

Piano Musical Well Received

PICTON (Staff) — It was a "battle of the key boards" here last night as the Kiwanis Club of Picton sponsored its first Piano Festival. The event was held at Queen Elizabeth School where 20 contestants participated. Students in grades from 3 to 9 were involved and the adjudicator was Sister Mary Bibiana from St. Peter's Convent, Trenton. Sister Bibiana is well qualified for the role she played last night having been the first councillor selected to serve on the provincial council of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association.

Sister Bibiana was strong in her commendation for the festival and congratulated the Kiwanis Club on sponsoring such a worthwhile project. "Competition," she said, "still does not have a festival." The festival is a splendid idea, she added, providing much needed experience for the pupils. Seeing what the others can do in competition and playing before the public is invaluable experience, Chairman for the competitions was Dr. Gerald Bradley, chairman of Kiwanis Club Boys' and Girls' Committee, in his remarks following the program Dr. Bradley described the contestants as all winners. He said, he hoped all the students had gained, through the festival, an understanding of musicianship. He praised the music teachers of Prince Edward County who were responsible for the high quality of the program.

Past president of Kiwanis Club Lorne Lowry presented awards and agreed with Sister Bibiana that it was a tremendous task in making the final decisions. He termed the program, from the Kiwanis Club point of view, "well worthwhile", Sister Mary Bibiana in her summary said that because of what she had heard at the Festival she felt sure that some of the best qualified music teachers in the province were responsible for it. She said the teachers must guide the students in interpretation as well as technique. This Kiwanis Piano Festival must be continued at all costs, she said. She added "I can see a great growth of music between the grade 3 and grade 8 students." Each of the contestants played one test selection and one of their own choice, which was not examined.

Only two students were entered in Grade 3 both she said were excellent, winning the grade 3 award, was Donald Smith and runner up was Beatrice Papik. The adjudicator said that Donald Smith kept perfect beat in the test piece and seemed quite secure in his presentation without displaying himself. She complimented Miss Papik on the rendition of her personal selection and said it was beautifully done.

Other winners in the Festival were: Grade 3, Stephen Wilson; Grade 3, Karen Ralley; Grade 4, Joanne Rutter; Grade 5, Martha Blowers; Grade 6, Lasta Bodwick (the only entry in this grade and was congratulated by Sister Bibiana); Grade 7, Sharyn Wickett; Grade 8, Anne Lyn Walker; and Grade 9, Donald Smith.

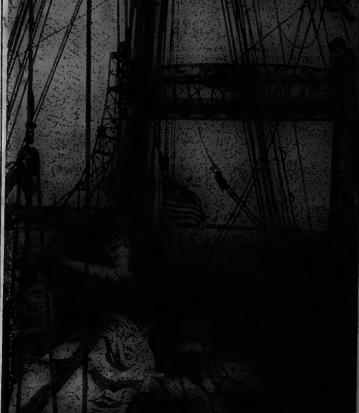
Tracks Being Laid to Zwick's Island

Motorists using the No. 14 highway route south of the city must have done a double take yesterday when they saw CN section men commence laying track along the Bay Bridge Road.

And true enough that is exactly what it was.

But the track is only temporary and is necessary to get that old CN steam locomotive to Zwick's Island Park where it will be set up as a showpiece.



Plans call for the 135-ton steamer to be lifted off the CPR tracks at the Bay Bridge Road level crossing following which the engine will be moved along a temporary track sections to the south end of the Island.

The Belleville Lions Club centennial project — a Golden Hawk Sabre jet aircraft for Zwick's Island Park — will be officially turned over to the city in a brief ceremony next Tuesday evening.

Mayor J. R. Ellis will accept the plane from the Lions Club president, while a senior air force officer from Trenton will unveil a plaque.

The Golden Hawk Sabre Jet has been placed at the Island to commemorate the RCAF aerobatic team which thrilled Canadians at air shows across the country.

300 Attend Public Showing Of Proposals

Approximately 300 interested citizens attended last night's public showing by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce of their proposals for downtown urban renewal.

The showing, held at Centennial Secondary School was enthusiastically received. More than 50 per cent of those in attendance were women, but the audience also included a number of downtown property owners.

"We expected possibly a bit bigger turnout but we were happy with the response," said Fred Deacon, head of the special Chamber of Commerce committee on downtown redevelopment.

Mr. Deacon said the voice commentary in the presentation would be put on tape for later showing at service clubs or other functions.

Civic-minded Young Men Aid Motorists

To the aid of disabled motorists on Highway 401 between Trenton and Deseronto is R.E.S.Q. (Radio Emergency Service Quinte).

R.E.S.Q. has been formed by seven civic-minded young men who voluntarily patrol 401 and radio for help if they come across a disabled vehicle. If the problem is a minor one such as a flat tire or an acute gas shortage the men will do the repairs themselves, for anything more serious they radio their base which in turn send for help from a garage.

R.E.S.Q.'s patrols are on duty from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock on Friday and Sunday evenings and it is an entirely voluntary service. They will not accept any remuneration for their services. Belleville should indeed be proud of the lads that Gary Wilt, Ian Williams Saulnier, Carl McFarlane, Gerald Bull, Rodger Flower, Saul Kirby and John Wilson are projecting for the city.

Hastings Names Convention Delegates

In spite of hot humid weather a capacity audience met in Madoc last evening under the auspices of the new Federal Progressive Conservative Riding Association of Hastings.

Chief purpose of the meeting was to elect five delegates and five alternate delegates to the National Progressive Conservative leadership convention scheduled to be held Sept. 7th, 8th and 9th in Toronto.

Those named as delegates are Jack Ireland, riding president, who will lead the delegates, and will attend party policy discussions in Toronto just prior to the convention date.

Edward Purdy, Belleville, will represent the young Conservatives of the riding at the convention.

Other elected are Thos. Burnside, Madoc; Mrs. Lucy Hodge, Bancroft, representing the women of the riding, and Harold Murry of Hungerford Township.

The alternate delegates elected are Mrs. Audrey Sexsmith, Bancroft; Robt. Howell, Belleville, Russell Hawley Bancroft, Kenneth Smith, Actinolite; and Mrs. Douglas Atkins of Thurlow Township.

Member of Parliament, Lee Grills, travelled from Ottawa to the meeting and addressed the audience. He stressed party unity, congratulated the new riding association and offered much encouragement to the workers. He pointed out forcefully, that many of the policies introduced by the Conservatives under the Prime Ministership of Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker, were being continued by the present Liberal Administration. He also stressed that the present administration was spending extravagantly in an effort to strengthen its position, and the taxpayer is footing the bill.

Plans are to hold a nominating convention after the leadership meeting.

Rod Webb, of Norwood, and member of Parliament accompanied Mr. Grills and brought greetings.

High-priced public relations men in the civil service are being used to spread propaganda for individual government departments, Lee Grills, Conservative MP for South Hastings charged last night.

Many cabinet ministers are building little empires," Mr. Grills told a party executive meeting of the new Hastings riding, "only for the purpose of being a candidate to replace Mr. Pearson when — and if — he steps down."

He drew attention to civil service public relations posts now being advertised.

"Those positions are filled by high-paid individuals spreading — no propaganda for each governmental department. It's just another example of the extravagance of the present Liberal government".

Criticism of press coverage of Parliament was voiced by Rodney Webb, Conservative MP for Hastings-Frontenac.

"Although the Canadian Parliament isn't perfect, it's still one of the most democratic and effective forms of government in the free world," said Mr. Webb.

French Hyprocrisy

It has been said before, but in view of the sheer hypocrisy of the performance it is worth mentioning again — and that is, the attitude of President de Gaulle toward the Middle East war.

First, it must be noted that French jet fighter-bombers — the Mirage and Mystere aircraft supplied to the Israelis over the last few years — were in large part responsible for the overwhelming defeat of the Arab states.

How then does de Gaulle reconcile the supply of these aircraft and other equipment with his observations on the Middle East conflict? Moreover, the use of these planes means the Israelis must have been trained in France or else in Israel by French instructors.

By some stretch of the imagination de Gaulle links the Israeli - Arab war with the hostilities in Vietnam. The latter, he says, created "a psychological and political process which led to the fighting in the Middle East.

In actual fact, them had been sporadic fighting in the Middle East for two decades and it was only a matter of time before a major outbreak occurred.

De Gaulle told his cabinet France had tried to get the major powers to unite in opposition to the use of arms in the Middle East. Why then did France sell those fighter aircraft mentioned earlier? And train men to fly them? It may be recalled that Russia and Jordan, which went down to defeat along with Egypt and Syria was equipped some years ago with United States Patton tanks. Yet the U.S. is being blamed for giving active support to the Israelis.

Everyone is getting into the act. Britain for instance has warned the Israelis to avoid annexing the section of Jerusalem they conquered, because doing so "will be a step which will isolate them from world opinion."

Here we see the working out of the old theme, "you can't win." In war, as in other spheres, there are no victors and no vanquished, only victims, whom the "peace-makers" seek to drag down to defeat, and vanquished who somehow are transformed into heroes and victors.

Down On the Farm

Data processing . . . vacations on farms. These are just two new, or relatively new trends on the rural scene.

A few days ago reports came from a computer operation, which will prepare farm income tax returns, do bookkeeping and analyse farm operation, were approved at a recent meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. The province-wide service is expected to be ready in time for the 1968 harvest. According to the OFA, county organizations will be asked to hire one bookkeeper for each 100 to 140 farmers participating. He would visit farms and obtain data for computer analysis.

It is an intriguing prospect. The traditional image of the bookkeeper is in the process of evolution. The bookkeeper in the world are moving away from the dreary routine of pen-pushing and a steady diet of statistics into the heady world of what now is termed data processing or programming. From there it becomes a matter of acquiring the mathematical skill necessary to feed the computer so it can perform the high-speed processing operations.

Data-processing today is widespread. One area which could use it to advantage, if it is not already doing so, is the field of medicine. While the system doubtless is being used in hospital and laboratory work it may not yet have entered fully into the medical sphere itself. That is, into the analysts of patients' medical histories.

What a boon it would be if medical diagnosis of a patient's ailments could be backed up by computer-supplied information indicating the likely course of an illness — or say in the case of persons subject to heart trouble and so on. This is one area, another, indicate when such maladies are likely to occur. All such information could greatly assist medical men in the cause of preventive medicine.

As for vacations on farms, the OFA says the Ontario government is favorable to the idea of promoting this type of holiday activity. Some farms already offer such vacations, to the incalculable recreational benefit of many a city family.

The OFA would like to see a government agency established to co-ordinate camping and trailer facilities on participating farms, and to provide a liaison with the department of tourism and information.

It is a good idea and one that should succeed. There is a need for city people to be exposed for longer periods to the rural balm of the countryside which for most 'go-go' people today represents nothing more than the 'passing scene.'

Students and Summer Jobs

Cornwall Standard Freeholder

The unemployment rate in Canada for May jumped considerably. The increase was attributable to the seasonal rush for students for summer jobs. The jobs simply haven't as plentiful as they have been during the past three or four years. This is indicative of a slowdown in Canada's economy as mentioned by Finance Minister Sharp, when he presented the federal budget recently.

Last month, unemployment totalled 304,000, compared with 247,000 in May of 1965. However some consolation can be taken from the fact that the joint report issued by the manpower department and Dominion Bureau of Statistics said there was as above - average increase in jobs rising by 284,000 to 7,409,000. This is encouraging, but it should be remembered there were an additional 223,000 job applicants, mostly made up of students seeking laboring jobs, or positions that would pay sufficiently to guarantee them their fees and other expenditures necessary for next fall's university term.

It has been more or less a trite saying that the best way to get a summer job is to know someone with influence. This is not necessarily the case in many instances, but perhaps it is a factor. However, the job applicant, if accepted, must prove him or herself by doing a good day's honest work. In many instances, but perhaps it is soft jobs — a sort of a vacation with pay setup—and, if they happen to click and land the job, they don't usually last too long. An honest day's work is required of everyone whether he, or she, is a student, or a firm's regular employee.

Global Hook-up

Five - continent Television Program

BBC London Letter

International television history will be made on Sunday, June 25, when the first-ever world-wide television program will be transmitted in a global hook-up to five Continents. The two-hour program called "Our World," will be seen by an estimated audience of up to 700 million.

The general theme, partly documentary, partly entertainment and entirely unpolitical, will be the way in which people in different countries are solving the population problem. Among the countries taking part are Australia, Austria, Canada, Czechoslovakia, France, West and East Germany, Hungary, Italy, Spain, Mexico, Poland, Tunisia, the United Kingdom, the USA (on the National Education Television network), the USSR., and, it is hoped, India.

The program is expected to cost $2,250,000 and will involve 7,000 people, 140 cameras and 70 portable Broadcast Units. Four satellites will be used to beam the show around the world. The Early Bird satellite will carry it throughout Europe to the U.S.A., the Molyna from Moscow to Vladivostok Intelsat and A.T.S. across the Pacific and 340 satellite controlled by the U.S. National Aeronautics Space Administration across Australia. It will have a simultaneous showing, starting in Britain at 8.00 p.m. E will then be 4.00 a.m. the following morning in Japan and 5.00 a.m. in Australia when viewers in those countries see it there. Yuri Fokin summed up the international time changes with the words "of-yesterday, today and tomorrow."

"Although details have not yet been decided" said Singer, "one feature, we hope, will be the use of cameras in the satellites to give a live view of our planet at a glance during the program. All the contributions from the 17 countries will be about what is happening at the time in the particular country. Australia is likely to go even further at 5:00 a.m. and give an astronomer's view of another planet from their country."

For Australia this is a new project since it marks the first live television pictures from another Continent.

Marine Pollution

In the Wake of the 'Torrey Canyon'

UNESCO Features

The Council of the Inter-Governmental Maritime Consultative Organization (IMCO) recently concluded a special session in London which met to study problems of marine pollution by oil. The session was called at the request of the United Kingdom and a number of other governments following the loss of the tanker "Torrey Canyon", when thousands of gallons of oil blanketed large areas of the English channel and beaches were polluted in southern England and as far away as the French coast.

The United Kingdom made a series of proposals aimed at preventing such accidents in the future or at least limiting the extent of damage. Using these and similar proposals as a basis, the Council recommended that a series of studies should be undertaken.

The first proposed study concerns the establishment of mandatory sea lanes for tankers and similar vessels, including the absolute prohibition of such cargoes from certain areas or routes. Another will look into the possibility of equipping these ships with certain navigational aids in addition to those now required by the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea. Still another report was recommended on whether and how by above radio installations.

Ships vessels might be guided

Further studies were called for on the advisability of speed restrictions, periodic testing of shipborne navigational equipment, an international standard for the training of officers and crew, and the use of automatic pilots. Constructional measures for quicker reduction of speed were urged, as well as a deeper study of the charting and marking of hazards and of regular routes of tankers.

It was also decided to intensify research and exchange of information on the prevention of pollution by mechanical or scientific devices, and methods of destroying the polluting agent without damage to flora and fauna.

Is Nothing Sacred?

Beer Bottles Among Arctic Flowers

Having been a member of the expedition composed of committee members, the deputy minister and officials of the northern affairs department which toured the Northwest Territories and the Yukon from July 28 to August 8 last, I believe that as a result of this tour we now take more interest in these territories, their peoples and in their administration than we did previously. We feel closer to these people.

I had never been in the Arctic before, I marvelled at the magnitude of that land, its emptiness, the bleak loneliness of the north. I also learned to appreciate the unique beauty of the hardy life which, nonetheless, does flourish there. In a 15 minute walk across the tundra just outside the village of Frobisher Bay I picked ten different kinds of beautiful wild flowers unknown to the rest of Canada. I also noted during that walk that the white man is defiling the north. We left our bus along the road to take pictures of a beautiful bed of wild flowers outside the village of Frobisher Bay and we found proof that the white man is littering the north as he is littering the south. I had to pick up a couple of empty beer bottles from that flower bed before I could take a picture of those beautiful Arctic wild flowers.

I mention that we as Canadians must govern ourselves in the north in such a way as to avoid what has happened in other parts of Canada or we shall find the north polluted and defiled, something which should never be allowed to happen. — Douglas Aikenbrack, MP for Prince Edward Lennox, in an address in the House of Commons.

Kosygin Keeps Pot Building

Hamilton Spectator

Perhaps all attempts at international diplomacy should be broadcast live around the world so ordinary people can see for themselves why mankind is perpetually at war — a thought inspired by the above display at the deliberations of the UN general assembly.

Premier Alexei Kosygin offered living proof, if any were really needed, that the USSR is not as determined today to provoke turmoil in the Middle East as it was when it funnelled a billion dollars worth of arms into Arab nations in recent years.

Yesterday Premier Kosygin compared Israel to Hitler's Nazis, sought its condemnation by the UN, called upon it to withdraw from occupied Arab territory, and urged that it be compelled to pay war damages.

So much for reality. So much for a genuine attempt to secure peace in an area capable of igniting the world.

The Russian premier denounced Israel for 30 minutes without once mentioning the cause of the latest battle — the closing of the Straat of Tiran by Egypt's Nasser May 24.

Nordic Lands' Progress

UNESCO Features

A travelling exhibition showing educational progress and problems in the Nordic countries in the post-World War II period was recently mounted at Unesco's Paris headquarters, prior to being shown in a number of developing countries.

Prepared by the National Commissions for Unesco in Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, it stresses how closely the five countries are related: a long history in common, understanding of each other's languages, common labor market and passport union, similar patterns in the traditions of law, art, literature and, particularly, education.

The 21 display panels, illustrated by graphs, photographs and plans, indicate how the increasing demand for educational expansion at all levels has been one of the main features of the post-war period. Problems connected with this education explosion are including shortages of trained teachers, schools, equipment, geographical isolation, financing, etc. - are outlined, together with the steps taken to overcome them.

The various types of secondary, vocational and professional schools as well as universities and other institutes of higher learning are described with their individual activities and purposes. How all these are linked to economic development is described and shown with facts and figures.

Special attention to out-of-school time-tables and class curricula are presented, particularly for age groups; while the welfare aspects of education in Nordic schools are set forth; school psychologists join teachers in following pupils' personal and social development, parents, doctors, dentists and nurses follow their physical development. By stimulating parents' meetings and pupils' council activities, school authorities strengthen co-operation between teachers, pupils and parents.

The display also deals with the growing importance of adult education and how this is being tackled in the Nordic countries, as well as with the equally urgent question of the recruitment and training of teachers, their status, conditions of work and increasing responsibilities.

Finally, there are panels connected with school architecture; how school reforms and greater access of children to education have given rise to interiors, and often originality in ventive school construction.

This travelling exhibition, as an official connected with its organization commented, may provide not only interest but also a certain comfort when it lands struggling with the same problems arising from their own education "explosions".

Fire Menace

Litter in Hospital Area

Editor,

The Intelligencer.

What I'd like to know is why people have to be punished because the municipality is building a hospital?

Lawns are dotted with used coffee cups, boxes, lunch papers and open fire was left burning and I had to call the fire department one evening because of it. One piece of business has built a brick wind, and my home would be gone.

City Hall has been called repeatedly about the condition of the roadway, deep in mud. They can't get up here in working hours as load after load of road are used for parking. Some put up with clouds of dust, in a summer and mud and snow at other times.

I certainly hope that someone in authority will stand up and be counted soon, to see these conditions are rectified. The days of "Passing the Buck" is altogether too popular.

Linguistic Revolution

Christian Science Monitor

In the more isolated part, Americans thought themselves pretty good linguists if they could order a meal in French or German, or carry on a business deal with a Latin-American country. But times have changed. It is no longer do they find these language skills sufficient.

Today, among many more and more people of diverse tongues are mastering English, more and more Americans are beginning that a knowledge of English is not enough. The widened world consists of exchange students, businessmen, diplomatic and military personnel, and Peace Corps volunteers are responsible for the rush to learn "uncommon" tongues. It is impressive to hear that 25,000 students are now at work on 125 rare languages in one government aided program.

Equally impressive is the revolution in languages teaching brought about by this growing demand. No longer does a student work only with a grammar and a classic to be translated with aid of vocabulary in the back. Teaching materials now include tapes, recording equipment, teacher manuals, books and aids for him in effective communication with people, not merely reading knowledge.

To provide paraphernalia for teaching the Modern Method, Office of Education has let contracts to educational institutions since the last decade totalling $22 million. This will prove money well spent if it enables people "how" about them and the rest of the world to communicate with other peoples and gain their understanding.

Lowest Loss in 10 Years

CNR Hopes to Be Back in Four Years

OTTAWA (CP)—The CNR is hoping to eliminate its deficits in three to four years and start moving into a clear profit position, President Norman J. MacMillan told the Canadian transport committee Thursday.

Mr. MacMillan, who took over as president from Donald Gordon last Jan. 1, said the publicly - owned railway has not incurred any new debt since 1960 and has since then reduced its net debt by $65,000,000.

Last year the railway showed an operating profit of $40,100,000 but had to pay debt interest of $64,702,000 and thus ran up a net, deficit of $24,582,000, lowest loss since the profit showing of 1956.

Mr. MacMillan, 58, and a railroader for 39 years, said the CNR still is discussing with the government proposals for a massive recapitalization program that would wipe out the old debt burden. Details still were confidential.

Earlier this year the CNR forecast a deficit of $15,000,000 for 1962 but Mr. MacMillan said economic developments since then "will make it a real challenge" to meet that objective.

David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) asked how much of the deficit was attributable to the bankrupt private railways the government took over in 1923 to form the CNR.

Mr. MacMillan said the private railways had made virtually no provision for depreciation. When the time came to modernize the equipment no funds were available and everything had to be financed by bond issues.

One major problem was that many of these old bonds have been maturing in recent years and have had to be refinanced at stiffer interest rates. This caused a usual interest payment to rise despite a reduction in net debt.

The committee spent five hours questioning Mr. MacMillan and his officials on the railway's 1961 annual report.

Mr. MacMillan said there are no immediate plans for new CNR hotel developments or cruise ship purchases. He admitted that the long-range prospects for transcontinental rail passenger traffic are bleak, but felt that short-haul routes will continue to be economic.

Airline Deposits Wanted

OTTAWA (CP) — The transport department has urged airlines to require deposits on making reservations for seats for domestic flights, Transport Minister Pickersgill told the Commons Thursday.

He said the practice would make a lot more seats available. The situation is acute on most flights to Montreal when empty seats are evident.

Michael Forrestall (PC—Halifax) said an alternative suggestion would be to do away with reservations altogether.

Lawrence Kindt (PC—Macleod) protested there were already enough impediments to air travel.

Mr. Pickersgill said he was trying to remove the impediment caused by people who make four or five reservations and then don't turn up at the airport.

With the world shortage of aircraft, he believed it was better to try to get more use out of the existing facilities.

Mr. Pickersgill told L. R. Sherman (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) he was not aware of an offer by Trans - Air Ltd. to give Air Canada the use of five fully-manned passenger jet aircraft.

New Textbooks Are Approved By Board

The official "stamp of approval" was given new textbooks to be used in secondary schools at a meeting of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board last night.

A discussion prior to the vote one board member charged that nobody on the board had seen the actual copy of the proposed list and the board were actually "rubber stamping" the minister's decision.

Another member asked if anyone had read "Mac Alike"?

"No, I haven't read "Basic Electricity" either, but they tell me it's a shocking book," was the reply.

One board member jokingly wondered why "Sex and the Single Girl" was on the textbook program. Other members hurried for the proposed listings to make sure the member was joking.

Apparently the decision for local school boards to ratify any changes in textbooks is incorporated in the provincial school act.

Busy Round Of Functions For Mayor

PICTON (Staff) — Mayor H. J. McFarland of Picton, in spite of his illness has had a busy round of functions to attend this week. Tuesday evening saw His Worship officially open the Salvation Army Summer Camp at Roblin Lake, Wednesday he attended the opening of the Antique Show and also performed the ceremony there. Last week he officially opened the Picton Library along with Reeve of North Marysburgh, Harold Harrison, (a joint centennial project). Recently he also was present when the town's park and recreation superintendents were presented with their new uniforms as well as being present for the presentation of new jackets for the girls' hockey team. Today he is scheduled for two other local presentations which will take place in the A.M.

Always active in community affairs the Mayor has had little rest in the past two weeks and many are concerned with his health and that he may be doing too much.

This week the Mayor proclaimed Monday July 3rd as civic holiday. Town officials have stated that it is not binding that stores and businesses close, those who wish to do so may do so, but the holiday is officially proclaimed for those who wish to close.

Tyendinaga Twp. Council

Tyendinaga township council members are considering passing a zoning and land use by-law for the protection of property owners in the municipality.

In addition to regulating the use of land, the bylaw would also control the location and use of buildings and structures.

Also at its June meeting, council heard a delegation from Lonsdale requesting that the elementary school at Lonsdale, be retained as public property after it is closed to classroom use at the end of this month. Also present were the delegation to the township school board which has jurisdiction over the school property.

Clayton Hall, ARDA councillor for the Quinte area outlined to council the various grants available through the agency he represents.

Council noted in a city of Belleville council report appearing in The Intelligencer on June 6 reference to a write-off of a relief charge-back account to the township of Tyendinaga. Council wondered how this could be when no charge to the township had ever been established.

Loans Not Automatic By Law

OTTAWA (CP)—There is no legislation requiring banks to grant government - guaranteed loans for farm improvement, Revenue Minister Benson said Thursday.

Replying to a Commons question from Edward Nesserden (PC—Rosthern), he said the government is made to encourage banks to lend money for such purposes but they are not required to do so by law.

Mr. Nesserden complained that two banks, The Bank of Montreal and The Royal Bank of Canada, were refusing loans unless an applicant agreed to transact all his business with them.

"The information we have is that this is not the policy of the two banks referred to by the honorable member," Mr. Benson said.

with a smooth new bottle and a celebrated taste... that's how a gin should be!

That's how White Satin is. Still made to Sir Robert Burnett's original 1770 London Dry formula; still exactly as dry and satin-smooth today as it ever was. After all, when great taste can keep a gin famous for generations on both sides of the ocean—we wouldn't dream of changing it. What we have done, though, is change the White Satin bottle. It's the best way we know to salute a celebrated gin. Have a look. Have a buy. White Satin! That's how a gin should be.

The Experts Say

Flowers May Still Be Planted

OTTAWA (CP) — If your yard looks kind of bleak now that the tulips are gone, there's still time to color it up with annual flowers.

A. R. Buckley of the plant research institute at the Dominion experimental farm says annuals are still available at the plant nurseries. Many people still haven't finished their summer planting because of this year's late spring.

Mr. Buckley, who supervises testing of thousands of varieties of plants each year, says hoppy plantings should harmonize with your house in color and shape. It's best to plant flowers as part of the foundation planting around your house or drive, instead of plunking a new bed in the middle of the lawn.

Annuals come in all shapes and sizes. The tall ones such as cleome and cosmos should be kept in the back of the bed, with medium-height flowers, such as zinnias in the middle and dwarf ageratum or alyssum for edging.

Dwarf annuals are good in the rock garden too, and the new dwarf pompom zinnias can be used there as well.

Annuals can give you all the bright color you want with petunias, geraniums and cannas. Floral-carpet snapdragons on each side of your walk will form compact mats of bloom all summer, if you keep the fading flowers cut. Mr. Buckley says golden nugets marigolds are also good for this purpose.

If you want to be the first on your block with a really distinctive bed of annuals, Mr. Buckley suggests a basic planting of dwarf types such as ageratum, fibrous - rooted begonias or dark opal sweet basil, dotted with such plants as silvery-leafed dusty miller to give height and interest.

Another striking combination could be a bed of white petunias, sprinkled with the basil or taller deep-red-leaved perilla.

For lots of color all summer as well as material for cut flowers, try pink bottom zinnias with salvia farinacea blue bedder. Deep blue petunias such as blue magic and golden yellow sparky marigolds also make a bright bed.

If the spot you want to light up has a shade problem, plant yellow - and - green - leaved coleus and blue ageratum.

Best for a window box are cascade or avalanche petunias in red, white or pink, or blue sweet peas, which will fall over and form mounds of fragrant blooms.

If your window box is shaded, fibrous - rooted begonias or dwarf impatiens are best. Coleus, which also grows well in the shade, now comes in a wide range of colors.

Annuals take to patio living. In tubs, planters and raised beds. For daytime brightness new petunias like appleblossom, the ones with ruffles and starfire are suggested.

And if you'd like to add evening fragrance to the patio, plant nicotiana, night-scented stocks or garden phlox, which all have a fresh sweet smell.

Successful Living

Widow Seems to Find Adjustment Difficult

Dear Doris: Just wondering how a widow finds some male companionship, or deals with her own feelings, to be satisfied without it!

I own my home but have no capital or income. I have three student boarders, and work as practical nurse. Enjoy some gardening, sewing, mixing, horseback riding, attend church. Have a deep faith, an excellent disposition, but some arthritic aches now and then!

I had a very happy 30 years of marriage, and before that, a wonderful father.

couples, sick and elderly folk, handicapped people and teenagers, are all friends I enjoy very much, but do not satisfy the longing for a close relationship to "love on", or "belong to", or does that happen only once in this lifetime? — Hopeful or Hopeless?

Dear H. or H.: It happens once in a lifetime — if you are lucky! Some rare souls have had a repeat.

Human love so constituted that we find our greatest self-realization in the closeness of a warm relationship with another human. Even if we have had this for just a short time, we are changed, and improved from then on.

You are going the right way keep making new friends, both men and women, and meeting the needs you can.

And remember this: the loss of one's mate is not nearly so frustrating as the loss of one's work, according to at least one expert on aging.

Dear Doris: When Joe was 17 he had his arm tattooed — with a picture of a lion. Afterward he felt terrible about it and never showed it to anyone. He just told his brother that he had it.

That is seven years ago, and no one has ever seen it. Even when he sleeps he has it covered. But he hates to wear a long-sleeved shirt in the summer and would like to have the tattoo removed.

Could this be done? If so, where? — Just Mary

Dear Mary: It can be done, successfully, by plastic surgery; and his own doctor should make the referral.

But why feel so terrible about it? A man who goes to such lengths to hide a tattoo has more wrong with him than a picture on his arm. Help him to realize that removing it won't encompass him.

Considered to Pass the Pike: A tension headache is a pain-from-the-neck. Muscle strain, some frustration perhaps, can cause muscles in the neck and scalp to contract strongly enough to be measured as a machine.

Your doctor can find these muscle-tight spots with his fingers.

Sustained bad posture can do it. The characteristic feeling of a tension headache is a the head, like that produced by a too - tight headband.

Cure? Relieve the tension — or straighten up! Once more we see the close relationship between mental and physical health.

There are Canadian resources to help solve your problem. Write to Doris for direction, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.

Individual Strawberry Short Cakes

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I am hoping to see your recipe for Strawberry Shortcake made with Tea Biscuits Supreme though not the cake type. Keep up the good work. — Emma L.

ANSWER: I am delighted to know you wanted this — it is my favorite.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE (Mariott-type — makes seven 3" individual shortcakes or one large — see below)

Shortcake Dough: (Tea Biscuit Supreme recipe)

- 2 cups sifted but not sifted all-purpose flour
- 4 tsps. baking powder
- ½ tsp. cream of tartar
- ½ tsp. salt
- 2 tsps. sugar
- ¼ cup hard butter
- 2-3 cup cold milk

Sift the flour, baking powder, cream ofTartar, salt and sugar. Cut in the hard butter with pastry blender until size of small peas. Add milk all at once, mixing quickly until flour is barely moistened. Press dough into ball. Pat out on lightly floured board. Smoothly pat to ½" thickness. Cut out with floured 3" cutter. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 8 or 9 min. (Do not scorch). These are perfect.

To make individual strawberry shortcakes, split each big biscuit and butter bottom half. Select 7 perfect big strawberries from a 1-quart box and wash and hull and dry them and set aside. Wash and hull and slice remaining berries from 1-qt. box and sweeten with ¼ to 1-3 cup sugar. (Note: Reducers could eliminate sugar, calories by dissolving 4 sucaryl tablets in 1 tbsp. boiling water and stirring that liquid into the strawberries instead of sugar.) Put berries on bottom half of each split biscuit, cover with top, add more berries on top. Cover then with whipped cream or sweetened whipped cream (or whipped topping). Decorate top of each shortcake with reserved perfect whole berries.

NOTES: 1) If desired shape shortcake dough into one large round cake ¾" thick and bake on ungreased cookie sheet or pie plate at 450 deg. Fahr. for 12 to 15 min. Split, butter and cover with berries and whipped cream as above for individual shortcakes.

2) Obviously you can use the shortcake dough above for regular tea biscuits, for it is the famous Tea Biscuits Supreme recipe.

ADD-ON-SPARKLE FOR SUMMER — Kitty Malone seen in CBS-TV series "The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour" literally turns on light-works with special shimmer for skin, lips and cheeks.

Healthy "All Girl" Look Favored This Summer

By Reba & Bonnie Churchill

Brighten your face with sheen, not shine. That's the beauty direction of summer cosmetics, which call for a healthy "all girl" look, instead of an overly flushed or paled complexion. The results, illustrated by Kitty Malone, literally turn on the lightworks with special shimmer for skin, lips and cheeks.

The switch-on process begins with luminescent foundation base that deposits a wash of highlighting color over the entire face, spotlighting the bone structure and hiding the dark folds around the eyes, mouth and nose. Always apply make-up lightly in such creased or recessed areas, for often they have larger pores and intensify color.

Lips also require stick-up attention, especially since warm weather has a tendency to dehydrate and parch skin. The answer key is cosmetic control supplied by a splitstick of half gloss, half the tube from side-to-side, and you have a custom blend of tint 'n' sheen. Apply the gloss as an undercoat, and watch it smooth out crinkle skin. Or brush on lipstick, form the mouth into an "O" shape, then highlight the inside of the circle with gloss. Better rides on the padded tips of the lips for a lustrous, full shape.

Perhaps the most successful glow-getter is liquid blusher. When applied to the entire face, it ripens the complexion. When painted at the outer corner of the eyes, it introduces wake-up sparkle. Or, as Kitty, seen in the CBS-TV series "The Smothers Brothers' Comedy Hour," discovered, when stroked on the cheeks, it provides a healthy bloom. The total effect is an all-day radiance which you can turn up or tone down with a pat of the fingertips.

Ann Landers

Girls Fear Visit To Family Physician

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing about the 19-year-old girl who couldn't bring herself to have a physical examination by a male doctor.

ANN LANDERS

We are two 20-year-old girls who have the same problem and we do not feel that we need psychiatric help, as you suggested. We discussed this with our own physician and he says it is perfectly normal for a young woman to be a little frightened and embarrassed under these circumstances.

Generally your advice is good, but we think you are way off the beam this time. Let's hear more from you again — after you have discussed this with your physician. — EMBARRASSED AND SANE FROM BILLINGS.

DEAR E AND S: It is indeed perfectly normal for a young woman to be a little frightened and embarrassed under the conditions described, but the girl you wrote was more than a little frightened and embarrassed. She was experiencing severe anxiety symptoms, feelings of depression and guilt, and becoming inoperational. For six months she had been manufacturing excuses for not taking a job because she was afraid to be examined by a company physician and would not go to her own physician. Got it straight now, girls?

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I think you could have said a lot more in support of the man who complained about the neighbor's dog who consistently messed up their lawn, shrubs and driveway. From your short, shrift answer, it's obvious that you live in an apartment and have no lawn or driveway worries.

I am a home owner who has had to put up with plenty. Our neighborhood dogs have scratched our doors, barked all night, upset our trash cans, ruined our lawn, bit our postmen, spent my shirking, jumped on my laundry baskets, knocked our child off his tricycle and attacked our cat.

You hinted gently that dog owners should not allow their pets to run loose. Why didn't you come right out and blast these thoughtless people in the Ann Landers style we are accustomed to? — DISAPPOINTED.

* * *

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: I thought I made it plain when I said "Most cities have dog leash laws and people who love their pets obey the laws. A dog on the loose can be poisoned, struck by a car or attacked by a wild animal who is rabid."

If you can think of a better way to say it, let me know. I'm open to suggestions.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I need help with a problem I can't handle alone. Seven months ago our daughter Selma came home with her two little children. Her husband walked out and she can't find him to prosecute for support money. She has a full-time job and pays us room and board.

Selma acts like a house guest. She never washes a dish or makes a bed. She goes out almost every evening and has a grand time. Selma pays very little attention to her children who are the most adorable youngsters in the world.

I would kick her out in five minutes (my husband says I should) but I know she would neglect her children and it would break my heart. Please tell me what to do. — CAN'T DECIDE.

DEAR CAN'T: You will be far unhappier if you kick Selma out. At least now you know your grandchildren are being cared for properly. Accept the undesirable aspects of this situation and keep the family under your roof. Good it isn't — but it's the lesser of the two evils.

Defence of Land, Not Peacekeeping, Said Forces' Duty

OTTAWA! (CP)—The protection of Canada and not international peacekeeping should be the cornerstone of government defence policy, a former Conservative defence minister argued in the Commons Thursday.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) said the repeated "collapse" of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East had brought down the government's defence position "just like a house of cards."

"I believe Canada's defence policy should be primarily the defence of Canadian territory and Canadian waters," Mr. Churchill said.

"Secondly, it should be linked to the alliances that we have with the major powers, such as we have in NATO, and with the alliance we have with the United States to protect the North American continent.

"I believe these activities take precedence over our further efforts under the United Nations."

Mr. Churchill spoke as the Commons debated defence department estimates of $1,683,000,000 for the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Defence Minister Hellyer said governments that supported UN peacekeeping since the organization was formed after the Second World War.

"While the government regrets the withdrawal of the UNEF from the Middle East, and the tragic events which have followed that withdrawal, it would be a mistake to jump to the conclusion that peacekeeping will never be required in the future."

Mr. Hellyer said there will be continued demand on the UN to undertake peacekeeping operations "despite difficulties which have surrounded withdrawal of the UNEF."

The minister said the government believes Canada should continue to be ready to help the UN to maintain peace and security "provided we are satisfied that the terms and conditions of peacekeeping operations are such as to make this task feasible and are compatible with our foreign policy interests."

In putting forth his Canadian view of defence, Mr. Churchill said he was not decrying the value of UN efforts to maintain or restore peace.

"... But to my mind this is a subsidiary effort insofar as Canada is concerned. We should not make this the prime objective of our defence efforts."

Mr. Churchill also said Canada should make it clear to the United States she is not adopting a policy of neutrality and that "there will be no danger to the U.S. from an aggressor coming in by the back door through us unprotected Canada."

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) said gearing forces too much for peacekeeping is a fallacy because most UN members lack interest in peacemaking operations.

He described peace forces as a soporific because they gave a sense of well - being and also appeared to avoid tackling problems.

Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) called on Canada to withdraw from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Andrew Brewin (NDP — Toronto Greenwood) questioned the worth of an anti-ballistic missile system and said the Commons defence committee should examine the technical aspects of such a system after the summer recess.

Problem: Make Systems Aid Us

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Writing in the Catholic publication, "Co m monweath," Conor Cruise O'Brien says in a brief paragraph what needs to be read and reflected upon by every responsible citizen on this side of the Iron Curtain:

"The problem of our age is not how to stop, fight, or vanquish communism. It is how to cope with its challenge and its appeals in such a way that the competing systems on the planet may produce m o r e benefits to mankind than threats and suffering."

And this is what most dedicated anti-communists are not able to see — that it is not enough today to be against, and that if communism were utterly wiped off the earth, we would still be faced with huge problems of injustice, bigotry, starvation, ignorance, decay, and poverty.

All these existed long before communism, and will continue long after it has been eradicated — unless we are able to help the whole world move into the 20th Century. In this affluent technological age, people are no longer willing to accept their status or deprivation as an act of God or fateful necessity. They want a chance at more of the good things of life, and nothing is going to stop them.

It is not enough to demonstrate that our system works relatively well for us. If it won't work well for them, they don't want it. We have to show how our particular fusion of capitalism and democracy can pull them out of the mire—and if it can't, they will turn to some other socio - economic mix.

Communism is appealing only to people who see no other way out. It is a creed of despair more than of hope; a goad for those who feel they have nothing to lose. And the best way to "fight" it is by helping them get something to lose, by giving them a real stake in society.

What is stupid about the pseudo-sacrificial right-wingers is regarding communism as a cause, instead of a symptom. It is a symptom of a deep malaise in the social organism, and if Marx had never been born, and the whole apparatus of communism had not been formulated, there would still be the same agitation and unrest under a different name.

You don't cure measles by rubbing off the spots, and you don't eliminate the profound disturbances in a social order by getting rid of the revolutionaries. If the causes remain, the symptoms will reappear, in even more virulent form. This is an obvious truth that despots and doctrinaires of both left and right cannot seem to grasp.

Life's Amazing Contrasts

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

Life is full of amazing contrasts. Light and shadow, joy and sorrow, health and sickness, life and death. The 12th chapter of Acts is full of such contrasts: the death of James and the deliverance of Peter, the power of prayer and the persistence of doubt, the weakness of men and the power of God, the arrogance of pride and the judgment of death, persecution by the state and the preservation of the church. All these are portrayed in 25 brief verses.

First, there is the death of James and the deliverance of Peter. James was head of the church in Jerusalem. The grandson of Herod, the Great, succeeded to the throne. Wanting to ingratiate himself with his subjects, he moved against the hated Christians by seizing their leader and having him beheaded.

This act of persecution pleased his subjects. So Herod struck again. This time he had Peter arrested and held for execution. The ridiculous measures he took to guard Peter are described in Acts 12:4-6. Sixteen soldiers were assigned to guard the Apostle. He was chained to a guard on each side of him as he slept. Sentries were placed before locked prison doors to prevent his escape.

But men cannot chain an earthquake. Doors were opened. Chains were broken. Peter walked away from his captors to join his fellow believers. What happened revealed the power of prayer and the persistence of doubt.

While Peter was in prison, his friends were gathered together in the home of Mary, the mother of John Mark, to pray for his deliverance. Undoubtedly, they prayed sincerely. Yet when their prayers were answered, a n d the maid brought them word that Peter was knocking at the gate, they said, "You are mad." (Acts 12:15 RSV).

Jesus prayed with complete assurance that God would hear and answer His prayers, but He never told God what to do. He used prayer to help Him discover the will of God. People must pray in faith, but, as one writer has pointed out, only God knows the "best possible" answer to their prayers.

Herod's failure to stamp out the church illustrates again man's weakness and God's power. When the foes of Jerusalem the church illustrates again man's weakness and God's power. When the foes of Jesus asked Pilate to guard His tomb, Pilate told them, "You have a guard of soldiers go, make it as secure as you can." (Matthew 27:65 RSV).

> The Uniform Sunday School lesson for June 25: "Peter Imprisoned and Freed," Acts 12:1-25.

"As secure as you can." There are limits beyond which men's powers cannot go. They can repair a damaged heart, but cannot cleanse a guilty one. They can forbid people to worship, but cannot take faith from their hearts. They can kill missionaries, but cannot prevent others from hearing and answering God's call.

God, not Herod, had the last word. Pride may have its day, but death ends all arrogance. Herod did not kill the church, but he himself would die. He might strut for awhile, but he lived under the judgments of God. He, not the church, would die, and pass from the scene of history.

The Christian church is one of the miracles of history. Governments have persecuted it, enemies have maligned it, friends have misused it, millions have died for it, circumstances have changed it, still the church goes on.

Often in history the state has persecuted the church. Sometimes the state has tried to control the church, and sometimes the reverse has been true. The United States has demonstrated the happy results when church and state are kept separate. This does not mean the separation of religion from life. It does mean that the government has no right to suppress religion, or to give any religious group an advantage others cannot have.

The problems that confronted the early church still confront it today. There are still places in the world where Christians are persecuted. Christians still need to learn to rely more on the power of prayer. They must still ask what men can do, and what God alone can do. They must still be those who love the church but must seek to make its ministry relevant in our day. They must have faith in its purpose, and pray to make it God's instrument. They must pray for its deliverance from the secular forces of our age so that it may knock louder on the gate of the world's conscience. Where there is hate, the church must demonstrate love. Where there is death, it must preach faith in eternal life.

Motorcycle Set No Longer Restricted To Thrill Seeking Younger Generation

By DONALD MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

As certainly as the wild, leathered, gang image is now an anachronism so is the idea that motorcycle enthusiasts are restricted to the younger age group.

The variety of cycles is surpassed only by the range of owners who come from all age groups and occupations. Two wheels may be cheaper than four but this has in no way restricted ownership to any particular financial bracket.

The student who wants economical transportation is just as common as the business or professional man who wants to get away from the conventional image of a Sunday drive.

Motorcycling is of interest to everybody from mechanics to bank managers to political candidates in the area. Lately, a few young and young-in-heart women have taken up riding — much to the dismay of the Victorian - minded.

In 1952 local enthusiasts organized themselves into a club. "The Piston-Pushers," the largest club in the area, is based in Foxboro. It was originally chartered by the Canadian Motorcycle Association and is now a corporation governed by the laws of the Ontario government.

This efficient club is led by President Ian Reilly. Membership has fluctuated through the years between 15 and 30 members and the present membership is around 20. Most of the present members are older than 25 but membership is open to anyone provided they meet the high standards of the club.

The most interesting aspect of the club, and one which demonstrates its responsibility, is the fact that it has undertaken to provide personnel for despatch riding in case of an emergency.

The Peterborough motorcycle club as well as others are also engaged in a similar program as a community service. The "Piston-Pushers" were asked to undertake the endeavour by the Emergency Measures Organization.

This has turned into a major project and consequently the club's meetings have been held at the EMO building. Lt. Col. Angus B. Duffy and other members of his staff have been training the club members.

They have received extensive training in communications and auxiliary training is first-aid, crowd-control, search co-ordination and the handling of radiology detection equipment.

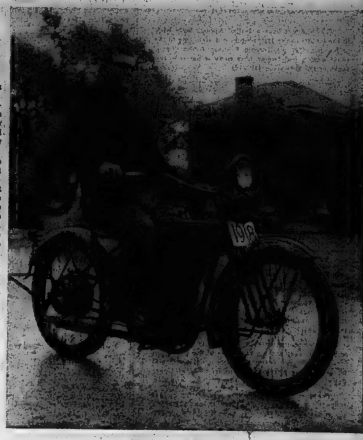
The club is also considering instituting a safety course and motorcycle driver - training program in co - operation with local authorities. Major cities like Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton have had such a program and found them to be quite successful.

The course would be aimed at training drivers in motorcycle safety and handling as well as keeping them abreast of current legislation.

The club has many other activities. These include endure road rally and field days as well as the usual club excursions. The members own their own clubhouse and hold numerous barbeques as well as an annual banquet.

The club pays all expenses for these events as well as paying membership to the CMA and insurance for each of its members.

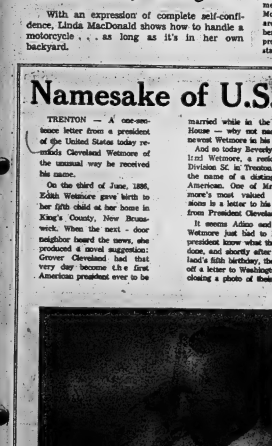
To join the club one must attend three meetings. Then the person is voted in or out by the club members. The initial fee is five dollars followed by monthly dues of one dollar.



In order to raise funds the club co-sponsors the annual Ontario Motorcycle Championships for half-mile dirt track racers with the Belleville Agricultural Society. The race will be held this year at the fair grounds on June 20th. The club also co-sponsors some races with the Keyenic Club of Belleville.

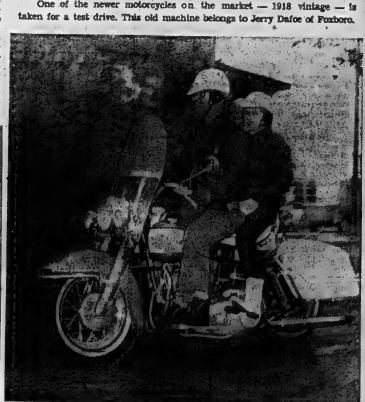
As a Centennial project the club managed to obtain a sanction to hold the Canadian hill-climb championships in Belleville rather than Three Rivers, Que., where it is usually held. Purses of over $1,000 are guaranteed by the club for both races.

Other forms of racing in the area are scrambling and drag-racing. Scrambling, however, has been diminishing in the last few years because of the specialization of the race. The Elevash club are considering co-sponsoring scrambles in the fall.



With the increasing number of cyclists on the roads perhaps it is time for others especially space riders besides members of associations such as the "Piston-Pushers" and the Emergency Measures Organization to take an interest in promoting safety on our wheels.

More and more people seem to be discovering there is nothing quite like getting up in the morning and going for a ride down one of our scenic roads. Dress appropriately, use common sense and everybody will enjoy the ride a lot more.



...And It Still Runs!

One of the newer motorcycles on the market — 1918 vintage — is taken for a test drive. This old machine belongs to Jerry Dafoe of Foxboro.

Ride 'Em, Cowgirl!

With an expression of complete self-confidence, Linda MacDonald shows how to handle a motorcycle . . . as long as it's in her own backyard.

Nor Rain Nor Sleet Nor Snow...

Two members of the "Piston-Pushers" demonstrate that a little water never hurt anyone . . . it's raining cats and dogs.

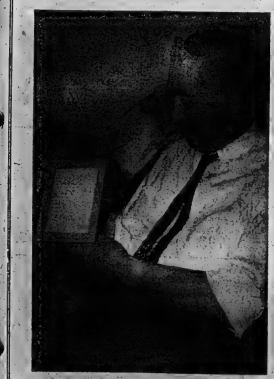
Namesake of U.S. President Keeps Letter

TRENTON — A one-sentence letter from a president of the United States today reminds Cleveland Wetmore of the unusual way he received his name.

On the third of June, 1896, Edith Wetmore gave birth to her fifth child at her home in King's County, New Brunswick. When the next - door neighbor heard the news, she produced a novel suggestion: Grover Cleveland had that very day become the first American president ever to be married while in the White House — why not name the newest Wetmore in his honor?

And so today Beverly Cleveland Wetmore, a resident of Division St. in Trenton, bears the name of a distinguished American. One of Mr. Wetmore's most valued possessions is a letter to his father from President Cleveland.

It seems Adino and Edith Wetmore just had to let the president know what they had done, and shortly after Cleveland's fifth birthday, they sent off a letter to Washington, enclosing a photo of their son.



Within two weeks, a hand - written note addressed to "A. P. Wetmore, Esq.", was received, reading as follows:

"My Dear Sir: I desire to thank you for the picture you sent me of your son to whom you have given my name, and to express the wish that my namesake may live long to be a comfort and aid to his parents." The signature, written in a fine but bold hand, concluded "Yours very truly, Grover Cleveland."

The note was postmarked from Gray Gables, Buzzards Bay, the presidential summer home in Massachusetts.

"I am once offered $500 for the letter, but I don't think it would be right to sell it," says Mr. Wetmore, who moved to Trenton from New Brunswick about 10 years ago. "I don't even think I'd let it out of my sight."

Aside from the moments, what's so unusual about naming a child after an American president? It's pastiment to know Mr. Wetmore's parents were descended from a staunch line of United Empire Loyalists.

The Man...

...and the Boy!

This was photograph of five - year - old Cleveland Wetmore sent by his parents to U.S. president, evoking presidential best wishes.

Air Force Program Takes Wings

Canadian Forces Base Trenton sent its invitation by air today to Quinte district residents to attend its big Centennial Week celebrations.

Leaflets were showered on Belleville and Trenton from an airforce Otter aircraft during the noon lunch-hour, when the downtown areas of both communities were thronged with pedestrians.

The six-day armed forces program opens Sunday at the base and includes a wide-range of activities, from service demonstrations to sports events.

SPORT SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

They did not have a United Nations body back in the middle of the 19th century but according to the yellow pages of the Toronto Saturday Globe (April, 1894), such a body would have come in handy in the matter of the flat-racing faithful.

Those were the days preceding the original Queen's Plate which was first run at Carleton in April, 1860.

It continued to be run there for the next few years and then the politicians got into the act. Bugged by constituents, the whitened, top-hatted legislators battled it out in Parliament as to where the Plate should be run.

The Globe story says: For four years, 1860 - 1863, the race was run at Carleton when under sponsors from M.P.'s the feast became a moveable one, and the fair courses at Guelph, Leaden, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Whitby, Woodstock, Kingston, Ottawa, Barrie, Prescott and Picton in turn became the scene of an annual struggle for the guineas surpassed only in acrimony by the nearly simultaneous battle-cries for having the race allotted to this, that or the other constituency."

"Lord Lorne," the story goes, "acting on the belief that the race would be run in future in accordance with Her Majesty's wishes, if permanently established at the just-formed Ontario Jockey Club in Toronto . . . gained Her Majesty's sanction to an understanding with the promoters of the new club that it should revert to and not again leave the Queen City where the new institution had taken vigorous root and thriving space."

"Under central authority, chaos had given place to law and order and the rascalities of the turf if not wholly eradicated were at all events under a restraint far many years unknown to the turf clubs of Upper Canada.

The Queen's Plate came into actual being in 1859 following a petition sent to Her Britanic Majesty for a "Queen's Plate of fifty pounds by the Toronto Turf Club." It was granted "to be run at Toronto or such other place in Upper Canada as Her Majesty might appoint."

Prior to this however races were run in Canada under the name of the King's or Queen's Plate promoted by English blue-bloods, the aristocratic landed gentry bound tightly to the traditions of England. They were "reddy - reddy English p'kaew and did many things for the "sends of the Queen."

Racing was at that time — and still is — known as the "Sport of Kings." This, literally is the truth, and not a name given to it by some imaginative sports writer of the day.

James I was the first royal patron of racing in England about the start of the 17th century; and curiously he brought his taste for the turf from Scotland where the young Scottish nobles could give their forearm counterparts aces and spades in the finer points of the sport.

James was the purchaser of the first Arab horse brought into England. Before the civil wars, swaddy Fermartist, the master of the horse to Charles I, would, give up the popular hunting and hawking for turf racing. Hyde Park near London became known as Tyverlie "reverse" or beaches were called in those days.

Cromwell loved horses but it was Charles II who instituted royal "plates" and was a munificent patron of racing. James II didn't allow the sport to languish and William III didn't discourage it.

But Good Queen Anne had a sharpe eye for the saga and racing made tremendous strides during her reign. It was during this period that the famous Darley Arabian, one of the four "original" stallions from which practically every racehorse of today is some sort of a descendant, was imported.

George I dag into the royal exchequer and came up with a handful of golden guineas, 1066 to be exact, and that started the famous English guinea plates.

Kaline Shatters Slump; Two Homers

Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Kaline broke out of a hitting slump—he slipped to third in American League batting title it was going on—with two home runs Thursday powering Detroit Tigers to a 5-3 win over Minnesota Twins.

AL KALINE

Kaline's two homers, which gave him 15 for the season.

In the only other American League game not rained out, California Angels shut out, Cleveland Indians—7-0. Victims of the weather were Kansas City at Baltimore and Boston at New York.

In all, Kaline drove in three of the Tigers' runs, giving him 51 for the season.

Norm Cash also honored for Detroit.

Joe Sparma (7-1), earned the victory.

A double by losing pitcher Jim Kaat and a sacrifice fly by Zoilo Versalles accounted for the Minnesota runs.

Jim McGlothlin of the Angels turned in the pitching gem of the evening, allowing the lo-dless only three singles as he rode a powerful California attack to his seventh victory of the season. He has lost one.

A two-run homer by John Werhas and a solo shot by Paul Schal provided the muscle in the early innings.

It's a good thing Hank Aaron isn't mad at San Francisco. There's no telling what kind of damage he'd do to the Giants then.

HANK AARON

Aaron, who was involved in a squabble with team-mate Rico Carty as Atlanta flew west Sunday night, consider to take it out on the rest of the league.

He walloped a two-run homer in the eighth inning lifting the Braves to a 6-4 victory in the second game and a double-header sweep against the Giants Thursday. He doubled home Atlanta's first run in the 2-1 first game triumph.

In the only other National League game played Thursday, for St. Louis Cardinals beat Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2. New York's game at Philadelphia was postponed by rain, and the other teams were not scheduled.

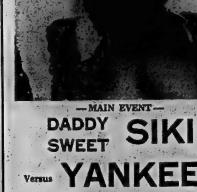
Aaron's 18th home run, which won the second game for the Braves, gave the Atlanta slugger the National League home-run lead.

Gaylord Perry, who struck out 10, had his eighth game.

Willie Mays' 19th home run of the season and 352nd career shot accounted for the Giants' only run in the opener. Claude Raymond of St. Jean, Que., who got credit for the second game victory, got Mays' pinch hitting, to smack into a rally-ending double play in the eighth inning.

Three Run Sock Gives Leafs Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS



Toronto Maple Leafs presented second baseman Syd O'Brien with the difficult task of replacing last year's incumbent Mike Andrews, now with Boston Red Sox, when the International League season started two months ago.

So far, the Leafs can't complain. O'Brien continued his fine play Thursday night by blasting a three-run homer in the first inning to propel Toronto to a 4-2 win over Toledo Mud Hens. In the only other action, Jacksonville Suns defeated Buffalo Bisons 8-1 in the second game of a doubleheader after Buffalo won the opener 4-1.

Pan Am Trials

Abby Has Tough Test

SASKATOON (CP)—The only Canadian defending champion in a Pan - American Games track event may face her biggest test before she makes the team.

Abby Hoffman, who struck gold with an impressive victory in the 800 metres at Sao Paulo, Brazil, in 1963, is generally recognized as North America's top half-miler. She reinforced her credentials a year ago by winning the 880-yard title at the British Empire Games in Kingston, Jamaica.

But at the two - day Pan-American Games trials opening here today Miss Hoffman has a date with fellow-Torontonian Roberta Price, who has won the odd race in their frequent meetings.

The men's competition features Dave Steen of Burnaby, B.C., British Empire Games champion in the shot put, and Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont. Ray Harwell of Edmonton will face Dave Bedegr of Toronto, Canada's only four-minute miler, in the 1,500 metres. Toronto veteran Don Ellis is favored in the 5,000 and 10,000 metres.

Turk Asks Pardon For Clay

ANKARA (AP) — A Turkish member of parliament cabled President Lyndon Johnson Thursday asking him to pardon "Muhammad Ali Clay, who is hated only by the Turkish people."

Nasif Kurucu, a deputy from Konya in Central Turkey, also requested, "as a lawyer and a Turkish citizen," that the president see that Clay gets his heavyweight boxing title back.

"Your efforts in the direction will gain you sympathy."

Clay, who refused induction into the United States Army, saying he is a Black Muslim minister and entitled to deferment; is appealing his conviction.

Turkey is a predominantly Moslem country.

They'll Bet-A-Lot On Betemight!

TORONTO (CP) — A brown colt bought for $10,000 less than a month ago could turn out to be the greatest bargain of the thoroughbred racing season.

The colt is Mors Ot Mort, one of 14 three-year-olds entered in Saturday's 106th running of the Queen's Plate at Woodbine race track.

"We bought him one hour before they ran the Belmont Stakes," trainer Frank Merrill said. "Long than two hours later, everyone knew Cool Reception had broken a leg, leaving the field wide open in the Plate."

Merrill was refering to a transaction between Ed Seagrams and Tom Hays of Oakville in which Hays bought the son of One Count because Cool Reception was a sure bet to win this Saturday's classic for Canada's 3-y-o-l-d thoroughbreds.

Cool Reception, Canada's 1966 two - year - old thoroughbred champion, was destroyed after finishing Second in the Belmont.

The early odds give Mors Ot Mort and Fils du Nord—both will run as an entry—at 15-to-1 chances to win.

But Mors of Mort could prove a dark horse over the 1¼-mile distance. He was second in the Plate Trial Stakes Monday over 1¼ miles and both Merrill and jockey Noel Turcotte of Grand Falls, N.B., claim he looks stride in the stretch.

Betemight, owned by Noel Hickey of Montreal, is the early favorite at 2 to 1 while Pine Point is second choice at 4-to-1. The gross purse for the Plate will be $79,725, with the winner getting $51,821.25. The second-place finisher gets $15,945, while the third gets $7,972.50 and the fourth $3,982.25.

The race is scheduled for 3:12 p.m. EDT and will be televised nationally by the CBC. Wee-Gee, and Mrs. Michener will attend.

In addition to the purse money, the winner will also receive a draft for 50 guineas from Queen Elizabeth.

Betemight drew the No. 8 starting position for Saturday's event, while Pine Point, owned by Sam Wagman of Toronto, will start from No. 3.

Batting running as an entry with Blenheim Park, few the favored No. 1 post position. Both horses are owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, whose horses have won nine Queen's Plates over the last 17 years.

The entry of Batting and Blenheim Park is the third choice at 4-to-1 odds.

Another entry at Dauphin Blue and Gilmore, owned by Mac Ball and Frank McMahon of Calgary, is also rated at 15-to-1.

The fourth entry is made up of Come by Chance, owned by M. J. Boylen of Toronto, and Mr. Sweet Dreams, owned by Boylen's daugher Ms. D. H. Coulter.

Court d'Air, owned by J. Louis Levesque of Montreal and considered one of the top horses in the field, drew the No. 12 starting position and the early odds dropped the horse to 10-to-1.

Ron Turcotte, a brother of Noel Turcotte, will come from New York to ride Betemight, while most of the top riders in Canada will be aboard the rest of the field.

Avelino Gomez, the 1966 North American riding champion, will ride Pine Point, while Hugo Dittfach will be aboard Batting.

Herb Hanojoss will ride Court d'Air, Jammed Lovely, the Conn Smythe - owned filly, will have Jim Fitzsimmons in the irons.

The other horses are in The Ring, owned by Bert Simon of Buffalo, N.Y., and Elite Rule, owned by Marty Wilson of Buffalo. Both are longshots.

Umpire Gives Game To Hotel

Wet grounds and an umpire's decision cut down on the amount of local ball played last night.

A member of the City Hotel team of the Commercial Softball League reports that the Hotelmen were awarded a 9-0 forfeit victory over Brant's Mountain View, in Ameliasburg last night.

According to the report, City scored four or five runs in the top of the first inning and during this period, a couple close calls went against the Brant's team, leading to the ejection from the game of several players.

Umpire Ray Lucas is said to have ordered the Brant's players off the bench and when they refused to leave, gave the game to City at the end of the half inning.

No report was available from the league or the home club, Brant's.

Windsor was taken to York Central Hospital in Richmond Hill, Ont., where he was operated on for a perforated ulcer.

He was listed in satisfactory condition.

Millar Trophy

Fawcett Leads; Bowerman Shoots 73

TORONTO (CP)—Gary Fawcett, 26, a professional golfer from London, Ont., stroked a three-under-par 69 on a rain-soaked Brampton course Thursday to take the opening round in the 54-hole Millar Trophy golf tournament.

Fawcett finished a sparkling round on the 18th hole when he sniffed an iron shot cliff to the pin and then rapped home a three - foot putt for his one-stroke lead in the $5,000 tournament.

The Millar is being played simultaneously this year at a nearby Brampton and suburban Richmond Hill to accommodate a field of 120 professional and 125 amateur golfers. Both are par-72 courses measuring more than 6,800 yards.

Fred Kern and Bob Rose of Toronto followed close behind Fawcett on the Brampton course with 70s to tie for second place.

Bill Wakeman of Victoria and favorite Moe Norman of Gilford Ont., were the masters of Richmond Hill when they both came in with 71s and a tie for third place.

Bob Cox of Vancouver tallied a 72 to tie with Ken Dugan of Toronto and Phil Giroux of Montreal for fourth place.

Jean - Guy Ferland, Montreal, 73; Wilf Hemmerick, Winnipeg, 73; and Ken Fulton, Winnipeg, 74, were among the top 10 scorers. Others included Vaughan Tripp, Edmonton, 75; Finn Sorensen, Edmonton, 76 and Doug Robb, Vancouver, 78.

The Millar is the Canadian Professional Golfers Association elimination tournament from which the top Canadian professionals will be picked for the Carling World Open at Woodbridge, Ont., in September.

That Man Ethier Again

Ellis Srs. Blank Picton 3-0

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Give Bobby Ethier a run or two and you can usually chalk up another Quinte-KASA win for Belleville Elks Seniors these days.

The big southpaw ace pitched his second low - hit shutout of the week before a good crowd at Alemite Park last night, dumping Picton Kiwanis 3-0.

Belleville leads the five - team loop with seven victories and a tie, according to another at calculations, although no official team standing has been made available.

The Seniors got Ethier a 2-0 lead in the first frame and added a disputed meteor in the sixth. The hits was more than he needed.

Bobby sentenced four Picton batters, struck out 11, walked two and left seven Picton runners stranded.

Kenny DeMille batted well in a losing effort. He was touched for seven hits, but three of them coming in the first frame when he also suffered through wild support. DeMille struck out six and issued two free passes.

LeSage opened the Elks first with a bloop double to left and Marwyn hunt went for a base hit when Picton first man Pete Mitchell had trouble deciding where to make the play.

A throwing error as Mercer Stole second helped the first run cross the plate and Larry Mavoty's ground out made it 2-0. Another hit and a error threatened to increase the lead but DeMille left two on base in the first and three more in the second before the club settled away.

The Elimsen had their chances but couldn't solve Ethier's stacts with men on bases. In the sixth Carl Boonhower walked, Gardiner sacrificed and Glancy delivered a two - out single to center. A perfect throw by Dave Lockwood appeared to get Boonhower at the plate but umpire "Widge" Adams ruled Ben safe and Picton catcher Steve Stacey was ejected from the park in the argument that followed.

The winners' hits were divided among Terry LeSage, Fred Mercer, Ralph Hunt, Bob Moon, Pat Glancy, Don Gardiner and Ethier.

Dave Lockwood had a double in defeat, Keith Stacey, DeMille and Keith MacDonald singles each.

Halloway Ties Wallbridge

Halloway surged late in the game to gain a 5-5 tie with Wallbridge in T. and S. softball last night.

Wallbridge had taken an early 5-2 lead, but Halloway pushed across single runs in each of the fifth, sixth and seventh frames to force the deadlock.

Ron Geen pitched six-hit ball and fanned five for Wallbridge while Ron Denyes gave up seven hits and struck out six on the opposing mound.

Rick Sheery slammed a double and two singles and Murray Bradshaw a homer for Walbridge, while Andy Faulkner led Halloway at the plate with a circuit clout and double in two at bats.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two of goldom's greats, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, were skirpised by first - round developments in the $103,000 Cleveland Open.

"Who!" asked Palmer, after he was told that Wayne Yates was the 18-hole leader.

The popular Pennsylvanian pro admitted he did not know who Yates was after the 26-year-old Atlanta performer carded a four-under-par 66 in Thursday's first round.

That gave Yates, in his second year as a tour regular, a one-stroke edge over Palmer, veteran Dan Sikes and young Dick Lotz.

But Palmer figures the scores are going to get better on the 6,701-yard Kirtland Country Club layout.

"Somebody will shoot 63 before the week is over . . . 64, maybe even 65," Palmer, the tour's leading money - winner, predicted.

Nicklaus, who won the U.S. Open last weekend, staggered into a tie for 7 with a 70 after a round that included five bogeys.

Yates, who rung up six birdies and two bogeys, has opened only $3,781 this year.

Two strokes back of the leader going into today's second round were Dow Finsterwald, Bob Stanton, Lionel Hebert, Raymond Floyd, Gardner Dickinson, Bob Charles and former U.S. Open king Ken Venturi.

Masters champion Gay Brewer was in contension with 69, and Billy Casper stood at 71.

R. H. Sikes, the defending titlist, carded a 72.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba Japanese Canadian Association will hold a dance festival Aug. 27 as its centennial project. Included will be displays of judo and kendo, Japanese fencing.

Chuvalo Wins By Knockout

Chuvalo, one of the bosses in competition for the heavyweight title dropped from Canada City, opened up with a hard right and stabbed the 205-pound fighter for the kill. Ray got up several good left jabs.

In the second round, the Toronto slugger and Ray seemed down to heavy body punching, then Chuvalo staggered his opponent with a hard left midway through the round. A body beat rage floored Ray for the count near the end of the round. The timekeeper called it three minutes even on the knockout.

Carmel Rallies To Nip Lions

Carmel's South Hastings All-Star team came on 8-3 deficit and shaded Belleville Lions Club 9-8 in an EORA pewee game, played at Carmel, last night.

According to the schedule, the game will be played on Friday, June 23 — tonight.

Carmel plaued four runs in the last frame to tie the score and then banged home the winning run in the third and fourth.

Bamber buried the victory, allowing but 4 hits, whiffing eight and walking three. Left-hander Hurst, Bobby Menard and Blaine Mullins gave up eight hits, but Carmel passed every time in defeat.

John Masterson clouted a double and three singles in a starring role for Carmel. Bamber added a double and two other safeties while catcher Allison also punched a base hit.

Mike Bell and Grant Geogan each hit a double apiece while Jed Forster and Jim Stather two singles each, Mark Cooke and John Treacy doubles, Andy Ricksta and Terry Ray singles for Belleville.

Bowler's Achievement Impressive

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP)—As far as five-pin bowler Percy Bowman is concerned, Canada is only 36 years old.

Overcome by fatigue and stomach pains, the 58-year-old South Porcupine gold miner Thursday was forced to break off an unfinished attempt to bowl 100 straight fours—one for each year of Confederation — after 38 hours on the alley.

Even so, Bowman's achievement was impressive. He knocked down 63,380 pins and averaged 28 pegs over the 200 mark. His high triple was 869.

Wrestling Giants Team With Midgets

There will be fun and games galore at Memorial Arena tonight when another top notch professional wrestling card gets under way at nine o'clock.

Headlining the card tonight will be none other than the colorful Sweet Daddy Siki, tackling Yankee Number 1 in the main event.

This should be a hot one with both men out to grind the other into the mat. Unfaithful will be pulling for Sweet Daddy unless we miss our guess.

The semi-final match pits one midget and one full sized grappler against another team of the same description in a tag team affair. Whipper Watson Jr. teams up with The Mighty Atom to battle both The Masked Manager and Frenchy Lamone.

If wrestling is your game, tonight is the night!

Dief Says Queen Sent To Coventry

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Thursday that arrangements for Queen Elizabeth's tour of Expo 67 are a reflection on Quebecers and should be reviewed.

He asked Prime Minister Pearson in the Commons why the Queen, on her visit July 1, "is going to be denied seeing her Canadian subjects."

The public will not be allowed in certain areas of Expo while the Queen is there, he noted.

This was a "reflection on the citizens of Quebec" and they should be allowed to see "their Queen."

Mr. Pearson replied that "the situation is not exactly as described."

CLOSE SOME

He Notre-Dame, site of most of the national pavilions at Expo, would be closed while the Queen made her, motor tour.

However, Expo would open as usual. By noon, only the Canadian pavilion would be closed to the public.

Mr. Pearson mentioned that 500,000 are expected at Expo that day.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked whether the plans would be reviewed. He said he had received three telephone calls from persons who "objected very much to the Queen being sent to Coventry."

Cubans Provide Entertainment For Weary Visitors in Queues

MONTREAL (CP)—The Cubans have added a new twist to the world's fair—a group of entertainers from Havana to keep the crowds happy while they wait in queues to get into the Cuban pavilion or estaurant.

A spokesman at the Cuban pavilion said Thursday night the combo arrived earlier this week at Expo 67 and has proved to be a big attraction as weary visitors line up to see the exhibits or relax in the pavilion's restaurant.

Despite rain, heavy humidity and fog that shrouded the Expo site for much of the day, the Cubans performed outdoors as Thailand celebrated a si...ng of festivities in other parts of the fair grounds.

Lithuanians have their turn today and will celebrate that country's day at the fair with concerts and movie films at the Soviet pavilion.

Outdoor celebrations to launch Thailand's national day were altered because of the rain and held partly in the Expo Theatre rather than at the open - air Place des Nations, traditional spot for kicking off such ceremonies.

Drenched artillery men fired 21-gun salute from the tip of Cite du Havre as King Bhumibol Adulyadej and Queen Sirikit of Thailand arrived at Expo for that country's flag-raising ceremonies.

Thanat Khoman, Thailand's foreign affairs minister, told a press conference the Vietnam war is preventing the removal of all foreign troops from Thailand's soil.

"What concerns us is that we have to compromise our sovereignty by allowing foreign troops on our soil," he said. "On behalf of 32,000,000 Thai people I would like to see the end of it. I will see to it that the stationing of foreign troops in Thailand is ended as soon as the war in Vietnam ends."

Philippe de Gaspe Beaubien, manager of operations for Expo, reported that the flood of American visitors to the world's fair is rising and that accommodation is available for 330,000 persons a night—much more than is needed to look after visiting tourists.

To Your Good Health

Blood-thinners' Usefulness Limited

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband had a coronary thrombosis five years ago, and was given a blood-thinning medication. Now the doctor is cutting down the dose until gradually he will no longer be taking any. The doctor feels that it has no value now and can do damage in some instances.

However, some time ago, I read an article by a heart specialist who believed that any man over 40 should take these drugs to avoid blood clots and prevent a heart attack. We would appreciate your opinion. — Mrs. R. G.

A coronary thrombosis is a plugging of some part of a coronary artery, the artery which nourishes the heart muscle and gives it energy. A blood clot is usually what does the plugging.

The damage is quickly done. The portion of the heart muscle which has been deprived of blood succumbs, and is replaced with scar tissue.

Then, assuming that the patient survives the attack, as the majority do, he is given anticlotting rest to relieve the damaged heart muscle of stress. Gradually other blood vessels enlarge to take over circulation which has been interrupted by the thrombosis.

As a safety precaution against another clot forming and giving serious d a n age while the patient is still in the precarious period, the "blood-thinners" often are used. Actually e better name is anti-coagulants — drugs which retard the natural tendencies of blood to form a clot.

These are useful drugs, but it has taken time to assess the seriousness of their value. It usually does with any new treatment. Only after years of experience and observation, the results with people who have and have not had the treatment, is it possible to come to sound conclusions.

With the anti-coagulants, it appears now that for a short time, they are a valuable safeguard. Long-term use, however, does not show that patients are better off than patients who have not had the continued treatment.

The idea of "preventing" heart attacks by giving the drugs indefinitely was an intriguing idea but not practical. If, for no other reason, consider this: It takes continuing observation to keep the drug level correct. With the Anti-coagulants present one must be constantly alert for any bleeding. Since the drug retards clotting, it follows that any wound will bleed: much more freely. You can see the problem if, for example, an ulcer began to bleed.

These drugs' reason very useful and I do not want to cause any patient to oppose their use when needed. But sound medical management now calls for avoiding use of the drugs if there is no need for it. It is difficult to prove any advantages from long-continued use, and there are risks which must be guarded against.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told that glaucoma was a common ailment of the elderly. Is this so? What are the symptoms? I am 30. — S.V.A.

It primarily affects the middle-aged or elderly but not exclusively so. Rather than list the symptoms, perhaps I encourage you in trying self-diagnosis, I want you to go to an eye specialist. If your eyes are bothering you, that's what you should do whether you have glaucoma or something else.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a beginning operation be performed with a local instead of general anesthetic? — D. V.

Yes. It has been done. Spinal anesthesia, which prevents pain but leaves the patient conscious is much more frequently used. (Some special types of hernias would require general anesthesia.)

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Deseronto Names July 3 Holida

DESERONTO — Deseronto town councillors decided early this week to suspend their mid-month meetings through the summer months. Joseph Reynolds, clerk-treasurer, was granted two weeks' holidays, to be taken at his discretion.

John D. Lewars of Belleville was re-hired as the town auditor.

A survey of the merchants of the town was taken Monday by Mayor Gerald Lent and the clerk treasurer, to get the opinion concerning the Dominion Day holiday. The majority favored remaining open July 1, the Centennial of Canada's birth, and Monday, July 3 was declared July 2. Complying with the wish of the majority of the merchants, Deseronto Town Council proclaimed July 3rd a civic holiday.

Invitation have been received by the council from a number of municipalities to attend public functions during the Canada Centennial. Among them was one from the Reeve of Tyendinaga for Old Home Week, when parks at Shannonville and Kingsford will be opened on July 1. An invitation from the Reeve of Marmora, who is also the warden, invited the council members to be guests at the Centennial celebrations June 27.

A grant of $25 was made to the Salvation Army, and $200 to the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Members of the council, and the clerk-treasurer posed for a group photograph which will be hung in the council chambers. The only other such picture is of the council in 1866, when Deseronto was incorporated as a town. It was felt that the Centennial year should be marked in this way.

Sunday School Children Enjoy Picnic

DESERONTO — Forty-two children and 11 parents and teachers attended the Sunday School picnic of the Church of the Redeemer at Lake Ontario Park near Kingston last Saturday. A bus carried most of the crowd, and parents took the overflow in their cars.

The children thoroughly enjoyed the water, where lifeguards are always on hand, and a boat is kept close to shore in case of need.

All were well behaved, and left whatever they were doing to gather around their leader when a whistle was blown. The bus driver told the little folk that they could sing or make as much noise as they wished except when they were nearing a railroad crossing. Then they must be absolutely silent. One of the leaders states that they obeyed instantly a signal given by a raised hand, and the driver felt the silence he wanted. He afterwards complimented the leaders on the good behaviour under charge.

There was the usual bountiful picnic lunch, and cuigsmary races. In addition, each child was given a ticket for one free ride.

This church chooses Lake Ontario Park for its annual outing partly because of the amusements and the convenient tables and shelters, and partly because of the safety with lifeguards always in attendance.

Pope Backs Celibacy Rule

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope Paul said today the Roman Catholic church will always keep its rule of celibacy for clergy despite a critical shortage of priests.

The Pope's pronouncement on the controversial issue of celibacy was contained in an encyclical entitled Sacerdotalis Celibatus priestly celibacy issued here today.

In the 65-page encyclical letter—the sixth of his four-year reign—the Pope said in the opening words:

"Priestly celibacy has been guarded by the church for centuries as a brilliant jewel and retains its value undiminished even in our time when mentality and structures have undergone such profound changes."

In the more than 13,000 words of the document, the Pope disputes various arguments against celibacy and cites reasons for maintaining the rule.

The document, a circular letter to all the bishops of the church, was issued in the main modern languages as well as Latin.

Speaking of celibacy, the encyclical said: "Amid the modern stirring of opinion, a tendency has also been manifested, nor even a desire expressed, to ask the church to re-examine this characteristic institution.

"It is said that in the world of our time its observance had come to be of doubtful value and almost impossible. This state of affairs is troubling conscience, perplexing some priesthood; it is a cause for alarm in many of the faithful . . ."

Pope Paul said he was obliged to fulfill his promise to the second Vatican council to "give new lustre and strength to priestly celibacy in the world of today."

13 Face Torture Charges

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal judge Thursday sent 13 men to voluntary statement on charges of assault causing bodily harm in connection with alleged police brutality against Louis Sicotte.

The men also are to face voluntary statement on charges of conspiracy.

Originally 15 police officers and private investigators had been charged with wounding Sicotte with intent to maim and conspiracy. The judgment rendered by Judge Henri Masson Lorsnger served in effect to reduce the charge from wounding with intent to maim to assault causing bodily harm.

Greater Use of Paramedics Urged

MONTREAL (CP)—With demand for medical services exceeding supply of medical personnel, the number and efficiency of doctors must be increased and greater use by paramedical personnel outside hospitals, says a manpower study on private medical practice.

The study suggests that an impressive contribution to solving the problem can be made by public health nurses, nurse practitioners and medical social workers working more closely with doctors in private practice.

Dr. Donald L. Rice of Toronto, executive director of the College of General Practice of Canada, prepared the study for the medical care insurance and medical manpower conference of the Canadian Medical Association, which concluded today.

Similar views about increasing reliance in future on paramedical personnel were given by experts in two other fields.

Doctors Gustave Gingras and Bertrand Primeau of the Rehabilitation Institute of Montreal called for more and better qualified personnel in the field of rehabilitation to relieve a shortage of medical personnel expected to continue for at least 20 years.

H. A. Crayton, a chartered accountant and executive director of the Manitoba Hospital Association, maintained that Canada will never have sufficient professional manpower and must continue to compensate by developing new assistance from men and women at a lower educational level than university.

Dr. Rice predicted that doctors practicing as groups will replace the solo practitioner, that general physicians with experience in all clinical disciplines will replace the general internist, general pediatrician and general surgeon, and that the use of computers, closed circuit television and better telecommunications will help meet the community's medical service needs through co-ordinated teams of doctors and paramedical personnel.

Dr. Rice urged the medical profession to support programs to increase the numbers and availability of medical social workers, who "can add a new dimension to the efficiency and quality of private medical practice."

He rejected the idea of developing physicians assistants—personnel with shorter training to help doctors perform medical functions. It would be unacceptable in the Canadian social climate although apparently successful in Russia.

Kosygin and LBJ Meet Again Sunday

GLASSBORO, N.J. (CP) — Hopes have risen for U.S.-Soviet resolve to mend frayed relations as U.S. President Johnson and Premier Kosygin of Russia talked longer than expected at a summit meeting and then scheduled a second round for Sunday.

Just how much was accomplished after more than five hours was unknown. The main areas of discussion were the Middle East, Vietnam and a treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons.

American officials pointed to the nuclear treaty outlook as promising, with prospects of a draft agreement being ready soon for Geneva talks.

Also raised—but not emphasized apparently—was the question of the U.S. and the Soviet Union getting involved in a costly new nuclear-missiles defences competition. Overhanging this was China's last last week of a hydrogen bomb—much sooner than expected.

The friendliness exhibited by Kosygin and Johnson was marked in this first encounter between them. It was the first U.S.-Soviet summit conference since the late president Kennedy and former premier Khrushchev faced each other at Vienna in 1961.

Johnson told a Democratic group in Los Angles that he and Kosygin had agreed they both want "a world of peace for our grandchildren."

He said: "We reached no new agreements." Then he paused and, departing from his prepared text, added, "almost, but not quite."

The air of mutual goodwill—publicly at least — contrasted with diplomatic bickering that finally led up to selection of this little college and market town as the site, midway between Washington and New York and 15 miles south of Philadelphia.

Johnson did not want to go to New York, where Kosygin has been fighting at the United Nations to salvage the Soviet position in the Middle East. Kosygin refused to come to Washington or some other suggested meeting places.

Discussions about direct bilateral relations would continue in New York next week between State Secretary Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko.

U.S. Air Force Flies Kosygin On Sight-seeing Trip to Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Premier Kosygin, dying in a U.S. Air Force jet plane arrived here at 10:26 a.m. today for a whirlwind look at the American and Canadian falls.

A majority of a crowd estimated at 1,500 at the airport applauded as he left the plane after a flight from New York City. Kosygin waved once and smiled.

He was greeted by Mayor E. Dent Lackey, who presented him with a gold key to the city, which the mayor said is worth $7. He also gave Kosygin a silver coin marking the 75th anniversary of the incorporation of Niagara Falls. He said the coin is worth $7.50.

Kosygin and his party then headed by motorcade toward the falls.

The party took off in a Boeing 707 jet from Kennedy International Airport in New York at 9:06 a.m. for the Niagara Falls Municipal Airport.

Men at Summit Desire 'Peace for Grandchildren'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Johnson says he reached no new agreements with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin but said they agreed that we ought to work for a world of peace for our grandchildren.

The president reported on his summit meeting in a speech to a $1,000-a-couple Democratic party fund-raising affair Friday night, just a few hours after he left Kosygin at Glassboro, N.J.

Outside the hotel where he spoke, lines of club-holding police clashed with thousands of anti - Vietnam war demonstrators.

Thirty were arrested and several were injured as officers cleared the crowd from the street.

Johnson, who came in through a rear basement entrance, did not see any of the estimated 10,000 demonstrators who marched from a nearby park.

On his meeting with Kosygin, the president said:

"We reached no new agreements," then he departed from his prepared text to add the word "almost, but not quite." He did not elaborate.

Johnson said he and the premier discussed the Middle East Southeast Asia, the possibility of new agreements in the arms race, and "the need for a common action on constructive initiatives for peace."

The demonstration was the result of weeks of planning by 70 anti-war groups.

Some 1,500 police deployed in the hotel area.

At 5 p.m. a crowd of about 100 blocked the hotel sidewalk. When a police officer said they were an unlawful assembly 21 lay down and had to be carried away.

Cassius Clay, who lost recognition in the U.S. of his world heavyweight boxing championship because he refused to be drafted into the U.S. Army, addressed the crowd at the park.

"Anything designed for peace and to stop the killing of people, I'm for 1,000 per cent," said Clay, who had flown in from Chicago.

The thousands massed in the park began marching on the hotel at about 7 p.m. Some hippies carried smoking sticks of incense clenched in their teeth. One girl in shorts had a live green snake around her neck.

Most of the marchers, with Dr. Benjamin Spock, noted pediatrician, in the van, were a few blocks from the hotel as President Johnson arrived by helicopter in a parking lot and was whisked inside.

An hour later massed police watched as some of the thousands of marchers spilled out into the street toward them.

"I command you to disperse or you will be arrested," said a police captain.

The demonstrators kept coming. Swinging clubs, police moved in and split the crowd. Fists swung. Rocks peked the officers.

Within an hour, police had cleared the area, making 30 more arrests.

"The message is now clear," Police Chief Tom Redding said afterwards. "Lawbreakers are not going to take over this city."

Jetliner Crash Leaves 34 Dead

BLOOSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation was asked to investigate a "strong suggestion of sabotage" Friday night after a jetliner crashed into side of a mountain, killing the 34 persons on board.

The request of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was made by Robert E. Leach, president of Mohawk Airlines, owner of the BAC-111 which crashed on a flight to Washington, D.C.

One of the victims was Canadian - born Very Rev. Alexander Heaton, 31, who was named superior general of the Franciscan Friars of Atonement at Graymoor, N.Y., only last month.

In a telegram to Hoover Friday night, Peach said "evidence has developed in course of nbutification of next of kin of crash victims which leads to strong suggestion of sabotage." He did not give any details.

Toronto Bank Bandit Makes Teller Hostage

TORONTO (CP)—A branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce Friday last $2,000 cash — temporarily — one of its tellers to an armed bandit who took the woman as a hostage in his escape by subway train.

The man took the money from teller Pauline Edgar, 38, then took Mrs. Edgar with him and told bank manager Richard Donnelly not to phone police until the teller returned.

He escorted Mrs. Edgar to the subway and, after two stops, put her on a train back to the bank. After Mrs. Edgar returned safely to the bank police blocked subway exits, but the bandit had escaped.

Hussein Flies To UN Meeting

Later, Hussein was to board a commercial jetliner bound for New York.

Three-way Split in Red Ranks Appears in UN Mideast Debate

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—A three-way split in the Communist ranks became apparent in the United Nations Friday, much to the annoyance of the Arabs.

In one of the most dramatic speeches of the assembly's emergency session on the Middle East, called by Russia, Romanian Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer called for Israeli-Arab negotiations.

Maurer broke sharply with the Soviet line when he said the Israelis and the Arabs must coexist in peace and "no effort from outside can take the place of a real settlement" adopted by the Middle East countries involved.

Later, Cuban Ambassador Ricardo Alarcon Quesado said the Arabs should fight if they must to oust Israelis from territory they captured in the recent six-day Middle Eastern war.

The official Soviet line, expressed, no doubt, at talks held at Glassboro, N.J., by U.S. President Johnson and Soviet Premier Kosygin as the assembly was meeting, is that Israel must be condemned as an aggressor and Israeli troops must withdraw from captured lands.

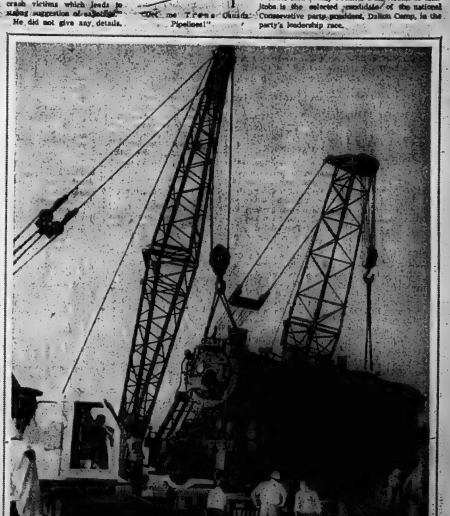
Commenting on Maurer's speech, Mahamed Award El-Kony, Egyptian ambassador to the UN, said:

"We were deeply disappointed. He was unrealistic and unfair, and it doesn't help."

Another Arab ambassador said:

"They (the Arab diplomats) are all pretty furious."

Maurer's speech was not entirely unexpected as Romania had followed an independent line throughout the Middle East crisis. But his speech obviously had a strong impact on the assembly, contrasting as it did with the speeches of other Communist leaders.



All countries, he said, should refrain from "any act likely to aggravate the situation, to defiance antagonisms or to bring about further collision that would jeopardize international peace and security."

Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, supporting the Soviet proposals, said:

"The aggressor must be made to give up the gains of his aggression." But he noted that "thanks to the intervention of the Security Council, it became possible to bring about a cessefire."

Cuba's Alarcon said, however, the cessefire agreement enabling Israel to hold Arab territory was "an immoral body blow to the Arab people."

The United Nations had "become the catapsav and instrument of U.S. imperialist policy." If the Israelis do not withdraw from the occupied territory, "the Arab people will be justified in resuming the war."

Corby Distillery Carpenter Now Member Wise Owl Club

Ralph Wilder, Plainfield, Ontario, has joined the Wise Owl Club of Canada. He won membership in the club and a Wise Owl certificate because he weeded off tragedy in an on-job accident.

R. C. Moon, personnel manager of H. Corby Distillery Limited, announced today that Mr. Wilder saved his eyes from injury or blindness through conscientious use of safety eye wear.

Mr. Wilder, an assistant carpenter, while assembling a frame with 10-inch plank was struck by a spike on the left lens of his safety glasses. "Had he not been using eye protection, he would have received serious eye injuries," said the director.

The Wise Owl Club of Canada is sponsored by the Prevention of Blindness department of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Working closely with the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, Toronto, CNIB took over the administration of the former Wise Owl Club of America from the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, New York. The society inaugurated the Wise Owl movement in 1947.

Membership in the Wise Owl Club of Canada is made up exclusively of industrial employees and technicians who, like Mr. Wilder, have saved one or both eyes by wearing eye protection. What this has meant in terms of production, purchasing power and family welfare is incalculable. Today The Wise Owl Club of Canada has 2,100 members in 600 firms across Canada, and 56 members in the Quinte-St. Lawrence Area.

The award meant something special to Mr. Wilder since his father lost the sight of one eye, years ago, as the result of a very similar accident; but in those days eye protection was not used.

This was the first member for Corby's Wise Owl Club.

Authorities Kept Busy By Mishaps

A series of accidents in the Belleville area last night kept the authorities busy. Damage from the three more serious accidents amounted to over $4,000.

Just before supper a 1964 truck driven by James Lewis Radcliffe, of R.R.3, Campbellford was in collision with a car driven by John Keith Bush of R.R. 1, Stirling. Minor injuries were sustained by Mr. Radcliffe and Mr. Bush suffered lacerations to the head and a concussion to the right knee. Combined damage to the vehicles was estimated at $800.

Shortly after the Stirling accident a car driven by Mrs. James Mulligan of Brampton, Ontario went out of control on Highway 401. The car travelling in the east-bound lane, evidently hit the shoulder and rolled over three times across the median. It was a total wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. Mulligan both sustained multiple lacerations and abrasions and their son, Keith, suffered lacerations to the head.

Another single car accident occurred late last night, at the intersection of Highway 2 at Point Anne Lane, in 1963 car driven by Ronald Cronkright of 280 Bleecker Avenue in Belleville went out of control. Damage was estimated at $1,000 and no injuries were reported.

Old CN Steamer Starts for Island to Become Park Showpiece

Workers fasten crane hooks into cables around 100-ton locomotive in preparation for lifting it from mainline track at the Bay Bridge Road Crossing to newly-laid temporary track panels.

Easy is the word as two Wilson Concrete cranes inch the big locomotive around in preparation for setting it on track sections leading to Zwick's Island. The CN and CP railways, along with Wilson Concrete, co-operated in moving the old steamer to the island, where it will be set up as a park attraction.

An old CN steamer is finally headed for Zwick's Island Park after being set back on track sections on the Bay Bridge Road. The timetable called for lifting the locomotive off the CP tracks at 6:00 a.m. today but the crews had to wait for a CP piggyback train and the lift-off didn't start until 8:45. Moving the engine was expected to take all day.

Robarts Will Not Attend Zwick's Park Opening

Ontario Premier John P. Robarts will not make it to Belleville on July 1 to officially open Zwick's Island Centennial Park.

Instead Mr. Robarts will go to Ottawa on that date where he will be received by Queen Elizabeth.

Belleville Mayor Jack Ellis admits he is a bit disappointed that the Ontario Premier will not come to open the new Centennial Park.

"But we cannot expect to compete with the Queen," he says.

Mayor Ellis said that instead of Premier Robarts opening the park as had been expected, one of the premier's cabinet members, Hon. William Darcy McKeough, minister without portfolio, will cut the official ribbon.

Otherwise Mayor Ellis assures that plans for the big July 1 Centennial celebration are shaping up well.

Parks Board employees have been hard at work for weeks making sure that the park itself is in shape. And the parade and program committee are double checking to make absolutely certain that nothing has been forgotten.

Today there are no members of the Zwick family living in Belleville, but one of the family descendants, William Zwick, of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Mrs. Zwick, have agreed to come to Belleville for the park opening. Mr. Zwick is a prominent Salt Lake City contractor and is a bishop of the Latter Day Saints Church there.

After stopping over in Belleville to take part in the Zwick's Island park opening ceremonies, Mr. and Mrs. Zwick will go on to Montreal for a visit to Expo.

Growing Pains

Activity on the construction scene today is far short of the record expectations that were envisaged about two years ago.

Canadian Construction Association president Peter Dalton says the industry is experiencing a nationwide slump. In a recent interview in Hamilton he noted construction starts in that city are 10 per cent below last year's, Toronto 47 per cent and Montreal, where one might have expected an Expo-inspired boom, 47 per cent.

And the immediate outlook is no better. Mr. Dalton says a year of slackening off is a sign of a building shrinkage for the next few years.

What is behind this recession in the industry? Well for one thing everything is costing more these days. There just isn't the money available for long-term financing of new homes. Young people are turning more and more to apartment living.

The Economic Council of Canada has said a ten per cent increase each year would ensure a proper building rate, and Mr. Dalton talks of the need of planning and forecasting.

"It is time we had some thought of five-year major planning by the Government to provide incentives to industry," he said.

Meanwhile there is another aspect of construction that is causing concern — and that is, road building. In a recent submission to Ottawa, the Construction Association noted that today the mileage travelled on Canadian roads increased more than 50per cent between 1948 and 1966, when an estimated 66 billion miles were recorded.

Motor vehicle registration increased from approximately two million in 1948 to nearly seven million in 1966, and is estimated it will reach eight million in 1968. Intercity highway freight has increased more than five-fold since 1946. There is concern that the sheer volume and weight of traffic are more than the existing highway system can safely bear.

Statistics tend to be cold, disheartening and impersonal. We have already heard the prediction of experts regarding population explosion — that the day will come when there will be standing room only in the world.

This may not be as extravagant a claim as it appears — at least, to judge from those ominous statistics. In other words such growth presupposes a continually expanding road system, to cope with the further proliferation of road traffic — and of course acceleration of the associated evil of pollution.

On the other hand, Canada at least has ample space and scope for continued expansion in a wide sphere of activities. The "standing-room" only bogey will not occur in our time and if intelligent, long-term family planning becomes increasingly the accepted thing, even in regions of heavy population like Asia, it may never come about.

Meanwhile planning and continued growth in the construction industry, as well as in all other branches of activity in this country, must be encouraged. These are matters of some urgency that should be exercising the minds of both Government and Industry at large.

City Ceremonies

Tuesday was an important day for Belleville. It marked the official opening of the city's new College Street bridge as well as the senior citizens' apartment block on Turnbull Street.

The ceremonies reflect local progress on two fronts in the city — in the improvement of road communications and the provision of further housing facilities for older members of the community.

The bridge for example means that residents on the Trent Road and No. 2 highway can be home in a matter of minutes after leaving the Cannifton Road, and without having to go through the city.

The Turnbull Street housing is a handsome addition to that area. The older folk who will be accommodated there are assured of a quiet, well-equipped residential block that is also close to the downtown area.

Squares!

Young women of the mod fraternity may add to their list of "squares" former President Eisenhower and Los Angeles Superior Court Judge A. A. Scott.

Said Ike to a commencement audience that included his granddaughter Anne and classmates at the Shipley School for Girls at Bryn Mawr, Pa.: "Ankles are nearly always neat and good looking, but knees are nearly always not."

As for Judge Scott, he berated a young divorce petitioner for appearing in his court wearing a mini-dress. Adjourning the case he told Mrs. Gwynne Schaffer to return to court more modestly attired.

The irony of it all is the fact that Mrs. Schaffer, according to her lawyer, was "in her uniform." She sells mod clothing for a living!

Flustered Prime Minister Caught in Opposition Trap

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Parliament the other day passed what appeared to some MPs — on both sides of the House — to be another milestone along what Conservative Leader Diefenbaker has been warning in high alarm is "The Road to Republicanism."

It was one of the few tense moments in this now customarily casual Commons, for Prime Minister Pearson was being accused of showing "Republican" colors.

The specific charge was that three days earlier during a debate the Commons he had said "It could be" that "Dominion" as in Dominion of Canada, Dominion Day or even Dominion Bureau of Statistics — had become "a dirty word."

The Prime Minister, of course denied it. And hedy. Kept on denying it, too, with mounting indignation when bluntly told to his face that deny it or be might, he had been "soon and heard" to say it.

Nothing really unusual in this. But the Prime Minister routinely is accused by the Conservative Opposition of something less than loyalty to what it insists is Canada's "basic" British traditions.

But what was unusual is that two Liberal MPs, one a Cabinet Minister, should have competed for what those watching considered the honor of having denigrated "Dominion."

Then came days of this Centennial Session, with the minority Government so firmly in the power saddle and the feud — wracked Conservatives in such disarray that they rank behind the NDP in popular support as the public polls measure it, the relaxed House seldom gets excited.

That mood was not blown this time just might be evidence that the Government is becoming sensitive over the mounting criticism. — even in its own ranks — of its observance of the "French Fact" and the "British Fact" in Federal life.

Item: Liberal MP Augusta Choquette makes a fetish of "Republicanism," calling on his Government to "get rid of the Queen," as he so delicately phrases it.

Item: The Queen is to be all but smuggled into Expo and kept isolated from the crowds while President de Gaulle is to be given a super-hero's welcome.

Item: French has become a "bonus language" for the Federal Civil Service in transactions of public business.

Item: At least two Liberal MPs, Tommy Douglas Cowan, and Steven Otis publicly — and some others, including a few Cabinet Ministers privately — have been calling for a halt in the seeming drift of Ottawa's loyalties between Paris and London.

Actually, it is a little pointless to "dramatize," for there have been just so many instances of Ottawa's apparent change of Old World Heart.

So, strange it was that there should have been such an outburst over the charge of "Dominion" being discussed — except that the Prime Minister was for the first time, publicly was accused of personally doing the denigrating.

Oddly, the Prime Minister walked into what clearly was a carefully contrived "Conservative trap.

First, Diefenbaker's question: "Did you say that?" was brought to him by Conservative Leader

New Testament In Today's English Is Best Seller

NEW YORK (AP)—The current wonder of the United States publishing world is a paperback book that has sold more than 2,000,000 copies since it came out last Sept. 15.

It isn't stocked in the regular bookstores or in the more than 100,000 retail outlets — News stands, drugstores, supermarkets, novelty stores—that display the latest trade market paperbacks.

It never has had any paid advertising.

Yet it is at least matching, and apparently surpassing, the sales of the most phenomenal commercial paperback. When all the figures are in, it may prove to be the best seller of all.

Though it is a fat, 539-page volume, it costs only 25 cents. And because many donors buy copies in distribute, thousands of people have received it free.

Its title is Good News for Modern Man.

Its publisher is The New Testament in Today's English Version. It is published by the American Bible Society, a non-profit organization devoted to dissemination of the Scriptures.

Essentially the book is a New Testament in short, plain words that can be understood by anyone with a grade-school acquaintance with English — say at about Grade 5.

During the preparation stages, it was intended primarily for readers for whom English is a second language. For an African tribesman, for example, or a member of a nationality group in the United States.

But the moment it was published it caught on like wildfire with natives Americans of all ages and circumstances — with theologians, professors and bishops as well as youngsters in Sunday school and the men and women of the armed forces.

Dr. Eugene Z. Nida, in charge of national distribution for the society, reports that as of early June U.S. sales were almost 3,000,000, with more than 300,000 copies shipped overseas in addition. He estimates that sales will reach 4,000,000 by Sept. 15.

The book, based on a new translation of a Greek text published in 1905, lacks the stately grandeur of the poetic King James version, but meets the modern need for "communication," the delivery of a message. "Good News" is a literal translation of the word "gospel."

Modernity creeps in through small devices. When there are references to fathoms, the figures are converted to feet. When the hour of prayer is mentioned as "being the ninth hour,"—the new text says "three o'clock in the afternoon."

The Lord's prayer reads:

"Our Father in Heaven: —

"May your name be kept holy,

"May your kingdom come,

"May your will be done on earth as it is in heaven./

"Give us today the food we need;

"Forgive us what we owe you as we forgive what others owe us;

"Do not bring us to hard testing, but keep us safe from the Evil One."

Anglican Church Army Busy with Social Work

TORONTO (CP)—The Anglican Church Army is a force of Anglican laymen who after two years' training become captains and social workers rather than ministers.

Capt. R. A. Taylor, director of the army in Canada, describes it as a halfway house to ministry.

"We're a bridge ministry between the man in the pub and the man in the pew; between the man on the street and the man in the pew.

"We aren't the in group in the Anglican church. We're concerned with those outside of the church. We are primarily interested in evangelism — that is Christian citizenship and communication. We're dropping the word evangelism, though. The wrong connotation is placed on it now."

There are 40 commissioned captains in Canada. One serves as a chaplain to seamen in Hamilton harbor. Two captains operate a home in Montreal for immigrants stranded there. They also work with alcoholics and drug addicts. Four of them work in Indian residential schools. The army operates six halfway houses for ex-convicts, boys' homes, community centres and an inner city boys' club in Toronto.

This year, for the first time, a woman has been commissioned by the army and given the rank of sister. She is Evelyn Heffernan, who came to Toronto from London to work as a physiotherapist. There are three other women now in their first year of the course.

The cadets and student sisters live in residence on Brunswick Street in Toronto for two terms a year. Their third term is spent in practical work.

Capt. Frank Clarke is in charge of the practical training. "We don't lay hard and fast rules about academic qualifications because we feel if a person has an aptitude for this kind of work and can benefit from the lectures, we should give him an opportunity.

"We give a basic theology course with the emphasis on the outreach work of the church. The aim behind the training is that the people be able to do the job, rather than just talk about it."

Those commissioned ranks don't change. All are captains or sisters. Their uniform is a dark grey with red insignia on the collar.

The army has been in Canada since 1930—Its parent body in England was formed 85 years ago.

United Church Now Using Data-processing Unit

TORONTO (CP) — Flashing lights and whirling spools of tape are signs of a new efficiency at the headquarters of the United Church of Canada.

The spools and lights are part of a data-processing machine acquired by the church.

By eliminating duplication and increasing efficiency in administration, the machine is expected to save the church $2,500 a month.

It was first used in processing payrolls but more elaborate roles are planned as the staff becomes more familiar with its operation.

Nelson Abraham, a psychologist at United Church House where the machine is located in a small eighth-floor room, is one staff member who expects to find the machine helpful.

Responsible for examining the church's Sunday school curriculum, Mr. Abraham says the unit will be invaluable.

"The church has never been noted for its efficiency," he said in an interview. "For dedication, yes, but not for efficiency. Some church members will find it difficult to justify an expenditure like this, but it is all psychological."

Mr. Abraham says one person using the new machine can do in one day work that once took 10 persons a month to accomplish.

"JUST IN PASSING"

"You never can tell what your thoughts will do
In bringing you hate or love,
For thoughts are things, and their airy wings
Are swift as a carrier dove.
They follow the law of the Universe,
Each one must create its kind;
They speed o'er the track and bring you back
Whatever went forth from your mind."

Back in the mid-twenties, one Anne Hastings edited The Family Page in the Intelligencer then called "The Daily Intelligencer." Looking back, we came upon this issue. The column contains a freshness, a timelessness which we thought our readers today would much enjoy, and was called "Just In Passing."

The lines above are given, without title or name. Did Anne Hastings write them or no?

And here is part she writes:

"The other day we were reading of a case where a woman was suing her husband for alimony. The lawyer for the latter was giving the court a list of the woman's faults.

"One of the grievances the husband had was that one morning he wanted an extra piece of bacon for his breakfast and she refused and told him to do it himself.

"Now the judge was a practical man and refused to accept this as a terrible example of wifely neglect. He said, "I, myself have often got breakfast not only for myself but for my wife also, and have taken it up to her to eat while in bed."

"The judge also refused to take seriously the list of trifling incidents which the lawyer recited, saying that they were the common experiences of most married couples. He said the marriage contract was entered into for better or for worse and that, as a rule, there was always a portion of worse on both sides.

"The daily experiences of most of us," Anne Hastings continues, "are just a succession of little things, commonplaces, most of them, pleasant and interesting, and we should not take them too seriously.

"Occasionally there is a variety, a trip away for a day, or even a week, or even a month, but sooner or later we are back to the daily routine. And out of those succession of days we draw our happiness or otherwise.

"If we take the irritating incidents too seriously or nurse a fancied slight we ourselves are the losers.

"If then, we would be happy and grow, we must rise above the vexatious little things of everyday, "The little foxes that spoil the vines."

Successful Living

One Concerned About Children Wants to Send Help to Viet Nam

Dear Doris: I wonder if you could advise me about supplying the children of Viet Nam with clothing, such as pyjamas, tunics, etc.; used and also hand-sewn. Also could old sheets be torn into bandages?

Is it possible to deal directly with someone in charge at a hospital in Viet Nam? — Concerned about Children.

Dear Concerned: A fact-finding tour financed jointly by the British and Canadian Save the Children Funds revealed an urgent need for convalescent centres for burned and crippled children who have been treated and discharged from hospitals.

So the SCF built a place for maimed and burned children, and are working on a day nursery and vocational centre for widows and older orphans. This is going to be a long range program.

On my enquiry (prompted by yours) the National Director of CSCF wrote to his field representative in Viet Nam-then to us:

"We have now heard from Bridget Stevenson in Viet Nam. She advises that babies' and children's clothing and bandages are always welcome and useful.

"If any of your readers would like to make a contribution to the Orphanage we would be glad to receive the materials at the Clothing Depot, 68 Hayter Street, Toronto. We will be sending a shipment this summer barring unforeseen circumstances."

Dear Doris: I am 21 and my mother treats me like a child. When we have a quarrel we don't talk for a week.

At school we learn different, but my mother tells me to do things her own way. Other girls at the age of 20 are on their own, they aren't told by their parents. Why does my mother treat me like this? — Grown Up But Cute

Dear Grown Up: It's the old old story of the brooding mother hen and the chick-a-chick. Yet if you were never to spread your wings, what would she think then?

The time has come for a new approach and you are obviously the one who will have to spark it. Bring home from school some interesting story about new learning share it with her as you would with a friend.

Then it occurs to her — and you — that you could like each other, you'll note that she isn't a total lost herself. Give her credit for running a good home and ask her to teach you how it is done.

Don't waste h week out of your life and out of your friendship in a hot-speaking cold war!

Dear Doris: I am engaged to be married. What I need now is a concise list of the things I will need to set up a home. Although I have run my father's house for several years, I'm not exactly sure of what I need.

By this I mean things like linens cooking utensils appliances, etc. I am really in the dark about the entire thing! — Pots and Pans

Dear Pots and Pans: I'm sending you a good basic list. As well all linens and cooking utensils, it includes pantry staples, china, glassware, silverware. (Available to readers for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Try turning your trouble into triumph by getting help from a trained social worker. Doris can put you on the right track.

Folding Card Table Used for Home Gambling

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

The folding card table is usually kept out of sight. It may be useful, but it is often not the most attractive piece of furniture in a room. The folding card table was an important part of the permanent furniture used in a room during the 18th century. Gambling at home was a major form of reception for the well-to-do. Cabinet makers developed many types of tables for the games. The square topped card table with a rectangular base was the most common. The top folded in half over the four legs. A slide or one leg moved out to hold the top when it was opened.

Card tables were some of the finest designs made in the Chippendale period. Many of the tables were solid, carved, or veneered in elaborate designs.

Q. My great grandmother's silver spoons have the name "Jaccard and Co." I am 72 so the spoons must be very old.

A. "E. Jaccard and Co." made coin silver spoons from about 1830 to 1880 in St. Louis, Mo. There is a basically simple method to determine the age of any antique belonging to a relative. Take one half of your age and add 25 years for each past generation.

By using this dating system your spoon is 36 (half your age) plus 25 (your mother) plus 25 (your great-grandmother) or 111 years old.

Q. We (the firs department found a set of pictures called "The Dark Town Fire Brigade." Are they very old or rare?

A. Currier and Ives made lithographs with that name from about 1855 to 1901. There were at least 14 different pictures in the set. The comic drawings pictured a fire department at work. The complete set would be rare.

Q. My genuine old Sandwich glass cup plates picture Henry Clay in the centre. How old are they?

A. Eight versions of the Henry Clay cup plates are known. The major designs have a bust of Clay in the centre and his name beneath it. All of the Clay plates have been attributed to Sandwich because of the pressed characteristics of the pressed glass work. They were made about 1830. We know about at least one 20th century reproduction of the Clay cup plate.

BOOK REVIEW

"Collecting Playing Cards" by Sylvia Mann (Crown Publishers $4.95) tells the history of the playing card made before 1830. A good book for the serious collector.

Favorite Jam Recipes

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: . . . Maybe 20 years ago you gave us a recipe using strawberry jello. I made it several times but have lost the recipe. Could you give it again? — Mrs. E. F.

HEAVENLY RHUBARB JAM
(repeated by request from June, 1963)

5 cups rhubarb (cut finely)
5 cups sugar
One 20-oz. can crushed pineapple
2 pkgs. strawberry jello

Mix first three ingredients and boil for 20 min. Then stir in the strawberry jello until dissolved. Pour into sterile jars and seal with a double coating of new melted paraffin.

QUESTION: Please, please repeat the recipe for fresh frozen strawberry jam in store in freezer . . . and your sugarless strawberry jam for diabetics. Marie F.

FROZEN STRAWBERRY JAM (macerated — Taste in freezer — repeated from June, 1963)

2 cups mashed strawberries
4 cups powdered fruit (berry) sugar
1 box (1¾-oz.) powdered pectin
¾ cup water.

Wash berries in a sieve, hull them and drain well. In a flat-bottomed pan, mash them, and measure 2 cups. Add the berry sugar, stir very well and let stand 15 min., stirring occasionally. Meanwhile mix together the water and powdered pectin and cook stirring until they come to a hard boil and boil 1 min., stirring constantly. Immediately add to fruit-sugar mixture and stir for 3 min. Pour into clean dry 8-oz. jars to within ¼" from top (to allow for possible expansion when frozen). Cover with lids at once. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours. Store in freezer. If this jam is to be used within 3 or 4 weeks it will keep in storage part of refrigerator — not frozen.

SUGARLESS STRAWBERRY JAM

2¼ cups mashed fresh fresh strawberries
4 tbsp. plus 1 teaspoonful (see below)
20 Socaryl tablets
1-16 tsp salt
½ tsp. red food coloring
½ cup whisker under running cold water wash the berries. Pat dry. Mash in a flat-bottomed pan. Measure. Remove ¼ cup and into it stir the gum tragacanth. (Buy this at the drug store. It cost me 25 cents for 1 oz. in powder form. It is your thickening agent and is a tasteless and widely gum.) When well mixed, stir paste into remaining mashed berries. Add the Socaryl tablets to spread your wings, what would she think then?

Ann Landers

Young Girl Proud Of Latvian Heritage

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently printed a letter from a 15-year-old girl whose foreign-born parents refused to speak English.

My parents came to this country from Latvia. They spoke Latvian all the time. When I started school I couldn't speak one word of English. I attended Latvian church, joined a Latvian Girl Scout troop, took piano lessons from a Latvian teacher and pretty soon I got to have everything Latvian because it was forced on me.

When I was 14 my folks sent me (screaming) to a Latvian camp in Michigan. There I met a Latvian boy who changed my thinking. He helped me understand that my parents were trying to preserve their culture, and that the only way to do it was through their children.

I met several other kids who were proud to be Latvian (I had always been ashamed.)

Now I know I want to marry a Latvian boy (I don't know who yet) and pass on this wonderful heritage to my children. — PROUD NOW.

ANN LANDERS

* * *

DEAR PROUD: Some members of minority groups wish they could be something else. It takes a smart cookie to be proud of her heritage. I salute you.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Kids' weather is here — and with it the eternal affliction, Guests. I sometimes wish we didn't have such a comfortable and attractive summer home because uninvited friends and relatives think we are running a hotel. I am just now recuperating from my third batch of visitors and most of the summer is ahead.

I am going through the menopause but I manage to hold down a full-time job as well as keep the house going. All winter I look forward to casual outdoor living during the summer months. With company around it is a strain, not to mention the extra work.

Some people enjoy out-of-town guests. I am not writing for them. I am writing for myself and for others who want to be alone. If any of you reading this column wonder if you are a welcome guest, ask yourself one question: "Was I invited?" If you were, fine. If not, do somebody a favor and stay home. — HOLIDAY OUT, NOT INN.

* * *

DEAR HOLIDAY: Here's your letter and lotsa luck.

The pests never think you mean them. For the repeaters, a "Sorry, but this year I should be bankrupt" reply when they announce they're going to honor you with a visit.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you settle a family dispute? I have a very good friend who attends another school on the other side of town. We are both honor students and do not goof off. We like to talk on the phone during the week every night to relieve the monotony of studying. I say a 15- or 20-minute conversation is not excessive. My mother says five minutes is plenty for teen-agers to "yak about nothing."

Please take a stand on this. Your column is respected in our home. — CLOCKED IN POUGHKEEPSIE.

DEAR CLOCKED: I feel that 15 minutes is not unreasonable for a teen-age phone date — provided, of course, Mom or Dad does not need the phone for a specific reason. Telephoning is a good outlet — furthermore, kids who are at home are not out getting into trouble.

PRINCE EDWARD - BELLEVILLE LADIES' CLUB

The Prince Edward-Belleville Ladies' Club met in the Recreation Centre June 14 for its monthly meeting, with the president, Mrs. P. Baird, in the chair.

Two bus trips were planned one to Maple Leaf Gardens for dinner July 12 and another to Maitland Aug. 9.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. F. Bedell and Mrs. E. Trumpour. Mrs. Harold Arnott introduced William James of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, who spoke on the 1,000 year old organization. He said it is the oldest welfare organization in the world and was granted a charter by Queen Victoria in 1888. In 1892 the Order came to Canada and it has conducted home nursing courses ever since. The speaker was thanked by Miss Irene Reed. Mrs. Harold Arnott, superintendent of the St. John Nursing Division also spoke and said a Belleville woman is with the St. John group at Expo.

Mrs. E. Morris spoke on the fathers of confederation and Mrs. Bedell read a poem.

No Use to Rail Against Welfare Measures Pearson Tells Canadian Medical Association

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said Friday night it is senseless to rail against forces directed at ensuring equality of opportunity as leading to socialism and state control.

"On the contrary, I believe the social welfare progress we have made — strengthens the foundations of our private enterprise system by broadening the whole basis of our prosperity and making our system more just and fair, more supportable by all Canadians," he said.

Mr. Pearson acknowledged in an address prepared for delivery to the closing banquet of the Canadian Medical Association that many in the medical profession do not agree with the course of action being followed by the government on medical care insurance.

But prime minister made it plain that the government has no intention of abandoning social welfare measures such as medical care insurance, even if it rides roughshod over old ideas and some old institutions.

"I believe that medicare, the Canada Pension Plan, the Canada Assistance Plan, and other social welfare measures do not destroy the individual by helping him to meet essential human needs and to develop his capacities to the fullest extent.

"If this limits freedom of enterprise or any other kind of personal freedom, it is only in the sense that the ethical and professional standards imposed by our own medical associations on their members limit their freedom. It is limitation in the interest of progress and improvement."

Mr. Pearson's address was received in polite silence except for laughter at a few warm-up jokes. When he concluded most of the audience stood to applaud but possibly one-third remained seated.

Mr. Pearson said Canada is moving toward a higher, more compassionate, more undying civilization which will succeed by finding the right balance between individual freedom and social responsibility.

Success "will be gained only by co - operation rather than conflict . . ."

"All the different interests in our population must give priority to the general welfare, as opposed to the particular, the sectional or the occupational good. . . .
